Literary California Discussed.

Marysville—Marysville No. 162, organized by Violet Heyl and instituted July 10, 1908, by Grand President Ema Gett, now deceased, observed its twenty-eighth anniversary with a garden party at the home of Anna Sperbeck and Bernice S. Olmstead July 9. President Ella McCarty welcomed the assemblage, and Past Grand Esther R. Sullivan gave a resume of the Parlor's history, stressing its outstanding activities. Charter Members Mary Moncur, Ina Wells and Anna Noyes Moncur, Deputy Ethel Brock, Carrie Souza of Camp Far West No. 218 and Mrs. Stanley McLean of South Butte No. 226 spoke briefly.

Literary California, the theme for this year, was discussed by Agnes Weber Meade, who chose as her subject "The Poet Laureate," giving the history of its origin in various states and how recognized either by state legislation, women's clubs, historical associations or house of representatives. In closing she gave incidents in the life and the work of those writers who brought the attention of the history, romance, traditions and pioneer life of California to the attention of the world, particularly Ella Sterling Mighels, first literary historian, known as Aurora Esmeralda; Edwin Markham, Joaquin Miller, Madge Morris Wagner, Henry Meade Bland, the first poet laureate, and John Stephen McGroarty, holding that honor at the present. Edythe McKinsey and Nina Smith were general chairmen of the delightful occasion.

Large Crowd at Beautiful Ceremony.

Bakersfield—At a very beautiful ceremony which attracted the largest crowd in the history of the Parlors, officers of El Tejon No. 239 and Bakersfield No. 42 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed, Ralpha Sanders and R. C. Hinderliter becoming the respective presidents. The hall was beautifully decorated with huge baskets of flowers. As Miss Sanders was being escorted to her station Margaret Sage sang appropriate words to the tune of "Smiling Through," which was very effective.

Refreshments followed the ceremonies, the table decorations being carried out in a beach scene, with sand, sail boats, umbrellas and tiny figures. Gifts were presented President Sanders, Margaret Carlisle and Hallie Bowman, retiring president. Past presidents had charge of arrangements for the occasion.

July 23 El Tejon had an outdoor card party at the home of Charlotte Myers, to which all candidates for county and state offices were invited. This was the second in a series of outdoor parties for the summer months.—F.D.

Rasmussen, Supervising Deputy Lily Mae Tilden and Deputy Mabel Thomas.

Comments on subjects of general interest and importance received from readers of The Grizzly Bear

THANKS FOR "FIFTY YEARS AGO."

Editor Grizzly Bear—Thanks for restoring the "California Fifty Years Ago" column in your interesting magazine. I enjoyed this feature until the demise of the previous writer of this section, and I am gratified that you have found someone to again take up this interesting feature. Wishing you every success in keeping before us the historical features of our State, I am, sincerely yours, F. A. HOMAN, Fresno Parlor No. 25 N.S.G.W.

Fresno, July 9, 1936.

AUTHOR OF PIONEER MOTHER ESSAY.

Editor Grizzly Bear—Under "Business Transacted" in the "Proceedings of Stockton N.D.G.W. Grand Parlor" in the July issue of your magazine you have: "The $5 award provided by Past Grand Esther R. Sullivan for the best Pioneer Mother essay went to Matie Olin of Miocene Parlor No. 228 for her essay on 'Nancy Kelsey, the First Pioneer Woman To Cross the Plains'."

Mrs. Olin received the award as the delegate from her Parlor, but Mrs. Minnie B. Heath was the author of the essay. I wish you would make the correction. Mrs. Heath is a member of Miocene Parlor No. 228 and wrote the essay for her Parlor. Sincerely and fraternally, GEORGIA SANDERS, recording secretary El Tejon Parlor No. 239 N.D.G.W.

Bakersfield, July 17, 1936.

PUBLICITY APPRECIATED.

Editor Grizzly Bear—Please accept the hearty thanks and appreciation of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. for the splendid publicity received through The Grizzly Bear during the past year. Respectfully, MISS ETTA FULKERTH, recording secretary.

Glendale, July 18, 1936.

WANTS TO KEEP TRACK OF NATIVES.

Editor Grizzly Bear—Please send my August and September issues of The Grizzly Bear to 10 Main Street, Yarmouth, Maine. I am leaving Sunday, July 26th, by plane for Maine to spend the rest of the summer and don't want to lose track of the Natives while I'm away. Will return via steamer sailing from New York October 10th and reaching San Francisco October 27. Had a grand visit from seven Ventura friends recently. Sincerely, EMMA LOU HUMPHREY, Past Grand President N.D.G.W.

Reno, Nevada State, July 23, 1936.

Pioneer Party.

Hollister—Harking back to the days of '49, an especially happy affair was enjoyed June 25 by an unusually large number of Copa de Oro No. 105's members, who appeared in appropriate garb for the pioneer party. In attendance were sun-bonneted and full-skirted "pioneer" women and red-shirted "miners," as well as "tin-horn gamblers." To stirring tunes of the gold-rush days, they joined in a grand march and in the dancing of the lancers and quadrille. During a picturesque parade prizes were awarded for the most fitting costumes—Mildred Marcheski, in a gown and bonnet that came across the plains, and Rose Guilhamet as a miner busily making flapjacks.

In the diningroom long tables were lighted with lanterns, tallow candles and kerosene lamps, and were set with oldfashioned red table cloths, silver butter dishes, footed cake stands and fruit dishes, casters and other oldtime tableware. Featured songs were "Oh, Susanna," "Sweet Betsy from Pike" and the "Forty-Niner." Song sheet covers were fashioned as covered wagons. The menu consisted of beans, coffee, corn bread, green onions, cold slaw, ginger bread, doughnuts and celery. Water bucket, tin dipper and roller towel added a realistic touch. In an oldtime country store letters were distributed, containing the names of pioneer pals arranged as jigsaw puzzles. Parcel post packages contained gifts for the pals. The group responsible for the planning consisted of Clara L. Black, Alta Trowbridge, Alberta Jensen, Nora McCullough, Dena Nelson and Ann Stephenson.

July 9 was birthday night for Copa de Oro, with honored members being those born in July, August and September. A birthday poem was read by Past Grand Bertha A. Bizzell, and horoscopes were given by Mary Prendergast, chairman of the evening. The honorees were the recipients of gifts, and a pleasant hour was spent at whist. This meeting marked the close of the Parlor's activities until after the summer recess, early in September.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

FROM BERNARD G. HISS OF UNIVERsity Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W., The Grizzly Bear is in receipt of a communication which should have the careful consideration of those who would really "preserve California beaches for the benefit of all the people." Particularly interested in what Hiss has to say on this subject should be the Native Sons and Native Daughters, who are individually being appealed to to "pledge support to the California Beaches Association." Hiss' letter, in part, follows:

"At the instance of several Native Sons I have made a study of the initiative oil revenue measure to be submitted to the electorate at the November election. This measure has been endorsed by the Division of Parks, Department of Natural Resources of the State of California, and the California Beaches Association. The latter organization is furthering its endeavors by a general use of the name of the Native Sons of the Golden West, and is using a copy of Resolution Number 53 of the proceedings of the Fifty-ninth Grand Parlor and securing pledges of co-operation in its efforts from individuals throughout the state. The general public impression, therefore, will undoubtedly be that the Native Sons of the Golden West have also endorsed this measure.

"After a study of the bill, I firmly believe that the name of the Native Sons of the Golden West is being used to defeat, rather than to achieve, our objective of preserving our beaches as public parks for the use and welfare of the public at large. I believe that to permit further use of the name of the Order of the Native Sons by the California Beaches Association in its effort to put over this measure on an unsuspecting public would immediately damn us, not only in the eyes of Californians, but all who enjoy our shores."

Then follows an exhaustive analysis of the law and facts, and Hiss contends: "The bait held out by this bill to the voter is the 14 2/7 percent royalty to the state, one-half of which is allocated by this bill to the Park Department to 'operate and increase the facilities' of state parks. In other words, we are asked to approve beach drilling so that we may get the money to buy, for park purposes, that same property on which we have authorized drilling for oil.

"In a conversation with a representative of the California Beaches Association," continues Hiss, "I asked him whether or not the act in any way would tend to protect or preserve the beaches, as we understood the term. His statement was that the meaning of the bill and its effect could not be determined until after its passage and test in the courts of law. An example of privately owned littoral lands, for approximately 200 feet on either side of the pier in Hermosa Beach between the sidewalk and the water line, was cited to him, and the question asked whether or not drilling would be permitted on that property under this act. His reply was that the only thing to prohibit the drilling on this property would be a city zoning ordinance, and that if the city found it profitable to drill on this property they could permit it and the state, in turn, would permit slant drilling on the property. He further stated that the bill did not attempt to control drilling of oil within the limits of any municipality along the ocean, but expressly gives to each city or city and county the authority to determine whether or not wells shall be drilled on the beaches, within their respective limits; as no mention is made of counties, it is assumed that the bill will prohibit them from restricting or zoning against beach drilling.

"The conclusion arrived at from a study of this bill and the conversation with the officer of the California Beaches Association is that this measure is one whose sole object is to authorize beach drilling for the purpose of securing revenues to the state, and not a bill designed to prohibit beach drilling, or to protect or preserve beaches in any respect."

ORGANIZE FOR ADMISSION DAY.

At the call of Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, Native Sons and Daughters of Los Angeles County organized July 24 for participation in the Admission Day, September 9, statewide celebration at Oakland. Officers were chosen as follows: Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz, general chairman; Bernard G. Hiss, Clarence S. Hunt, Grand Trustee Hazel B. Hansen and Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg, vice-chairmen; Hervey L. Kitchin, secretary; Walter H. Odemar, treasurer.

The following chairmen of subcommittees were named: Charles A. Son (float), Robert Dunn (marching units), Captain William J. Bright (transportation), Bert Bair (drum corps), Frank Zeigler (flags and banners), Howard Earl (uniforms), Maynard Garrison (reception), Stanley Parker (athletics), George Geiger (publicity) and Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt (Admission Day observance). These committees will report at a meeting to be held August 7 at 1816 South Figueroa. Assurance has been given that the municipal band of Santa Monica and the drum corps of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No, 267 N.S.G.W. will be in the Los Angeles County division of the Oakland Admission Day parade.

ADOPTS FOURTH BABY.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. had as visitors July 15 Grand Trustee Clarice Cook, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg, Deputy Ruth Parris, Frances Chargin (Vendome No. 100) of San Jose and Clara Steele (Morada No. 199) of Modesto. The Parlor presented a lovely gift to one of its members, Supervising Deputy Flora Holy, in recognition of her untiring efforts in the Order's behalf. Another baby, the fourth, has been adopted by the Parlor. This time a boy was selected and he was named "George," in honor of a friend of President-elect Edna Trombatore.

A very interesting illustrated talk on the grand international highway was given by Mr. Goodcell, who told of his trip from Los Angeles to Mexico City sponsored by the Automobile Club of Southern California. Los Angeles will have no meeting during August.—H.M.

JOINT INSTALLATION.

At public ceremonies July 16, the officers of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 and Glendale Parlor No. 264 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed by District Deputy Fred Stabler, assisted by John Off, District Deputy Philip Molen and Organist Roger Johnson. Walter Smith and George LaRue became the respective presidents. Brief remarks were made by Past Grand John T. Newell and others, and light refreshments were served.

During the evening President LaRue, on Glendale's behalf, presented a past president ring to Ferris J. Farrell, retiring president of that Parlor. Among the visitors was a large delegation from Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. of Glendale.

MEMBERSHIP LIKENED TO ARMY.

At impressive and largely attended public ceremonies conducted in the beautiful sunken gardens at the home of Mrs. Oscar Schmidt, the officers of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. were installed July 14. Deputy Helen Anderson officiated, and Lena Teague Burrows became the new president. In her address she stated she looked forward to a bigger and better year, and she likened the membership to an army going forward to successful battle. Among the other speakers were Ora Evans, chairman of the day, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg and Nellie Cline. Maybelle Chapman favored with vocal selections. President Burrows and Flora D. Jacobson, retiring president, were showered with lovely flowers and other gifts.

Californiana closed its activities before the summer vacation with the presentation of a marker July 18 for the Romulo Pico adobe in San Fernando. The affair was very informal, Chairman Isabel Fages postponing the planned fiesta and moonlight supper because of the death of Treasurer Minnie Behm. The Parlor will resume activities September 15.

SANTA MONICA

"WHERE THE MOUNTAINS MEET THE SEA"

SANTA MONICA CHARLES DuVALL IS now the president of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W., having been installed along with the other officers July 1 by District Deputy John Paralieu, assisted by William A. Reuter and Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards. For the Parlor, Howard Blanchard presented a past president pin to Dewey Houghton. Brief addresses were made by Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer and Aubrey Austin.

The Parlor's annual barbecue and fiesta in Santa Monica Canyon July 12 was a huge success in every particular, more than 500 being in attendance. In the Pioneer Days parade July 14, No. 267 was represented by its drum corps and a float. The latter won second prize among the pioneer entries of the parade. It depicted the Franciscan fathers converting the Indians to the tenets of Christianity.

Santa Monica Bay will have a "hard times" dance Wednesday, August 19, under the auspices of the drum corps. Arrangements are under way for a big party in October celebrating the Parlor's tenth institution anniversary.

FRIENDS OF OFFICERS GUESTS.

Santa Monica—In the gardens of the home of Myrtle Barden, the officers of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. were installed by Deputy Bertha Hitt, assisted by Supervising Deputy Flora Holy. Virginia Mecham is the new president. Friends of the officers were invited guests. Ethel Michelson and Leila Hersee served refreshments, and presentations were made to Inez Sitton, the Parlor's former deputy, and Marie Barnes, retiring president.

"KIDDIES" ENTERTAIN.

At largely attended ceremonies July 8, the officers of University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W., with Arthur A. Honig as president, were publicly installed. District Deputy Philip Molen officiated, and was assisted by Leslie Henderson and George LaRue. Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer and Bernard G. Hiss addressed the gathering.

With Lucien Griffin as master of ceremonies, an excellent program was presented by a group of "kiddies," including the daughter of Angelo DeFazio, who delighted with accordion selections. Refreshments concluded a very enjoyable evening. July 29 the Parlor featured past presidents night, with Ben Hiss directing the activities.

BENEFIT CARD PARTY.

Long Beach—Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. is retaining in office for a second term its staff of officers headed by Leola Temby as president. Recent meetings of the thimble club at Bixby Park have been greatly enjoyed. July 23 a pleasant day was spent in the garden at the home of Alice Waldow.

August 30 the Parlor will have a benefit card party at the home of Lillian Lasater. Josephine Pierson is the chairman.

RETIRING PRESIDENT LAUDED.

Compton—With Hector Hecock as president, the officers of Compton Parlor No. 273 N.S.G.W. were installed July 21 by District Deputy John Paralieu, assisted by B. J. Lassere and Dr. J. S. Reynolds. There was a good attendance, including delegations from Stephen M. White No. 263 and Santa Monica Bay No. 267 Parlors.

Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer gave an enlightening talk, in the course of which he referred to the workings of the California Beaches Association. Other speakers lauded Roy W. Tarleton, retiring president, for his untiring efforts in the Parlor's behalf—efforts which resulted in getting Compton in fine shape to forge ahead.

SIX INITIATED.

Glendale—Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. initiated six candidates July 14. At the conclusion of the ceremonies President Ada Steele and Myrtize Tregea were hostesses for the social hour. They were assisted by Etta Fulkerth, Ione Gillett, Geraldine Leonetti, Dorothy Ravn, Ethel Kern, Aletha Gregory and Betty Sanders.

Verdugo's officers were installed July 28 by Deputy Dolores M. Lucky, Dorothy Ravn becoming president. Ethel Kern and Ada Steele had charge of the decorations, and Ione Gillett supervised the refreshments.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Officers of Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. were installed July 6 by District Deputy Philip Molen, assisted by George LaRue and Ferris

SAN PEDRO—WITH REPRESENTATIVES from all the Los Angeles County Parlors in attendance as guests of Stephen M. White No. 263 N.S.G.W., the officers of that Parlor and Ramona No. 109 were jointly installed July 3. District Deputy Harry Honn officiated, assisted by District Deputies John Paralieu and Walter Odemar, and Ben Lassere and Robert Dunn became the respective presidents.

Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer suggested short, snappy meetings to increase attendance at Parlor meetings, and urged united effort to strengthen the Order numerically in the southland. "Bill" Bright, conducting the good of the order, lined up the "culprits" in attendance—and that included everyone, no exception,—and from each extracted various sums. As a result, the charity box was considerably enriched.

August 21, Stephen M. White will be host at its San Pedro meetingplace for the group initiation of the southland Parlors. A picked team from Arrowhead Past Presidents Assembly No. 14 will exemplify the ritual. Entertainment will be provided and refreshments will be served. The Parlor has organized a baseball team that is ready to meet the aggregation of any other Parlor. For engagements, get in touch with Recording Secretary Harry Fairall.

Stephen M. White is arranging for a barbecue, to be held September 27 at Lone Pine Inn, just north of Wilmington. The committee in charge includes Captain Charles E. Colby, Jack Melle, Henry Feisel, Harry Fairall, Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, "Bill" Reuter and District Deputy John Paralieu. President Lassere has also appointed a committee to arrange for a dance in the near-future. The Parlor meets the first and third Fridays at San Pedro, 543 Shepherd street, and the second and fourth Thursdays at Wilmington, 1316 Island avenue.

PAST PRESIDENTS INSTALL.

Wilmington—Arrowhead Past Presidents Assembly No. 14 N.S.G.W. had an enjoyable meeting July 17 at the Lone Pine Inn. Following dinner, four candidates were initiated, and then the newly-elected officers were installed by Deputy Governor General F. L. McGarvey, Walter E. Hiskey becoming the governor. Among those in attendance were Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven, Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, Past Grand President John T. Newell, Deputies Walter Odemar, John Paralieu and Clarence M. Hunt. .

The next meeting of the Assembly will be at Santa Monica, in September.

Santa Barbara City will feature its famous Old Spanish Days Fiesta August 6-8.

Venice, Los Angeles County, will stage its annual Mardi Gras August 6-9.

The San Joaquin County Fair will be held at Stockton August 22-30.

CALIFORNIA'S DEATH VALLEY BELIEVED FORMERLY BED OF LAKE.

In support of the view that Death Valley in California was formerly the bed of a lake, is the discovery of traces of an ancient water-line running along the flanks of the enclosing mountains at a hight of 600 feet. The bottom of the valley is 200 feet below sea-level. The winds from the Pacific cross four ranges of mountains before reaching the valley, and by that time they have been drained of their last drop of moisture.

It is said that no spot on earth surpasses Death Valley in aridity or Tophet-like heat. The lake that once filled it is believed to have been fed by a river which has now also vanished. The borax deposits of Death Valley are commercially important, but labor is all but impossible in a place where, to be without water for a single hour in summer, means death.

The National Park Service plans a horseback trail from Canada to New Mexico. It will be 2,300 miles in length and will connect all intervening national parks.

CHARLES J. POWERS, PAST PRESIDENT of Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214 N.S.G.W., accompanied by his wife and daughter, Dorothy, members of Genevieve Parlor No. 132 N.D.G.W., recently visited in Eastern states. While in Philadelphia, Powers, former San Francisco supervisor, presented to the Philadelphia Museum in Independence Hall a beautiful California State (Bear) Flag. A synopsis of his presentation remarks follows:

"As I stand before you and look about this, to me, the greatest building remaining of all early American history, with its many American emblems, my eyes turn to that beloved of all Liberty Bell, symbol of early colonial days and our revolutionary fathers and mothers. Cast in London in 1751, it arrived here in Philadelphia in August 1752, and was rung July 8, 1776, upon the reading of the Declaration of Independence, which had been finally adopted July 4, 1776.

"As you and I at this time, here on the Eastern seaboard, listen to its chimes commemorating its one hundred sixtieth anniversary, from the Western seaboard we hear an echo, coming from the oldest and only adobe building still standing in the heart of my city, San Francisco, —the old mission church, St. Francis d' Assisi, located in the mission district, called in early days Laguna de Los Dolores. With the Liberty Bell, its chimes are ringing over the land the one hundred sixtieth commemoration of its founding.

"Filled with a great spiritual and material sentiment inspired by these joint anniversaries, I have the great honor of presenting to the City of Philadelphia and the great State of Pennsylvania the Bear Flag of California, to be hung amidst our country's most precious and patriotic symbols in Independence Hall.

"The Bear Flag was first raised at Sonoma in June 1846 by a band of thirty-five loyal Americans. These brave men could not raise the Stars and Stripes because they had no authority to do so. Had they the authority, there is no question but that the Stars and Stripes would have flown that 14th day of June 1846 above the old barracks at Sonoma. In the following month, however, when they learned that Commodore Sloat had raised the American Flag at Monterey and in the name of the United States had taken possession of California, the people of Sonoma and those of San Francisco lowered the Bear Flag and raised Old Glory. May those two flags forever float above California's mountains, our glorious bay and the wonderful City of San Francisco by the Golden Gate, proclaiming to the world the glory of California and the loyalty and patriotism of her citizens."—E.P. McA.

Curry, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Trustee Claire Lindsey, Deputies Nan Kelly and Loretta Cameron. Carmella Allen became the new president. An emblematic ring was presented Past President Edna Baldwin, and among other recipients of remembrances were Deputy Jensen and Grand Trustee Alice M. Lane. Muriel Williams entertained with songs and dances. Delicious refreshments were served at prettily decorated tables. Grand Trustee Lane was the capable chairman of an active committee. Early in August the Parlor will have a reception for Mrs. Lane.

NATIVE SONS NEWS.

Stanford Parlor No. 76's officers, with William D. Gunther as president, were publicly installed by District Deputy Neil Ryan July 11. Entertainment was provided, dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The committee in charge of arrangements for the evening included Urban Morf (chairman), Fred C. Drewes, Charles F. Dechert and James F. Stanley.

Cosme Arcy is now the president of Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214, and during his term the Parlor will, he anticipates, add at least fifty new names to its roster-roll. Previous to going to San Francisco to reside, Arcy was a resident of San Pedro, where he was very active in affairs of Sepulveda (now Stephen M. White) Parlor No. 263.

SAN BERNARDINO AS A FEATURE OF its annual Independence Day outing, Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. dedicated July 4 a monument, constructed of natural stone, marking the Seely Flat site of the first sawmill in the San Bernardino Mountains. Supervisor John Andreson was in charge of the ceremonies. President Dr. R. L. White introduced Jerome B. Kavanaugh, who delivered the dedicatory address, saying, in part:

"This marker stands as a monument not only to these two men [David and Wellington Seely, Mormon Pioneers, now deceased, who built the mill,] but also to a great group of people, the Mormons. They believed in freedom, independence and religious toleration. . . . David Seely was one of those delegated to lay out San Bernardino, and when the work was started there was such a demand for lumber that plans for the mill were made. Next came the construction of the Mormon road into the mountains, already marked by a monument along the Rim of the World highway, and then the mill itself was built. It was a primitive mill, but what else could it be? The monument is rugged, and so were the men. It is as permanent as the mountains."

David Randolph Seely, a son of David Seely, relating the history of the mill, said: "The mill was run by water power, with water taken out of Seely Creek, about where Camp Seely is now located, and carried in a flume made of boards that were cut out with 'whip saw.' At the mill it was emptied into a 'penstock' which was built log-house fashion and made very strong and tight. The 'penstock' was about 50 feet high and 6 feet square inside, with a gate at the bottom, where the water was turned on the wheel, an undershot type about 10 feet high. The mill was first run in the late fall or early winter of 1853, after the first heavy rains. The Seely brothers operated the mill until the spring of 1857, when Wellington Seely returned to Utah. David Seely ran the mill periodically until it was washed out by the floods of 1862 and 1863.

"There was a great demand for lumber in the early days. The Mexicans came to the mill with oxen and caretas, two-wheeled carts used by the Spanish. They took out a few loads but found that their outfits were not suitable for the lumber business, and gave it up as a bad job. They bound the lumber on the caretas with rawhide ropes. They had a strenuous time getting down the first mile and a quarter. I have been told that some used drays and others used saddle horses to hold them back."

Mrs. John Barton, a daughter of David Seely, Past President Rhoda Smith of Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. and Mountaineer John Dexter, who built the monument, were introduced, and John Andreson was praised for his interest in the marking of historic places. At the conclusion of the dedicatory ceremonies the crowd of several hundred enjoyed a barbecue and dancing at Arrowhead's Crestline clubhouse, where Ray B. Finkle and James Olivas were in charge.

JOINT INSTALLATION.

San Bernardino—Officers of Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. and Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed July 8. The ceremonies, witnessed by a large crowd, were conducted by Grand Inside Sentinel Mary B. Noerenberg and District Deputy Walter Hiskey, and Thelma Nett and Eugene C. Somerby became the respective presidents. With Jerome B. Kavanaugh as master of ceremonies, a program arranged by Marguerite McKenzie was presented. Mrs. Bard Livingston had charge of the hall decorations, basket of zinnias and gladioli.

GRIZZLY GROWLS

CLARENCE M. HUNT.

UNITED STATES JUDGE LEON R. Yankwich, in sentencing to fifteen years of imprisonment Harry Thomas Thompson, former yeoman of the United States Navy convicted of selling naval secrets to an agent of Japan, said:

"Loyalty is the highest quality of man. It is founded upon that trust without which no social group could exist. Loyalty to one's own is at the very basis of all human associations. We have a right to expect such loyalty. For centuries it has been bred into the bone of all civilized groups. It has gone into the folklore of nations. So when we say that it is a 'bad bird that befouls its own nest,' we give expression to a universal belief in the duty of loyalty. Loyalty, of course, does not imply abject surrender of the right to criticize one's own. It does, however, imply that no member of a group shall willingly do aught to harm the group. A country has the right to expect such loyalty from its citizens in time of peace, as well as in time of war. . . .

"Especially is this true when the motivation is pure gain. That is why the name of Judas Iscariot has been execrated through the ages. He betrayed for silver."

We have in California, sad to say, numerous "Judas Iscariots" who, for a few pieces of silver, have delivered California to the Japs through selling and leasing land to them in violation and evasion of the law. They have betrayed California, for history proves that possessors of the soil have in their keeping the destiny of a country, yet no attempt is made to apprehend and punish them. On the contrary, many of them are generally regarded as the state's "guiding geniuses," but they have guided Japan in its peaceful invasion, for future possession, of California, and are traitors to California.

Addressing the Grand Parlor of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West at Stockton, Grand President Hartley Russell of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West said: "Now is the time for both Orders to wage a relentless battle against Communism and all other political isms threatening to undermine Americanism. Let not our stand suffice to the utterances of condemnation of their sinister influences and nefarious practices, but let us foster legislation that will demolish and annihilate these vicious forces."

In a Los Angeles University Club address, Governor Dave Sholtz of Florida remarked: "We are so smug today! In our grab at the almighty dollar we have forgotten the duties of citizenship. Unless more people brave the 'heat' which attends public office or participation in public affairs, this chance to assume the responsibilities of citizenship may some day even disappear."

Since 1932 indirect, so-called "hidden," taxes have paid 59 percent of the cost of government. From 1928 to 1932 they paid 15 percent. These taxes are borne largely by those who have little of this world's goods.

Speaking at an open forum conducted by the Humboldt State College, Dr. Fuller of the Chico State College said: "In the early days after the Civil War 80 percent of the electors voted, recently it has run as low as 52 percent. Why this lack of interest in one of the greatest privileges of democracy? Is the power of the ballot ineffective?" Frequently it appears so.

During 1935, according to the United States Department of Commerce, the corn imported into this country totaled 43,242,239 bushels. To have produced that quantity in this country, 1,314,000 acres of land would have been required.

Addressing the Commonwealth Club of California, San Francisco, Roy M. Pike, a successful farmer, declared: "We were told that the Japanese were the best orchard and vineyard farmers, and that Oriental was the only labor able to 'squat' as was necessary in vegetable farming. Today I confidently say after carefully tested experience that in orchard and vineyard farming we can take any nondescript White crew, properly straw boss them, and get more working units per dollar from them than from any Oriental crew."

This disproves the oft-repeated contention of Jap lovers that only Orientals can give required farm service. The real reason why most farmers employ Japs in preference to Whites is because the Orientals will put up with any old kind of living standards, but the Whites will not.

"The governmental structure of California is old, inefficient, outmoded," says Publisher Manchester Boddy of the Los Angeles News. "It is no more capable of serving the people of California than a covered wagon is capable of handling modern transportation requirements.

"The covered wagon is loaded to suffocation with bureaucrats, office holders, sales agents of private corporations, tricksters and spenders. Every mother's son of them has cemented the seat of his pants to the floor of the wagon with a constitutional amendment. They can't be ousted." Oh, yes they can, via the un-cementing process.

Says the Livermore, Alameda County, Herald: Data on the pioneer history of this vicinity is to be found in a pamphlet by the Kern County Historical Society of Berkeley containing in printed form an address on "El Camino Viejo A Los Angeles" by F. F. Latta, secretary of the society.

The Livermore Valley was near the northern terminus of "The Old Highway To Los Angeles," a route which is believed to have been traversed as long ago as 1822 and in use up to the '70s. The road led down the west side of the San Joaquin Valley, following closely along the base of the Coast Range to give access to springs and other water supplies.

"Contrary to common belief, the bulk of the huge tax increase proposed this year in Los Angeles County's preliminary budget is not due to demands for charity, nor to new activities required by state laws," according to Secretary Franklin Donnell of the Los Angeles division of the California Taxpayers Association. "Only a little more than $300,000 of the proposed $13,000,000 tax increase is allocated directly to charity. . . . Practically all of the increase goes for higher salaries, new jobs, increased operating expenses, new equipment, land purchases and increased reserves.

"The responsibility for the county tax levy and rate rests with the supervisors," says Donnell. "If they do not trim the preliminary budget drastically before its final adoption, the propertyowners of Los Angeles County will receive the largest bills for county taxes next fall that they have ever had. The homeowner who paid $50 in county taxes last year will this year be asked to pay $75."

Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt of Los Angeles County has upheld the right of the State to deny alien Japs the privilege of dealing in liquor. They should be denied the right to deal in anything in California, and forced to return to their homeland.

"Dire poverty—not only of the masses but of land which has been farmed for centuries—is the basic problem which confronts Spain today," observed Dr. Herbert I. Priestley, professor of Mexican history at the University of California in an address before the international relations section of the Commonwealth Club of California San Francisco. Dr. Priestley just recently returned from Spain.

"Abject, unfathomable poverty exists for seventy percent of the population—mostly agricultural workers. The other thirty percent are mainly landowners. . . . Land subdivision must go on if there is to be any increase in subsistence for the great mass of the people—and necessarily land taken must be without compensation."

State, city and county governments of California spent $111,000,000 more in 1935 than in the previous year. The State Controller says that is the greatest increase ever recorded in a single year in California history.

The Infinite Dominion—The real and wholesome enjoyments possible to man have been just as possible to him, since first he was made of the earth, as they are now; and they are possible to him chiefly in peace. To watch the corn grow, and the blossoms set; to draw hard breath over ploughshare or spade; to read, to think, to love, to hope, to pray—these are the things that make men happy. . . . Now and then a wearied king, or a tormented slave, found out where the true kingdoms of the world were, and possessed himself, in a furrow or two of garden ground, of a truly infinite dominion.—John Ruskin.

California produced during 1935 more than one-half of all the mercury produced in the United States, according to the United States Bureau of Mines. The California product had a value of $667,419.

California mountain sheep are rapidly approaching extinction, with probably not more than 100 left roaming the mountains.

HAVE COME INTO THEIR OWN---ON THE MAP

Rev. Thos. J. McKeon

(Written Especially for The Grizzly Bear.)

MANY YEARS AGO, JIMMY THOMPson, the brother of Kathleen Norris, wrote a limerick about a fellow student, " . . . . a jolly old fellow named 'Cap' from a town that is not on the map." And the boys from Oakland, who knew "Cap's" home town, were sore. It used to be a constant tease of Oakland, on the part of San Franciscans before "The Quake," to call Oakland the bedroom of San Francisco, for people went there only to sleep. These gibes about Oakland were beyond a doubt prompted by a sense of rivalry.

But the coming Admission Day celebraiton of September 9 will prove to many visitors that Oakland and Alameda County have come into their own and that they are on the map. From the very beginning of American occupation, the beautiful plains and slopes of the Contra Costa, the "opposite coast," were appreciated, and efforts were made to settle there. When the permanency of San Francisco was assured, the advantages of the land across the Bay were enhanced, and today we can see the result of that early effort to settle the country now called Alameda County.

The first reference we have to the region east of the Bay of San Francisco occurs in the story of the Portola Expedition of 1769-1770. In an attempt to go around San Francisco Bay, to them merely an arm, "estero" of the sea, to reach Point Reyes, the object of the expedition, Sergeant Ortega with eight men went by way of the present Alviso around the Bay to the vicinity of Hayward.

In 1772, Captain Pedro Fages was sent to explore the Bay region. And Padre Juan Crespi, the diarist of the expedition, writes of looking across the "estero" (bay) through the strait that led to the ocean; he describes the peninsula, as he calls it, which we know as Alameda, and speaks of the oak-covered plains which were so characteristic of the country that in the days of the Americans when it was a question of selecting a name for the new city, Oakland was readily agreed upon as most fitting. About where the Technical high school is, Crespi stood when he saw the Golden Gate; and their camp was near the western boundary of the University of California. After reaching the site of the present Pittsburg in an attempt to get around the Bay, only to be baffled by the discovery of the Carquinez Strait, the expedition returned to Monterey, along the foot of Mount Diablo westerly, where Concord, Walnut Creek, Danville and the San Ramon Valley now are, with the edges of the Livermore and Sunol Valleys touched or traversed in the journey.

From this same vicinity, it has been stated by some writers who are more romantic than historical, Fremont saw the strait, with the sun setting beyond it in the ocean, and the waters shimmering all golden as the sunlight played along it gave him the image of a golden gate. And he imagined the golden cargoes, with prophetic insight, which would pass through that Gate when came the days of gold. But Fremont in his "Memoirs" tells us that he gave "the name Chrysopylae or Golden Gate for the same reason that the harbor of Byzantium (Constantinople) was called Chrysceras or Golden Horn. The form of the harbor and its advantages for commerce . . . suggested the name to the Greek founders of Byzantium, the form of the entrance into the Bay of San Francisco . . . suggested the name I gave to this entrance. . . . "

Father Crespi noted in his record that the land was rich, "all black, mellow soil well covered with several sorts of herbs and grass with many oaks and live oaks, and, if it had water, it could support many settlements." A prediction fulfilled in our day, when one community merges into another without it being noticed that the boundaries have been passed, or without any thinning of houses to indicate that the end of the city has been reached.

When it was a question of deciding where the third "pueblo" or city of California was to be placed in 1798,—Los Angeles and San Jose were the other two—the decision narrowed down to three sites, one of which was on the Alameda creek. And it was the lack of water which Padre Juan noted in 1772 alone which prevented this third "pueblo" of Nueva California being located in what is now Alameda County.

During the Spanish and Mexican regimes, the "dulce far niente" of the period, down to the "splendid, idle forties," as Gertrude Atherton calls them, little of historic interest happened. Marriages, fiestas, rodeos and hunting summed up the life of these leisurely living people. It is interesting to know that bear and elk were as easily found in the vicinity as boys find jackrabbits now, for upon these ranchos they were plentiful. Dona Encarnacion Peralta once surprised a bear in her watermelon patch in what is now the heart of Oakland, and she was just as surprised and ran. Don Jose Martinez, after whose family the City of Martinez was named, once had an encounter with a bear that was the talk of the countryside.

With the discovery of gold, the Contra Costa had an awakening. It was first proposed to found a town along the San Antonio Creek on the Peralta Grant, to prevent squatters settling upon the land, to supply San Francisco with meat which would be otherwise stolen from the large herds of the Peralta and Estudillo families. The new town was to be bounded by the present Fifteenth street, Oakland, on the north, from the Bay to Lake Merritt, along the shore of Lake and Bay back to Fifteenth street. But Don Vincente Peralta would not then sell any part of his land, the Temescal Rancho. Later on, however, when so many squatters had settled upon it, he, to protect himself, compromised and sold. Three Americans "squatted" upon the Grant near the foot of the present Broadway. They were W. Carpentier, Edson Adams and A. J. Moore or Moon. After the compromise, a town was laid out which was incorporated in 1854. Among the first ordinances of the new town was the granting to Carpentier of the use of the water front for thirty-seven years.

The Estudillo Grant to the San Lorenzo Rancho was also questioned in court by squatters. Along the San Lorenzo Creek, for instance, the squatters settled in such large numbers that the place was first called "Squatterville." Soon the entire Rancho was squatted upon, and much litigation followed. In fact, were one to judge from what happened in other parts of the Bay region because of squatters and the inability to give a valid title for the transference of land,—Benicia is a case in point—doubtful titles caused by squatters must have had much to do in delaying Oakland coming into its own.

Meantime, travel from San Francisco to Oakland had successive stages. Sailing vessels first were the means of communication. Then an occasional steamboat was replaced by a regular ferryboat, the "Hector." Then the "E. Corning" went into service, to be followed by the ferryboats of the railroad period. The first school was organized in 1853 at Market and Seventh. About the same time was organized the Oakland College school, later the College of California, now the University of California.

Newspaper followed newspaper, and the population grew till other towns were founded. Brooklyn, named after the steamer "Brooklyn" upon which the founder came to California, is now part of Oakland. Alameda and Berkeley are still names of cities, but San Antonio, Lynn, Temescal and other towns have been long merged with the known cities, and only the old-timer remembers the name or the site.

For years, there had been an agitation for a railroad between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. In fact, two years after the first railway, 1834, this suggestion was made. The discovery of gold quickened the agitation till it became almost a demand. But the old rivalry of the North and South delayed fulfillment for many years. The South did not want the railroad built on Northern lands because they were afraid that the settlers of the North would absorb the surplus lands of the West to their own injury; the North did not want the road built on Southern territory lest the iron band would tie to the slave-holding states the newly-acquired territory, Arizona, New Mexico, but especially California, the prize because of her gold.

So, the East talked and played politics for years and years. The transcontinental railway was still to be built. A discussion of this political question would be beyond the scope of this article. It remained for Californians to take the decisive step. June 28, 1861, T. D. Judah, an engineer who had built several local short-line railroads in California, called a meeting of influential men in Sacramento to discuss the matter of a railroad across the country.

The result of the meeting was the organization of the Central Pacific Railroad, and the men who soon stood out as the head of this group, Stanford, Huntington, Crocker and Hopkins, made history and played no small part in the winning of the West.

Here again, the financial transactions of the railroads, the smart things that were done in the name of high finance, are not pertinent to this magazine. But May 10, 1869, the first train went over the line from Ogden to Sacramento, its western terminus.

Of course, it was felt that a terminus at the Bay was logical. San Francisco wished to have it, but the way into San Francisco by way of San Jose was held by another railroad. So, after a deal of manipulation, Oakland was made the western terminus, with a large ferryboat, the "Thoroughfare," to carry the cars over to San Francisco. Later, ferryboats carried the passengers, and the "Thoroughfare," with a later "Transit," ferried only freight cars upon the Bay.

After the earthquake of 1906, Oakland and the cities of Alameda County became very populous.

In the early part of this article it was stated the region opposite San Francisco was called the Contra Costa. When the counties of the state were organized in 1850, Contra Costa was the name given to the present Contra Costa and Alameda Counties. But it was soon found that the district was too large, so in 1853 a new county called Alameda was formed, with the Cerrito Creek the boundary. It is interesting to note that the town of Alvarado was to be "known as the seat of justice," but that the town of New Haven was to be the county seat. In 1856, San Leandro was the county seat. Later, in the '70s, it was removed to Oakland, where it now is.

"Alameda," which means a shaded road or avenue, may have given its name to the county because of an avenue through the oaks in the region. Or it may have been first applied to the creek, which we know as Alameda Creek, from the large number of cottonwoods along its banks. In fact, in writing of the creeks—"arroyos" of the place—Father Crespi constantly noted that the banks of each "arroyo" were full, "very full of alders, cottonwoods and willows."

OAKLAND A THRIVING METROPOLIS

Oakland Chamber Commerce

(Prepared Especially for The Grizzly Bear.)

TWENTY-THREE YEARS AGO, SHORTly before the major nations of Europe launched themselves into the great World War, Oakland first played host to the legions of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West. With the youthful enthusiasm of a young city, Oakland staged a celebration that still lives vividly in the memories of the oldtimers.

They recall the mammoth parade that marched before Oakland's new and majestic City Hall, as a record-breaking throng of 300,000 jammed the streets of the city. They recall the brilliant electrical parade, the pageant that told the story of California's colorful history as it was enacted by several hundred schoolchildren on the shores of Lake Merritt, and they will never forget the beauty of the spectacular fireworks as they were mirrored in the placid waters of the lake.

Oakland was young then. The task of entertaining the thousands of Native Sons and Native Daughters was a tremendous undertaking. It taxed the accommodations of the city to the limit, and filled the $2,000,000 Hotel Oakland, which was then in its second year of existence. It was necessary for the enthusiastic community to borrow from San Francisco some forty-two police officers to clear the path for Harry G. Williams as he led the memorable parade on his white charger through the gaily-decorated streets.

Today, Oakland is again preparing to open its gates to the Native Sons and Native Daughters, but those who are accorded the city's welcome will marvel at the change. The "new" City Hall they helped to dedicate is now twenty-three years old, and instead of standing guard like a protective giant over its flock of small buildings, it is today flanked by spires and buildings that come up to its shoulders or even look down upon its crown. No longer will Oakland look to its neighbor for aid in handling the crowds, for Oakland has grown in twenty-three years from a robust youngster to a mighty, mature man—capable of caring for himself and with the light of still greater ambition in his eyes.

The Oakland of today is a thriving metropolis—the center of business and population in an Eastbay Empire of more than 500,000. More residences, more automobiles and more schoolchildren are found in Metropolitan Oakland than in any other Northern California city, including the kindly San Francisco that once loaned forty-two policemen. Its waterfront has been developed from mud flats and salt marshes into one of the finest ports of the Pacific, with twenty-two miles of modern wharfs and piers caring for thousands of tons of California cargo destined for all parts of the world.

When Oaklanders say of their city, "Where Airways, Roadways and Railways Come Down to the Sea," they mean just that, for in addition to its splendid port facilities, Oakland has a municipal airport second to few in the nation. Aviation men say that there are larger airports and aerial accommodations of more modern design, but that for practical use to flying folk there is no better airport anywhere than the Oakland Municipal Field. It is the Western terminus for the major transcontinental lines and is served by frequent, efficient coastal schedules. Highways from the north, south and east focus on Oakland and bring a never-ending procession and tourists and business men into the city.

But in spite of its marvelous transportational facilities, its industrial growth and its gains in population, Oakland has genuine cause to look forward to even greater development, for within two short months it will be linked with San Francisco by the longest, most costly bridge the world has ever known—the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. It is the opinion of many engineers and experts in the field that the girders of steel and strands of cable will lead thousands of families to make their homes in beautiful Metropolitan Oakland, where they will be able to enjoy their homes on spacious, sunny lots and reside, on the average, nine minutes closer to their offices in San Francisco than before.

What will follow this expected increase in population in the way of industrial development and business growth can hardly be estimated correctly.

Other projects, too, are contributing to the prosperity of Oakland and helping to brighten its future. The completion of one of the world's finest water systems is outstanding among them. Oaklanders now enjoy soft, sparkling water from the snows of the high Sierra through the Mokelumne River project—and what's more, is assured of a more-than-adequate supply for the next fifty years.

The Broadway low-level tunnel, which will connect the Eastbay with the fertile and promising lands of Contra Costa County, is now nearing completion to enhance the city from a transportational standpoint and make it more accessible than ever to residents of the interior of California.

Metropolitan Oakland's growth has included the recreational field, as well. Municipal golf courses at Lake Chabot and in Alameda are well patronized, while a third is now under construction as part of the great Regional Park system that will provide Oakland residents with an everlasting, natural playground and assure them of a wooded, primitive park for all time. Six private courses are also available for golfers, while new baseball fields, yacht harbors and playgrounds have been developed for other sports devotees.

Other noteworthy developments in Oakland since the Native Sons and Native Daughters first descended en masse upon the city include the Municipal Auditorium and the Exposition Building, located at the southern tip of Lake Merritt, for the use of the community for entertainment and business purposes. The lake itself has been beautified in many ways. It is only appropriate that the largest body of salt water within the limits of any city in the world should be used by some 15,000 to 20,000 boating enthusiasts per month, and that it should be world famous as the haven of wild ducks and geese during the fall and winter season. Thousands of visitors have seen these wild fowl fed in their special sanctuary on the northwest shore of the lake in Lakeside Park.

It is only logical and fitting that the great state-wide organizations that officially opened Oakland's beautiful City Hall should return to officially dedicate the new, modernly-designed Alameda County Courthouse. It rises beautifully on the shore of Lake Merritt, near the Auditorium, Exposition Building, classic Scottish Rite Temple and the new Post Office. The Native Sons and Native Daughters of California will conduct the ceremonies to officially dedicate the impressive structure on the first day of their four-day celebration in Oakland, September 6. A flock of 2,500 trained homing pigeons, symbolizing the dissemination of goodwill and hospitality, will be released from the courthouse to open the ceremonies.

And in this manner will modern Oakland open its arms to the Native Sons and Native Daughters of California for four days of color, gaiety and celebration. Parties and open houses will be held at Oakland's large hotels, speedboat races will thrill thousands of spectators on Lake Merritt, and colorful throngs will march on Labor Day. In the afternoon of September 7 a horse show and rodeo are planned at Richmond, and an exceptionally fine boxing show, featuring nationally-known heavyweights, will be held at the Municipal Auditorium. On Tuesday, September 8, Oakland's recreational facilities will be available to the members of the various lodges, including the famous beaches in Ala-

Hartley Russell

(GRAND PRESIDENT N.S.G.W.)

MY FELLOW CALIFORNIANS: WITHin the next few days the citizenry of the State of California will celebrate the eighty-sixth birthday of our great commonwealth. It seems almost inconceivable that, in such a short span of time as that period commencing on the 9th day of September 1850 to the present, California's population has increased from approximately one hundred thousand to more than six and a quarter million people. Moreover, our State has, in that period of time, jumped from the position of having the smallest population in the Union to the rank of fourth largest in all the Nation.

With all of the rapidity of this phenomenal growth, the resultant condition became a sociologically sound one.

The Orders of the Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West have made their just contributions to California's marvelous development, and each of the organizations shall take its place in fostering the future happiness and prosperity of our great State.

And so, we find California to be a dominant factor in the political, agricultural, industrial, civic, religious and cultural life of the United States of America.

To every Californian the birthday of our State should be a day for respectful observance and ceremony. Let us all thank our God for making it possible for us to live in a land where the composite of all His benefactions are at our hand to enjoy and appreciate.

Not only do we wish to enjoy and appreciate these heavenly gifts, but we wish to keep them for the other generations to come. This can best be accomplished by a sincere desire on the part of every citizen to be "entirely American."

The Order of the Native Sons of the Golden West has unequivocally endorsed a resolution which provides that this organization shall wage a relentless warfare on all political isms that are against the tenets of Americanism. Let us lead the way! We all know wherein lies the cause. The effect is flaunting in our faces. The solution is not a difficult problem to successfully meet. If there be any obstacles in our way, they are apathy and indifference. We each hold a franchise which places in our hands the necessary weapons with which to cope with the situation, and that weapon is our vote. Anything that savors of the taint of unamericanism must be voted down! My plea to everyone is, do your part as a patriotic citizen. We must all be militant. We must all be real Californians at heart. And, above all, we must all be true Americans.

On California's next birthday, September the ninth, we shall all rejoice in the realization that our State is one of that great Union that occupies the most predominant place among the nations of the world. To the maintenance of this position, all members of the Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West dedicate themselves.

Sunday, September 6, at 2 o'clock p.m., the grand officers of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West will officially dedicate the new Alameda County Courthouse in Oakland with our "ALL CALIFORNIAN DEDICATORY CEREMONY." This ceremony consists of placing in the floor of the building a bronze plaque with the inscription:

This Building Dedicated To TRUTH LIBERTY TOLERATION
NATIVE SONS OF THE GOLDEN WEST
September 6, 1936.

The mortar used in placing this plaque is made from sands brought from historic places in California; the cement from the mills of this State and made from the rock carved out of its hills; the water from the sites of the old Franciscan Missions. In addition to this ceremony, addresses will be made by the Grand President of both Orders, a Past Grand President of each Order, as well as officials representing Alameda County.

Monday, September 7, a Labor Day celebration will be held in the City of Oakland in which the Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West will participate. Every Californian is urged to join with Organized Labor in commemorating this legal holiday.

Tuesday evening, September 8, a grand ball will be held in the Oakland Auditorium, under the auspices of the Alameda County Admission Day Committee, to which all Native Sons and Native Daughters are invited. Prior to this affair, contests in drilling and drumming will be held by the Admission Day Committee, in which teams from all over the State will participate.

The parade and pageant on Admission Day, September 9, will be the feature of the celebration. Nearly every important phase of the history of this State will be depicted by the various Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters with floats and marching units. During the afternoon and evening the old California spirit of hospitality will reign supreme, with the various Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters as hosts and hostesses to all who visit Oakland.

"Yours for even a greater California,"
HARTLEY RUSSELL,
Grand President N.S.G.W.

In conclusion, I wish to say that every resident of California is cordially invited to join with the members of these two great Orders at Oakland in the observance of California's birthday, the celebration of which will commence Sunday, September 6, and terminate the evening of Wednesday, September 9.

To those who live in parts of the State removed from the San Francisco Bay region, the viewing of the world's two greatest bridges which are now nearing completion, as well as an inspection of the shoal site of the Golden Gate International Exposition, "A Pageant of the Pacific," will be an inspirational experience never to be forgotten.

CALIFORNIA

(NELL FARRINGTON MYERS.)

There's a land across the Rockies
Far from Eastern smoke and grime,
Where the mountains touch the seashore
And the air is spiced with wine.

It's the land of fertile orchards,
Towering hills and mountains high,
And of little glades and canyons
Where the streams go trinkling by.

It's the land where garden lovers
May rejoice in growing things,
Where each season is so pleasant
Peace and comfort each day brings.

It's the land of winter picnics
And of summers fresh and cool,
And of laughing skies and children
Playing in a swimming pool.

It's the land of lovely evenings
With a pungent, scented breeze,
And of night-birds calling softly
From the palms and orange trees.

It's the land of gold and romance
Where you want to sit and dream,
Or go rolling down a highway
Or fish in a trout-filled stream.

It's the land of golden poppies,
Orange, prune and apricot,
Miles of valley fields and ranches—
The flower should be "forgetmenot!"

It's the land of open spaces
Where we scan the glimmering bay
From a hilltop over yonder
With cities dotted along the way.

It's the land of quaint old missions,
Desert sands and white sea foam,
Snow-clad mountains, giant redwoods—
How I thrill to call you "home!"

You have soothed me, you have taught me,
And you've lulled my soul to rest,
For there's joy in the game of living
So close to your throbbing breast.

Oh, California, gentle Mother,
With your golden sunshine bright,
With your stars and sky so brilliant,
Come, and tuck me in tonight!

—Township Register, Niles.

ALAMEDA COUNTY A STRONGHOLD

ALAMEDA COUNTY IS A STRONGHOLD of the Orders of Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West, having within its confines sixteen N.S.G.W. Subordinate Parlors and seventeen N.D.G.W. Subordinate Parlors. The Grizzly Bear requested from each of those thirty-three Parlors a brief account of its history. From information supplied by responding Parlors, the following has been compiled:

ANGELITA, LIVERMORE.

Angelita Parlor No. 32 N.D.G.W., the oldest Native Daughters Parlor in Alameda County, was instituted May 12, 1888, by Deputy Grand President Summers with 28 charter members. Steinbach, with 115 charter members. Robert M. Fitzgerald was the first president, and Cleve Dam the first recording secretary.

Civic affairs have occupied the attention of the Parlor during its career, and many of its members have held the highest political positions in the state and county. Among these are Frank C. Jordan, Secretary of State, and Dr. George C. Pardee, former Governor of California. Many of the civic improvements in Oakland were sponsored by Mayor Frank K. Mott.

Oakland's present officers are: Lewis E. Lercara, president; Chas. R. Noland, senior past president; John K. Murray, junior past president; Henry E. Bellerive, first vice-president; Ray L. In 1934 the Parlor furnished a room in the N.D.G.W. Home, San Francisco, and dedicated it to Past Grand President Addie L. Mosher, deceased, a member of Piedmont.

The Parlor has, for the past fifteen years and without any outside help, been providing a Christmas tree with gifts for 400 needy children of Livermore Valley. Also, for the past thirteen years it has been sponsoring a California history essay contest at the Livermore Union high school, and awarding prizes for the best six essays; each year about fifty essays are submitted, and among them are some very fine history stories.

Every year the Parlor fills a chest, with articles made and donated by the members, for the homeless children. Each Christmas some 100 poor children of Alameda County are entertained at a tree and party, and the recreation hall of the Livermore Veterans Hospital is decorated. For three years it has furnished milk to a family of ten, and United States of America and State (Bear) Flags have been presented several public schools.

meda. Others will want to see the marvel of modern engineering, the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bride; or the graceful span of the Golden Gate Bridge. Aviation enthusiasts will ride to the Alameda Airport, the home of the famous transpacific clipper ships, that link California with Hawaii, the Philippines and the Orient. And after the grand ball at the Auditorium Tuesday night and the spectacular parade on Admission Day, September 9, thousands of Native Sons and Native Daughters will say that the new, greater Oakland still plays the role of host in a manner as grand as the history of our great State itself.

Feminine World's Fads and Fancies

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

SOMEHOW, A HINT IS ALWAYS SO MUCH more intriguing than a confession of fact. Hence the thrill that we are getting out of the myriad fashions revealed to us to date. Spring and summer styles have their points, but the autumn and winter modes put designers on their mettle and stimulate their imagination.

Despite the fact that the season gives promise of being one of many moods, it nevertheless gives us the most wearable styles in many a long year. The new silhouettes are sufficiently varied to provide a style for every type, while fabrics, furs and colors meet and merge in the interest of harmony. And so each season we can say that styles are more lovely and fabrics more beautiful.

Right now, several silhouettes are receiving serious consideration, and these are the princess and the tunic, both fitted and flared. At the present time tunics are exerting a strong influence on fashions in general, not alone in dresses, but in suits and fur coats as well. Designers have succeeded in injecting some quality into their creations that gives a new "lift" and "swing" to the entire mode. All lines tend upward. Nothing is droopy, hence no hint of dejection.

Millinery is out for a new altitude record. We also have the berets in new autumn version. The faithful beret, wardrobe standby of the nation, appears again for wear now, or a little later with the first fall things. The newest beret is a little larger than its predecessors and may be pulled and pounded into a limitless variety of shapes. It's shown in a new soft felt, or in velvet, usually black, but also available in brown, navy, wine or hunter's green.

Fall woolens are truly something to think about, soft and luxurious in quality. Many striking nub effects are noted, and much emphasis is placed upon hairy woolens, with a decided interest shown in ostrich cloth, a fabric that is as soft as velvet to the touch and that is appearing in some of the loveliest of the new autumn colors.

One of the smartest day frocks combines a knee-length tunic of black wool edged in black curlecue braid, with a high front vee and underskirt of black satin. A dinner gown of black crepe is cut with a hip-length tunic. Red banding is embroidered in gold and white beads.

Black is "away out in front" in the color pageant of the collection. Trailing after it come slate-gray, rust, cocoa-brown and eggplant. Many of the frocks are made of supple wool with a soft duvetyn-like surface. A pebbled crepe and velvet white evening dress is playing up color in a big way. Colored sashes are all important and sometimes show up in two shades.

Costume jewelry is very much in the accessory picture for autumn, and one of the outstanding ideas is shown in designs of period inspiration, derived from diamonds. Exact reproductions of genuine diamond and platinum jewelry are found in bracelets, clips and brooches of first-grade rhinestone, set in beautiful mountings with open back. Each piece is a copy of the genuine article.

For fall neckwear the material is new—a metallic taffeta in red, green and a bright blue with gold. There's a high rolled collar and bow, and the jabot is bow-pleated and equally appropriate for wear with dresses or suits.

New fabrics give new dresses varying personalities. A sheer with velvet dots threaded with metal is elegant for afternoons. The new matelasses are flatter and less wrinkled. Mossy crepe with a jacquard design comes in satin and a satin back. A new velvet, mossy and uncut, is smart for more formal clothes.

For the school miss, let us say you have your essentials—wide wool skirt and sweaters, swagger shoes, tweed topcoat and a little beret. Now you can think of the extras that whip a wardrobe into shape, such as a neutral colored raincoat. Keep to the trench style if you like, but don't overlook the new charm and all-over comfort of the gabardine with box pleat at back.

Twin toppers are shirts and cardigans made up in plaid flannel for college. Socks are different, too; the anklets won't let you down, having a lastex band at the top. A sheer wool scarf you will want for color and warmth, but no bulk under your chin. An extra jacket is made of rust suede as soft as down, with tiny roll collar and stitched-on belt. The action back is most comfortable.

Although the college miss spurns most jewelry, she finds that the heavy leather-like bits look just right with the casual clothes she wears. With all her campus clothes she wears sturdy oxfords, a black and brown pair with heavy welt soles. Pajamas come in both lounging and sleeping style, and a practical bathrobe that's smart is made of flannel, is fastened high on the shoulder and has a chinese collar.

Culottes are the practical thing to wear for bicycling. The college miss will appreciate the speed of slide fasteners at neck and placet because they fit so nicely with her "twenty minutes from bed to class" schedule. Then come two dresses for tea dances, informals, faculty teas and the like. And two dresses for weekends, a dark metal-shot crepe and a matelasse in a high color. There should be a three-piece suit with blouse of woven dots, skirt to match the coat which is swagger and of three-quarters length, and white wolf collared. Accessories include a vagabond hat that every one wears, a plaid wool scarf and a printed paisley scarf, gloves and a criterion belt with pockets that make a pocketbook unnecessary.

A cable-stitch trimmed sweater to be worn with a widely flared tweed skirt introduces a raised honeycomb weave that is much like matelasse in effect. The blouse top and sleeves of the dress have alternating bands of plain knit and honeycomb weave. The high open neckline is new, as is the "ball and chain" link closing. Two-piece knits will be recognized by their lovely moss yarns and fine silk and tweed mixture, by rich colors ranging from soft beige to jet black, and by little intricacies in knitting such as gored skirts, lace patterns and clever ways of padding shoulders.

One may reflect a gay mood by adding bright colored accessories. A black peaked crown toque, for instance, is trimmed in the tricolor, with the red, white and blue repeated, perhaps, in a gay taffeta scarf or a clip on the black handbag.

The cocktail hour always is one of the most exciting times of the day. It calls for glittering collars and cuffs on deep velvets and colorful lames with deep burgundies and bronzy green crepes, cellophane velvets, cire satins and shimmering metalized crepes. All shining raiment of the most alluring type has come back into the fashion picture.

Zipper-fitted accessories such as handbags and gloves give shapely silhouettes. Gauntlet gloves have diagonal stitching and scalloped edges and are fastened with self-color zippers. A straight short dubonnet color capeskin glove has a self-color zipper diagonally set in. Two compartments within a book bag are fastened with gold zippers of brown suede. A valise bag has a gold bracelet handle and gold zipper.

The California Pacific International Exposition at San Diego will close Admission Day, September 9, with an elaborate historical pageant parade.

Fiesta del Vino will be a Pleasanton, Alameda County, attraction September 12 and 13.

Newport Beach, Orange County, has voted $300,000 bonds for sewage disposal.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

LOS ANGELES COUNTY NATIVE SONS AND Native Daughters will make a fine showing at the Oakland Admission Day celebration. The indications are that the delegation, headed by Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, will be the largest that has ever gone north from this section to celebrate California's birthday as a state, September 9.

An entire division of the Oakland Admission Day parade has been assigned to the Los Angeles County contingent. In it will be marchers from all the Native Sons Parlors attired in distinctive uniforms, the Santa Monica City municipal band, a beautiful float provided by the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County, and the drum and bugle corps of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. As an added attraction, it is very likely that the famous posse of Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz will be in this division.

Arrangements for Los Angeles' participation in the Oakland festivities are being handled by a general committee, the officers of which are: Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz, chairman; Bernard G. Hiss, Clarence S. Hunt, Grand Trustee Hazel B. Hansen and Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg, vice-chairmen; Hervey L. Kitchin, secretary; Walter H. Odemar, treasurer. Chairmen of subcommittees include: Charles A. Son (float), Robert Dunn (marching units), Captain William J. Bright (transportation), Bert Bair (drum corps), Frank Zeigler (flags and banners), Howard Earl (uniforms), Maynard Garrison (reception), Stanley Parker (athletics), George Geiger (publicity) and Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt (Admission Day observance).

A decidedly low round-rate fare to Oakland has been arranged for by the committee. Any Native interested should get in touch with Bernard G. Hiss, telephone VAndike 6694.

N.S. LUNCHEON CLUB.

At the meeting August 21, the Native Sons Luncheon Club decided that, in future, there will be one guest speaker a month, the other meetings being given over to round-table discussions. Maynard Garrison of University Parlor No. 272 was elected president for the next six months, and Hervey L. Kitchin of Ramona Parlor No. 109 was chosen secretary.

OUTSTANDING SOCIAL EVENT.

The new officers of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W., with Miss Edna Trombatore as president, will be publicly installed September 23 in Gibson Hall of the Friday Morning Clubhouse. The ceremonies will begin at 8:30 p.m., and will be followed by dancing. This will be an outstanding social event of the season. Miss Trombatore entertained the officers-elect at dinner at her home August 31, and the new year's activities were discussed.

September 12, Los Angeles' sewing club will be entertained at tea at the Pasadena home of Mrs. Verne Matson, who will be assisted by Miss Anita Aguirre. September 30 the Parlor will have a supper at Ferndell, in Griffith Park. Miss Edna Holcomb is chairman of the affair. Deputy Olinda Kerby is rapidly recovering from a minor operation.

SEVEN INITIATED.

Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. initiated August 14 the largest class in some time, seven candidates. Among the several visitors was a delegation from Stephen M. White Parlor, headed by President B. J. Lassere. Among the speakers of the evening were Bernard G. Hiss, Past Grand Herman C. Lichtenberger, Louis F. Erb, Grand Outside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, Paul D. Robinson and Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth.

Deputy Sheriff Joseph P. Coyle is confined to a hospital as the result of an auto accident in which he was seriously injured.

NATIVE SONS AT N.D. MEETING.

Long Beach—Deputy Matilda Enfield and Supervising Deputy Flora Holy were honor-guests at the August 6 meeting of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. A large delegation from Grace Parlor (Placentia) included President Kate Hill, Supervising Deputy Nellie Cline and Deputy Helen Anderson. California souvenir baby spoons were given Mms. Eleonor Fisher, Lois McDougall and Gertrude Riddle, the presentations being made by Mrs. Daisy Hansen.

Mrs. Bertha Hitt also presented Mrs. Riddle with a baby wardrobe from the members, and explained the other mothers had previously received showers for their babies. Members and guests enjoyed the two babies who were brought by their mothers to the meeting, and Supervising Deputy Holy said, "This is the first meeting I have attended where native sons are in attendance." Following the meeting cake and sherbet were served at tables decorated in orange and lavender. The committee included Mms. Johanna Reed (chairman), Alice Waldow and Lucretia Coates.

The last two meetings of the Parlor's thimble club were held at Bixby Park and the home of President Leola Temby. A cooked-food sale will be held at the Municipal Market September 5, and appropriate plans have been made by Long Beach for the observance of Admission Day, September 9.—V.T.H.

PROGRAM OUTLINED.

Glendale—Mrs. Dorothy Ravn began her presidency of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. by dedicating the August 11 meeting to Miss Etta Fulkerth, who retired as recording secretary after serving four terms in that office. Deputy Dolores Luckey was the honor-guest.

The Parlor has outlined a series of activities for the next six months. These include a series of monthly night card parties, the first of which was held August 22 at the home of Dorothy Ravn, a rummage sale, a fashion show and a number of dances.

"WHERE THE MOUNTAINS MEET THE SEA"

SANTA MONICA SANTA MONICA BAY Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. had a very successful and enjoyable hard-times dance August 19. Manley Danforth was in charge of the affair, and Bert Bair furnished the music. In the Oakland Admission Day parade the Parlor will have a large marching delegation, accompanied by the drum and bugle corps in new uniforms of Spanish design. President Harry DuVall, Harry Dalley, Jack Smith, Manley Danforth, Ralph Eisenhart, Ed Grom and Rube Whatley have been assisting the corps to get in readiness for the event.

September 16, at its meetingplace, Odd Fellows Hall, 1431 Third street, Santa Monica, the Parlor will have a card party for the benefit of the drum and bugle corps. Jack Keogh is in charge, and the fee is but twenty-five cents. All Natives and their friends are invited.

IN NEW QUARTERS.

Ocean Park—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. now meets the first and third Monday evenings in Patriotic Hall, 2621 Washington boulevard, Ocean Park. At the first meeting in the new quarters, August 17, initiation was held. Supervising Deputy Flora Holy and Deputy Bertha Hitt were among the visitors. Refreshments were served under the chairmanship of Mrs. D. L. Benbrooks. The Parlor has begun work on a Christmas bazar.

Leland Atherton Irish, John V. Barrow and Cecil Frankel of Californiana have been appointed on the hostess committee for "Everyman."

The inscription on the bronze tablet placed at the Harrington adobe near San Fernando Mission reads: "Rancho Romulo, oldest portion built about 1834, by ex-mission Indians. Enlarged by Eulogio de Celis in 1846; upper story added by Romulo Pico in 1874; restored by Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Harrington in 1930; marked July 18, 1936, by Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W."

DATE CHOSEN FOR HALLOWE'EN FROLIC.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO WILL, AS ALWAYS, make a great showing in the Admission Day, September 9, parade in Oakland. In fact, the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden Gate City will be there in such force that five divisions of the twelve-division parade have been assigned to them. Arrangements for San Francisco's participation in the celebration of California's birthday anniversary have been perfected by a joint committee representing all the local Native Sons and Native Daughters Parlors, with Charles A. Roberts and Loretta M. Cameron as the general chairmen.

EXPOSITION GROUND BREAKING.

Marking the beginning of construction of buildings for the Golden Gate International Exposition of 1939, ground-breaking ceremonies were held August 21 on Yerba Buena Shoals, the exposition site. Among the one thousand present were Grand President Hartley Russell and Grand Secretary John T. Regan, representing the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West.

The program included: Address, President Leland Cutler of the Exposition Corporation; address, Governor Frank Merriam who, with a gold-plated shovel, turned the first earth; address, Angelo J. Rossi of El Dorado Parlor No. 52 N.S.G.W., mayor of San Francisco; address, President Frank G. Belcher of the California Pacific International Exposition, San Diego; address, Joseph R. Knowland, Past Grand President N.S.G.W., president State Chamber of Commerce.

Celebrate Admission Day, September 9, the eighty-sixth anniversary of California's admission to the Union, some where, some how. Show your love for and loyalty to the Golden State.

WONDERFUL SERVICE RECOGNIZED.

San Francisco Parlor No. 49 N.S.G.W. is giving a testimonial dinner Monday, September 28, in honor of Frank Marini, a charter member of and instrumental in the organization of the Parlor. He is a past president, too, and for fifty-two years—ever since No. 49 was organized—he has been the treasurer.

However, the thing that stands out most prominently in his service to the Order and the Parlor is this: He is undoubtedly the greatest rounder-up of eligible native sons, for in the past three years he has, all by himself, brought into San Francisco Parlor 123 new members!

Believing, therefore, that such wonderful work should have public recognition, the Parlor, to partially express its appreciation of such faithful service, is tendering Frank Marini this dinner. In attendance will be all of the grand officers and all of the city officials of San Francisco.—E.J.G.

GRAND PRESIDENT N.D. VISITS.

Grand President Florence D. Boyde paid her first official visit to James Lick Parlor No. 220 N.D.G.W. July 29. Other guests were Grand Vice-president Ethel I. Begley, Past Grand Anne C. Thuesen, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry, Grand Trustees Alice Lane and Claire Lindsey, Grand Outside Sentinel Emily Ryan, Past Grands Eliza Keith, Emma Foley, May Boldemann, Margaret Hill and Mary E. Bell, Supervising Deputy Mazie Roderick and Deputy Mary Vogt.

Five candidates were initiated by President Ann Neilan and assisting officers. Vocal selections were rendered by Lillian O'Leary and Maude Daly. The Parlor's gifts to the Grand President were a shower boquet of handkerchiefs and china. Edna Bishop was chairman for the visitation.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS.

Orinda Parlor No. 56 had a reception and dance in honor of Grand Marshal Orinda Gunther-Giannini which was attended by representatives of all the local Parlors of Native Sons and Daughters. Grand Parlor officials present were Grand Vice-president Ethel I. Begley, Grand Trustees Alice Lane, Ethel Enos and Claire Lindsey, Grand Outside Sentinel Emily Ryan, Supervising Deputy Mazie Roderick, Past Grands Anne Thuesen, Margaret Hill and Emma Foley. Mae Shea was hostess and introduced the program talent: Lloyd Dornell, Elsie Dethlethsen and the San Francisco N.D.G.W. Glee Club, Ruby Bried director. On Orinda's behalf, President Martha Neidlinger presented a token of esteem to Mrs. Giannini, and she was the recipient of numerous other remembrances from admiring friends.

Buena Vista Parlor No. 68 enjoyed a delightful and instructive illustrated lecture on "The Paths of the Galleons" by Mildred Goodwill August 20. A dutch whist is billed for September 3. Myrtle Ritterbush is chairman of the September committee, composed of the drill team members. "An Old California Night" will be featured September 17. Louise Tabor will speak, and Dorothy Rathjens will render Spanish and American songs. Refreshments will be served.

Sans Souci No. 96 and Calaveras No. 103 Parlors sponsored the Sunday breakfast at the Home August 9. Jessie Crowley presided, Ann S. Dippel offered the invocation, and Mary L. Krogh repeated the allegiance to The Flag. Peter Mullins, speaker of the day, commented on "Communism and Its Impracticable Principles." Other speakers were Past Grand Emma G. Foley, Helen T. Mann and Grand Trustee Alice M. Lane. Vocal selections were rendered by Henrietta Brown and Gertrude Krampert.

Lola Horgan was honor-guest at a dinner given by La Estrella Parlor No. 89 prior to her departure for the Hawaiian Islands, where her daughter makes her home.

Mae Baumeister is the new president of Dolores Parlor No. 169, having been installed at brilliant ceremonies conducted by Deputy Rena Taube. Elsie Dethelsson and Alice McArazy rendered vocal solos, and the San Francisco Glee Club, directed by Ruby Bried, entertained with a skit. Betty Marcus assisted at the piano. Beautiful flowers from the gardens of Past Grand Evelyn Carlson, who was chairwoman of the occasion, decorated the hall. Members of the Parlor having birthdays in August were honored at a gay party the 12th. A delicious repast was served, and Alvina Burkhardt cut the birthday cake. Dolores' drill team was entertained August 24 by Sylvia O'Rourke, recent bride.

Chief President Mamie F. Davis officially visited Past Presidents Association No. 1 August 3 and was welcomed by some 150 members. Other chief officers introduced were Directors Lawson and Dippel, Secretary Anna G. Loser, Treasurer Emma G. Foley, Founder Leah Williams, Past Chiefs Emily Clifford, Bede Pacheco, Josephine Schmidt, Winnie Halter, Josephine Clarke, Margaret Hill. Six past presidents were initiated, and several presentations were made. SAN BERNARDINO—ARROWHEAD PARlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. plans a big time for the southland Parlors when they hold their group initiation at its Crestline Clubhouse in the San Bernardino Mountains Saturday Evening, October 3. This will be "VanLuven night," in honor of Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven. Arrowhead is striving for the largest number of candidates in its history—and the Parlor never fails or disappoints. The grand officers have been invited to exemplify the ritual.

Arrowhead's August meetings were held at the mountain clubhouse, where it is always cool, and where there is every convenience for work and play. August 26 the annual family watermelon feast was held at Harlem Springs.

PRESIDENT SHOWERED.

San Bernardino—Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. had the largest visiting group—twenty-four members—at the Santa Ana installation July 27. With Arrowhead N.S.G.W., a family basket supper was enjoyed at Lytle Creek Park August 4. Games followed the supper.

The Parlor's sewing club met August 10 at the home of Opal Stowe, and August 24 at the home of Margaret Boehm. A card party was held at Crestline the afternoon of August 12, and in the evening supper was served. At the Parlor meeting August 26, President Thelma Nett was showered with handkerchiefs, the date being her birthday anniversary. Marion Ricks provided a program of entertainment.

THE LETTER BOX

Comments on subjects of general interest and importance received from readers of The Grizzly Bear.

WARNINGS APPRECIATED.

Editor Grizzly Bear—Want to express my appreciation of the wonderful work you have done and are doing, not only for the Native Sons and the Native Daughters, but for our state. Californians are awakening to the justice of your timely warnings in Grizzly Growls. They are so matter-of-fact that, I sincerely trust, our people will show their appreciation of the same. Wishing you continued success, J. H. BRENNER. San Francisco, August 5, 1936.

DONATION TO LIBRARY.

Editor Grizzly Bear—Enclosed find check for $1.50 for which you will please send The Grizzly Bear Magazine for one year, commencing with the August number, to the Ferndale Library. This is my personal donation to the library. Very respectfully, MRS. MYRA RUMRILL, recording secretary Oneonta Parlor No. 71 N.D.G.W. Ferndale, August 13, 1936.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED.

Editor Grizzly Bear—Mr. Albert Mayrhofer brought me a copy of the August issue of The Grizzly Bear the other day, and you may be sure I was most pleasantly surprised to see the very fine cover reproduction of a night scene at our Exposition in San Diego. I felt that this was a most generous act on your part, and want you to know how very much appreciated it is by the officials of the Exposition.

No doubt you are familiar with the arrangements which, headed by Mr. Mayrhofer, are being made for the closing day of the Exposition on September 9th. . . . I believe from what Mr. Mayrhofer has told me, that this day and parade will be outstanding, and most of the credit will surely go to the Native Sons and Native Daughters for their assistance in making it possible and in bringing it about. Again this gesture calls for an expression of deep appreciation, since on that same day the official meeting of the Native Sons and Native Daughters organizations is to take place in Oakland.

Again thanking you for your assistance and co-operation, I am sincerely and cordially yours, FRANK G. BELCHER, president California Pacific International Exposition. San Diego, August 13, 1936.

Celebrate Admission Day, September 9, the eighty-sixth anniversary of California's admission to the Union, some where, some how. Show your love for and loyalty to the Golden State.

BIG CROWD AT GROUP INITIATION

SAN PEDRO—THE MEETINGPLACE OF Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W. was crowded August 21 by 150 members of the Order from San Bernardino, Orange and Los Angeles Counties assembled for the group initiation conducted under the auspices of the District Deputies Association. Twenty-one candidates were presented—five for the host-Parlor, four each for Arrowhead Parlor No. 110, Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 and University Parlor No. 272, three for Santa Ana Parlor No. 265, and one for Compton Parlor No. 273.

The ritual was exemplified by a team from Arrowhead Past Presidents Assembly No. 14 which included: Herma Taylor, president; "Bob" Brazelton, senior past president; Frank E. Cotter, junior past president; Robert E. Dunn, first vice-president; John Paralieu, second vice-president; Walter Odemar, third vice-president; Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven, marshal; Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, inside sentinel; Walter Hiskey, outside sentinel; Ed. E. Baldwin, recording secretary; William E. Reuter, financial secretary; William R. Blaha, organist. Captain "Bill" Bright conducted the charity-box session.

Grand First Vice-president Meyer gave a fine talk, welcoming the initiates, and stressing the significance and importance of Admission Day. Ben Hiss outlined the plans of the Los Angeles County Parlors for participation in the September 9 festivities at Oakland, and Howard Earl "modeled" the costume to be worn in the parade there. On behalf of Santa Monica Bay, John Keogh presented an inscribed gavel to President Charles DuVall of that Parlor, and on behalf of Stephen M. White Parlor, Frank Bronson was presented a past president pin by Grand Inside Sentinel Richards. Deputies in attendance were Phil D. Molen, Fred L. Staebler, John P. Paralieu, F. L. McGarvey, Walter E. Hiskey, Leslie Case, Walter H. Odemar and Clarence M. Hunt.

BARBECUE SEPTEMBER 27.

Stephen M. White Parlor is promoting a family barbecue, to be held September 27 at the Lone Pine Inn, on Main street at Willow, just north of Wilmington. All Native Sons, Native Daughters, their families and friends will be welcomed. The tariff is 75 cents per person. A red-hot baseball game between teams from University No. 272 and Stephen M. White Parlors will start at 10 a.m. The barbecue, which will be the best ever, starts at 12 noon. Dancing and other amusements begin at 2 p.m. A day of pleasure is assured by the arrangements committee: Captain Charles Colby, Jack Melle, Henry Feisel, Harry Fairall, "Bill" Reuter, District Deputy John Paralieu, Grand Inside Sentinel Walter Richards and President B. J. Lassere.

DELIGHTFUL GARDEN SUPPER.

San Pedro Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W. had a benefit dance, July 23, at which the honor guests were Deputy Frances Reynolds and her husband, Dr. J. S. Reynolds of Compton Parlor No. 273 N.S.G.W. July 29, the members of Rudecinda and their husbands were entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Reynolds at a delightful garden supper at their Compton home. Cards followed the supper. July 27, Marcella Sandoval, Letitia Sarciaux, Carrie Kuhlman and Margaret Kreider attended the installation of officers at Santa Ana.

At the cornerstone laying of San Pedro's new federal building August 7, Rudecinda's history was placed in the bronze box. Recent meetings of the Parlor's sewing club have been held at Banning Park, Wilmington, Averill Park, San Pedro, and Cabrillo Beach. The next meeting will be in the garden at the home of Margaret Kreider.

Celebrate Admission Day, September 9, the eighty-sixth anniversary of California's admission to the Union, some where, some how. Show your love for and loyalty to the Golden State.

TRUE PIONEER PASSES.

Mrs. Rose McIntire-Miller, born in Valparaiso, Chili, in 1847, died August 1 at San Pedro. As the wife of Captain August McIntire, she came to California aboard a three-masted schooner in 1864, landing at Eureka, Humboldt County. Seventy years ago the couple settled in San Pedro, where the captain engaged in shipbuilding. He also built the first wharves at Ventura, Santa Barbara and Carpinteria. Four years after the death of McIntire she married Charles Miller.

Mrs. Miller was a splendid character and a lover of California. During her seventy years' residence in San Pedro, she had seen the place grow from a landing at Dead Man's Island to the splendid harbor of today. Surviving her are eight children.—C.R.K.

CABRILLO STATUE UNVEILED.

A statue of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, discoverer of California in 1542, was unveiled August 22 at Cabrillo Beach, San Pedro. The ceremonies were under the joint direction of the San Pedro Inter-Service Club Council, which sponsored the project, and the Los Angeles Playgrounds and Recreation Department.

STORK CENTER OF ATTRACTION.

Compton—Officers of Compton Parlor No. 258 N.D.G.W., with Glenna Pickell as president, were publicly installed by Deputy Mae West. On entering the diningroom for refreshments after the July 28 meeting, members of the Parlor found a large stork, decorated in pink and blue, standing majestically in the center of the table. Organist Minnie Blaksley and Trustee Jessie Wilson received many dainty gifts.

August 14, Past President Emma Castillo entertained the officers who served with her at a novel "cootie" party at her home. A delicious supper was served at attractively decorated tables. Those who enjoyed the delightful evening included Mms. Letitia Sarciaux, Elenor Gunn, Lottie Phelps, Kate Glavinic, Gertrude Bice, Minnie Blaksley, Lucille Adams, Helen Schultz and Frances Reynolds. Chairman Elenor Gunn reports the Compton Parlor dolls, more beautiful than ever this year, will be on display not later than October 15, at which time orders will be taken for later delivery.

JOSHUA TREE NATIONAL MONUMENT.

The newest link in the national park chain is the Joshua Tree National Monument, which includes 825,340 acres of desert land in Riverside and San Bernardino Counties. It was created August 18 by proclamation of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The land is described as north from Twenty-nine Palms, south to Mecca, west to United States Highway No. 99, and east forty miles from Garnet. Within this new park is the finest growth of joshua trees in the world, a plant which probably is the oldest desert growth now extant. There also are fine specimens of cacti and yuccas. All will now be protected.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

"TO THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS of Subordinate Parlors, Native Daughters of the Golden West—Dear Sisters: September 9, 1936, will mark the eighty-sixth birthday of our Golden State. No State in our Great Union is filled with more of real romance and tragedy in its making than our own California. We will never know the sacrifice of life and fortunes made by those courageous men and women in their long, weary march overland or by sea to this Empire of the West.

"We came into Statehood 'overnight.' This was made possible by those splendid people working side by side, in perfect harmony, with that one thought in mind and to make this their 'Land of Hope and Golden Promise.'

"May we show our loyalty to their memory and thanks for the privilege we have to enjoy the fruits of their labors by joining in the Admission Day celebration at Oakland.

"Tell the story of this Great Day. It is one that cannot be told too often. Sincerely and fraternally yours in P.D.F.A.,

"FLORENCE D. BOYLE,
"Grand President N.D.G.W.

"Oroville, August 17, 1936."

Sing, Sisters, Sing!

The Grand Parlor Music Committee—Clara A. Gairaud (chairman), Ruby Bried, Elmarie Dyke, Augusta Huxsol, Leona Geyer, Grand Organist Mae O'Keefe, Minna K. Horn and Marguerite Crane—addressed a letter August 12 to all Subordinate Parlors saying, in part:

"Community singing is a big factor these days. The Native Daughters of the Golden West was one of the first groups to introduce it with success. There is much hidden talent in our Parlors. Try to form glee clubs, encourage duet, trio and quartet work. Perpetuate the songs of the California Pioneers by singing them in Parlors.

"The Grand President has expressed a desire to have a state competition of these songs at our next (Placerville) Grand Parlor. Singers will be judged according to tone, pitch, enunciation, phrasing, pronunciation, expression, general appearance, etc. We trust your Parlor will take an active interest in this new project."

Reception for Grand Vice-president.

San Rafael—At a reception for Grand Vice-president Ethel I. Begley given by Marinita No. 198, twelve young members performed many fancy drills. From the letter "E," the team marched to a large "horseshoe" and individually put boquets of rose sweetpeas in this "good luck" sign, made of greens and ferns, while Antoinette Hecht sang "Stay As Sweet As You Are." Mrs. Begley was formally introduced by President Violet Schumacher, and was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. Following a short program and refreshments dancing was enjoyed. Irene Griffin, chairman of the reception, was assisted by Mae Zappetini, Antoinette Hecht, Violet Schumacher, Marguerite Brusatori, Marie Borba and Eugenie Watson.

Marinita will again sponsor a San Rafael Fiesta, to be held October 24 and 25. A bazar and parade will be featured. Marie Borba, chairman of arrangements, is being assisted by Mollye Spaelti, Eugenie Watson and Cora Perry.

August 12 final plans for celebrating Admission Day with a five-day festival, September 5 to 9, were made. Albert V. Climaxing the festival, a downtown Admission Day, September 9, parade will be held. A covered wagon, cowboys and cowgirls will form a part of the pageantry. The Native Daughters will act as hostesses during the celebration at the Exposition.—S.M.

Truly Good Time Enjoyed.

Oakland—In a prettily decorated hall, and surrounded by a host of friendly faces, Bahia Vista No. 167 and Oakland No. 50 N.S.G.W. had another joint installation of officers July 30. Deputies Orlinda Cordoza and W. E. Gray officiated, and Dorothy Jordan and L. E. Lercara became the respective presidents. Following these ceremonies refreshments were served, and then the balance of the evening was given over to dancing. A spirit of friendliness and good-fellowship prevailed and a truly good time was enjoyed by the many assembled for the occasion.

Gathered together at the home of Lois Davis twenty-five members of the sewing club of Bahia Vista accomplished a great deal in the line of needlecraft. Costumes for the Admission Day parade were discussed and a final decision was reached. Co-hostess Dorothy Jordan assisted in serving delicious refreshments.

Indian Party.

Sacramento—Complimenting Miss Elda Santinelli at her first "pow wow," La Bandera No. 110 had an Indian party August 7. An Indian at the entrance of a large wigwam welcomed the guests, who were appropriately costumed. The entertainment included war whoops and songs. The centerpiece of the refreshment table was a miniature Indian village beside a lake with teepees, campfires, etc.

Special guests were Past Grand Dr. Eva R. Rasmussen, Supervising Deputy Lily Mae Tilden, Deputies Pearl Freitas and Thelma Barton, Gussie Dietz and Lucille Huntoon, co-chairmen of the occasion, were assisted by Martha Hood, Zelma Thomas, Helen Aunger, Frieda Dalton, Della Bardoni, Margaret Erhardt, Suerose Peters, Agnes Schlumpf, Marion Dubecker, Geraldine Cannon and Hannah Mannerberg.

Joint Installation.

Santa Ana—Preceded by a dance review, the officers of Santa Ana No. 235 and Santa Ana No. 265 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed in the presence of 200 members and guests. Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg and District Deputy Leslie Case officiated, and Marguerite Mize and Joseph Callens became the respective presidents. Mrs. Thos. Willitts, accompanied by Ruth Armstrong, sang "I'll Trail Along With You" and "I Love You, California." Among the many visitors from all surrounding Parlors were Bertha Hitt of Long Beach No. 154, founder of No. 235, Supervising Deputies Nellie Cline and Flora Holy, Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards and District Deputy John Paralieu. Presentations were made, and there were several short talks. The pleasant occasion concluded with dancing and refreshments.

Mrs. Carl Schroeder was complimented with a stork shower at the home of President Marguerite Mize of Santa Ana No. 235, and was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. Past President Muriel Bray entertained her assisting officers at a lovely tea at the home of Mrs. F. C

Pilgrimage to Tuolumne.

Alameda—With Stephanie Holod as president, Deputy Kathleen Dombrink installed the officers of Encinal No. 156. The sewing club continues its weekly meetings at the home of Louise Benedetti.

August 9 members and friends of Encinal made their annual pilgrimage to historic Columbia, Tuolumne County. August 29 the Parlor had a public whist party. In anticipation of the Oakland Admission Day celebration the drill team is practicing under the direction of Captain George Herron of the National Guard.

Grand President To Address Clubs.

Oroville—Grand President Florence D. Boyle will address the Rockridge Women's Club of Oakland September 4, and September 12 she will be a speaker at the Asilomar gathering of the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Parting Hour Came Too Soon.

Placentia—Before an audience of 200 and amidst a beautiful garden setting of potted palms, ferns and dahlias, Kate Hill became the president of Grace No. 242 at public installation ceremonies conducted by Deputy Olinda Kirby. Among the attendants were Grand Trustee Clarice Cook, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg, Supervising Deputies Flora Holy and Nellie Cline. Helen Anderson presented a program of accordion and dance numbers, and Marybelle Chapman and Charles Rothaermel favored with vocal solos. Recent brides of the Parlor are Marie Cline-Kennedy and Grace Hirigoyen-Whalen.

Members of Grace were guests of Anna Lemke at her Newport Beach home August 10. A pleasant day of swimming, sewing and cards, and a real Native Daughter potluck dinner made the parting hour arrive much too soon.

Deputies Inspire.

Palo Alto—Joint installation of the officers of Palo Alto No. 229 and Palo Alto No. 216 N.S.G.W. proved a fine fraternal and social event. Deputies Clara Briggs and Phillip Blanchard officiated, and both deeply impressed all present with their inspiring rendition of the installation rituals.

During the social hour President Columbus Baldo of No. 216 welcomed the many guests, and President Carrie Larsen of No. 229 introduced the following speakers: Hilda Campbell, Mathilda Moak, Supervising Deputy Eldora McCarty, George McDonald, John Baker, Harry Weeden, Clara Gairaud, Deputies Briggs and Blanchard. Beautiful floral decorations, refreshments, gifts and an impromptu dance added much to the evening's enjoyment. Both Parlors are keenly interested in a historic float they will enter in the Oakland Admission Day parade.

August 11 Palo Alto No. 229 celebrated its twelfth institution anniversary with a birthday dinner.—H.G.H.

Pioneer Reception for Admission Day.

Santa Barbara—Reina del Mar No. 126 will observe Admission Day, September 9, with a reception at Rockwood, in Mission Canyon, honoring the Pioneers of Santa Barbara County. Founder Lilly O. Reichling-Dyer will be an honored guest on this occasion. At night Santa Barbara No. 116 N.S.G.W. will unite with the Parlor at a dance.

August 2, Reina del Mar had its annual Old Spanish Days Fiesta tea, which was attended by 1,000. The theme was "Las Campanas de la Mission" (The Bells of the Mission). The speaker of the occasion was Father Joseph Thompson of Los Angeles, and his subject was "The Franciscans and Their Missions." Among those in attendance from out of the city were Past Grand Grace S. Stoermer, Grand Trustee Clarice Cook and Grand Inside Sentinel Mary E. Noerenberg.

"Gazing at the Stars."

San Jose—August 19 was president's night at Vendome No. 100, and a playlet, "Gazing at the Stars," was presented by Mrs. Herbert Stockton, newly-installed president. Boquets of pink and blue asters were presented members born in August, and the date being Mrs. Clara Gairaud's birthday she was especially remembered by the "Pals." August 26 another of the popular potluck dinners was held, with Mrs. Ella Graham as chairman. A program of talks and music followed.

The Native Daughters Parlors of Santa Clara County will march as a unit in the Oakland Admission Day parade. The uniforms are sports dresses of black and white satin, white felt hats and white shoes. Commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the Order's founding, the county Parlors plan to add fifty new names to their membership rolls during the present Grand Parlor year.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS BRIEFS.

Gifts were presented President Jane Ezetti, Past President Ruby Brien, Supervising Deputy Juliet Bliss and Deputy Bradley. Refreshments and dancing were enjoyed after the ceremonies.

Grass Valley—Officers of Manzanita No. 29 were installed by Deputy Annie Hooper, Elizabeth Hoskins becoming president. The Parlor now has 226 members and the meetings are always well attended. Since the increase in the price of gold, Grass Valley's population has grown to 8,000, an increase of about 3,000.

Celebrate Admission Day, September 9, the eighty-sixth anniversary of California's admission to the Union, some where, some how. Show your love for and loyalty to the Golden State.

Oakland—Aloha No. 106 initiated three candidates August 11. After the ceremonies motion pictures, among them an all-color one of the 1935 Stockton Admission Day parade, were enjoyed. Refreshments were served in the banquetroom, gaily decorated in yellow and white.

Stockton—Deputy Freda Ohm installed the officers of Caliz de Oro No. 206, Ina Forrest becoming president. Among the sixty in attendance was Supervising Deputy Norma Hodson.

Petaluma—Petaluma No. 222 had a visit August 4 from Supervising Deputy Ann Beech, who gave an interesting talk. Bingo was played after the meeting and a goodly sum was raised for the drum corps. Delicious refreshments were served. August 18 a pal club was formed at a potluck supper. Bingo was again played, and the receipts were added to the Parlor's funds.

Bakersfield—El Tejon No. 239 had a largely attended "candidates" card party August 6 at the home of Mrs. Harvey Phillips. Assisting the hostess were Mms. Cecil Jennings, Rusell Pettis and Maude McKay, Misses Edna Hobson and Lucille Meyer.

San Jose—Chief President Mamie Davis officially visited Past Presidents Association No. 3 August 11. The beautiful, spacious home of Mrs. J. W. Waddington was thrown open for the affair. Twelve charter members were among the many in attendance.

PROMINENT NATIVE SON PASSES.

Fort Bragg—Thomas Jefferson Simpson, one of the most prominent and highly thought of citizens of this community, affiliated with Alder Glen Parlor No. 200 N.S.G.W., died July 28, survived by a wife and seven children. He was born at San Francisco, July 4, 1881. He joined Alder Glen August 10, 1900, became a past president, and at the time of his passing was a trustee of the Parlor and a member of the Grand Parlor Employment Committee.

No man was more generous, with his time and worldly goods, for the betterment and pleasure of humankind than was he. "Tom" Simpson's Evergreen Park, but one of his many gifts to this community and its people, will ever stand as a monument to his never-to-be-forgotten memory.

Native Sons of the Golden West

"TO THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS of all Subordinate Parlors N.S.G.W.—Dear Sirs and Brothers: Due to the fact that our next Admission Day is fast approaching, I am requesting that each Subordinate Parlor of our Order make the necessary and proper arrangements for the commemoration of the birthday of California.

"By resolution of the Grand Parlor at its last session the City of Oakland was chosen as the place for the celebration this year. The local committee is in the process of preparation for elaborate displays and diversified entertainment over a four-day period commencing Sunday, September 6, and ending Wednesday, September 9. It is urged that every member of our Order, together with as many members of his family as possible, attend and enjoy this celebration. It is the one day of the year that is typically and solely Californian, and the full co-operation of the officers and members of the Orders of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West is necessary in order to make the celebration the success to which it is rightfully deserving.

"Apathy on the part of so many individuals, firms and even communities has brought about a condition whereby a proper observance of this day has not been put to universal practice. As Grand President of our Order, I request that the Parlors in the metropolitan areas of the state form joint committees, the function of which will be to request the merchants of their communities to close their places of business on Admission Day in observance of that duly established legal holiday. It is also requested that the individual Parlors in the smaller localities do likewise.

"In the event that the element of distance is a factor which precludes representation at Oakland this year, may I suggest that the local Parlor see to it that California Bear Flags are displayed conjunctively with the American Flag in the prominent places of the town or city wherein the Parlor is located.

"In conclusion may I state that it is my hope that our celebration at Oakland this year will show to the people of the State of California that our observance of the State's holiday is one of our many contributions to this great commonwealth of ours. Sincerely and fraternally yours,

"HARTLEY RUSSELL.
"Grand President N.S.G.W.
"San Francisco, August 10, 1936."

Large Class Initiated.

Nevada City—A large class of candidates was initiated for Hydraulic No. 56, August 11, by a ritual team composed of the following: Grand Secretary John T. Regan, president; Carl Boegerhausen (Stanford No. 76), junior past president; Grand Trustee Henry S. Lyon, senior past president; Grand President Hartley Russell, first vice-president; Harry Schroeder (Silver Star No. 63), second vice-president; Past Grand Charles L. Dodge, third vice-president; Grand Trustee Walter P. Rothenbush, marshal; Grand Second Vice-president Joseph J. McShane, inside sentinel; Grand Organist Al C. Weber, organist. Fred H. Greely Past Presidents Assembly No. 6 also met here the same evening, and representatives from nearly all Parlors north of Sacramento were in attendance at the initiation.

At the conclusion of the ritual ceremonies a banquet was served, with Recording Secretary Dr. C. W. Chapman of Hydraulic as the toastmaster. Addresses were delivered by Grand President Russell, Grand Second Vice-president McShane, Grand Trustees Lyon and Rothenbush, Grand Secretary Regan, Governor General R. L. P. Bigelow of the Past Presidents Association and Judge George L. Jones (Quartz No. 58).

In anticipation of the meeting of the Grand Assembly of N.S.G.W. Past Presidents in Nevada City October 17, Hydraulic has under way and now nearly completed four projects, in line with the history and landmarks work of the Order, that will be ready for dedication Sunday, October 18, at imposing ceremonies to be conducted by the grand officers.

The committee in charge of this dedicatory event—Dr. C. W. Chapman (chairman), Miles D. Coughlin, Verne Gleason, Clarence Martz, Elza Kilroy, Joe O'Neill, Frank Davies, Wm. James, Carey Arbogast and Bob Tucker—extends an invitation to all Natives and the general public.

DEDICATIONS.

As one of the features of the Oakland Admission Day celebration, the grand officers, headed by Grand President Hartley Russell, will dedicate the new Alameda County Court House in Oakland, Sunday, September 6, at 2 p.m. This dedication will be broadcast over radio station KLX.

At San Rafael, Marin County, Sunday, September 13, the grand officers will dedicate a new school building. This dedication was postponed from August 23.

Golden Birthday Jubilee.

Weaverville—Mount Bally No. 87 celebrated August 8 its fiftieth (golden) institution anniversary. It was instituted August 9, 1886, by District Deputy Jas. E. Isaacs with twenty-four charter members. Henry T. Bush was the first president, and A. Dannenbrink the first secretary. With the recent passing of Judge James W. Bartlett, the Parlor lost its last charter member.

During the World War, forty-three of Mount Bally's members enlisted in the service of the Nation, and three were killed in action. The Parlor has its own home, a most interesting place reached by circular stairs. Recognizing its worth to the community, Mount Bally's birthday jubilee was largely attended by the citizenry of Trinity County.

Be One Hundred Percent American.

Urging "Buy American and Hire American," the Grand Parlor Americanization Committee—Southard M. Modry (chairman), Harry Alexander, Paul Conniff, Paul Pasquet and Charles Roberts—has communicated with all Subordinate Parlors, requesting their fullest co-operation. Quoting from the letter:

"Let us all embark upon a crusade for the betterment of civic conditions, for the improvement of economic conditions, for the betterment of all of our citizens. Let the Native Sons of the Golden West assume the leadership which is rightfully theirs and throw down the gauntlet to the communistic agitators who are endeavoring to undermine our institutions and traditions.

"With this end in view, we ask each Parlor to appoint a committee on americanization, to study the problems in its immediate locality, to take such action in actively promoting the buying of American-made products and the hiring of American citizens as in its judgment the situation demands; to report to the proper authorities the presence of aliens who are in this state in violation of the immigration laws, and to do all things which in their judgment will contribute to the future welfare of our State and Government."

Group Initiation Southland Parlors.

San Bernardino—With Arrowhead No. 110 as the host, a group initiation of the southland Parlors will be held at the Parlor's Crestline clubhouse in the San Bernardino Mountains Saturday, October 3. It is probable that the grand officers will exemplify the ritual.

Enjoyable Outing at Mountain Home.

San Jose—Observatory No. 177 celebrated its forty-fifth institution anniversary August 9 at the mountain home of Bert Barrett near the old Almaden quicksilver mines. While being uptodate insofar as having a fine barbecue pit and large serving tables, the place is maintained in its natural state, with fern, shrubs, trees and wildflowers, and there still is in use a large house, with encircling porch, where visitors enjoy themselves.

Over fifty percent of the Parlor membership attended, many going out the night before to enjoy a longer outing. Among the visitors were Grand President Hartley Russell, Junior Past Grand Harmon D. Skillin, Grand Third Vice-president Jesse H. Miller, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Treasurer John A. Corotto, Harry W. Gaetjen, President Fred Breeze and Secretary Joseph Lawrence of San Jose No. 22, and Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig.

Among the events of the day was the annual Albert Kayser whist tournament, which was won by Grant O'Neil and E. T. Peters. Horseshoe throwing was also a favorite pastime. Arrangements for the enjoyable outing were made by a committee composed of all officers of the Parlor, with First Vice-president Milt Moening as chairman.

Fifty-five Candidates the Goal.

Modesto—Modesto No. 11 had its annual "weenie" roast and stag party at Ingle's Bar—a sand bar on the Tuolumne River—the evening of August 21. It was a self-entertaining affair, and did the boys have fun!

Arrangements are well advanced for a series of social events, including card parties, to be sponsored jointly by the Parlor and Morada No. 199 N.D.G.W. during the coming season. The proceeds of these affairs will be used for the homeless children work—a very worthy cause.

Modesto will stage its annual birthday party October 24, and the committee of arrangements, headed by Myron Moyle, will endeavor to make it the Parlor's outstanding social and initiatory event of 1936. A class of fifty-five candidates for initiation is the goal, as this will be the fifty-fifth institution anniversary of No. 11.

Celebrate Admission Day, September 9, the eighty-sixth anniversary of California's admission to the Union, some where, some how. Show your love for and loyalty to the Golden State.

"Sisterhood of States Parade."

San Diego—San Diego No. 108 is prominently identified with the celebration being arranged here for September 6, 7, 8 and 9 in recognition of California's eighty-sixth birthday anniversary and to mark the closing of the California Pacific International Exposition. The Parlor's committee includes William M. Clark (chairman).

FIESTA!

SANTA BARBARA'S THIRTEENTH ANnual Old Spanish Days Fiesta—a festival which has gained nation-wide prominence because of its picturesque grandeur—attracted to the Queen City of California the largest crowd of visitors in its eventful history. Hospitality was unbounded!

The Fiesta officially opened the night of August 5 with an outdoor historical program at Santa Barbara Mission. The scene was entrancing!

The feature of the Fiesta, the spectacular parade the afternoon of the 6th, was applauded by 90,000 thrilled onlookers. Fourteen episodes of Santa Barbara's colorful and romantic history were depicted. In the procession were 5,000 persons, including brilliantly garbed riders, dancers and singers, 600 horses, several artistic floats, and numerous horse-drawn vehicles of bygone days.

Following the parade was the fourth annual reception and dinner, attended by more than 300, sponsored by Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W. in honor of Eugene W. Biscailuz of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W., sheriff of Los Angeles County, and his posse of volunteer deputy sheriffs, whose participation in the Fiesta parade is an outstanding contribution to Santa Barbara's celebration.

Harry Sweetser presided at the festive board, and there were brief remarks from Grand President Hartley Russell, Grand First Vice-president

Outdoor Installation.

Saint Helena—At outdoor ceremonies in Lyman Grove conducted by District Deputy Joseph Clavo, the officers of Saint Helena No. 53 were installed August 3, Gilman Clark becoming president. A feature of the occasion was a barbecued beef feast prepared by Arnold Metzner with the assistance of William Bulotti, Joseph P. Vasconi, George Herdle, Francis White and President Clark.

Martin Anderson presided as toastmaster at the festive board, and the speakers included W. W. Lyman, Richard Sheehan, Walter Metzner, William Johnson and District Deputy Clavo. Several visitors were present from Vallejo and Napa.

Also introduced were Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustee Lloyd J. Cosgrove, Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, Past Grand Presidents Herman C. Lichtenberger and Judge Fletcher A. Cutler of the Native Sons, Captain William J. Bright of the sheriff's posse, United States Marshal Robert Clark, Edward Abbot of the State Prison Board, Grand Trustee Clarice Cook and Grand Inside Sentinel Mary E. The "Rangers" delighted with vocal selections during the dinner.

Santa Barbara Parlor's committee that made the perfect arrangements for this delightful affair included District Deputy A. C. Dinsmore (chairman), Ray Lathim, Leland Holiday, Ambrose Sacconaghi, Captain W. H. Rutherford, Harry Sweetser, Frank Castro, Harold Smith and John Jordano.

After the feast came the Fiesta pageant, "Memorias de Santa Barbara," in the new Santa Barbara Bowl. The setting was ideal, and the picturization of the past by means of gorgeously-gowned living characters and typical scenic effects was beautiful and inspiring.—C.M.H.

Encourage Sports.

The Grand Parlor Athletic Committee—Harry Romick (chairman), Paul Conniff, E. J. Ginochio, A. P. Cunha and J. O'Keefe—has advised the Subordinate Parlors that finals for the Native Sons of the Golden West softball championship will be held at Oakland on or about September 9.

"You are also requested," says the Committee in its letter to the Parlors, "to have your athletic committee contact the Parlors in your district and go into the matter of organizing leagues or tournaments in basketball, handball, indoor horseshoes, swimming, or any other sport in which your members may be interested. Upon completion of any district league, championship playoffs can be arranged and held at some central point."

"The Betterment of Our State."

Sacramento—Sacramento No. 3 was addressed August 13 by Congressman Frank H. Buck, a member of the Parlor, on "The Betterment of Our State." Manager Earl Taylor and the drum corps boys were on hand to show their sparkling new uniforms of blue and gold. The entertainment committee provided refreshments.

To the Officers and Members of Menlo Parlor No. 211 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of love and respect to the memory of our departed Charter Member Adalaide Frances Blanchard submit the following:

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to take to His Heavenly Home our dear sister, who was very dear to us, where, we feel the deep loss the Parlor has suffered in the departure from this life of this valuable Native Daughter, whose knowledge of California was so interesting and always available when needed therefore be it

MINNIE AERICK BEHM.

To the Officers and Members of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W.—Your committee appointed to draft resolutions of sorrow and respect in honor of our deceased faithful treasurer Minnie Aerick Behm who passed away July 17, 1936 respectfully submits the following:

Whereas, As the members of this Parlor have been called upon again to bid farewell to one of its most beloved officers and members we must bow our heads in submission to the will of the Creator of All, in taking from us to a higher jurisdiction one who will be sadly missed and whose place it will be difficult to fill, as she was the charter treasurer and incumbent in this responsible position during the eight years of the Parlor's life, and was lovingly called "the balance wheel" Therefore, be it

Resolved, That while we miss sadly our efficient officer and the Parlor will not seem the same when we look upon her vacant chair at our next meeting in September, it will be even more sad to realize that never more in this world will we see the gentle face, hear the kindly voice nor listen to the valuable advice given down the years of building our Parlor But we shall think of her in her resting spot near our meeting place as she lies under the lovely trees of Hollywood cemetery, and feel that her gentle spirit hovers over us, and know that as she loved us in life so she does in death, and be it further

Resolved That while we grieve over the Parlor's loss, we sympathize deeply with her family -her husband, her son, and her daughter, our loved member, Florence A. Irish—in the loss of their loved one, so faithful throughout the long years and leaving them behind to experience the loneliness of life, and be it still further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be embodied in our minutes, one be sent to the family, and a copy be sent for publication in The Grizzly Bear Magazine

We shall meet, but we shall miss thee,
There will be one vacant chair
We shall linger to caress thee
When we breathe our evening prayer.

Yours respectfully in D.D.F.A.,

OLIVE LOPEZ,
Committee.

TABLET DESIGNATING HISTORIC SITE UNVEILED BY NATIVE DAUGHTERS.

Lockeford (San Joaquin County)—In the presence of some hundred persons, Stockton Parlor No. 256 N.D.G.W. unveiled a tablet July 18 which designates the site upon which two brothers, Dr. Dean Jewett and Elmer H. Locke, built a cabin in 1851.

Past President Algie Gossett, mistress of ceremonies, was introduced by Grace Bessac Speaking on "Pioneers," Grand President Florence D. Boyle told of the Order's devotion to commemorating historic locations and incidents. C. P. Rendon referred to visits to the site of Lockeford by General John C. Fremont in 1844 and 1846. William W. Locke of Framingham, Massachusetts, a son of the builder of the original cabin, described the life of Dr. Locke. The tablet is inscribed as follows:

"PIONEER HILL

"It was on this hill that Dr. Dean Jewett Locke and his brother Elmer H. Locke built the first cabin of this section in 1851. Disturbed by grizzly bears they spent their first nights in the oak trees. Dr. Locke, physician for the Boston and Newton Joint Stock Company, left Boston April 16, 1849, crossing the plains, arriving at Sacramento Sept. 16, 1849. He built and maintained a ford across the Mokelumne River, and because of this fact his wife, Delia Hammond Locke, in 1859 named the town he laid out on his ranch.

"LOCKEFORD

"Luther Locke, his father, was Post Master of the first Post Office, established in 1861. Dr. Locke was born in Langdon, N. H., April 16, 1823, and died at Lockeford May 4, 1887. Dedicated by Stockton Parlor No. 256 Native Daughters of the Golden West July 18, 1936."

Tulare County leads the San Joaquin Valley in cotton acreage this year, having 82,400 acres planted.

EXPOSED! A new Scheme to Raise Prices by Taxation!

You would pay for the cleverly-disguised "Retail Store License" ...in higher prices for foods and other necessities of life

DON'T be fooled by Proposition #22 on your November ballot.

By name, it is made to sound like a simple store license. Actually, the public, as usual, will bear the whole burden – through the higher prices you will pay.

The measure proposes this: Charge individual stores $1.00 a year for the right to do business. But tax chain stores $500.00 for each store, over nine.

The "joker" in such taxes is exposed by the U. S. Federal Trade Commission, which says:

"If the ability to undersell, based on greater efficiency or on elimination of credit and delivery cost, is destroyed by taxation, it is the consuming public which will really pay the tax and not the chain."

Why? Because chain stores operate on a small profit. They eliminate middlemen's profits and unnecessary in-between expenses. The savings they make are passed on to you in prices 10% below the average.

Thus four out of five chain stores do not make enough profit to cover the tax. They must raise prices. And that means you will pay.

Some chains will be forced to close. Their competition gone, other stores will be free to boost their charges. And that means you will pay.

If you agree that chain store competition helps to keep all prices reasonable – if you agree that taxes on foods and necessities are already high enough – vote NO and keep prices low.

22 IS A TAX ON YOU – VOTE NO!

SAN FRANCISCO

A THING OF BEAUTY, IS THE GREAT San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, the world's largest bridge, the frontispiece of this issue of The Grizzly Bear. This aerial view, looking toward the Berkeley Hills, shows the two-mile twin suspension bridges of the west bay crossing in the foreground, while in the background is seen the 1,400-foot cantilever span of the east bay crossing stretching toward the Oakland shore.

This great bridge, which is being built under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Public Works, of which Earl Lee Kelly is director, for the California Toll Bridge Authority, of which Governor Frank F. Merriam is chairman, is now nearly complete, exclusive of rails. C. H. Purcell is the chief engineer.

November 12, the San Francisco-Oakland Bridge will be formally opened to auto traffic, and a jubilant celebration of the event, to begin Armistice Day, November 11, and to extend through November 15, is being arranged by citizens committees of both Oakland and San Francisco. Among the planned features for the latter city are a day pageant depicting the past, present and future of the San Francisco Bay metropolitan area, and a night pageant of light depicting the romantic bridges of the world.

San Francisco will be brilliantly decorated for the celebration of the bridge opening. Along Market street silver and rainbow hued decorations will suggest an elongated bridge, with great silver bridges spanning the street at eight points. The foreign quarters of the city will also be bedecked in gala attire.

LARGE ASSEMBLAGE GREETS OFFICIAL.

Genevieve Parlor No. 132 N.D.G.W. honored Grand President Florence Danforth Boyle September 3, the occasion being her official visit. A delightful dinner preceded the meeting, and on arrival at the meetinghall, which was elaborately decorated with baskets of gladioli and greens, 150 members were assembled to extend a welcome to the Grand President. The entrance march by young officers, charmingly gowned, won the admiration of everyone, and the members presented a perfect balloting march. An escort was accorded the honor-guest by the Genevieve drum corps, and on arrival at her seat of honor, Sisters Scheflin and Pope sang "Genevieve." President Eileen Taube and her corps of letter-perfect officers initiated four candidates in an impressive manner. The N.D.G.W. Glee Club, under the direction of Ruby Bried, entertained with California songs.

Grand President Boyle delivered an inspiring address on the projects of the Order and, on behalf of Genevieve drum corps, presented to the Parlor a beautiful trophy recently won by this group. Gifts were presented Mrs. Boyle, Past Grand Genevieve Watson Baker, in whose honor the Parlor was named and who is affectionately referred to as the "mother," and Deputy Marilyn Metcalfe. Others present were Junior Past Grand Anne Thuesen, Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Outside Sentinel Emiiy Ryan, Grand Trustees Alice Lane, Claire Lindsey and Ethel Enos, Past Grands Dr. Mariani Bertola, May C. Boldemann, Mae Himes Noonan and Evelyn Carlson, and Supervising Deputy Katherine Derry. After the serving of light refreshments the evening came to an end, leaving only the happiest of memories.

N.S. JUDGE LOSES FATHER.

William Edward Foley, affiliated with Rincon Parlor No. 72 N.S.G.W., passed away in Woodside September 9. He was born at San Francisco, November 22, 1862. Surviving deceased are his wife, Mrs. Margaret Foley, and two sons, Municipal Judge Thomas F. Foley of Pacific Parlor No. 10 N.S.G.W., and Milton E. Foley.

ACTIVE IN PROVIDING HAPPINESS.

Grand Trustee Alice M. Lane was honor-guest at a reception given by Castro Parlor No. 178 N.D.G.W. Among the many present were Junior Past Grand Anne C. Thuesen, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Trustee Claire Lindsey, Past Grand Margaret Hill and Supervising Deputy Mazie Roderick. A most enjoyable program of musical numbers was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCloskey, Mrs. Elsie Dethlefsen, the N.D.G.W. Glee Club and Alfred Marshal. Refreshments and dancing concluded a most happy occasion, successfully arranged by Mms. Margaret Griffith and Mae Waring.

The veterans welfare and the child welfare committees of Castro are most active in providing happiness to the veterans at Letterman Hospital and the tubercular children at the San Francisco Hospital.

AMERICAN FLAG DEDICATED.

Orinda Parlor No. 56 N.D.G.W. was paid an official visit by Grand President Florence Boyle August 25. Preceding the meeting dinner was served in the beautiful diningroom of the N.D.G.W. Home Building. Two hundred and fifty members of the Order assembled in the lodgeroom to greet the Grand President, and a very delightful evening was enjoyed. Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini was chairman of the evening. Among others present were Junior Past Grand Anne Thuesen, Grand Vice-president Ethel Begley, Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry, Grand Trustees Alice Lane, Claire Lindsey and Ethel Enos, Grand Outside Sentinel Emily Ryan, Grand Organist Mae O'Keefe, Past Grands Evelyn Carlson, Esther Sullivan and Dr. Mariana Bertola, and Supervising Deputy Mazie Roderick. Officers of the Parlor wore their 9th of September dresses, and the entrance march was very effective. Decorations of the hall were in brown, orange and yellow in keeping with the colors of the dresses.

Grand President Boyle dedicated the American Flag recently received by Orinda, and Past Grand Bertola responded.

GRAND SECRETARY N.S. OFF FOR TEXAS.

John T. Regan, Grand Secretary N.S.G.W., and wife departed September 26 for Houston, Texas, stopping enroute to visit the Grand Canyon of Arizona. At Houston, the Regans will witness the marriage, October 1, of Miss Julia Frances Beauman, daughter of Mrs. Loui Beauman, and their son, Edwin Joseph Regan of Weaverville, district attorney of Trinity County and a member of South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 N.S.G.W.

HEARS OF FIRST ELECTION.

Buena Vista Parlor No. 68 N.D.G.W. had as guest speaker September 17 Miss Louise Tabor, who told of the first Admission Day celebration in California and the first election in San Francisco. Musical selections were given by Mrs. Dorothy Rathjens, and members of the Parlor's drum corps appeared in an old-fashioned square dance. Refreshments were served following the program.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED.

Past Presidents Association No. 1 N.D.G.W. celebrated its thirty-second anniversary at a delightful dinner. President May Marchant recited "Fraternity," Mae O'Keefe entertained with musical selections and Ann Dippel, the capable chairman of the successful affair, gave a recitation.

Guests included Founder Leah Williams, Emma Foley, Anna Loser, Minnie Dobbin, Mamie Schonberg, C. Miller and M. Waters, charter members of the Association; Grand Vice-president Ethel Begley, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Trustee Alice Lane, Grand Outside Sentinel Emily Ryan and Grand Organist Mae O'Keefe, grand officers of the N.D.G.W.

NATIVE SONS PRESENT TABLET IN MEMORY BENICIA'S FOUNDERS.

Benicia (Solano County)—The Oldtimers Days celebration attracted a crowd of approximately 8,000 to Benicia September 12 and 13. The outstanding feature was the unveiling of a tablet, presented by the N.S.G.W. Grand Parlor, inscribed as follows:

"FOUNDERS OF BENICIA, 1847: GEN. MARIANO G. VALLEJO, Comandante of Northern California for ten years; THOMAS O. LARKIN, U. S. Consul to California 1844-46; ROBERT SEMPLE, President of the First Constitutional Convention of California and co-founder with Rev. Walter Colton of California's first newspaper, the 'Californian.' FRANCISCA BENICIA VALLEJO, wife of Gen. Vallejo and for whom Benicia was named."

Past Grand President Joseph R. Knowland, chairman of the Order's Landmarks Committee, made the presentation address, in the course of which he told of the Native Sons' efforts to preserve the landmarks of the state and to place markers at those sites which have a statewide historic background. Other members of the committee in attendance were Past Grand President Herman C. Lichtenberger and William S. Borba. Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler represented the N.D.G.W.

Among the direct descendants of the honored Pioneers present at the ceremony were Mrs. L. V. Emparran of Sonoma, daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Mariano G. Vallejo; Mrs. Alice Larkin-Toulmin of Monterey, granddaughter of Thomas O. Larkin, and Frank Turman of Willows, grandson of Robert Semple. They, together with the representatives of the Native Sons, were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Wetmore at their home, built in 1850 by Capt. John Walsh, a Benicia Pioneer.

In honor of Judge Donald E. VanLuven, the group of candidates to be presented for initiation will be known as the "VanLuven Class." In all likelihood, Grand President Hartley Russell will be in attendance with an initiatory team of grand officers to exemplify the ritual.

Commencing at 6:30 p.m. a steak dinner will be served free to all members of the Order and candidates. Initiation will start promptly at 8 o'clock, and will be followed by entertainment and indoor sports. Overnight accommodations at Crestline are available to those desiring them, and reservations may be made by communicating with Denair A. Butler, 490 Court street, San Bernardino.

The Native Sons Luncheon Club has interesting meetings every Wednesday at 12 o'clock noon at the Elks Club. First Vice-president Roy B. Finke is in charge.

PREPARING FOR CHRISTMAS BAZAR.

San Bernardino—In recognition of her birthday, Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. had a surprise handkerchief shower for President Thelma Nett August 26. The americanism committee, Eva DeLong chairman, was credited with assisting four aliens to become naturalized. Deputy Genevieve Hiskey was a special guest. The Parlor's sewing club, which is preparing for a Christmas bazar, met September 3 at the home of Mildred Meyers, and September 17 at the home of Reba Decrow.

Officers of Lugonia had an important meeting September 21 at the home of President Nett. Refreshments were served. With Deputy Hiskey presiding, a class of candidates was initiated September 23. After the ceremonies Marion Rick presented a brief program, and refreshments were served. Ruth Roberds was chairman of the evening.

COMPETITION VITAL TO PROGRESS.

Scores of county and city organizations of California, together with many outstanding chambers of commerce, have joined in support of the application of the Santa Fe Transportation Company for permission to operate a bus system in the state. Presentation of the Santa Fe case was concluded at Stockton September 7, and further hearings on the application by the State Railroad Commission will be resumed at San Francisco October 15.

Representatives appearing before the commission agreed that competition in transportation is vital to community progress. Other reasons given for favoring the Santa Fe proposal were low fares with opportunity of using tickets either on buses or streamline trains without additional cost, speeding of traffic, elimination of monopoly, and additional transportation facilities.

"A Boy's Certain Future—One of our local youngsters was wondering the other day what he would be when he grows up. The answer seems obvious. He'll be a taxpayer."—Troy Record.

An eighty-acre lake is to be created in the San Bernardino Mountains at a cost of $165,000 to provide water for irrigation. A. Gregory is donating the land and the Federal Government will furnish the labor.

Oceanside, San Diego County, has on exhibition an apple, grown in the Ullrich orchard, 19¼ inches in circumference and weighing three pounds.

The San Diego County Fair will be held at Del Mar October 8-18.

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

IF THIS IS YOUR YEAR FOR A NEW WINter coat, why not select a fur coat? One way to meet the budget is to select dresses that are becoming and plan your accessories to go with more than one dress. But before you consider what's new in waistlines, fabrics and hats, it is well to think about the coat. On its basic color depend all the other colors in your wardrobe.

Fur trimmed cloth coats may be selected with care. Imported woolens feature persian lamb trimmings, silver and blue fox, also mink and ermour kolinsky. Travel coats and sportswear for coats of this type are of excellent quality. Included are monotone and mixture tweeds, and camel's hair coats with collars of wolf and other sports furs. These come in navy, brown, rust, green and red. Others for sports and dress wear are trimmed with squirrel, fox, fitch, beaver, persian lamb and mink. Some have fur cuffs.

Swagger coats of mink, summer ermine or lapin-dyed rabbit are for the college girl. Almost half a college wardrobe is the full swagger-cut lapin coat lined with tree bark crepe, and its matching tweed skirt. This is smart for daytime or evening.

A short silver fox cape, rich, dark and heavily silvered, is a luxurious accessory, skillfully designed with the backs worked vertically, diagonally or in two-tier effects and the head in back. The accessory coat of fur goes everywhere—shopping, luncheon, tea, football, races. It answers every need.

Coming in imported lapin, kidskin, weasel, mocoa ermine or russian kolinsky, the fingertip coat of fur solves the problem of "what will I wear?"

Sportswear offers smart knitted dresses, suits and costumes. A group of dresses with the important details and quality for sportswear shows luxurious bordeaux brown and green mixture three-piece costume with a three-quarters length coat. Others are found with short jackets. One- and two-piece dresses in black, wine, navy and brown predict tea-time smartness for fall.

Be slim, sleek and sophisticated in black! A decorative yoke of cire braid over marquisette, with four gleaming rhinestone clips at the neck, is gored at the back to give unexpected movement.

Novelty materials are all important. Look into the lames, plain and printed, also the jacquard crepes with their tiny diamond or bow-knot designs, and the crinkled cloques among the woolens. Keep your eyes open for the high-twist crepes, the hairy mixtures and the new soft dress tweeds, and don't forget such colors as spruce green, spice brown and the nasturtium shades or grape tones.

Color also plays its part in a touch of contrast on the dress. This is carried out in scarfs at the neckline, in buttons that may come from Tyrol, and in clips that range from smooth bright catalin to carved coral. On the hat, too, there is often a contrasting quill or cockade.

The costume which will be the basis of nearly every important wardrobe is of fine woolen, perhaps with silk top and jacket trimmed with persian lamb, caracul, cross fox or galyak. Every gown embodies an important fashion to delight the woman of good taste for daytime.

The shorter skirts, peplums, squared shoulders, throat-hugging or low vee necks and fitted waistlines are features of the new season in crepes, velvets, sheer wools and jacquards.

New shoe designs always are in close harmony with accessories. Perfect mates, every important shoe has its matching bag. Handbags copy shoes faithfully, yet remain elegantly distinctive in their own right. No danger of a wrong shade or a false style note keeping your costume from complete success. Perfect accessories are making fashion history. There are many exceedingly smart shoes in the shops, ranging from the active sports variety to the most elaborate evening sandals. With good taste and careful choosing, they should enhance any outfit with which they are worn. New leathers, new styles and new colors make life interesting, and should supply the opportunity for a little originality.

The swing toward greater formality is indicated by the development of simple, smart shoes. The emphasis on more formal daytime clothes is bringing about a revival of the more "dressy" type of footwear for afternoon, strictly speaking. We have the high-vamp shoe of stitched suede that gives a ribbed effect. The vamp with outward swing developed in an ankle strap, the built-up pump with standing applique in two materials, and the tongue-pump with tongue cut in four fan-shaped sections are extremely smart.

It's a suede season, and the reason is not hard to find. For a mode in which velvets, satins, sumptuous metallics and superb woolens are indicated, we find suede dominant in footwear fashions. So, it's fine suede for town this autumn, and reversed calf and buck for country wear. Patent leather and reptile are used extensively as trimming on suedes. Many styles are seen in black, brown, wine and navy. In many cases handbags may be had to match two leathers, and two colors lend zest to the mode. The black shoe with a touch of color is new.

The dominant clothes silhouette is broad shoulders fitted as to waistline and flared as to skirt.

Hats are exaggerated in daring ways. The general trend is toward hight, and much of the hair is exposed. Hats, coats and dresses all have a "lift" and a swing. New millinery is exciting—the skyline crowns and jutting feathers, the fanciful flowers and smart ornaments. The calculating irresistible flattery to be found in every hat in the collection will prove delightful. Felts, antelope velours and tweedy felts are in autumn colors.

Blue, generally speaking, is not an autumn color. This season, however, blue is coming to the front with surprising rapidity. Coronation blue and coronation red are color highlights of the fall season. Vivid color on black is en vogue, and all types of wing, quill and feather trimmings are preeminent. Quills stick out in every direction, singly and in pairs, stiff and lacquered or fragile and dainty, and flowers appear surprisingly on some of the hats.

Not in many years has there been such an epidemic of trimmings. All of the trimming favorites of other days are being revived, including cire braid, lace edging, beadings, embroidery, fur, nailheads, rhinestones, jet and cross-stitch.

You'll find some delightful versions of the beret in the late showings, and toques are once again in the picture. Nothing, so far, is newer or smarter than the napoleonic hat style now appearing in the millinery horizon. If some of the styles strike you as being quite mad don't let them disturb your serenity. It's amazing how well most of them look on the head if, of course, you use good judgment in selecting silhouettes most flattering to your particular type.

THE OLD HOUSE

The old house holds me fast with unseen hands.
Time shuts the creaking gate and there I see
The unknown forms of those in shadow-lands
Who shuffle past in shrinking mystery.
I try to brush aside the dust of years
And seek the life behind the closed blinds.
I find no golden hours, no smiles or tears,
Just shadows moving to the road that winds.
I stroll along the quaint old graveled walk
And whisper to the living mass of flowers,
And just like babbling children hear them talk
Of joy and pride in guarding happy hours.
Sweet breath of apple blossoms in the air
Betrays a deathless love that lingers there.

SAN RAFAEL—IN THE PRESENCE OF some 500 persons, the grand officers dedicated September 13 the San Rafael elementary school, the last word in school designing and construction. Grand Marshal Monroe W. Label presided over the program preceding the dedicatory ceremonies, and among the speakers were Grand President Hartley Russell, Past Grand Judge Fletcher A. Cutler and President N. Charles Brusatori of the San Rafael Board of Education. Monsignor Millet gave the invocation, Rev. J. J. Canoles pronounced the benediction, and music was furnished by the San Rafael high school band.

Grand President Russell complimented the citizens of San Rafael on their progressiveness and dwelt at length on the interest of the N.S.G.W. in educational matters. The Order, he pointed out, has sent traveling history fellows to Spain, France, England and Mexico to delve into their archives for historic data. He also spoke of the splendid work being carried on in behalf of the homeless children. In the course of his remarks, President Brusatori of the school board said: "It is in the public schools such as this that the answer to the 'isms' and subversive influences seeking to gain a foothold will be found, and it is the teachings of these schools that will forever prevent the red flag from flying over this land of ours."

Following the dedicatory ceremonies the grand officers were entertained at the San Rafael home of Dr. William F. Sharp, a charter member of Stanford No. 76 (San Francisco), and all who participated in the program were dinner guests of Mount Tamalpais No. 64. In attendance were Grand President Hartley Russell, Junior Past Grand Harmon D. Skillin, Past Grands Judge Fletcher A. Cutler, Charles L. Dodge and Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Marshal Monroe Label, Grand Trustees Walter P. Rothenbush and Lloyd J. Cosgrove.

Cabrillo Honored.

Bakersfield—Bakersfield No. 42 honored the memory of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, discoverer of California, by initiating a "Cabrillo" class of twenty candidates, September 26, rounded up by District Deputy Mart Leonard and Ruffin Griffin. President Ralph Hinderliter instructed the entertainment committee, headed by Marshal Herb Stauss, to arrange for one of those real demonstrations that the Parlor is noted for, and a fine program was presented and sumptuous "eats" were served.

District Deputy Leonard, ever optimistic over No. 42's future, still maintains it soon will be the largest Parlor of the Order. "Knock! Knock! Who's there? N.S. N.S. who? No Stop until first Grand Parlor prize is won this year." Recording Secretary Henry A. Bannister and wife were at Oakland for the Admission Day celebration.

Five Initiated at Outing.

Elk Grove—The annual family outing of General John A. Sutter Past Presidents Assembly No. 10 attracted a large crowd August 30 to the ranch of Guy G. Foulks (Elk Grove No. 41) near Elk Grove. The committee in charge included Albert W. Katzenstein (chairman), Roy Cothrin, June Longshore, J. F. Didion, L. P. Ferron, Al Franke and Guy G. Foulks.

Initiation was held in the ranch clubhouse and five candidates were presented. The ritual was splendidly exemplified by a team from Elk Grove Parlor which included: Milon Johnston, president; Ralph Ehrhardt, past president; Thomas Davis, first vice-president; Henry Kloss, second vice-president; M. B. Jones, third vice-president; William Sims, marshal; Fred Johanson, inside sentinel; Wilson Lillico, outside sentinel. Irving D. Gibson (Sacramento No. 3) assisted at the piano.

Following these ceremonies swimming was in order, and Grand President Hartley Russell was the "master of ceremonies" and the "life of the party." A buffet luncheon was served, Creed C. Wackman sounding the gong that called the crowd from play to the festive board. In the afternoon a baseball game between Sacramento and Elk Grove Parlors was won by the latter, score 6 to 5. Ed. E. Reese officiated as umpire.

Among the many who enjoyed the day's festivities were Grand President and Mrs. Hartley Russell and their two daughters, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustees Henry S. Lyon and Walter P. Rothenbush, Grand Historian John J. Monteverde, Past Grand Charles L. Dodge, Dr. C. W. Chapman, Judges Malcolm C. Glenn, T. F. Lewis and R. W. Smith, and quite a number of past presidents from Fred H. Greely Assembly No. 6. N.S.G.W. Parlors represented included Sacramento No. 3, Stockton No. 7, Placerville No. 9, Sunset No. 26, Elk Grove No. 41, Hydraulic No. 56, Auburn No. 59, Silver Star No. 63, Courtland No. 106, Sutter Fort No. 241 and Galt No. 243.

Fifty-fifth Anniversary Celebration.

Modesto—Modesto No. 11 and Morada No. 199 N.D.G.W. celebrated Admission Day by holding a dove potpie feast at the Harcksen Gardens. More than a hundred members of the Parlors enjoyed the affair. Swimming, dancing and games were included in the entertainment. The next affair along this line promised by President Claude Shirley of No. 11 will be a wild pheasant feast.

A large delegation of Native Sons attended the reception given Grand Trustee Ethel Enos of Morada September 19. Many grand officers of both Orders were also present.

Modesto's plans for the celebration of its fifty-fifth institution anniversary October 24 are progressing. Grand President Hartley Russell and many of his staff have accepted invitations to attend.

ADMISSION DAY AT OAKLAND

OAKLAND HAD THE GREATEST NUMber of visitors in its history, September 6, 7, 8 and 9, the multitude being attracted by the celebration sponsored by the Orders of Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West and arranged by the Subordinate Parlors of Alameda County of Admission Day, the eighty-sixth anniversary of California's admission, as a full fledged state, into the Sisterhood of States, September 9, 1850. It was a birthday party that will never be forgotten!

The Admission Day parade, the main attraction of the four-day festival, was an imposing and pleasing spectacle. A rainbow of color that drew plaudits from the 200,000 onlookers along the line of march, it required approximately two hours to pass a given point. Made up mostly of Native Sons and Native Daughters of California, several thousand of whom from all parts of the state were in line with bands, drum corps, drill teams, floats and decorated autos, it was a distinct credit to both Orders. In fact, it was one of the very best Admission Day parades ever held.

It is not the policy of The Grizzly Bear to make special mention of any particular Parlor on these occasions, the assumption being that each and every participating Parlor makes the best possible showing.

In line were some very attractive floats, among the number being those accompanying the San Francisco, the Los Angeles County, the Sacramento County, the Alameda County, the Sonoma County and the San Joaquin County contingents. Admission Day parade prizes went to the following:

Best float, Los Angeles County; second, San Francisco. Alameda County was not a competitor.

COURTHOUSE DEDICATION.

At the dedication by the Native Sons grand officers of Alameda County's new $2,000,000 Court House overlooking Lake Merritt, September 6, General Chairman Edward T. Schnarr of the Admission Day committee presided. Rev. J. B. Orr gave the invocation, Monsignor Joseph M. Gleason pronounced the benediction, and Paul Weber was the vocal soloist.

Speakers included Chairman W. J. Hamilton of the Alameda County Board of Supervisors; Mayor W. J. McCracken of Oakland; Past Grand President Joseph R. Knowland and Grand President Hartley Russell of the Native Sons; Past Grand President Sue J. Irwin and Grand President Florence Boyle of the Native Daughters.

Among the many other Native Sons in attendance at the dedicatory ceremonies were Junior Past Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Weber, Grand Historian John J. Monteverde, Past Grand Presidents Harry G. Williams, Edward J. Lynch, Judge Fletcher A. Cutler and Charles L. Dodge. After the ceremonies, Grand Trustee Hynes entertained at his beautiful Oakland home.

COMPETITIONS AWARDS AT GRAND BALL.

The Admission Day grand ball the night of September 8 in the Oakland Municipal Auditorium was largely attended. The grand march was led by Eldred L. Meyer, Grand First Vice-president of the Native Sons, and wife, and Florence D. Boyle, Grand President of the Native Daughters, and husband.

CARRYING OUT ORDERS' PURPOSE

NEVADA CITY—IN ANTICIPATION OF the meeting of the General Assembly of N.S.G.W. Past Presidents here October 17, Hydraulic Parlor No. 56 N.S.G.W. and Laurel Parlor No. 6 N.D.G.W. have ready for dedication Sunday, October 18, projects strictly in the line of work laid out for these organizations to accomplish.

One pays tribute to peace officers generally, who not only have to perform prescribed duties, but far too often have to give their lives with or without warning and without extra fee. A picturesque instance is that of a sheriff who was literally goaded to the test of courage and duty by a demanding public. He got his man, and gave his life. It occurred on a hilltop overlooking the Nevada City Basin, where a highwayman held a retreat from which he could operate to advantage. He held sway for several weeks with much abandon and eluded all searchers and pursuers, stopping whom he pleased most anywhere, disdaining either disguise or haste. A young girl gathering wild flowers hit upon his hideout and notified the sheriff, who set out alone in search. The two were found dead a dozen or so feet apart where they had "fought it out." A marker will be placed where each fell, and a fitting inscription in bronze will be set on the one representing the sheriff. The summer camps of the Oakland, Piedmont and Sacramento Camp Fire Girls are on Lake Vera, about two miles distant, also the Mills College summer school. These markers will be points of interest for their hikes. Forty years have wrought a change. The top of the ridge has been cleared to within a few hundred yards of what, in 1896, was that deep forest retreat, and now a splendid municipal air field is there with two runways that accommodate the largest transport planes.

Another project is a large boulder, within the confines of Nevada City, known to the Pioneers as the "Indian Medicine Stone." It stands a dozen feet in hight and twenty long, with two remarkable hollows on the top—natural or not as one may choose to think—which would just nicely accommodate a human body and in which the Indians used to lie and take sun baths to cure their ills. The old emigrant trail of '49 passed close by its base. It was that trail which led from Truckee Pass and Bear Valley to the gold mines of Nevada County. It followed the Washington Ridge down past "Lone Grave" and forked near it, one trail swinging around through Blue Tent, Selby Flat, the gap west of Sugar Loaf and down into the Nevada City Basin, thence to the Sacramento Valley and where you will. The other branch continued along Harmony Ridge down into the gap east of Sugar Loaf, then to Nevada City Basin and merged again into the trail through Town Talk, saddle bound for the Sacramento Valley and Sutter's Fort.

These dedications, to take place October 18, will be made imposing. They will be conducted by the officers of the N.S.G.W. Grand Parlor and its Landmarks Committee, and many notables have signified their intention of attending. An open invitation is extended all Native Sons and Native Daughters and the general public by the arrangements committee. Hydraulic Parlor—Dr. C. W. Chapman (chairman), Miles D. Coughlin, Verne Gleason, Clarence Martz, Elza Kilroy, Joe O'Neill, Frank Davies, Wm. James, Carey Arbogast and Bob Tucker. Laurel Parlor—Mrs. Geo. H. Calanan (chairman), Mrs. Annie O'Conner, Mrs. Katherine Williamson, Mrs. Edith Davey and Miss Mary Davies.

Ground breaking ceremonies for Sacramento City's new $7,000,000 air repair depot being constructed by the Federal Government were held September 8.

The Trinity County Fair will be held at Hayfork October 3 and 4.

Once more our Heavenly Father has called from our midst one of our beloved and esteemed members, Amanda Morris Lowden, charter member of Eltapome Parlor No. 55 N.D.G.W.

The fine attributes of her character, her charm and grace made all who knew her, love her. The sympathy of this Parlor is extended to the bereaved ones.

By the Valley of Rest so fair,
Some day some time, when our task is done,
With joy we shall greet her there.

MINNIE PHILLIPS

To the Officers and Members of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W.—Your committee appointed to draft a memorial of love and respect to our deceased member, Minnie Phillips, respectfully submits the following.

Whereas, Death with his sickle keen has again, for the fourth time in as many months, hovered over our beloved Parlor, and soared away with our loved Minnie Phillips, an earliest member of our group sending her to be reunited with her friends of California who have gone before to a Heavenly "Parlor" where there is no more mourning and whereas as she was always so thoughtful and kind,—never missing a meeting although for a long time in poor health,—and even had the door been her arms full of flowers for the president's station she will be greatly missed therefore, be it

Resolved, That while we bow in reverent submission to Him Who doeth all things well, the loss of this fine member will be grievous, and the record of service and love will be cherished, as this memento is inscribed upon a page of our minutes, a copy sent to the bereaved husband and four daughters with our deepest sympathy and the resolution sent to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

Somewhere to our sight is coming
Somewhere the song birds dwell
Back there, the sad parting and tears end all is well
Somewhere, somewhere, Beautiful Isle of Somewhere
Land of the true, where we live anew Beautiful Isle of Somewhere

GOD'S SENTINELS, GREAT TREES, WATCH O'ER HISTORIC SITE.

Oroville (Butte County).—A monument on the shores of Lott's Lake, Plumas County, but formerly in Butte County, marking the site of the old Lake House erected by the late Judge Charles F. Lott, was dedicated August 23. Settlers were there, according to information obtained, in the early 50s. Numerous ditches may still be found around the mountain peak, where the melted snow was carried and used to mine gold. Records from the mine show that in one year $80,000 was recovered. This covered a run of twenty-five days, and was the longest run in one year ever made. The short season was due to the fact that snow lays here most of the year.

This beautiful monument filled with sentiment, was built of stones from the original fireplace of the old Lake House by Jess Sank, husband of Mrs. Cornelia Lott-Sank, who gave the history of the place, built as a "Haven of Rest" for the miners of Gravel Range Mine. He said records and maps found among the treasures preserved by Judge Lott, father of his wife, told of the laborious method used by the miners in building ditches, to catch the water from the melting snow, to be used for washing the gravel, and how the site, a flourishing mining camp during about three month of every year, suddenly became lost to memory. After the records of this once-famous mine were found, a road was built from the main highway at Chaparral, Butte County, into the "old diggins," and in memory of the Pioneers who had there struggled the monument was erected.

Mrs. Cornelia Lott-Sank, speaking in loving terms of her father and other Pioneers, introduced Grand President Florence Danforth-Boyle of the Native Daughters, who reviewed some of the work of that great Order. As she dedicated the monument to the memory of the Pioneers, she said the great trees standing about it were God's sentinels and would keep watch o'er the site. The monument, inscribed as follows, was then unveiled by Mms. Boyle and Sank:

"This is the site of OLD LAKE HOUSE, erected by Judge Charles F. Lott in 1870 in connection with the diversion of the lake water to his mines at Gravel Range. This monument was built for his daughter, Cornelia Lott Sank, by her husband, and the rock is from the fireplace of the Lake House. Dedicated August 23, 1936, by Florence Boyle, Grand President of the N.D.G.W."

Otto Des Granges, Fullerton Pioneer, was guest speaker of the Parlor September 16. In the course of his interesting remarks he said that at one time Orange County produced more corn than any state in the Union. "School Days."

Hollister—Complimenting Alta Mercy Trowbridge, retiring president and teacher, and President-elect Hazel Ramsey Bengard, superintendent San Benito County schools, Copa de Oro No. 105 chose "school days" as the theme for its September 3 installation ceremonies. This thought was carried out in suitable school songs, songsheet covers (fashioned as slates) and other features at the 6:45 turkey dinner. At the headtable the centerpiece was a miniature red schoolhouse, floating the American and the State Flags, surrounded by playground and equipment, with groups of children at play. Bowls of golden-hued marigolds completed the tasteful table adornment. President Trowbridge officiated as toastmistress, introducing the honored guests. In addition to community singing, George Grunnagle and Wm. Jacinto, guest soloists, rendered vocal numbers.

At the meetinghall, in addition to the ninety-five dinner attendants, additional members and guests assembled to witness the well-conducted ceremonies. Deputy Leona Geyer was assisted by a corps of acting grand officers from Santa Cruz No. 26 wearing floor-length lemon organdies with corsages of white bouvardia. The officers of Copa de Oro were attired in floor-length scarlet-trimmed white organdies and carried scarlet arm-baskets from which trailed sprays of yellow flowers. Large delegations from Santa Cruz, Salinas and San Juan witnessed the ceremonies, and Deputy Geyer entertained with a group of delightful vocal numbers. Again featuring the "school days" theme, a group of members attired as schoolchildren gave a skit for the presentation of gifts (disguised as a huge red apple, a school lunch and a packet of first aid supplies) to Retiring President Trowbridge, Deputy Geyer and Supervising Deputy Blanche Taix. Tributes were also presented Grand Trustees Pearl Reid and Rose Rhyner, Deputies Mayme Moran, Alberta McCormick and Evelyn Rhyner, and Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs.

State Flag Given Kern County.

Bakersfield—El Tejon No. 239 and Bakersfield No. 42 N.S.G.W. observed Admission Day by presenting a California State (Bear) Flag to the Kern County Board of Supervisors to be flown from the courthouse flagpole along with the United States of America Flag. Sadie Clendenen was mistress of ceremonies, Grace Davis sketched the history of the Bear Flag, and Richard Skinner, accompanied by Martha LaBrier, sang "I Love You, California." George Taylor made the presentation address, which was responded to by Supervisor Charles Wimmer. President Ralpha Sanders of El Tejon and President Ralph Hinderliter of Bakersfield extended greetings to the throng attending the ceremonies.

September 18 El Tejon concluded a series of very successful summer card parties. President Ralpha Sanders and her mother, Georgia Sanders, also a member of the Parlor, spent the month of August in Long Beach. Bakersfield is having a Pioneer Days celebration October 3 and 4, and the local Natives will have a prominent part in the doings. Members of El Tejon will appear at the October 2 meeting in oldtime costumes.

Pioneer Women To Affiliate.

Chico—Thirty-eight California Pioneers were guests September 9 of Annie K. Bidwell No. 168 at its annual Admission Day event in their honor. An old-fashioned garden, with white picket fence, was the setting. Green bamboo, broom and hollyhocks formed the background, with bright-colored flowers in profusion among the greenery.

A delightful program, comprised mostly of children's numbers, was well received. Several of the guests were over 90 years of age and took pride in relating how they had voted for Abraham Lincoln. After the program a social time was enjoyed around the banquet table. Many of the Pioneer women asked to join the Parlor, and a class initiation will be held in the near future.—C.B.H.

Launched on Successful Year.

Oakland—Honoring Grand President Florence Boyle on the occasion of her official visit, Bahia Vista No. 167 initiated two candidates August 20. Following the ceremonies the Grand President gave a very interesting talk which everyone enjoyed. While Chairman Dora Brayton was presenting Mrs. Boyle with the Parlor's gift, which was placed in a model ship with red sails, the Bahia Vista quartet sang "Red Sails in the Sunset." The Grand President returned the compliment with "When I Grow Too Old To Dream," and in thanking the Parlor for her remembrance she complimented the quartet and urged the Parlor to continue sponsoring its talented singers. In the banquetroom, where refreshments were later served, were ships of all kinds and sizes upon a blue sea. Grand President Boyle was truly launched on a very happy and successful year.—L.D.

Bahia Vista and Oakland No. 50 N.S.G.W. had a joint social August 28. The boys arranged a whist party and provided lovely prizes, and the girls served delicious refreshments. Funds were raised to defray the expense of putting a new door on one of the old missions. The evening proved very happy and successful.—L.B.

Three Dozen Dolls for Christmas.

Santa Ana—The first autumn meeting of Santa Ana No. 235, September 14, was preceded by a covered-dish dinner. Honored guests were Deputy Rhoda W. Smith, members having anniversaries in September and Grand Trustee Hazel B. Hansen. The latter gave a very interesting talk on the homeless children project.

for the near-future. A benefit dessert bridge party was sponsored at the home of Mrs. Henry Walters September 24 for the homeless children fund. Mrs. Mattie Edwards entertained the thimble club at her Placentia home September 3. Chairman Matilda Lemon of the Parlor's history and landmarks committee wrote up "Why Admission Day" for a local paper, saying in part: "Loyal Native Sons and Daughters honor this day in the same spirit with which all loyal Americans honor the Fourth of July."

Expressions of Pleasure Inspire.

Standish—Nataqua No. 152 and Susanville No. 243, and Honey Lake No. 198 N.S.G.W. (Standish) gave their annual pioneer dinner September 6, and some 200 guests and members were in attendance. The tables were decorated with seasonable flowers, and the menu was delicious. Birthday cakes were presented Mrs. T. Hutchinson and Fred Hall, who were celebrating, respectively, their eighty-first and sixty-seventh birthdays. An enjoyable program of old and new songs was given.

"The expressions of pleasure and the rays of joy that radiate from the faces of our few remaining Pioneers," commented Secretary Linda Davie of Nataqua, "inspire us to do this little bit for them each year." Nataqua and Susanville sponsored a dance September 26, and another will be given October 31.

Tribute Paid Officers.

Woodland—At the dedication September 4 of the newly-reconstructed Davis grammar school, Woodland No. 90 presented through Past Grand Anna Armstrong a California State (Bear) Flag. In recognition of Admission Day the program was built around a California theme.

September 8 the Parlor paid tribute to Miss Annie Ogden, serving her fifty-second term as an officer and her forty-second term as the financial secretary, and Miss Rhoda Maxwell, for sixty-one terms organist. President Iola Anderson presided, and at the as-you-like-it supper the toastmistress was Edna Richter. The "gay nineties" theme was carried out in decorations and entertainment. Of the Parlor's six remaining charter members three—Mattie Zimmerman, Lulu Shelton and Hattie Lee—were in attendance. The committee in charge of the affair included Melba Allison, Edna Richardson, Ella Anderson and Gladys Niemann.

Woodland has completed plans for a series of winter card parties. Each will center around a definite theme. Dorothy Bigelow is the general chairman, and Carolyn Gregory and Gladys Niemann are committee heads.

LIGHTS OUT!

(SARAH MILLER.)

SAN DIEGO—ADMISSION DAY, SEPTEMber 9, marked the closing of the California Pacific International Epositon with impressive ceremonies. It was California Day in San Diego' Sixty thousand people visited the Exposition, and additional thousands lined the city's streets to witness the colorful and imposing Admission Day morning parade sponsored by San Diego Parlor No. 108 N.S.G.W. and San Diego Parlor No. 208 N.D.G.W. Brigadier-General D. C. McDougal, U.S.M.C., was the grand marshal.

The first division was made up of units from the United States Army, Navy and Marine Corps, with their bands, and a unit from the California National Guard, with its band. Then came the "Sisterhood of States" division, with forty floats representing as many States of the Union. Division three was the fraternal section, and division four was devoted to floats of an historic nature.

By general consent, honors for the best float in the parade went to the United States Naval Training Station, its unique tableau authentically depicting the raising of the first American Flag in San Diego. The Native Sons and Daughters duplicated with a mass of zinnias the Great Seal of California, with Dorothy Brown posing as Minerva. The arrival of Father Junipero Serra was shown by the Heaven and Earth Club. San Diego City's mission dam float depicted the West's first dam, built by the mission padres.

The parade proceeded to the Exposition, and passed the reviewing stand in Plaza del Pacifico in which were President Frank G. Belcher of the Exposition, Mayor Benbough, Brigadier-General D. C. McDougal and other high ranking army and navy officers.

In the afternoon, at the organ amphitheater, the "Pageant of Four Flags," telling the story of California, was presented. Bands played the national anthems of Spain, Mexico and the United States, and "I Love You, California," as four little girls, attired in appropriate costumes, loosened the ribbons that unfurled the four flags to the breeze.

Many festivities prevailed throughout the day and evening, and as the hands of the clock approached midnight a bugler stationed atop the Palace of Fine Arts sounded "taps," and the long beams of light reaching the sky faded out, one by one. The California Pacific International Exposition, San Diego's magnificent gesture to the world, became a memory!

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

BEFORE A CROWD OF SOME 36,000 A parade pageant—La Fiesta de la Rancho San Jose, celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the coming of the first Spanish settlers, Ygnacio Palomares and Arcardo Vejar, to the Pomona Valley,—was presented at the Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona September 20. It was sponsored by the Pomona Valley Historical Society, and was marshaled by John G. Mott.

Practically every Parlor of Native Sons and Native Daughters in the southland co-operated in presenting the romantic history of California from the days of Cabrillo, the discoverer, to those of the "gay nineties."

Queen Califia rode under a golden canopy guarded by Amazon warriors. The float of the Historical Society of Southern California displayed the "seven flags planted in California soil—those of Spain, England, Russia, Argentina, Mexico, California Republic and the United States."

The entry of the De Anza Historical Society, Riverside, depicted Captain Juan Bautista de Anza in his overland march from Mexico to California. That of Los Angeles showed the founding of the city by Felipe de Neve September 4, 1781.

Jedediah Strong Smith, Kit Carson and General John C. Fremont were among the makers of California history that were impersonated. As a grand climax to the two-hour unfolding of the Golden State's history was the "sight that can be seen only in California"—more than a hundred riders, all with silver-mounted saddles and divided into groups according to the colors of the horses.

SUPERVISORS VISITED BY NATIVES.

Headed by Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, a group of Native Sons and Native Daughters representing all the Los Angeles County Parlors appeared before the Board of Supervisors September 29. Vice-president Bernard G. Hiss of the Los Angeles County Admission Day Committee introduced Charles A. Son, who presented to the Board the cup awarded the best float in the Oakland Admission Day parade—that of Los Angeles County.

On behalf of the Parlors, Grand First Vice-president Meyer thanked the Board for assisting in making a creditable showing in the Alameda County city, and Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz spoke of the wonderful reception there given his posse.

N.S. LUNCHEON CLUB.

The N.S.G.W. Luncheon Club now holds forth on the eleventh floor of the Rosslyn Hotel, Fifth and Main streets, every Friday at 12:15 noon. Since the change in meetingplace and conduct of the club the attendance has increased notably. At but one meeting each month is a guest speaker presented. Maynard Garrison is the president, and Hervey Lindley Kitchin is the secretary-treasurer of the club. All members of the Order are welcome to the gatherings.

ADMISSION DAY PICNIC.

Long Beach—An all states society picnic at Bixby Park August 29 was attended by several members of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. Mrs. Clara Fay was chairman of the delegation. Representatives of every state in the Union were there. Mrs. Elnora Martin was the thimble club hostess August 29, and a profitable and pleasant day was spent.

The Admission Day picnic at Bixby Park September 9, sponsored by the Parlor, was well attended. In addition to visitors from Grace, Compton and Rudecinda Parlors, there were some prospective members. United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags adorned the bountifully laden table. In the September 20 historical pageant at Pomona, the Parlor was represented by "miners' wives," who wore tight basques, full skirts and sunbonnets. Dr. Helen Sanders had charge of details.

Long Beach had a successful cooked-food sale at the municipal market September 5. Mrs. Bertha Hitt, the chairman, was assisted by Mrs Beryl Vallikett. At the same time, Chairman Daisy Hansen netted a tidy sum for the thimble club through the sale of potholders.

October 15, at Masonic Temple, 835 Locust avenue, the Parlor will hold a card party. The committee in charge of arrangements includes Mms. Eugenia Smith (chairman), Daisy Hansen, Margaret Burch, Alice Waldow and Johanna Reed.—V.T.H.

HALLOWE'EN DANCE AT GLENDALE.

Glendale—Glendale Parlor No. 264 N.S.G.W. is sponsoring a Hallowe'en dance and frolic Saturday night, October 31, on the third floor of Masonic Temple. This will be another of the most enjoyable dances for which the Parlor is noted. Fine, snappy music will be provided, and refreshments will be served. The committee, under the direction of President George LaRue and First Vice-president Fred Leonetti, is endeavoring to make this an outstanding event.

INSTALLATION DELIGHTFUL OCCASION.

Some three hundred persons assembled in beautiful Gibson Hall of the Friday Morning Club to witness the public installation, September 23, of President Edna Marie Trombatore and the other officers-elect of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. Matty Gara, as chairman, introduced Deputy Ruth Parris, who officiated at the ceremonies, assisted by Gertrude Tuttle as acting past president and Marian Johnson as acting marshal. Sophia Stewart was the soloist of the evening. The officers of the Parlor were gowned in white and carried boquets of talisman rosebuds. As President Trombatore and Retiring President Leonie Clos assumed their respective stations they were greeted with rounds of applause, and they were the recipients of numerous gifts from admiring friends.

During the evening the following were introduced: Grand Trustee Hazel Hansen, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg, Supervising Deputies Flora Holy and Nellie Cline, Deputies Matilda Enfield, Frances Reynolds, Olinda Kerby and Ione Gillett of the Native Daughters; Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer,

In the afternoon special entertainment features will be presented at Navy Field, and in the evening street dancing will be in vogue.

Sunday, a high military mass will be followed by an international boat-pulling race, and a sailboat race. In the afternoon there will be a religious service sponsored by the Church Federation of San Pedro.

At 7 o'clock that evening an illuminated boat parade will proceed to Cabrillo Beach, where will be enacted the landing of Cabrillo. This feature is being sponsored by Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W., and Marion Parks-Partridge of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. has written the story.

Approval has been received from the Federal Music Project of W.P.A., according to Ernest Ehrke, chairman and director of the "Landing of Cabrillo," for the appearance on the Cabrillo Beach pageantry program of a group of forty-five Mexican and Spanish musicians, dancers and professional artists under the direction of Jose Cantu. They are being furnished through the courtesy of Monte Carter, Director of Public Relations, and James McGarrigle, Supervisor of the Los Angeles Federal Music Project. At 10 p.m. the fiesta will officially close.

ACTIVELY IDENTIFIED WITH FIESTA.

San Pedro—Many members of Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W., among them R. C. Grow, Tom Allender, President B. J. Lassere, Edward E. Baldwin, Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards and District Deputy John P. Paralieu, are actively identified with the committee arranging for the San Pedro Fiesta.

In the parade of October 10 the Parlor will have the drum and bugle corps of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W., a float and, possibly, the popular posse of Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz.

Headed by President Ben Lassere, a large number of Stephen M. White's members will attend the gathering of the southland Parlors at Arrowhead Parlor's Crestline clubhouse October 3, and they will be accompanied by seven candidates for initiation. A bus has been chartered to make the trip.

FRANCES DELLAN FOR FIESTA QUEEN.

San Pedro — Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W. honored Deputy Frances Reynolds August 27, the occasion being her birthday. The traditional birthday cake, with gold candles, and gold pompom dahlias in orange pottery adorned the refreshment table. Mrs. Reynolds was presented a gift of pottery. Other guests of the evening were Eleanore Gunn, Esther Rinne and Supervising Deputy Flora Holy. A candidate was initiated September 10. For the benefit of the good of the order fund, Dessie Buyo had a card party at her home September 18.

Rudecinda is sponsoring a queen for the coming San Pedro Fiesta—Frances Dellan, a youthful and popular member of the Parlor. Several members, attired as the wives of forty-niners, appeared in the historical pageant at Pomona September 20. Rudecinda personals: Charter members Elizabeth Jorgensen and Rose Buchanan are slowly recovering from lingering illnesses. Letitia Sarciaux and Marcella Sandoval and children were recent guests of Carrie R. Kuhlmann at her cabin in Green River Camp, Riverside County.

Homeless Children

A WORTHWHILE NON-SECTARIAN ENDEAVOR SPONSORED AND SUPPORTED BY THE ORDERS OF NATIVE SONS AND NATIVE DAUGHTERS OF THE GOLDEN WEST

THE FIRST OF A SERIES OF ARTICLES planned in an effort to further familiarize the Native Sons and Native Daughters with the many and diverse problems involved in the administering of "Our Charity" was begun in the May issue of The Grizzly Bear Magazine. Changes, however, in the Central Committee office force, vacations of workers and of committee members, along with the multidudinous details which must be primarily considered, have interrupted the preparation of the articles. Regardless of how intriguing other requests may be in the interest of the work or how helpful other plans presented the Committee for its executive or worker, the fact remains that the records of the lives of children, accepted as a rule during the first two weeks of infancy, must be complete, accurate, and available at a moment's notice.

The members of the Central Committee and workers are often questioned by men and women, some of whom are members of the Orders, others non-members but born in California, others loyal to a chosen state, all of them interested, for one reason or another, in the work of the Homeless Children. One family may make inquiries in anticipation of the adoption of a child; another may wish to recommend friends whose need of a child he understands, his friends having lost, by death, one or two children of their own. Again, the questioner may seek expression for a charitable heart.

Miss C. Gresel came in the early part of 1935, interested in finding out how the work was governed, executed and financed; the procedure of adoption, and whether or not good homes were always available. When she had received answers to her questions, she said "No doubt you will hear from me again." At Easter time and Christmas time there came from Miss Gresel generous checks totaling $400. There are the men and women who are interested in a "business" which can guarantee wholesome homes and loving parents for children needing both. They may be personally acquainted with families whose lives have been quite as intensely and permanently bettered as that of the child, and familiar with the spirit of friendliness existing between the foster parents and the child-placing organization.

There frequently comes the individual who considers that "the be all and end all," the sum and substance of a child-placing organization's success, lies in the answer to the question "How MANY children do you place for adoption?", forgetting to inquire how WELL are you able to place the children, how plentiful are the homes offered, how high are your standards, how able is your organization to put machinery in motion for caring for the child for whom parents are unable to provide, and whom foster parents will not accept for adoption because of the child's unfavorable history.

Members of our Orders, who are interested in the work beyond measure, are prone to gauge the success of their undertaking by the NUMBER of children placed. Quite understandable is their lack of knowledge requiring case work of children and families, upon whom a worker may spend days and part of nights in an endeavor to obtain interviews with parents and relatives—cases upon which the organization must spend money. The cases entailing visits in all parts of California, the many communications with social agencies, the securing of records, endless details, all recorded in every annual report of the Central Committee, though hidden, perhaps, under the heading: "Children not placed upon whom work and expenses have been spent."

An executive of the Children's Bureau of Washington, D. C., who, with another worker, has been making a survey of California laws and methods in dealing with the adoption work, came into the office to study the records of the Native Sons and Native Daughters Central Homeless Children Committee. She was particularly interested in the originality of the setup of the Central Committee of the Natives of California, and in the vision of its founder, who recognized the necessity of a non-sectarian organization safeguarding a child spiritually as well as physically, mentally and financially: first, through the three members of the Native Sons of the Golden West and the three members of the Native Daughters of the Golden West financing the work and aiding in ways many and varied; the representatives in touch with the charities of California, and the three members representing the three religious denominations—the Catholic representative interested in the Catholic child and foster home, the Protestant representative interested in the Protestant child and his new home, and the Hebrew representative interested in the Jewish children of the community.

She stated to the Secretary that this was the only State with a non-sectarian organization of its kind doing the placing of children for all of the religious groups, and she considered the cooperation commendable, refreshing and unique. She was glad to hear that the standards of the organization had been maintained during the years of depression, even though the work had to be curtailed because of the reduction in the office force. While this opinion of a worker is not in official form, it is valued, and came as an added stimulus to those who have worked unceasingly to keep high the standards of the organization and who never have failed to realize the sacredness of their task and are conscious of their audacity in selecting the entire training of a child in which he and his parents have no part.

Do not forget that October 8 is "Homeless Children's Day" on the calendar of the two Orders, and while it may not be a date auspicious for each Parlor to give its benefit, it sets the time for beginning to plan. An EARLY EFFORT to work out plans for your support of the cause is urged this year.

Since the first of April to the first of September 1936 the receipts have been: Contributions Native Sons Parlors, $42.50; Native Daughters Parlors, $59.50; joint Parlors, $400; San Francisco Parlors and members, $134.79; Alameda County Parlors, $162.75; individual Native Daughters, $5; total, $804.54. Contributions for milk fund, $207.15; contributed by friends, $41; refunds on board, $1,289.24; interest and dividends, $281.95; refund on expense, $6.29. Grand total, $2,630.17. Disbursements April 1 to September 1, $7,426.80. Balance in commercial account September 1936, $1,864.64; in savings bank, $5,731.30; Mary E. Tillman memorial fund, $5,200. These figures will very clearly show you our needs.

PLEASE NOTE: If over 41c is charged for admission, a Federal tax will be demanded of the Parlor sponsoring the benefit. Do not forget that you MUST CLAIM exemption for collection of Federal tax on admissions, and get the claim in on time so that your certificate of exemption may be sent you BEFORE you give your benefit, entertainment, dance or whist. If you do not get in your claim, the tax will be demanded, and that is a loss to the fund. The Central Committee office will supply blanks, if requested.

FORTY-NINER PASTIMES

Margaret Scheiber

TOO MUCH ATTENTION HAS BEEN given by writers to the lawless and shiftless element that came to California in pursuit of the elusive gold. While it is true that gambling and drinking were common among the miners, they did not all frequent saloons or gambling dens and indulge in other insidious pastimes. The riffraff and illiterate did occasionally dominate temporarily some of the smaller communities, but even then stories of misconduct and disorder were often grossly exaggerated.

The majority of the emigrants belonged to the respectable class, men of all nationalities, but with the American element predominating. Only two percent of the members of a mining town were women. For the most part, the men were under forty. A good many, from cultured Eastern families, were college graduates, doctors, lawyers, teachers, ministers, writers, mechanics, etc. The undesirable element was composed mostly of ignorant and depraved criminals from Mexico, the "Sidney Ducks" from Australia, and ex-convicts from various Eastern cities of the United States.

These miners, all eager for the yellow metal, sought to conquer the virgin field of California in its golden era, and worked vigorously day in and day out, six days a week. The work, especially for those from the Eastern cities, was hard, cruel and strange, but the excitement of their quest brought out the latent strength in each individual. Their frenzy was to seek the gold, find it, enrich themselves, and speedily return to the families awaiting them, therefore no time was spent in building homes. They just bunked together in crude shelters, working and playing with equal intensity.

The stress and monotony of the day were broken by the hour of relaxation after supper. With pipes lit and a campfire throwing a bit of enchantment over the little circle of tired and weary men, many wondrous, glamorous and fantastic tales were told. Others found interest in reading books, while some, lulled by the hum of voices, sank into a reverie, visualizing home and boyhood scenes, striving to conquer the feeling of lonesomeness and homesickness that was slowly creeping upon them. Often merry songs were sung, sometimes with banjo and fiddle but very often with pan and kettle accompaniments, extemporaneous compositions with rich local color; and then again, songs of home, plaintive ballads with the theme of love, joy and sadness.

Sunday morning, in nearly all the mines, the men were astir early, as it was observed as wash day and bake day—for the week's supply of bread must be prepared—and a day set aside for the mending of clothing and letter writing. Sunday afternoon was mainly reserved for enjoyment for, after a week's arduous pursuit of gold, the day was indeed welcomed for rest, yet not so much for repose or solemn devotion. Of course, in many localities a religious service was conducted.

Many miners craved excitement, and cock fighting, a match between a bull and a bear, and horse racing seemed to satisfy their hungry desires. Practically all these amusements were taken from the early Californians.

A cock fight was always a means of drawing together an eager, clamorous crowd. First a couple of bantam cocks in full tilt would spring into one another, with the bystanders laughing, shouting and betting as though the combatants were men. The fight would wage fiercely until one of the bantams had been knocked in the head and gave in. Then two monstrous prize cocks were brought on. These put on the main event of the whole affair, the first fight being just a preliminary match to collect a crowd. In the major match, two fellows came into the ring holding the birds in their arms, stroking and encouraging them and setting them on. Bets ran high and, like most other contests, it remained for a time undecided, as both cocks fought with much pluck, perhaps longer and better than their masters would have done. In the end, the winner strutted off with the true look of a victorious conqueror, leaving its opponent lying panting on the ground, or perhaps lifeless.

This story came to The Grizzly Bear from Dr. E. C. Turner of Sacramento Parlor No. 3 N.S.G.W. with the notation: "Am forwarding an address made by Miss Margaret Scheiber recently before Sacramento Parlor, and which won one of the prizes given by the Parlor for public speaking by high school pupils on California subjects. It takes away the bad taste left after seeing the newcomers create the idea that all our Pioneer Fathers spent all their time in saloons and bawdy houses and, historically, it gives a picture of their sports which, I believe, has never been put together in one place before."—Editor.

Horse racing was another amusement the miners enthusiastically indulged in. A level piece of ground was used as a race course. The ground was marked off, the judges were selected, and the horses were led up to one end. Bets were placed, and the miners grew furious with excitement. The race was on, the horses sped by neck and neck, nothing to be seen but flying hoofs. After they passed, all ran to the goal to find the horses returning in a slow walk, having run far beyond their mark. Then the winner was selected, and amid much furore the race was fully discussed by the onlookers.

The match between the bull and the bear was a cruel sport, but it lasted for a number of years. By use of a strong riata, the hind leg of a bear would be tied to the front leg of a bull, and the fight took place within a wooden inclosure. Platforms were erected for the spectators. Men on horseback always stood ready to lasso or shoot the animals if they broke apart and rushed upon the crowd. In such combats, the bear was usually victorious.

Catching the rooster was another popular sport. A live cock would be buried in the sand with its head protruding a few inches from the level of the ground. The horseman rode by the rooster at full speed and, if he were a dexterous and nimble rider, he would catch the fowl by the bobbing head and lift it into the air; but if he failed to do so, he was ridiculed and mocked by the spectators.

Many miners who did not care for the wilder and more barbaric sports remained at home. They often held pancake or flapjack contests, to see who was the best cook, and who could make the largest, roundest, flattest, yet tastiest, flapjacks. Stews, pies and other foods were also prepared, judged, and prizes awarded.

Frequently they joined with the Spanish and Mexicans in their dances. The Spanish fandango was adopted by the miners and elaborated upon. Many jolly moments were spent in camp watching some of their clumsy antics while striving to imitate the graceful and flowing movements of the dancers. Foot races and prizefights also whiled away many dull moments.

Other diversions were drinking, gambling and dancing. This picture has been overdrawn, for very few miners lost their piles at poker and faro, or drank themselves into a drunken stupor. How could they, and do the work they did? Many a Forty-niner, indeed, was as strict an abstainer as the straightest Prohibitionist could desire, and also kept himself free from the vices of gambling, except as his profession itself was one great game of chance.

The young and unmarried men found this free and bracing life alluring. Privations and sickness were naught to them. Their goal was to find the golden ore in quantities. Some were successful, others drifted through life in pursuit of the will-o'-the-wisp of their fancy, neglecting moderate prospects from which the more prudent family man was constantly forging ahead.

From these communities of energetic and intelligent, yet pleasure-loving argonauts of California, the greatest of mining commonwealths was built. The same vigor and exuberance in work or play, in enterprise or pastime, still is the chief attribute of the present-day Californian, and is still expressed in California's progress.

"Nobody seems willing to believe good of another if evil can possibly be imputed. Nobody can propose any change for the better without antagonizing those who profit by abuses."—Exchange.

BETTER BUSINESS TREND.

At the beginning of the year Harvey M. Toy, managing owner of the Hotel Manx in San Francisco, predicted prosperity ahead. This has come true and to a greater degree than his astute mind envisioned, as he says the hum and buzz around the spacious Manx Hotel lobby has the familiar ring of the days before the depression struck. He is very confident of a continued trend toward better business until those who have been hard hit will have retrieved much of their losses.

Toy hopes all Californians will make it a point to see and enjoy the convenience of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, the opening of which will be celebrated in November. The Hotel Manx is a familiar landmark in San Francisco, but it has kept pace with modern improvements and is today, as in the past, regarded as one of the finer hotels of that city. Hospitality and good service are two of the many outstanding features which make the Manx extremely popular from coast to coast, and particularly in California.

Historian Sacramento Parlor N.S.G.W.

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

THE CALIFORNIA STATE ELECTION, held November 2, 1886, resulted in the selection of a Democrat, Washington Bartlett, as governor, and a Republican, R. W. Waterman, as lieutenant-governor. For governor, Bartlett won from his nearest opponent, John F. Swift, Republican, by but 654 votes, and a week elapsed before the result of the poll was officially announced. Three additional candidates divided 26,006 votes. The total vote cast for this office was 195,292.

The Democrats also elected the secretary of state, the controller, the treasurer, the attorney-general and two congressmen. The Republicans also elected the surveyor-general, the superintendent of public instruction and four congressmen.

In San Francisco, 95 percent of the registered vote was cast, and it was possible to count but four ballots an hour. The city being short of funds, the election officials had to wait until January for their pay.

Stephen M. White and Major A. F. Jones were elected to the State Senate from, respectively, Los Angeles and Butte Counties. Both were wellknown Native Sons, Jones at one time being Grand President.

W. S. Moore, unsuccessful Republican candidate for secretary of state, and Horace Bell, unsuccessful Labor candidate for lieutenant-governor, had an altercation on the streets of Los Angeles November 10 and both used their fists to advantage.

Suspected of adding a voter's name to the great register after the final registration date had elapsed, the clerk of San Mateo County was examined by the United States grand jury.

Expenses of feminine candidates for school directors of San Francisco were paid by Senator and Mrs. Leland Stanford, Mms. A. A. Sargent, George Hearst and Theresa Fair.

This month (November) it was discovered that there was on the state statute books a law providing for an allowance of $100 per month from state funds for every indigent over 60 years of age. Controller Dunn announced Alameda County was entitled to $14,749, which amount he would turn over in February.

Executives of the Democratic County Committee of San Francisco went to the home of Chris. Buckley November 16 and, in recognition of services rendered in the recent campaign, presented to him an elegant dinner set.

Captain J. D. Potts, a northern California Pioneer, died November 6 at Red Bluff, Tehama County. In 1850 he was the chief magistrate of what is now Shasta, Tehama and Butte Counties.

Sunny Slope, the L. J. Rose 1,025-acre estate near San Gabriel, Los Angeles County, was sold November 11 to J. H. Puleston of London, England, for $1,037,400.

Mrs. James Travis of Fresno City was awarded $10,000 damages from E. L. McCapes who, during an argument over a farm contract, shot out her eye.

F. Webber Benton, of the firm of Benton, Stillman & Taylor that was promoting the Pasquitas Colony near San Diego City, left November 7 for unknown parts. His liabilities were estimated at $10,000.

Surveyors having routed the San Francisco and North Pacific Railroad as far as Ukiah, Mendocino County, it was announced construction of the line would begin in the spring.

An amateur performance in San Francisco for the benefit of the Charleston sufferers was a brilliant social affair and a financial success.

Dr. David M. Baldwin, one of the first physicians to practice in Oakland, Alameda County, died there November 16.

The railroad was expected to reach Butteville, twenty miles south of Yreka, Siskiyou County, the last of the month. The track was being laid at the rate of two miles daily.

Major H. G. Weir, wellknown throughout the state, died November 18 at Modesto, Stanislaus County.

NOTE—Expressions of opinion in these "Growls" are, unless indicated otherwise, those of the Managing Editor.

CLARENCE M. HUNT.

"AMERICANISM IS BEING A GOOD AMERican and being a good American is a strict adherence to and a spreading of the propaganda of the principles for which our forefathers bled and died, and for which many of our own gave their all," says Chairman Ernestine F. Aylward of the Grand Parlor N.D.G.W. Americanism Committee.

"It means also a vigorous resistance to all efforts to destroy not only these same principles, but any attempt to undermine our American institutions. It means peace—not a "peace at any price," but a strong national defense for the maintenance of that peace. Americanism is essentially a matter of education!"

What this country needs is continuous teaching, preaching and publicizing of Americanism, exclusively,—more patriotism! Subversive "isms," that have unquestionably been strengthened by propaganda against and for them, can be routed by a practiced Americanism which will eliminate those conditions, in and out of government, that breed and prosper the so-much-complained-of subversive "isms."

At the Western Safety Conference in Salt Lake, Julia Runzler suggested, "We should revive the idea, if not the form, of the scarlet letter," emblem of Puritan scorn, to put a stop to auto-murders. Certainly some drastic action should be taken. A revival of the spirit of the days of '49 would be helpful in California.

SUGGESTS CALIFORNIA'S OFFSHORE ISLANDS BE NAMED FOR CABRILLO

That the group of islands off the southern California coast now on most maps as the Channel Islands should be named the "Cabrillo Isles" is the suggestion of Aubrey Drury, California writer. The coast was discovered on September 28, 1542, by Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, and these islands were first visited by the bold voyager early in October of that year. He lies buried on one of them.

"These islands now assuredly should be named in honor of the dauntless seafarer the Cabrillo Isles," says Drury in his book, "California: An Intimate Guide." He points out that "nowhere is Cabrillo properly commemorated along the coast which he discovered to the world." There are a few spots along the California coast now named for Cabrillo, but none is of major prominence.

"The name 'Channel Islands' is almost meaningless," says the writer, "and does not deserve to last. It has no particular background. Why not call Santa Catalina, San Clemente, Santa Rosa, Santa Cruz and the rest collectively the Cabrillo Isles?"

Sonoma County Amphitheater—An open-air theater in Armstrong Grove State Park, near Guerneville, was dedicated September 27. There in the great outdoors, amid ages-old giants and surrounded by smaller redwoods, ferns, etc., has been builded a stage, and redwood-log seats for 3,500 people, at a cost of $100,000.

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

LIGHT AND SHADOW — AN EXCLUSIVE formula for flattery — shows you how to balance light and dark colors or dull and shining fabrics for effect. Accessories play an important part in its development. Costumes must be fur trimmed. It isn't autumn without a costume. It's scarcely an occasion if the gathering doesn't embrace a conspicuous number of dresses with their own short or long coats touched somewhere with a bit of fur. Some are for street, some for softer moods, others with the new feeling for formal wools.

Begin life in the twilight hours. A rich grey fox may crown the short jacket of a grey ostrich cloth costume with high draped neckline. Another attractive costume is of a wine-colored wool trimmed with grey persian lamb on collar, pockets and buttons.

Isn't it a joy to have one "little dress" in your closet which you can put on for luncheon, tea or dinner and be perfectly sure you look grand for each of these occasions? Such a dress is a great wardrobe comfort, and eases your mind from a hundred little worries about dressing. Select a dress which has lines becoming to the very young and the matron as well. Then consider the formula for flattery, light and shadow, and its bewitching effect. Accessories are the instruments of light and shadow, a technique old to art but new to fashion.

Various combinations are shown in light and dark colors or dull and shining surfaces. These combinations are selected with the purpose of intensifying the color or sheen of the hair or eyes, lips or skin of the wearer. It is an individual highly-personalized technique. For instance, a sparkle tone is found in a scarf of purple, green, red and black angelskin satin, backed with duveteen. Shiny and dull is featured in a touch of "danger" red on a black hat to be worn with a dead-black costume.

Two tones of the same color are found in amber-colored glass flowers. Amber gloves bring light to a dark brown costume for autumn days. Sparkle tone accessories feature gold kid belt, black and gold brocade and gold kid bag for an all-black evening gown. Turquoise feathers tied in a bow on a dark felt hat and turquoise and silver bracelet and clip are stunning to wear with all-black. Another sparkle tone effect is gold-colored beads and handbag with gold-colored clasp to be worn with black also.

Gold goes to your head this season in jeweled aztec ornaments for more formal hats. The idea of wearing jewelry on hats is taking the town by storm. It started when women discovered what an air a jeweled clip added to a velvet toque. And it has branched out into a major trend. Rich yellow gold hat ornaments are matched by earrings, bracelets and clips. It's the ensemble idea carried out in jewelry. Wear a clip on your hat to match your bracelet or brooch and the effect has all the luxurious air demanded by the season's styles.

There is so much to the fall fashion picture that only the highlights have been touched. Fashion changes are swift, and international in flavor these days. The clever woman is the one who will assemble her fall wardrobe with that in mind, keeping a weather eye out for little hints which unfold as the season advances.

Indo-Chinese dancers' tunics appear on dinner gowns and glamorous formal gowns. East Indian and Egyptian turbans achieve new altitude records. Everything in the silhouette is high—hats, all of them high, shoulders high and wide pockets higher on the chest. Waistlines have risen. Skirts are a good deal shorter for those who can wear them, but not too much shorter for those whose legs are not their best feature. Even shoes are rising high over the instep.

Color runs rampant. Black is always first, but this fall is dramatized with colored accessories. Russet leaf, green pine or eggplant, coronation wine, london fog and royal blue are important colors.

Hats are the caviar of fall fashion, the aperitif of every costume. Velvet, felt and antelope assume almost every shape and size. The most startling change is the trimming. Feathers and quills of all colors and types shoot this way and that. The postilion is high of crown, narrow of brim and lightly crushed at the top. Turbans of all kinds are of Oriental flavor. Something new in off-the-face models is named "new madonna." Hats are high and handsome, but none of them very wide. A very smart black evening hat of velvet with a bow in the front and lots of hair showing through the open crown is most becoming and clever looking.

Evening stars form a glittering constellation. Of first magnitude is the princess gown, which fits like a glove and swings into drifting folds about the toe-tip. The tunic wrap is as liberal with its hemline as it is sparing with your waistline. The full-dress fashion molds the bustline, straps the shoulders delicately, dropping to a waist-deep vee behind one's back. The competent dinner suit brilliantly solves the problem of what to wear when in doubt. The glowing velvets, the shining satins, the twinkling metals set you off as nothing else can. Deft coiffures furnish the crowning touch of splendor.

We are often asked to suggest colors for whole wardrobes, and sometimes to choose whole wardrobes suggests color schemes. A perfect wardrobe starts with a coat. Choose your coat and coat color, and then proceed from there—black coat, black crepe lining, black buttons, beige scarf, black hat, bag and shoes; dark blue coat, lining and buttons, blue shoes, blue gloves and bag, wine hat and wine scarf; brown coat with copper matching lining, beige or brown gloves, brown hat, bag and shoes and white scarf.

A young girl away from home never has enough clothes, even though her closet may be bursting. But it's no trouble now finding good-looking frocks, especially for girls away at college. If there is one dress above all others to be added to her collection the next time she goes shopping, it is the princess frock. An outstanding one is of black jersey trimmed with white pique and white buttons. Think of this in grey or rosy-red velveteen. Another classroom frock is a double-breasted dress of green tweed or jersey, or beige and brown tweed with brown velveteen.

Silk dresses are not at all fussy, as you can see, but they all have some kind of new and satisfying sleeve. Often the sleeve and the fabric make the only difference between a late afternoon dress and a daytime one.

Among the elegant shoes, none are more brilliant than evening slippers of velvet or satin in gold and silver. A wine velvet with gold kid trim is flattering, also red velvet with gold. Blue velvet with silver, and white with silver are good.

Two royal kingdoms of fashion are gloves and bags. Identical fabrics and colors make this season's lady of fashion elegant to her fingertips. Gloves are of softest doeskin. Slipons come in rich, deep autumn colors, with bags of the same lovely material perfectly matched in color.

As surely as the earth revolves, so do the styles of other days return to us again and again. And now, with 1937 just around the proverbial "corner," we are again steeped in glamour. The fashion wheel has revolved, bringing us once more an era of elegance. Luxury rules the mode!

IN DAYS OF THE SPINNING WHEEL

A spinning wheel stands by the old fireside
And tunes my heart to deathless peace and pride.
The hands that guided it are here no more
But songs of thanks are coming as of yore.
A home of quiet in a world of care
A simple task with loving hearts to share
No slaves for wealth with secrets to conceal
But harmony and wisdom to reveal.
No triumphs that will glorify the age
But just a spinning wheel upon life's stage.
Calm nerves within the father's rugged frame
Congenial love without a thought of shame.
In humble homes our own grandparents dwelt
In earnest prayers of gratitude they knelt.

Native Sons of the Golden West

NEVADA CITY (NEVADA COUNTY)—The Grand Parlor Historic Landmarks Committee, co-operating with Hydraulic No. 56, at impressive ceremonies attended by Native Sons and Native Daughters from all parts of California, marked, October 18, with four elegant bronze tablets imbedded in granite pedestals, four historic sites in this vicinity. Dr. C. W. Chapman, the general chairman of the memorable occasion, was showered with commendation for his untiring efforts to bring about these markings. He was ably assisted by Miles D. Coughlin, Verne Gleason, Clarence Martz, Elza J. Kilroy, Joe G. O'Neill, Frank Davies, William H. James, Cary Arbogast and Robert Tucker of Hydraulic; Mms. George H. Calanan, Annie Godfrey, Katherine Williamson and Edith Davey, and Miss Mary Davies of Laurel No. 6 N.D.G.W.

Three of the markers designate routes of the covered wagons. The tablets are inscribed:

(1)—"PIONEER EMIGRANT TRAIL. This boulder was known to the Pioneers as the Indian Medicine Stone. On its top are hollows in which the Indians lay while taking sunbaths to cure their ills. One branch of the Emigrant Trail leading from Truckee Pass to the Gold Mines of Nevada County and to the Valley of the Sacramento passed close beside this stone. Tablet placed by the Historic Landmarks Committee, Native Sons of the Golden West. Dedicated Oct. 18, 1936."

(2)—"PIONEER EMIGRANT TRAIL. A Branch of the Pioneer Emigrant Trail leading from Truckee Pass to the Gold Mines of Nevada County traversed Harmony Ridge down through this gap and on to the Valley of the Sacramento. Tablet placed by the Historic Landmarks Committee, Native Sons of the Golden West. Dedicated Oct. 18, 1936."

(3)—"PIONEER EMIGRANT TRAIL. A Branch of the Pioneer Emigrant Trail leading from Truckee Pass to the Gold Mines of Nevada County and to the Valley of the Sacramento divided on Harmony Ridge near the site of Lone Grave. One route circled the north horizon to Blue Tent, down to Selby Flat, up through this gap and on south. Tablet placed by the Historic Landmarks Committee, Native Sons of the Golden West. Dedicated Oct. 18, 1936."

Speakers at these historic sites included Past Grands Joseph R. Knowland, Lewis F. Byington and Clarence E. Jarvis of the Grand Parlor Historic Landmarks Committee, Grand President Hartley Russell, Mrs. Belle Douglass (Laurel No. 6 N.D.) and Grand President Florence D. Boyle of the Native Daughters. Invocations and benedictions were given by Rev. H. H. Buckner and Rev. C. E. Emigrant Trail marker (1), the Indian medicine stone, was unveiled by Betty De Rome and Helen Chapman who, then little girls, unveiled the "Donner" monument in 1918. Emigrant Trail marker (2), in gap west of Sugar Loaf, was unveiled by Grand Secretary John T. Regan and Helen Chapman, and Emigrant Trail marker (3), east gap, was unveiled by Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth and Helen Chapman.

The fourth marker designates the site where a Nevada County sheriff lost his life in the performance of duty. The tablet is inscribed:

"SHERIFF DAVID FULTON DOUGLASS. On this spot Sheriff Douglass, a Native Son of the Golden West, gave his life July 26, 1896, bravely performing his duty. Alone he tracked a highwayman to this retreat and both fell in battle. It is believed that Douglass was pitted against two and that one escaped. The bodies lay parallel. Dedicated Oct. 18, 1936, under the auspices of the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, the County of Nevada and the California Peace Officers Association."

The speakers at this historic site were Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz (Santa Monica Bay No. 267) of Los Angeles County, representing the California Peace Officers Association; Judge George L. Jones (Quartz No. 58) of Grass Valley, Sheriff Carl Tobiassen of Nevada County, and Grand Presidents Russell and Boyle. Here, the schoolchildren sang "I Love You, California," and "Somewhere in the West." The marker was unveiled by President Clarence E. Martz of Hydraulic Parlor and Mrs. Belle Douglass, sister-in-law of Sheriff Douglass.

STATEWIDE BUREAU TO PROVIDE CALIFORNIA HISTORY SPEAKERS.

San Francisco—The History Committee of the Grand Parlor N.S.G.W. met and organized October 2, and held a second meeting October 16, with Past Grand Edward J. Lynch presiding. Also in attendance were Past Grand Charles L. Dodge, Judge Charles R. Boden, Peter T. Conmy, Frank C. Merritt, Emmet Joy, William G. Paden, George H. Barron, Al Lobree and Joseph E. Tinney. Peter T. Conmy was elected vice-chairman of the committee, and Joseph E. Tinney was chosen secretary.

The recommendation of Dr. Herbert E. Bolton, chairman of the Department of History and director of the Bancroft Library of the University of California, designating John Hussey and George Ames Native Sons history fellows for the academic year 1936-1937, was unanimously approved. In accordance with the wishes of the committee, Hussey will complete a study of the Bear Flag movement, and Ames will conduct the first exhaustive research of the military history of California.

Plans were inaugurated for the establishment of a statewide speakers bureau to furnish accomplished lecturers on California historical subjects to every patriotic organization interested in presenting such a feature. In line with the policy of the committee to be represented at every function commemorative of early California, George H. Barron was designated the official representative of the committee at the last Pulgas celebration at San Carlos, October 17.

The unprecedented enthusiasm of the present committee prompted Chairman Lynch to call a third meeting for October 30, and he has completed arrangements for the holding of a meeting at the Bancroft Library, on the University of California campus, which houses the priceless theses of the Native Sons history fellows.—J.E.T.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

JACKSON—URSULA PARLOR NO. 1, FROM which developed the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West, celebrated September 22 the fiftieth (golden) anniversary of its organization, and received an official visit from Grand President Florence D. Boyle. Especially honored during the evening's festivities were the remaining charter members of the Parlor: Lilly O. Reichling-Dyer, the Founder of the Order, Rose Genero Carley, Ella Ellington Caminetti, a Past Grand President, Flora D. Podesta, Emma Boarman Wright, Mary E. Fontenrose, Ellen Harrington, Henrietta O'Neill, Flora H. Seymour, Annie Fullen Magee and Mellie Peek. All were in attendance except the latter.

The celebration began with a supper, attended by some 150 persons. The banquetroom and tables were beautifully decorated in a color scheme of gold, and Miss Betty Read delivered an address of welcome. Then followed a meeting of the Parlor, at which several presentations were made, including a picture of Tina L. Kane, the first president of the Parlor and the first Grand President of the Order, which will have a place in the N.D.G.W. Home at San Francisco. On Ursula's behalf, this presentation was made by Supervising Deputy Emma B. Wright to Grand President Boyle.

A public reception, attended by some 300 members of the Order and guests, followed the meeting. Dorothy Sargent introduced Lorraine Cassinelli, president of Ursula, who presided. An orchestra composed of Mrs. John Ratto, Jan van Thiel and Ralph McGee, entertained with instrumental selections, and Leah Peters, accompanied by Frances Schacht, favored with vocal selections. Among the speakers were Mayor Wallace Jones, who extended greetings on behalf of Jackson; Founder Dyer, who reviewed the Parlor's organization; Grand Trustee Henry Lyon of the Native Sons, who commended the Order for its accomplishments; Grand President Boyle, who expressed the opinion that the Order's success is in large measure due to the efforts of the Parlor's charter members; Past Grand Carrie Roesch-Durham, who has attended every Grand Parlor session; Past Grand Caminetti and Supervising Deputy Wright.

President Ellsworth Taylor of Excelsior No. 31 N.S.G.W. (Jackson) presented to Ursula a beautiful California State (Bear) Flag, and Grand President Boyle, on Ursula's behalf, presented to each charter member a cameo brooch set in gold. Others who enjoyed the Mother Parlor's golden anniversary festivities were Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Trustees Alice Lane, Clarice Cook, Claire Lindsey and Ethel Enos, Past Grands Anna Thuesen, Cora Sifford, Ariana Stirling, Bertha Briggs, Mary E. Bell, Esther Sullivan, Dr. Eva R. Rasmussen, Estelle Evans, Anna Armstrong and Gladys E. Noce, and Deputy Elsie Hartwick.

Boyle, the guest of honor, Past Grands Anne Thuesen and Margaret Hill, Grand Vice-president Ethel Begley, Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Outside Sentinel Emily Ryan, Grand Trustee Alice Lane, Supervising Deputy Juliette Bliss, Deputies Maye Bradley and Corina Falleri.

The ritual was exemplified by a picked team from the district Parlors, headed by President Doris Alm as president. Grand President Boyle sang "The End of a Perfect Day" without accompaniment, and Sidonia Gieger of Eshcol No. 16 (Napa) received a gift for the most outstanding work in the evening's ceremonies. A program was presented by the Parlors and refreshments were served.

Pioneers Honored.

Willows—Sailing around the Horn, crossing the prairie, making new homes in California, and then watching the rise of the Golden West have been the experiences of nine Pioneers who were honored September 24 at the annual pioneer dinner sponsored by Berryessa No. 192. The honored ones included Mms. Katherine Sehorn, Milton French, Willis Drew, Henry Glusing of Artois, Jessie Johnson of Lake County, Alice Rice, Emma O. Zumwalt, Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Smith of Marysville. One hundred guests were received by a committee which included President Virginia Brenneman and other officers.

A banquet was served at long L-shaped tables decorated with bowls of autumn flowers. President Brenneman introduced the honor-guests, who responded with short talks. Community singing of pioneer songs was led by Aileene Murphy, accompanied by Evelyn and Laura Cummins. The program included an original poem, "Pioneers," Gertrude Hammond; vocal solo, Aileene Murphy; old-fashioned waltz, Marjorie Hulburt, attired in an heirloom of 1854, blue taffeta dress and quaint little feathered bonnet; steel guitar solos, Frankie Woodbeck; Gypsy dance in costume, Leta Danley, Marjorie Hulburt, Ethel Killebrew, Vivian Hastian, Bertha Richter and Eunice McAvoy, with Aileene Murphy as vocalist. Grace Bunnell had charge of the banquet, and Frances Davis directed the program.

Beware!

Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, in a communication to Subordinate Parlors dated September 30, warns:

"I have been instructed by Grand President Florence D. Boyle to advise you that there are many communistic organizations endeavoring to gain headway under the guise of 'Americanism,' and in order that the Native Daughters of the Golden West may not take part in the furtherance of their work, you are requested not to grant permission to anyone to speak before your Parlor, nor to allow your members to sign pledge cards, unless sanctioned by the Grand President. This request also applies to political talks which are being given under the heading of 'Sales Tax'."

Lend a Hand!

Santa Ana—Santa Ana No. 235 is sponsoring a dinner-dance for the benefit of the homeless children at K. C. Hall, Fourth and French streets, at 6:30 p.m. of November 16. Tickets may be had from any member of the Parlor. Games will be provided, and there will be on sale lovely and practical articles suitable for Christmas gifts. "Come and lend us a hand," urges Recording Secretary Matilda Lemon. "Value received assured all who come."

In preparation for this event, the thimble club of the Parlor has been working untiringly. Meetings have been held at the homes of Chairman Mattie Edwards, President Marguerite Mize, Mms. Henry Walters, W. A. West and Walter E. Hiskey.

AN INEXPENSIVE CHRISTMAS GIFT that will be enjoyed throughout the year is THE GRIZZLY BEAR. Sent anywhere in the United States for $1.50; lower rate for clubs of ten or more. Remember your friends with a year's subscription for 1937.

Tri-County District Meeting.

San Juan Bautista—The annual district meeting of the Parlors of San Benito, Monterey and Santa Cruz Counties, held here the evening of October 10, was a gala occasion. Dinner was served to 102 members of the Order, and Supervising Deputy Blanche Taix officiated as toastmistress. The tables were particularly attractive with long sprays of autumn foliage, seasonal fruits and old-fashioned table adornment. Mounds of bright vegetables and gold nuggets were scattered about and, at each plate, stood a pioneer mother in sunbonnet, full skirt and blouse, extending an apron filled with candies wrapped as nuggets. Songsheet covers were fashioned as maps of California, specially marked points being the locations of the participating Parlors. Community singing of oldtime songs was led by Alice Carr. Many charming pioneer costumes were in evidence, as well as cherished oldtime jewelry. A group of early California Indians added color to the scene, and a covered wagon occupied a place of honor.

At the Adobe, picturesquely lighted and decorated, the program carried out the theme of the evening, "Our Pioneers." The meeting opened with the salute and pledge to The Flag led by Deputy Rose Evelyn Rhyner, after which Deputy Mayme Moran gave a toast to the Pioneers. Grand President Florence D. Boyle spoke on pioneer history, and short talks were given by Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Trustees Claire Lindsey, Pearl Reid and Rose Rhyner, and Past Grands Stella Finkeldey and Bertha Briggs. The presidents of the participating Parlors briefly outlined plans of their respective administrations. Dramatized pioneer stories consisted of "Rose of Silver Gulch," by Santa Cruz No. 26; "Carrying On," an episode of early days in Pajaro Valley, by El Pajaro No. 35 (Watsonville); "Stories of Jack Swan, Pioneer of 1843," by Aleli No. 102 (Salinas); "Early Days in One of the Rural Schools of San Benito County," by Copa de Oro No. 105 (Hollister); "History of the Pico Adobe," now the N.D.G.W. Adobe, by San Juan Bautista No. 179. Relics of the ill-fated Donner Party were on display. Specially Help by Contributing.

Chairman Edna M. Healey of the Grand Parlor Veterans Welware Committee, in a letter to the Subordinate Parlors, says: "Some of us do not know, nor have we stopped to realize, that the Native Sons and Daughters have some 3,500 members of the Orders in the various Federal Hospitals.

"Many of our War Veterans . . . are now hospitalized in the various Veteran Hospitals. To these men and women, we owe a debt of gratitude. Let us in our small way show them that we are still interested in them and willing to do all we can to give them a little happiness and comfort during their suffering. You can do your part in helping by sending your contribution of $1.00 or more to me as soon as possible." Chairman Healey reports the following contributions:

Laura J. Frakes-Toman, former Grand Secretary, recently met with a serious accident, but she is slowly recovering and will soon return to her home. She has requested The Grizzly Bear to publish the following:

"To those Native Sons and Native Daughters who so kindly remembered me during my recent illness by cards, gifts, flowers and car rides I'll say this little thank you. It takes only half a minute, but true appreciation is warmly tucked within it!"

Sacramento County District Meeting.

Sacramento—A district meeting of the nine Sacramento County Parlors was held October 17 in Native Sons Hall under the leadership of Supervising Deputy Lily Mae Tilden. Grand President Florence D. Boyle, a special guest, was honored at a luncheon preceding the meeting.

The ritual was exemplified by the deputies and presidents of the several Parlors, as follows: Melba Giorgi, Maude Cook, Emma Ballew, Thelma Barton, Gertrude Keehner, Delphine Smith, Muriel Blodgett, Lucymarie Goodman, Audrey Watts, Bernice Parrott, Ruth Assalena, Elda Santinelli and Alice Hyland. Under the chairmanship of May E. Lucas refreshments were served at the meeting's conclusion at tables decorated in autumn shades.

Most Efficient Bridge Builders.

Santa Barbara—The N.D.G.W. golden jubilee was fittingly celebrated by Reina del Mar No. 26, Mrs. John D. Ross president, when members and friends were guests for the day of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Scott Franklin at their Walora Rancho, the country house of which occupies a hilltop back of Goleta, surrounded by an estate which once was part of an old Spanish grant. A telegram of congratulation was sent Lilly O. Reichling-Dyer, Founder of the Order and member of Ursula No. 1 (Jackson).

An interesting program was offered. Paul Sweetser of Santa Barbara No. 116 N.S.G.W. and president of the County Historical Society, complimented the Parlor on its wide range of participation in county and city life. W. G. Ferron of the Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce pronounced the Daughters most efficient bridge-builders between the historic past and the somewhat complicated present. He illustrated the past with the historic rancho on which they were gathered, and the present by calling attention to airplanes zooming away from the Santa Barbara air terminal at Goleta.

Reina del Mar rededicated its membership to support of homeless children placement, the marking of historic spots in Santa Barbara County, the preservation of landmarks, and to its purely local milk fund endeavor. Its close affiliance with other community forces was shown by the participation of Cecil Dunn, head of the County Council of Social Agencies and Santa Barbara Community Chest; Mrs. Muriel Edwards, superintendent Santa Barbara County schools, and Mrs. S. B. Taggart of the City Board of Education. The Grand Parlor was represented by Grand Trustee Hazel Hansen, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg and Supervising Deputy Amelia Acres.

Presentation of a hand-lettered certificate of life membership to Mrs. Henry S. Myers, who served as president of the Parlor in 1904-05, was witnessed by her daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. H. J. Sartwell and Miss Estelle Myers. The other life members of Reina del Mar are Dr. Anna E. McCaughey, long active in Native Daughter affairs in many capacities, and Mrs. Nell Kinevan-Ream, who instituted the Parlor. —J.F.D.

Busy Year Ahead.

Oakland—Argonaut No. 166 feted its twenty-seventh anniversary at a banquet October 6. Four charter members attended. Chairman Ada Spilman prepared financial statements and notations of outstanding events for the terms of the past presidents in attendance, who were called on in the order of their seniority. A great deal of fun prevailed over the accounts of social expenditures and financial gains of each term and some of the past presidents were put "on the spot."

A mammoth turkey whist party is being planned by the Parlor for November 17. Mamie Ramos has been appointed chairman of the affair by President Josephine Lauricella. The joint drill team of Argonaut and Albany No. 260 is hard at work again under the tutelage of Major Andrew Chessie. Nineteen members are now enrolled, and more are on the waiting list to join after the first of the year. The team will represent the Parlors at the Admission Day celebration in Santa Monica next year. The girls are determined to break into the championship class in 1937. A drive for new uniforms will be started shortly, and it looks like a busy year ahead.

Typical Pioneer Mother.

San Diego—San Diego No. 208 had a farewell party October 22 for Marie James, who will make her home in Alhambra. In appreciation of her untiring efforts, the Parlor presented a gift to her. A series of card parties will be held at the homes of members, the proceeds to be used to clothe a San Diego high school student. Fern Cummins is chairman.

The Pioneer Society had an open meeting for members of the Parlor October 22. The 80-year-old president of the society, Mrs. Ella Farley-Harritt, has presided the past fourteen years, and is also a director of the Historical Society. Perhaps no other San Diegan has a more intimate knowledge of the development of San Diego City and County than has this typical Pioneer Mother. Born at Nauvoo, Illinois, she came to California via Panama in 1865, and her childhood was spent in Cuyamaca Mountain. She was postmistress of Julian for a number of years, and set type on the Julian Sentinel.

Mrs. Harritt is a poet and writer. Her reminiscences, embodied in many historical articles and personal notes appended to newspaper and magazine clippings, constitute a very valuable addition to the history of San Diego. All who know her recognize in her the embodiment of that sturdy courage and fine living which characterized the Western Pioneer Mother.—S.M.

Grass Valley—Manzanita No. 29 entertained the Pioneers of this locality. Among the guests were six whose combined ages total 512 years. Mrs. Mary Griffith Whiting, Mrs. Mary Blundel Snyder, Mrs. Marie Davey, John Mott, Mrs. Nettie Boston Washburn and Past Grand Alison F. Watt.

Sonora—Grand President Florence D. Boyle officially visited Dardanelle No. 66, Golden Era No. 99 (Columbia) and Anona No. 164 (Jamestown) in joint session here September 18. Three candidates were initiated for Golden Era, and on behalf of the hostess Parlors Hannah Doyle presented to the Grand President a nugget of Tuolumne County gold. Other guests were Past Grand Gladys Noce, Grand Trustee Ethel Enos, Supervising Deputy Myrtle Stiff and Deputy Denise Bechis.

Ferndale—At the October 9 meeting Oneonta No. 71 made plans for its annual benefit whist party November 13. A short Columbus Day program was followed by games and a tasty ravioli supper. The Parlor's sewing club had its first meeting after the summer vacation at the home of President Myra Rumrill. Needlework, including work on layettes, occupied all, and the jolly group proved they could talk and at the same time tie a quilt in record time. Dainty refreshments were served at a table prettily decorated with autumn flowers and Hallowe'en novelties.

Sacramento—Sutter No. 111 entertained October 6 in honor of two recent brides—Ethel Riley-Martin and Mary Way-Tullis. Emma Ballew presided, and vocal selections were rendered by Lily Heinrich and Ida Merwin, accompanied by Lorna Beskeen. Co-chairmen Audrey Brown and Clara Burns were assisted in serving by Eva Hall, Belle Brye and Elsie Beskeen.

Etna—Eschscholtzia No. 112 and Mountain Dawn No. 120 (Sawyers Bar) had a joint special meeting October 3 to welcome Grand President

In Memoriam

GERTRUDE JOUGHIN TUTTLE.

To the Officers and Members of California Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W.—In words which are far from expressing our deep grief in the tragedy which has swept over our Parlor and in an instant snatched away our beloved Past President and valued member, Gertrude Joughin Tuttle in the prime of her lovely life, your committee appointed to frame resolutions of sorrow and respect respectfully submits the following:

Whereas, The Supreme Master has seen fit to remove from our midst a precious member who stood for so much in our lives, hearts and organization, and whose passing thus we shall not understand until that reunion for which we all hope, we must accept the cross heavenly and follow on as best we may, therefore, be it

Resolved, That having paid our last tribute of love to our dear member by our tears, flowers and attendance at the last solemn rites, we now express our deep sympathy to the bereaved husband, son and brother, and to our sorrowing beloved members, aunts of our departed Gertrude, and pray God to bear them up in their affliction; that to them be sent a copy of this resolution, which will be penned upon our minutes, and a copy be sent The Grizzly Bear for publication.

PAL O' MINE

Pal o' mine, so sweet, so dear
The skies do gray, the day is drear.
Now you are gone
Pal o' mine my heart is sad
With memories dear. But I am glad
You were my pal.
Pal o' mine, I cannot say
That you are gone. You're just away.
Your labor done
Pal o' mine at rest, sweet dreams
Your smile I see 'cross Jordan's streams
Dear pal o' mine"

Respectfully submitted,

OLIVE LOPEZ
Committee

HATTIE BAILEY

To the Officers and Members of Oakdale Parlor No. 125 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect, submit the following:

Whereas, The golden chain of our fraternity has again been severed and our beloved Sister Hattie Bailey has answered the call of our Heavenly Father to her Eternal Home, where pain and sorrow cease. We who knew her in life shall never forget her gentle, kind heart and her willingness to serve others. And whereas, by her passing her family have been deprived of a devoted wife and mother and our Parlor a loyal member and past president, therefore be it

Resolved, That Oakdale Parlor extend its sincere sympathy to the bereaved husband and daughter, that these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the Parlor, a copy be sent to the family of the deceased sister, and one to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

Respectfully submitted

CANADA GOOSE PAYS VISIT TO YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK.

Black and white is a color scheme that seems strikingly conspicuous on the boulevards, but when worn by a Canada goose, or honker, in nature's hinterlands, it becomes a camouflage so perfect as to render the wearer well-nigh invisible.

Such was the case when a great bird of this species alighted recently on the shores of Mirror Lake, in Yosemite National Park, California. The sandy beach, glistening in the bright sunlight, and the surface of the water, darkling like polished jet, made a background into which the gray body of the goose, her black legs and black and white head melted indistinguishably. According to the staff of Yosemite Museum, this is the first time on record that a Canada goose has been seen in the Yosemite Valley.

SAN BERNARDINO

CITY AND COUNTY — THE GATE WAY TO GOLDEN CALIFORNIA

SAN BERNARDINO—SOME THREE HUNdred Native Sons from the southland Parlors were guests of Arrowhead No. 110 at its Crestline clubhouse in the San Bernardino Mountains October 3. The occasion was the group initiation under the auspices of the District Deputy Grand Presidents Association of District No. 1. Prior to the meeting, a delicious steak supper was served.

Thirty-one candidates—the "Grand Trustee Donald E. VanLuven Class"—were presented for initiation—twenty-four for the host-Parlor, Arrowhead, three for Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263, two for Compton Parlor No. 273 and one each for Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 and Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267. The ritual was impressively exemplified by:

This was also the occasion of Grand First Vice-president Meyer's official visit to Arrowhead. He commended the Parlor for its outstanding accomplishments, and particularly stressed its steady growth in membership. Grand President Russell referred to the "isms" threatening the Nation and, during the evening, presented to Harry Fairall a past president emblem on behalf of Stephen M. White Parlor.

Past Grand President Koenig spoke of the homeless children work, and said larger contributions are needed. Grand Secretary Regan, who hurried back from Texas to participate in the initiation, also lauded Arrowhead. Junior Past Grand President Skillin, in a most inspiring address, urged the putting forth of greater effort, that the Order may attain its rightful "place in the sun."

Grand Trustee VanLuven, responding for his home-Parlor, Arrowhead, thanked the grand officers and other guests for the encouragement given No. 110 by their words of praise and, also, by their attendance. Among others present were Past Grand President John T. Newell, Deputies Harry T. Honn, John P. Paralieu, Walter E. Hiskey, Clarence M. Hunt, Walter H. Odemar and Ben Harrison, and Edward J. Wren (National Parlor No. 118) of the Grand Parlor Homeless Children Committee.

SILVER TEA IN LOG CABIN.

San Bernardino—Twelve members whose birthdays are in October were guests of Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. October 14. A community sing was directed by Marion Ricks, and a committee headed by Ruth Roberds presented a program and served refreshments. The sewing club had a largely attended all-day session at the home of Cleo Jones and worked on articles for the annual Christmas bazar. October 24, the Parlor entertained a large crowd at a Hallowe'en dance. The decorations were of pumpkins, straw scarecrows and other appropriate novelties. President Thelma Nett was chairman.

Lugonia initiated a large class of candidates October 28. Following the ceremonies a program was presented and refreshments were served. Chairman Clara Barton of the Parlor's history and landmarks committee has completed plans for a silver tea to be held November 7 in the Pioneer Log Cabin.

PIONEER'S LAST RESTINGPLACE IN "GOD'S ACRE" PLAQUED BY N.D.G.W.

Etna (Siskiyou County) Under the auspices of Eschscholtzia Parlor No. 112 N.D.G.W., a plaque marking the grave of Pioneer John Daggett was dedicated Sunday, October 4. Margaret Weston presided, and Grand President Florence D. Boyle paid tribute to the California Pioneers. Dr. E. W. Bathurst was the principal speaker.

"We are gathered together this bright afternoon in 'God's Acre,' a Masonic Cemetery," he said, "to install a plaque in honor of one of our former citizens, John Daggett. He was born in Newark, New Jersey, May 9, 1833, and came to California via Panama in 1852. Coming to the Salmon River country in 1854 he, with others, acquired the Black Bear mine which, prior to 1880, yielded in excess of $3,000,000 in gold.

"He was honored by California in being elected Lieutenant-Governor, serving from 1883 to 1887, and filling the office with honor and ability. He died August 30, 1919, and was buried by the local Masonic Lodge which he had joined in the early days of Masonry in Scott Valley. At the time of his death he was a member of California Lodge No. 1.

"We cherish his memory not only for his warm friendship and sturdy manhood, but as one of those outstanding men who carved names for themselves in these secluded mountains, at that time nearly inaccessible. We feel that this community is honored by the action of the Native Daughters—a society not only devoted to fraternalism but to preserving a fitting record of bygone days, pioneers and notable events—in initiating this ceremony. So, to Eschscholtzia Parlor No. 112 we who are not of this sisterhood pay deference for the worthy effort that today marks the placing of a plaque upon the last restingplace of Pioneer John Daggett."

The plaque was unveiled by Mrs. Leslie Hyde, a daughter of Pioneer Daggett, who said: "The chief thought which comes to me is, 'How pleased my father would be at the distinction accorded him here today.' Probably the best remembered traits of his character were loyalty to his home community—always foremost in work for its advancement—and genial friendship for his neighbors. Though many times his home and interests were in other parts of the state, he always returned to this northern section. So it and its people must have held first place in his heart. And it seemed most fitting that here should be his final restingplace. I know that my father's memory is assured in the hearts of the generation who knew him, and because of this memorial stone, his name will be better known to the generations following."

The plaque, which depicts a covered wagon drawn by oxen and gives the highlights of Pioneer Daggett's career, was the gift of Sadie Winn-Brainard of Sutter Parlor No. 111 N.D.G.W., Sacramento.

"We are faced with a grave situation in respect to the Mexican wave that is spreading fanlike over the country," said Major Jose Perez Brown, addressing the Commonwealth Club of California at San Francisco. "Unless this wave is checked, and Mexico placed under a quota comparable to that granted to European nations, our children will be presented with an unemployment problem of overshadowing proportions."

Not only should the influx of Mexis be stopped, but a vast number of them now here should be returned to their homeland, for they have no legal right to be here and are a constant drain on the public purse.

"Soon the bugles will blow summoning the flower of American youth, in the name of patriotism, to defend in 1937 or 1938 the same international bankers whom we sustained in 1917 and 1918," says Father Charles E. Coughlin. World conditions prompt concurrence in this prediction.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

NATIVE DAUGHTERS, AND ALSO NATIVE Sons, of Los Angeles were shocked and genuinely grieved on receipt of news of the sudden and untimely passing of an outstanding and generally admired daughter of California, Mrs. Gertrude Joughin-Tuttle, wife of Ralph L. Tuttle and mother of John J. Tuttle. Born in Los Angeles County at the old Joughin homestead on Rancho La Cienega forty-three years ago, she was a granddaughter of Andrew Joughin, who came around the Horn to California in 1859 and after a year spent in Sacramento settled in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Tuttle was in Trinity County with her husband, who is operating a mine there. October 12 she was driving a large sedan along a mountain road when, near Dedrick, the car failed to make a turn, plunged 150 feet down the bank into Canyon Creek, and she was instantly killed.

Mrs. Tuttle was a charter member and past president of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W., and had represented that Parlor in the Grand Parlor. An indefatigible worker in Californiana, she did not, however, confine her activities to that Parlor alone, but was a liberal supporter of all projects emanating from within the ranks of the Native Sons and Native Daughters. The wealth of gorgeous flowers and the large attendance of Natives at her funeral ceremonies testified to her popularity. Another friend—a splendid woman—has departed to join the silent majority.—C.M.H.

MRS. GERTRUDE JOUGHIN TUTTLE

COMING EVENTS THAT SHOULD APPEAL.

The history and landmark committee of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W., Marie T. Walsh chairman, will sponsor a pilgrimage to Camulos Rancho November 15. This old Spanish rancho, once the home of the Del Valles, was made famous by the novel "Ramona," written by Helen Hunt Jackson. It is in its original state, with chapel, relics, etc., intact. August A. Rubel, owner of Camulos, has invited the Parlor to lunch under the walnut tree, one of the largest in the state, and the committee plans a short program during the afternoon.

The second event of the month sponsored by the committee will be a viewing of the play, "The Shield of the Palomares," put on by the Mexican Players of Padua Hills, November 20. This play, written by Miss Walsh, deals with the early days of California and particularly with the Palomares and Vejar families, whose many descendants reside around Pomona and in other parts of California. Many of them belong to Parlors of the Native Sons and Daughters.

November 4, Los Angeles will have a showing of colored pictures of "Forgotten Empires" of North, South and Central America. November 18, with President Edna Trombatore presiding, the Parlor will have as guests the members of Californiana, Grace and Long Beach Parlors. Leonie Clos will have charge of entertainment for the evening, and Kate Williams and Jean Fraser will prepare the refreshments.

TESTIMONIAL DINNER.

The Los Angeles Native Sons and Native Daughters Joint Homeless Children Committee is sponsoring a testimonial dinner in honor of Irving Baxter at the Women's Athletic Club, 833 South Flower, at 7 p.m. of Friday, November 6. Charge, $1.38 per plate. Checks for reservations should be mailed to Miss Flora Holy, 3824 Sunset boulevard.

Miss Grace S. Norton, chairman of the arrangements committee, urges a large attendance of members of both Orders, as Baxter faithfully served the committee, and the homeless children, for twenty-one years.

CAMPAIGNING AGAINST FIRES.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. has,

SANTA MONICA

"WHERE THE MOUNTAINS MEET THE SEA"

SANTA MONICA—SANTA MONICA BAY Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. celebrated its tenth institution anniversary October 21. In attendance were representatives of various Parlors, including large delegations from Santa Barbara No. 116 and Stephen M. White No. 263. Beginning the evening's festivities, a tasty supper was served at tables beautified by an elaborately decorated birthday cake and quantities of seasonal flowers.

At the meeting which followed the feast, President Charles DuVall named the following past presidents of the Parlor to assume the several stations: Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz (president), Howard Blanchard (first vice), Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer (marshal), Dr. Robert C. Eshelman, Dewey Houghton, District Deputy Harry T. Honn, Dike C. Freeman and Harry Dailey. To the amusement of all, the BMH triumvirate harvested several simoleans for the Parlor's social fund.

Sheriff Biscailuz and Grand First Vice-president Meyer gave interesting accounts of the dedications at Nevada City, and other speakers were Past Grand John T. Newell, Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, Bernard G. Hiss, Edgar M. Carroll, Secretary "Jump-up" Smith, President George LaRue of Glendale, District Deputy John Paralieu, and President F. V. Vestal, Secretary Harry C. Sweetser and District Deputy A. C. Dinsmore of Santa Barbara. As the concluding feature of a gala occasion, an excellent program was presented, including the showing, by Manley Danforth, of his movies of the Oakland Admission Day parade. Jack Keogh was chairman of the committee of arrangements for the evening.

November 20, Santa Monica Bay will have its annual dinner-dance, informal, at the Deauville Club. Tickets $1.50 each. The annual lobster "feed" is billed for December 2, and at that time the Parlor will be host for the third group initiation of the southern district Parlors. The grand officers will exemplify the ritual, and the candidates will be designated the Hartley Russell class, in honor of the Grand President. No. 267 has a new membership committee, headed by Harry Dailey, that hopes to round up at least twenty-five eligibles for Santa Monica Bay.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY.

Ocean Park—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. had an old-fashioned Hallowe'en party October 19. Both grownups and children joined in the various "stunts," and the party was a great success. President Virginia Mecham and Mrs. D. L. Benbrooks had charge of the decorations and the refreshments.

through its landmarks committee, William O. Gilkey chairman, inaugurated a campaign to lessen forest fires. A drill team, to appear in next year's Admission Day celebration at Santa Monica, is being organized by Michael Botello. A ritual team that will visit all neighboring Parlors is being organized by Ray Lemoine.

GARDEN QUILTING BEE.

Long Beach—A quilting bee, with Mary Stultz as hostess, was held by the thimble club of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. in Alice Waldow's garden. October 10 Parlor members, attired as forty-niners, were on the Rudecinda Parlor float in the "Land and Water Fiesta" parade at San Pedro. The card party of October 15 was a success, both socially and financially. Eugenia Smith, the chairman, was assisted by Daisy Hansen, Margaret Burch, Alice Waldow and Johanna Reed. The thimble club met October 7 with Chairman Daisy Hansen, and with Johanna Reed October 24. Many useful articles were completed at these meetings.

The November 5 meeting of the Parlor will be held jointly with Grace Parlor at Placentia. President Leola Temby will head the delegation from Long Beach.

N.S. OFFICIAL TO VISIT.

During November, Eldred L. Meyer, Grand First Vice-president N.S.G.W., will officially visit the following Subordinate Parlors:

17th—Glendale No. 264.
19th—Los Angeles No. 45.
23rd—Hollywood No. 196.

BISHOP ADDRESSES NATIVES.

Right Rev. Robert B. Gooden, Suffragan Bishop of the Diocese of Los Angeles, was the guest speaker at the N.S.G.W. Friday Luncheon Club October 2. He was introduced by Bernard G. Hiss.

The Club meets every Friday at 12:15 noon at the Rosslyn Hotel, room 1126, and the attendance, as well as the interest, is increasing.

200 OLDTIMERS SERVED.

Compton—At the meeting October 13, Compton Parlor No. 258 N.D.G.W. featured a display of cleverly dressed dolls. Following the annual reunion of Compton oldtimers October 16, members of the Parlor served refreshments; close to 200 were in attendance. A card party October

SAN PEDRO—SAN PEDRO'S NEW $476,000 Federal Building, housing the post-office, the customs offices and other governmental agencies, was dedicated October 17. United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags were presented by Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W. and Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W. Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg of the Native Daughters made the presentation address, which was responded to by Postmaster Leon Dwight.

The barbecue and outing sponsored by Stephen M. White at the Lone Pine Inn September 27 attracted a large crowd, and the occasion was thoroughly enjoyed. The committee in charge included Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, Captain Charles Colby, Jack Melle, Henry Feisel, Harry Fairall, "Bill" Reuter, District Deputy John Paralieu and President B. J Lassere.

"ADVANCE" NIGHT.

San Pedro—Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W. took an active part in the Cabrillo Day activities. Along with Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W., it had in the parade of October 10 a float depicting "Marshall's Discovery of Gold." Following the parade open house was held at the home of Margaret Kreider, and Natives from Santa Monica and Long Beach, as well as local ones, had a delightful time.

The Florencita Thimble Club of Rudecinda met October 13 at the home of Juanita Brooks, and October 27 at the home of Lucy Ascolesci. "Advance" night was featured by the Parlor October 22, when Deputy Frances Reynolds was a guest.

27 was in charge of Chairman Lottie Phelps of the veterans welfare committee.

At Las Companas Hospital October 7, a native daughter, Nancy Carrol, was born to Mrs. John (Jessie) Wilson, a trustee of the Parlor.

INFORMATIVE ADDRESSES.

The "CCC" night—a get-together occasion—featured by Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. October 19 drew a good crowd, including several visitors. John J. Ford was chairman of the evening.

Congressman John M. Costello and State Assemblyman Thomas J. Cunningham, in the course of interesting and informative addresses, told of the inner workings of the national and the state lawmaking bodies. Other speakers were John M. Concannon of the city attorney's office and Henry G. Bodkin. Around the festive board there was a general discussion of public affairs.

TRAGEDY CANCELS ACTIVITIES.

The tragic death of Gertrude Joughin-Tuttle having cast a pall of gloom over the members of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W., the entire announced program for October was canceled. Lillian Goldsmith's lecture will be given later, and what was to have been an autumn party has been postponed until early spring.

November 2 the dessert sewing circle will gather at the home of Mrs. Hattie Furman Stamps, and President Lena Burrows will entertain at her usual waffle breakfast for officers and committee chairmen of the Parlor November 3. The bazar for the homeless children will be held early in December.

"PEP RALLY."

The Interparlor N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Committee had a "pep" rally at which Gertrude Allen presided October 16. Bernard G. Hiss presented reasons why, in his opinion, Proposition No. 4 on the November ballot should be defeated.

Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer told of the wonderful Admission Day celebration

DEATH VALLEY MOUNTAIN SHEEP BEING STUDIED AT CLOSE RANGE.

Intermittent rains in the mountains back of the Cow Creek area in Death Valley National Monument, California, have served to supply water to the mountain sheep. The rain water collects in natural tanks and until this water supply goes dry the sheep visit these isolated reservoirs instead of the Nevares Springs in the more traveled sections of the monument.

Observations of this rare species at close range are now being made by naturalists and photographers of the National Park Service by means of blinds constructed in the vicinity of the springs.

Columbia, Tuolumne County's historic and picturesque little town, may soon be taken over by the California Park Commission as a state park area.

California waters were stocked with more than 43,000,000 fish last year, according to the State Natural Resources Department.

California's orange crop is estimated at 75 percent normal, compared with 80 percent over a ten-year period.

SAN FRANCISCO

THE FORMAL OPENING OF THE SAN Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, greatest in the world, at 10 a.m. of November 12, will signalize a history-making event in the annals of the San Francisco Bay region. A full schedule of jubilant celebration has been arranged by San Francisco and Oakland, co-ordinating all of the resources of the bay district.

Oakland will celebrate the day previous to the bridge's formal opening, Armistice Day, November 11. Starting with a morning parade, the program there will conclude with a great ball in the Civic Auditorium at night.

San Francisco will celebrate the following three days, and a citizens committee has arranged a program replete with outstanding features. Every effort is being made to make the celebration here a never-to-be-forgotten experience in the lives of the thousands that will be in attendance.

November 12, the day of the bridge's formal opening, a series of maritime events will be staged. At night, on the bay, there will be a pyrotechnic display that will far surpass anything previously attempted.

November 13, an afternoon parade-pageant depicting the past, the present and the future of the San Francisco metropolitan area will move from the Ferry Building to the Civic Center. More than half the counties of California will be represented by floats in a section of this parade.

November 14, a pageant of light depicting the bridges of the world will move up Market street. Each float will be representative of one of the world's historic or romantic bridges, and on these floats will be singers and dancers representing the nations in which the bridges are located.

Twelve battleships, fifteen light and heavy cruisers, three giant airplane carriers and other navy craft will take part in the celebration. Each night during the fiesta an artificial rainbow will span the great bridge.

San Francisco will be radiant by day and by night in decorations of rainbow hue, official color motif of the occasion. The rainbow is a symbol of faith in the future, and "The City That Knows How" will celebrate the formal opening of the world's largest bridge with the same exuberance that has characterized it since the days of '49.

In commemoration of the opening of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, the United States Mint at San Francisco has coined a half-dollar piece, limited in quantity. Designed by Jacques Schnier, the coin shows on the obverse the California grizzly bear facing forward, and on the reverse the great bridge stretching across San Francisco Bay.

CHARITY BALL NOVEMBER 28 FOR BENEFIT HOMELESS CHILDREN.

A large committee representing all the San Francisco Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters is working energetically for the annual benefit for the homeless children—a charity ball to be held November 28 in the Civic Auditorium. An outstanding orchestra has been engaged, and exceptional entertainment features will be introduced. Early in the evening there will be contests for championship honors between the drill teams and the drum corps of the various Parlors.

According to Grand President Hartley Russell of the Native Sons, the Homeless Children Agency maintained by the Native Sons and Daughters is the only agency of its kind in the United States sponsored by a fraternal or patriotic organization. It is operated largely from donations by members of the Orders, and the public's patronage of such affairs as the November 28 charity ball.

AN INEXPENSIVE CHRISTMAS GIFT that will be enjoyed throughout the year is THE GRIZZLY BEAR. Sent anywhere in the United States for $1.50; lower rate for clubs of ten or more. Remember your friends with a year's subscription for 1937.

CLARENCE M. HUNT.

CONTENDING THAT AMERICA'S ECOnomic and social problems can be solved by following the Word of God, the National Preaching Mission has been holding largely attended sessions in the cities of California. Speaking in Los Angeles, Dr. Jesse M. Bader, director of the Mission, said:

"We in America are greatly concerned about bread to feed the hungry. We should be. Jesus was concerned about the hungry. But Jesus said that man cannot live upon bread alone. Bread in this sense was used as a symbol of the material things of the world. We need the bread to be found in the Book of Books. . . . What is needed more than anything else in the country today is a spiritual revival in America."

"Several months ago," said Dr. Bader in the course of a second address, "a group of financiers were gathered to discuss their nation's problems and the probable solutions. A banker from Atlanta was presiding. The time came for adjournment late in the afternoon. A man of the group arose and said: 'Mr. Chairman, we value your judgment very highly and during this day's deliberations you have not spoken. Will you please tell us what you think?' The Atlanta banker got out his Bible and turning to Second Chronicles, the seventh chapter and the fourteenth verse, read these words:

" 'If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.' The banker closed his Bible and said: 'Gentlemen, in my judgment this word from the Book of Books if put into practice would go further toward the solution of our present problems than anything else any of us can say here today.' The banker was right!"

Dr. Harold Leonard Bowman, another speaker, said: "Show me a man who dares to live according to the precepts of Jesus and I will show you a man whose courage excels that of any cruel conqueror that ever marched to victory.

"If you think that being a Christian means merely psalm-singing and prayer-mumbling, you have another think coming and possible martyrdom. True Christian life is one of adventure, work and sacrifice, yet a life of glory and deep joy. There is no hazard in living the kind of Christian life that most of us live. If we want to follow the humble Nazarene we must pay the price of devotion. To be genuinely honest, true and clean-minded, and to manifest love to all one's fellowbeings, calls for all the courage, strength and genius one possesses, and it means that the disciple may meet with pain, misunderstanding, and possible martyrdom. 'Safety first' is a good motto for the body, but not for the soul!"

Lecturing on "Military Policy and National Security," Dr. David Prescott Barrows, professor of political science at the University of California, warned that "When the 'next war' breaks, it almost surely will come as a sudden, unanticipated attack by some aggressor nation with the idea of annihilating all defense by the very suddenness and power of the blow." So, the policy of the United States should be such complete preparedness that security at home will at all times be assured.

Addressing the Commonwealth Club of California, San Francisco, Dr. Walter Hacker said: "Japan has been clever enough to take advantage of and to profit by disharmony and short-sighted jealousies among other powers. . . . It has been said that the 'Leitmotiv' of Japanese expansion is 'Asia for the Asiatics.' But Japan is not pursuing a policy of liberating peoples; Japan is not planning racial or religious crusades, but is building an empire.

"The center of gravity of the Japanese empire will not and can not lie on the Asiatic continent, but on the islands and coasts of the Pacific. . . . When its purposes with respect to Russia are attained, Japan will proceed to its principal business, a further penetration of the Pacific region proper."

"Education, in its broadest application of the term, extends throughout a lifetime. The costs must be drastically reduced, and the people will reduce them if the governing authorities fail to do so.

On complaint of the California Joint Immigration Committee, the State Board of Education has agreed to investigate "Pacific Relations," a book containing pro-Jap propaganda that has been listed as a text book for use in the public schools. The Committee wants the Board to prohibit the use of the book in California schools and to ban its listing as a text book.

According to Secretary V. S. McClatchy of the Committee, "Pacific Relations," by W. G. Hoffman, was "written by an attache of the Japanese consulate at Los Angeles for direction of public school teachers in that city in charge of courses on Japanese culture." This would indicate that the Japanese consulates, also, are promoting the "peaceful invasion of California" by Japan!

RIM OF CHRISTENDOM

Dr. Owen C. Coy

THAT PROLIFIC SCHOLAR, PROFESsor Herbert Eugene Bolton, has here produced one more of his masterpieces in the field of the American Southwest. For many years Dr. Bolton has pursued this theme of research which he chooses to call "an adventure both in foreign archives and on the trail." As in the case of his studies on Juan Bautista de Anza, who was in many ways a successor to the ideas of Eusebio Francisco Kino, Dr. Bolton has searched widely and brought together an astounding collection of documents portraying the life and activities of this interesting Jesuit missionary, who was practically unknown a generation ago.

Explorations in the various archives of Mexico some thirty years ago led Dr. Bolton to the re-discovery of the manuscript copy of Father Kino's autobiography entitled "Favores Celestiales." Early Jesuit writers seem to have known of its existence, but the manuscript had been lost for a hundred and fifty years, and all but forgotten. Meanwhile Father Kino was known merely as one of the missionaries on the northwestern frontier of New Spain.

Dr. Bolton at once realized the value of Father Kino's contribution, and in 1919 translated and published this autobiography. Since then interest in Father Kino has increased rapidly, other scholars and collectors joining Dr. Bolton in gathering facts and documents dealing with the work of Father Kino, until now these documents constitute, according to the author, "the completest revelation of the daily career of a missionary pioneer in America ever made available." Dr. Bolton has not been content with a leisurely perusal of the documents within a quiet study, but with manuscripts and maps has sought out and followed the identical trails used by Father Kino over two centuries ago.

Thus the author brings a rich background to this remarkable biography of a remarkable man, "the first missionary, ranchman, explorer and geographer of the Pimería Alta." The nearly six hundred pages of text are conventionally divided into thirty chapters, which are themselves subdivided into more than a hundred and fifty sections with highly provocative titles such as "Bags and Boxes," "A He-Mule for the Padre," "Two Ounces of Pearls," "Geography Gets Another Jolt," and the like. The style of writing is, as usual, easy and readable in the extreme, and will appeal to those who read for pleasure as well as those who are required to do "assigned" readings. While not overburdened with footnotes, essential ones have not been omitted, a feature that will appeal to the scholar. The latter type of reader will also delight in the exhaustive bibliography of more than thirty pages, many items of which are still in manuscript form.

Since Father Kino came to the New World not only as a missionary but also as a scholar in the field of mathematical geography, we are not surprised to find among his documents numerous maps. Five of Father Kino's maps dating from 1683 to 1701, as well as two modern maps compiled by the author, illumine the text. In addition, there is reproduced a map of 1760 showing the Jesuit missions in New Spain. These maps, old and new, help greatly in clarifying the many journeys and explorations of this tireless Pioneer.

The book is well printed, and has an excellent index. The author and the publishers are to be complimented upon the publication of this valuable and entertaining volume.

Rim of Christendom: A Biography of Eusebio Francisco Kino, Pacific Coast Pioneer. By Herbert Eugene Bolton, Sather Professor of History and Director of the Bancroft Library, University of California. The Macmillan Company, publishers, New York. Price, $5.00.

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

GLORIFY ALL YOUR GIFTS THIS Christmas! Dress them up, make them alluring. Put your own personality into them whether they are simple, home-made things or gifts purchased in the smartest shop in town. You can make them ever so much more attractive and exciting at a very small cost. A plum pudding or a jar of preserves can be dressed up just as glamorously as the most expensive gift that money can buy.

Capture the spirit of Christmas early, by going on a gift-wrapping spree. Wrap every gift gaily. Let your fancy run riot, and go in for stunning contrasts, exotic diagonals and sophisticated streamlining. You'll be amazed how easy it is to make the simplest gift look like it might be a priceless one. Then don't hide the gifts away on top shelves, but put them where all can see, and wish and wonder. Later you'll place them in a glorious array underneath the boughs of the Christmas tree, to be beamed over and guessed at until package-opening time finally arrives.

Here's a hint or two on smart styling, fascinating color combinations and the correct use of gift dressings. Generally speaking, it is best to use plain ribbons with figured papers, and decorated ribbons with plain colored papers. This does not always hold true. For instance, a plain red cellophane ribbon is particularly stunning against a plain lustrous white paper. Black is effective, and very sophisticated on a bright red paper. A paper decorated with a shower of bright red-and-blue confetti dots or an all-over star pattern should be tied with a plain ribbon to avoid confusing and disturbing effect.

Strive for contrasting, but harmonious, color combinations. Seals and tags are used to complete the ensemble. A star or two or a flaming poinsettia may be just the thing to give your package that finished, "well-dressed" look. It isn't the gift, but the thoughtfulness and spirit that prompts the giving. The personality and individuality expressed in its presentation brings joy to the heart of the giver and recipient alike. "Made-by-hand" is the password to present-day smartness. Not only the hand-knitted or hand-crocheted garment, but the handmade gift of whatever character, is due to enjoy popularity this holiday season.

I watched the roses bloom again this year
And searched for records of another hour.
I found a white rose but a thorn was near,
A sense of darkness came—the rose had power.
The truth returned, I found my secret lay
Within my heart, and ever would arise
When roses bloom, and quite confuse the day,
As whirling dust can sift into the eyes.
The days are very much like yesterdays
But now I know that we have traveled far.
The white rose brings a dream that time betrays
Because, dear one, you linger where you are.
And every petal falling on the ground
Speaks of the happiness we might have found.

If you have a flair for designing, or merely an active imagination, you will get a real thrill out of making scatter rugs with antique rug yarn. You can, if you like, make up your own designs, using your own color combinations, or consult a reference chart.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

TO THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF Subordinate Parlors Native Daughters of the Golden West—Dear Sisters: As Christmas approaches, every heart should be overflowing with happiness, and with a desire to make others happy. Remember, there is "No palace too great, no cottage too small" to be filled with the real Christmas Spirit.

"In the little village of Bethlehem
There lay a child one day,
And the sky was bright with a holy light,
O'er the place where Jesus lay:
Alleluia! O how the angels sang,
Alleluia! how it rang,
And the sky was bright with a holy light,
'Twas the birthday of a King.

" 'Twas a humble birthplace, but oh!
How much God gave to us that day,
From the manger bed, what a path has led.
What a perfect holy way:
Alleluia! O how the angels sang,
Alleluia! how it rang,
And the sky was bright with a holy light,
'Twas the birthday of a King."

May this Christmas be filled with happiness for each and every one of you. Sincerely and fraternally yours in P.D.F.A.,

"TO MY FELLOW CALIFORNIANS—The sacredness of Christmas completely overwhelms every living person. Our Nation and our Order do not differentiate between Christians and non-Christians, and rightfully so. All mankind are children of God, and mankind recognizes Christmas as God's Day. We rejoice this Yuletide for the benefaction that our Lord has so bountifully bestowed upon us. There is only one way by which our appreciation can be made manifest, and that is to strive to our utmost to make this world a better, a more pleasant and a happier place for our fellowman to live in.

A STATE TREE

Santa Barbara—The great sequoias of California are better known throughout the world than any other natural feature of the state. It seems singular, therefore, that although we have adopted a State Flower, the California Poppy, and a State Bird, the Valley Quail, no official recognition has yet been given to our gigantic forest trees.

Among our native trees, no species is more deserving of such recognition than the Redwood. It is the tallest known living thing on earth, its natural distribution is limited almost wholly to California, it has been a most important asset in the building of our state, it is being grown successfully in parks and gardens throughout most of California and in many parts of the world; it is the most distinctive, the most stately and the most beloved of all of our native trees.

The Native Sons of the Golden West of Santa Barbara are presenting this matter to the State Legislature when it convenes in January and are recommending the official designation of the Redwood as the State Tree of California. The motive behind this plan is simply to direct attention to the unique characteristics and qualities of the Redwood, and to stimulate a greater interest in its beauty, its usefulness, and its value to California.—MAUNSELL VAN RENSSELAER, Director Blaksley Botanic Garden.

Sebastopol—Sebastopol No. 143 had a card party for the benefit of the homeless children November 20. Al Simoni and Joe Moniz were in charge of arrangements.

Lower Lake—Lower Lake No. 159 had its annual Thanksgiving ball for the benefit of the homeless children November 26.

Joe Enos was the toastmaster, and the speakers included Grand President Hartley Russell, Grand Second Vice-president Joseph J. McShane, Grand Trustee Lloyd J. Cosgrove, Joe Rose and D. O. Germino. Entertainment was provided by Henry Bove and Angelo Marchese.

SAN BENITO COUNTY PINNACLES RESULT GAVILAN RANGE UPHEAVAL.

Pinnacles National Monument, an 8,000-acre tract in San Benito County, offers some of the most interesting geological formations in the state, according to a bulletin of the department of geological sciences at the University of California, written by Philip Andrews.

The Pinnacles, a cluster of rocky crags and spires, are located in the Gavilan Range separating the Salinas and the San Benito Valleys, about equidistant between Hollister and King City.

The University party found that the Pinnacles were formed by the erosion of volcanic rocks which were deposited after the upheaval of the Gavilan Range. Weathering of these rocks over hundreds of years has produced the famous Pinnacles. Many natural caves are also found along Chalone Creek where the stream has cut under beds of volcanic rock. One subterranean room measures one hundred feet across.

A "moderate excess" of rainfall for the winter season of 1936-1937 is forecast by Dr. George F. McEwen, oceanographer at the University of California Scripps Institution of Oceanography at La Jolla. Sea surface temperatures form the basis for the prediction.

The American Association of State Highway Officials will have its twenty-second annual convention at San Francisco December 7-10.

SAN FRANCISCO

THE SAN FRANCISCO-OAKLAND BAY Bridge, largest vehicular span in the world, was formally opened November 12, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in the White House at Washington, D. C., pressed a button lighting two green lamps and officially throwing the span open to traffic which, for more than sixty years, crossed San Francisco Bay via ferries. The opening, which was celebrated with a four-day program of never-to-be-forgotten events, marked the culmination of more than thirty years of visualization and planning by engineers and civic leaders.

The bridge, built largely with R.F.C. Federal funds, cost $77,000,000. Construction work began July 19, 1933.

From Oakland shore to San Francisco shore the bridge measures eight and one-fourth miles. Except for a tunnel passage through Yerba Buena Island in mid-bay, the bridge is entirely over water. It is roughly divided into two parts, mechanically speaking. The west side, from San Francisco to Yerba Buena, is of the suspension type. The last crossing, from Yerba Buena to Oakland, is of the cantilever type. At Yerba Buena, traffic crosses through the island in the world's largest bore tunnel, an eighth of a mile in length.

The western suspension towers of the bridge rise 519 feet out of the water. Their maximum depth below water is 235 feet. Streamlined and tapered they support the cables which stretch nearly four miles from San Francisco's Embarcadero to the island, where they are buried deep in cement and steel foundations. The cables are comprised of 70,800 miles of wire, pencil-thick. This wire weighs 18,500 tons. Each cable is composed of 17,464 wires.

GOLDEN GATE SPANNED.

The Golden Gate has been spanned, and man may now walk between the shores of San Francisco and Marin County. The Golden Gate was bridged at 4:25 p.m. of November 18, when the final steel girder in the mammoth suspension structure was put in place. The bridge will, it is expected, be completed and ready for service May 1, 1937.

CHARITY BALL HUGE SUCCESS.

The twenty-fifth annual charity ball sponsored by the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West for the benefit of the homeless children was held at the Civic Auditorium November 28 and was a grand success.

Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig directed the arrangements, and the chairmen of subcommittees included May L. McDonald, Gertrude LaFortune, Joseph Rose, William James, Sidney Bernstein, Grand Trustee Alice Lane, Helen Mann, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Charles Woodall, Ann Dippel, Paul Conniff and Charles A. Roberts.

ARMISTICE DAY BANQUET.

South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 N.S.G.W. had its seventeenth annual Armistice Day banquet November 11, and some 250 members were in attendance. The event is given in honor of the sixty-four members of the Parlor who went forth to participate in the World War. Four of them gave their lives in answer to the nation's call. Invited guests included the grand officers and all members who had served the country in time of war.

Addresses were delivered by Grand President Hartley Russell, Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig and Grand Trustee Lloyd J. Cosgrove. Past President Charles Hagan spoke for the ex-service men, and the oration was delivered by George H. Barron of Precita Parlor No. 187. Under the direction of Chairman F. H. Elvander a splendid entertainment program was presented. Community singing was led by Carl Prignitz, Tom Keating, George Nilan and Dr. M. O. Squires, with Lionel R. Smith at the piano. Several vocal selections were rendered by the San Francisco Fire Department quartet under the direction of Lieutenant Murray.

N.D. PUBLICITY LUNCHEON.

A publicity luncheon, sponsored by the publicity chairmen of the San Francisco Native Daughters Parlors November 2, to gain a better knowledge of ways and means to obtain good publicity in the daily papers, was well attended. The honor-guests included Grand President Florence D. Boyle, Past Grand Anne C. Thuesen, and Ethel Bogardus, Hazel Holly, Zelfa Escourt and Edith Bristol, club editors of the local dailies.

Grand President Boyle expressed delight at the interest shown, Past Grand Thuesen presented a splendid outline of the Order's projects, and Past Grand Eliza D. Keith spoke for the weeklies. Much knowledge was gained from a general discussion of publicity.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS.

The Monday night meetings of Secretary Mary E. Brussie telling of the activities of the Central Homeless Children Committee are meeting with great approval. Heretofore, only Native Daughters attending Grand Parlor have had the privilege of hearing Miss Brussie. Now, groups of about fifty are instructed each week, so that they may be able to answer intelligently questions concerning the charity.

The annual turkey whist of Gabrielle Parlor No. 139 November 20 surpassed any previous party. It was conducted under the leadership of Miss Emma Heiman.

AN INEXPENSIVE CHRISTMAS GIFT that will be enjoyed throughout the year is THE GRIZZLY BEAR. Sent anywhere in the United States for $1.50; lower rate for clubs of ten or more. Remember your friends with a year's subscription for 1937.

Guadalupe Parlor No. 153 is forming a basketball team. The membership drive now under way will end December 14, when the Grand President will pay her official visit to the Parlor.

Dolores Parlor No. 169 entertained November 11 those members born in November, and also celebrated the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Past Grand Evelyn I. Carlson. A delicious repast was served at tables decorated entirely in white. Mrs. Mary Elb was the chairwoman, and Mrs. Myrtle Buttini was mistress of ceremonies. Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Alice Mackaravy, accompanied at the piano by Miss Betty Marquis. Among other guests were Past Grand Mae C. Boldemann and Deputy Rena Taube. The Parlor's drill team participated in the bay bridge celebration parade November 13.

At the Sunday morning breakfast at the Home December 13 the hostesses will be Alta No. 3, Fremont No. 59 and Portola No. 172 Parlors.

One hundred thirty-two years ago California was far from being the health haven that it is today. The first report of a public health officer, Don Jose Benites, submitted for Alta California to the viceroy of New Spain in 1804, revealed conditions that would be regarded as shocking today. The report was obtained and published by Dr. Sherburne F. Cook of the University of California Medical School.

A Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo monument will, according to report, be unveiled on San Miguel Island January 3 by the Grand Council of Cabrillo Civic Clubs.

SAN BERNARDINO

CITY AND COUNTY — THE GATE WAY TO GOLDEN CALIFORNIA

SAN BERNARDINO ARROWHEAD PARlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. featured its annual Thanksgiving turkey dinner for members and their families November 25. Members of Lugonia Parlor N.D.G.W. and their families were invited. Entertainment followed the feast. Athletic night, with a rabbit supper, at the Crestline clubhouse November 7 was in charge of Leo Thayer and Louie Sorensen.

Entertainment is now being presented at each meeting of the Parlor. A committee serves for two meetings, and then a new one is named. The purpose is to increase attendance, and a prize will be awarded the committee getting out the largest number of members.

President Eugene C. Somerby heads the committee arranging for Arrowhead's outstanding annual social event, the New Year Eve grand ball, to be held December 31. Officers of the Parlor for the January-July term will be elected December 9.

SILVER TEA—HOBO PARTY.

San Bernardino—The history and landmarks committee of Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. sponsored a silver tea at the Pioneer Log Cabin November 7 that was a social and financial success. A program of early California was presented, and refreshments were served at tables decorated with miniature log cabins and handcarved oxen. On display were dolls in earlyday California costumes. Funds derived from the affair will be used for the completion of the memory garden now under construction in Lytle Creek Park. Clara Barton was chairman of the day, and Deputy Genevieve Hiskey was a special guest.

November 11 the Parlor entertained with a "hobo" party, and the decorations and refreshments were in keeping with the occasion. Favors were hobo bundles on long sticks. Prizes for the best costumes went to Rhoda Smith, Margaret Boehm and Clara Pouncey.

In preparation for a Christmas bazar, Lugonia's sewing club met November 12 at the home of Rena Churchill, and November 18 at the home of Opal Stowe. Rhoda Smith is chairman of a committee arranging for a luncheon to be served by the Parlor December 3.

N.S.G.W. PAST PRESIDENTS MEET.

San Bernardino—At a largely attended meeting of Arrowhead Past Presidents Assembly No. 4 N.S.G.W. November 19 six new members were welcomed into the fold. Delegates to the General Assembly at Nevada City reported.

At election of officers Walter E. Hiskey was retained as governor, and to complete the corps the following were selected: junior past governor, Chas. N. Frost; first vice-governor, Walter C. Richards; second vice-governor, Edward E. Baldwin; third vice-governor, Lynn A. Reed; marshal, Raymond L. Marsile; inside sentinel, Frank E. Cotter; outside sentinel, Harold G. Lord; recording secretary, F. Lemar McGarvey; financial secretary, M. G. Hale; treasurer, John Andreson. The next meeting of the Assembly will be held the fourth Thursday in January 1937.

1937 ORANGE SHOW.

San Bernardino—William E. Starke has been chosen as the general manager of the National Orange Show to be held here February 18-28.

(LIDA NEWMAN DIEDERICH.)

A picture framed in rows of swaying trees;
The frame, a picture in itself indeed,
Orange and lemon, walnut, apricot,
Could one for any lovelier frame have need?

Inside, a row of shrubs in colors gay,
Syringa, spirea, almond, lilac sweet;
Buddleia, golden privet, lavender,
Low blooming flowers nestled at their feet.

The picture set within this perfect frame,
Its base, a sward of velvet, smooth and green,
That barely through the shading vines is seen.

Next comes a trellis high, all over hung
With roses, ivy, jasmine starred with gold.
A pear and apple, whose wide spreading boughs
Guard tender flowers from ardent sun too bold.

Beside the gate, Italian cypress rears
Its graceful waving spire, green and tall.
A rustling fan palm dominates the scene,
And California blue skies over all.

A bench and table 'neath the apricot,
A couch half hid beneath a low-hung palm,
Low stand, and stools, and rockers set around,
Bring touch of quiet, peace and restful calm.

Pictures like these, painted by Nature's hand,
By hundreds grace the sunlit vales and hills
Of lovely California's sweet homeland,
Where calm repose the tired spirit fills.

PLOWS ONCE PULLED BY CATTLE'S TAILS.

The plow, simplest and most basic farm implement, reached present excellence only after centuries of painful progress. Research by the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Engineering shows that the first plows, fashioned from crooked tree branches, were pulled by one or more men, another forcing the crude implement into the soil. The barbarous custom of fastening draft cattle to plows by their tails was practiced as late as 1631.

When an attempt was made to introduce cast-iron plows in the United States, farmers declared they poisoned the soil and prevented crops growing. Sir Robert Peel in 1860 gave his farmers "two iron plows of the best construction." On his next visit they were again using wooden plows, believing that iron plows made the weeds grow.

"Organized agriculture"—the California Farm Bureau Federation, the American Farm Bureau Federation and the Associated Women of the Farm Bureau—will meet at Pasadena, Los Angeles County, in joint convention December 6-11.

The California Mission Trails Association will have a convention at Santa Barbara December 4-6. "More tourist travel on mission trails" will be the theme.

NATIVE DAUGHTER NEWS

Jo Lauricella) was there. The planning committee included Claudia Broderick (chairman), Mabel Meyers, Claire Delucchi and Margie Welsh. The second annual turkey whist of November 17 was a huge success. Mamie Ramos, in charge, was assisted by Yvonne Kremer, Norma Abner, Claire Delucchi, Marie Eastman, Marie Fontes and President Lauricella. Recruits for the drill team are working hard. Steps are being taken by Argonaut to adopt a veteran from Livermore Hospital. In the very near future the Parlor will initiate a large class of candidates.

Oakland—Fruitvale No. 177 entertained in honor of Helen Marshall Graves, a recent bride, October 23. Chairman Marie Silva prepared dainty refreshments, which were served at tables decorated with Hallowe'en novelties. The Hallowe'en party for crippled children of the Hawthorne school October 30 provided a most enjoyable afternoon for the little folks. Christine Harrison was the capable chairman. At a whist party October 30 the prizes were hand-embroidered towels made by the Parlor's sewing club. Esther Ryan entertained at whist at her home November 19, and the affair was a social and financial success. The social evening of November 20, in charge of Grace Biggins, was most enjoyable. Autumn flowers were used in the decorations, and the refreshments were tempting.

Sierraville—Imogen No. 184, November 7 served a turkey dinner at which Pioneers were honor-guests. Miss Blatchely and Joy sang an oldtime song, and Mrs. E. Colt entertained with a piano solo. Mrs. E. Pearce was awarded a table prize. A very interesting account of her trip to Eastern cities during the summer was given by Past Grand Emma Lou Humphrey, who has for years attended the Parlor - Pioneer dinners.

Willows—Grand President Florence D. Boyle paid her official visit to Berryessa No. 192 October 19, and gave an inspirational talk on the work of the Order. On the Parlor's behalf, Bertha Richter presented her with a gift, and she expressed her appreciation in song. At the meeting's close an enjoyable program was presented, including a toast to the Grand President by President Virginia Brenneman. Among the many guests were Supervising Deputy Gertrude Hammond and Deputy Gladys Neiman.

Byron—Donner No. 193 celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary and received Grand President Florence D. Boyle on her official visit November 4. Three charter members were in attendance, and four candidates were initiated. Mrs. Boyle gave a very interesting talk on Americanism. Other guests were Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Trustee Ethel Enos, Supervising Deputy Ruby Lawrence and Deputy Wilma Lilly. The Parlor plans an outdoor community Christmas tree, initiation early in January, and a district meeting in March.

Stockton—The tea complimenting Grand Trustee Clarice Cook, sponsored by Caliz de Oro No. 206 October 25, was a lovely affair, and was attended by members of the Order from Calaveras, Amador, Stanislaus, Sacramento, Contra Costa and San Joaquin Counties. A color scheme of gold and white was used in the artistic decorations. In the receiving line were Miss Cook, Mrs. Charles Forrest, president, and Chairman Lucille Reichmuth and Mrs. John Germain of the tea committee. During the afternoon a delightful musical program was presented under the supervision of Mrs. Noble Fore.

AN INEXPENSIVE CHRISTMAS GIFT that will be enjoyed throughout the year is THE GRIZZLY BEAR. Sent anywhere in the United States for $1.50; lower rate for clubs of ten or more. Remember your friends with a year's subscription for 1937.

San Diego—Mrs. Winifred Davidson, who has written many history stories of California, gave a very interesting talk on the early Spanish women of San Diego County preceding the October 21 meeting of San Diego No. 208. She was introduced by Chairman Irma Heilbron of the education committee. November 18 the past presidents club was entertained by Sarah Miller.

Sonoma—Grand President Florence D. Boyle officially visited Sonoma No. 209 November 9. Two candidates were initiated. Following an interesting talk on the Order's projects by Mrs. Boyle, several presentations were made. Other honored guests were Past Grands Anne Thuesen and Margaret Hill, Grand Trustee Alice Lane, Supervising Deputy Vida Vollers and Deputy Belle Branstetter. A turkey supper was served prior to the meeting.

Petaluma—Petaluma No. 222 had its second annual roll call October 20. The refreshment tables were beautifully decorated in gold and white, with dainty California poppy nut cups at each place. Afternoon card parties are again being sponsored by the members. The Parlor's drill team recently promoted a most successful vaudeville show, and appeared October 25 in the fiesta parade at San Rafael.

Bakersfield—The study club of El Tejon No. 239 had meetings at the homes of Sadie Clendenen and Hattie Knoles October 20 and 29, and reports were given on the California missions. A progressive Hallowe'en party, with appropriate refreshments, was held October 31. In the Armistice Day parade, the Parlor had a float depicting international friendships. Madge Fote was the chairman.

Albany—Albany No. 260 had an amateur night with Mae Rutan as announcer and A. Stallone as the major. Everybody had a good time, and the gong "went strong." A Hallowe'en party was staged October 23, and a turkey whist was held November 20. The Parlor has a "Pandora" box of toys which will be sent to the Central Homeless Children Committee early in December. The sewing club is getting along famously with the hope chest, and is making all the favors and decorations for the Grand President's official visit December 11.

In Memoriam

MARGARET LOUISE HEAP

He was of those that sleep yet day

To the Officers and Members of Lagonda Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. The Good Shepherd has entered our fold and taken away one of our dearly beloved sisters, Margaret Louise Heap, to walk through the valley of the shadows to the eternal home of our Heavenly Father. Her body has been returned to the soil of California, the state of her birth but her spirit has returned to Him who gave it. Let us not think of our dear sister in sorrow, but as a sweet-blushing rosebud that has climbed the garden wall to bloom on the other side. Wish we pay loving tribute to her memory we are not unmindful of the sympathy we owe her loved ones. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we extend our sincere and heartfelt sympathy to her mother, Bertha Heap, and her grandmother, Mary Heap, both members of our Parlor, and the family in their great loss; also that this resolution be recorded in the minutes of our Parlor, that a copy be sent to her family, and that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

Respectfully submitted in F.D.F.A.,

EVELYN SHADDOX,
Chairman,
RHODA SMITH

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

ONE OF THE MOST PLEASING AFfairs ever sponsored by the Los Angeles Native Sons and Native Daughters was the November 6 supper at the Women's Athletic Club in honor of Irving Baxter, for twenty-one years chairman of the Orders' local homeless children committee. Miss Grace S. Stoermer, Past Grand President N.D.G.W., was the toastmistress, and the honored guests included Founder Lily O. Reichling-Dyer, Grand Trustee Hazel B. Hansen and Grand Inside Sentinel Mary E. Noerenberg of the Native Daughters; Past Grand Presidents Herman C. Lichtenberger and John T. Newell, Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer and Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth of the Native Sons.

Edwin A. Meserve was the speaker of the occasion, and in the course of a delightful address he lauded the homeless children endeavor of the Native Sons and Native Daughters. In concluding, he commended Baxter for his untiring service in behalf of this greatest of all charities, and presented to him a beautiful watch and chain. Words of praise for Baxter's efforts were also expressed by Grand First Vice-president Meyer, on behalf of the Order of Native Sons, and by Grand Trustee Hansen, on behalf of the Order of Native Daughters. The surprise of the occasion was the presentation of a beautifully decorated birthday cake to Editor Clarence M. Hunt of The Grizzly Bear, the date being the anniversary of his birth. During the evening vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Marybelle Chapman and Glenn Levitt.

Arrangements for this greatly enjoyed affair were made by the following committee: Miss Grace Norton (chairman), Mr. and Mrs. John J. Smith, Dr. and Mrs. J. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Hiskey; Mms. Wm. E. Dobson, John P. Burroughs, Carrie Kuhlmann and Adele Frankish; Dwight Crittenden, F. T. Leonetti, Frank Ziegler, John Gower, Albert Metz and William Arlen.—S.S.G.

LUNCHEON CLUB CHRISTMAS JINKS.

Attendants at the Native Sons Luncheon Club November 13 had the pleasure of listening to a wonderful address on the Constitution by James Mussatti, a recognized authority.

The Club, which holds forth every Friday at 12:15 (noon) on the eleventh floor of the Rosslyn Hotel, will have a Christmas highjinks December 18. All Native Sons are always welcome.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. received an official visit from Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer November 19. Five candidates were initiated, the ritual being exemplified by a picked team of past and present officers, with Ray Lemoine as president. Grand First Vice-president Meyer, in the course of his remarks, stressed the need for increased membership. Among other speakers were Past Grand John T. Newell, Earl Lemoine, Owen S. Adams and Howard Bentley. Following the meeting the many in attendance gathered around the festive board.

Los Angeles celebrated its fifty-second institution anniversary at a well attended dinner-dance November 21. Harry Davis was in charge of arrangements for the enjoyable affair. December 21 the Parlor will have its annual Christmas tree party and, as usual, several less-fortunate children will be special guests. Owen S. Adams heads the arrangements committee.

CLUBHOUSE BENEFIT CARD PARTY.

The history and landmarks committee of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W., Miss Marie Walsh chairman, November 15 sponsored a delightful pilgrimage to Camulos Rancho. November 20 was Native Daughter night at the Little Theater of Padua Hills, where "The Shield of the Palomares," a comedy of romantic early California written by Miss Walsh, was being presented. The veterans welfare committee—Esther Rinne (chairman), Anna Schiebusch, Anna Benson, Clara Findley, Helen Lee, Dahlia Vucovich, Sophia Rosshirt and Marvel Dell'Osso—cheered the veterans at the National Military Home with Thanksgiving baskets.

Miss Rinne has worked out a friendship idea which has proven more than helpful in solving the "get acquainted" problem in the Parlor. The group is called "Sunshine Friends," and on anniversaries or at any other time one friend sends a gift or greeting to another. Los Angeles has a full calendar ahead, starting December 2 with initiation and election of officers. Grand Trustee Hazel Hansen will be the guest speaker, and refreshments will be served.

December 9 a card party will be held at the Women's University Club, 943 South Hoover, for the benefit of the clubhouse fund. A handmade piecework quilt is to be given away. Chairman Lillian Spinner will be assisted by Clara Bird, Lucille Cline, Matty Gara, Estelle Hedin, Ethel Kennedy, Ella and May Sherwood, Olinda Kerby and Clara Findley. December 16 a Christmas party for members is scheduled. There will be entertainment, refreshments and a lot of fun.

December 23 the Parlor's social service committee—Anita Aguirre (chairman), Anna Hall, Harriette Matson, Helen Lee, Marie McCormick and Erlinda Sepulveda—will again entertain one hundred needy children with a Christmas party at the Los Angeles Breakfast Club. A vaudeville show will be presented, and from a gaily decorated tree Santa Claus will give a present to each little guest.

AN INEXPENSIVE CHRISTMAS GIFT that will be enjoyed throughout the year is THE GRIZZLY BEAR. Sent anywhere in the United States for $1.50; lower rate for clubs of ten or more. Remember your friends with a year's subscription for 1937.

SANTA MONICA

"WHERE THE MOUNTAINS MEET THE SEA"

SANTA MONICA SANTA MONICA BAY Parlor No 267 N S G W will be host for the group initiation of the southland Par- lors under the auspices of the District Deputies Association December 2. A rec- ord number of candidates is promised, and the initiates will be known as the "Grand Presi- dent Russell class." The ritual will be exem- plified by the following:

Grand Secretary John T. Regan, president; Junior Past Grand President Harmon D. Skillin, junior past president; Past Grand President Seth Millington, senior past president; Grand President Hartley Russell, first vice-president; Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer, sec- ond vice-president; Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth, third vice-president; Grand Trus- tee Donald E. VanLuven, marshal; Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, inside sentinel.

An immense outpouring of members of the Order is anticipated, as at this time Santa Moni- ca Bay will serve its famous annual lobster feast preceding the initiation. At the conclu- sion of the ceremonies a fine program of enter- tainment will be presented. Jack Keogh heads No. 267's committee of arrangements for the big doings.

Several members of Santa Monica Bay have been accompanying Grand First Vice-president Meyer on his official visits, among them Presi- dent Charles Duvall, Floyd Conterno, Harry Dailey, District Deputy Harry Honn, Secretary John Smith and Jack Keogh. On these visits the movies of the Oakland Admission Day pa- rade, presented to the Parlor by Manley Dan- forth, have been exhibited.

SHERIFF HEADS COMMITTEE.

Santa Monica—At a gathering at the Deau- ville Club November 2 of Native Sons and Na- tive Daughters interested in the Admission Day celebration to be held here in September 1937, Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. was selected as the general chairman of a committee that will arrange for the festivities. Subcommittees to handle the numerous details will be announced shortly, following which meetings of the Ninth of September committee will be held regularly.

Armistice Day was appropriately celebrated November 10, with Mrs. Louise Ward Watkins as the speaker for the luncheon. She gave a very spiritual note in her worthwhile address, and urged the Parlor to be very wary of speak- ers on the peace question. Honor-guests were members having birthdays in October and No- vember, and the tables were bright with flags. Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith gave an interesting lecture, concluding with excerpts from the play "Victoria Regina."

The Gateway Theater has been engaged for a party January 11, when refreshments will be served. This will be a benefit, in place of the autumn party, which has been postponed until spring. A season ticket for the Philharmonic orchestra concerts has been purchased by the Parlor through Florence Atherton Irish, in honor of California's deceased treasurer, Minnie Behm.

Saturday night, December 5, the Parlor will have a party, with cards and dancing, at the home of George Haight, 2012 Victoria drive, and a grand time is assured. President John P. Wright heads the large committee of arrange- ments.

Long Beach—Preceding the November 19 meeting of Long Beach Parlor No 154 N.D.G.W., "The Shadow Behind the Film" was shown by a member of the Tuberculosis Association. Grand Trustee Hazel B. Hansen was a guest, and gave an instructive address on "The Homeless Child and the Childless Home." At the meet- ing's conclusion refreshments were served by Mary Stultz (chairman), Violet T. Henshilwood, Helen Sanders, Mary Gillies and Alma Morrow. The tables were decorated with Thanksgiving favors, the work of Mrs. Henshilwood. SAN PEDRO—RUDECINDA PARLOR NO. 230 N.D.G.W. sponsored "officers advance nite" October 22 for Deputy Frances Reynolds, who was more than pleased with results. Other guests were Deputy Eleanor Gunn and Lottie Phelps. Refreshments were served by Marcella Sandoval and committee. Favorable reports are being received from Florence Dodson-Schonemann, a beloved member of the Parlor who has been seriously ill for a long time.

Florencita Thimble Club, an auxiliary of Rudecinda, had lively and profitable meetings during November at the homes of Dessie Buyo and Catherine Hackett. December 10 the Parlor will initiate a class of candidates.

Mrs. Rose L. Buchanan, a charter member of Rudecinda, passed away October 28, survived by her husband, Charles T. Buchanan, and two sisters, Mrs. Johanna Hellman and Miss Mary Cussen. She was born sixty-three years ago at the southwest corner of First and Spring streets, Los Angeles, her father being Joseph Cussen, one of that city's first undertakers. The funeral ceremonies were under the Parlor's auspices, with President Bernice Drant, First Vice-president Catherine Hackett, Marshal Anna Menvig, and Past Presidents Letitia Sarciaux, Margaret Kreider and Carrie Kuhlmann officiating.

LOS ANGELES

(MRS. GUY BUSH.)

In the flowery robes of loveliness,
A vision fair to see,
She sits enthroned in regal state
Beside the sunset sea.
Los Angeles, Los Angeles,
The pride of all the West,
'Tis thee who holds our hearts in fee,
'Tis thee we love the best.

We travel o'er the King's Highway,
Where pilgrim padres trod,
To make this city beautiful
An offering to God.
Los Angeles, Los Angeles,
We hear the mission bells,
Their pealing at the twilight hour
Thy ancient story tells.

The angels came from Heaven above
To rest on earth awhile,
And found a city wonderful
As God's own gracious smile.
Los Angeles, Los Angeles,
Their name to thee was given,
For here thy happy children dwell
And earth is close to Heaven.

The sun is on thy shining towers,
Thy sky is blue above,
And over thee all Nature smiles
In radiant peace and love.
Los Angeles, Los Angeles,
Thy children call thee blest.
To thee they raise a song of praise
The pride of all the West.

TREMENDOUS GAIN IN HOME BUYING AND BUILDING EVIDENCED.

Graphic evidence of the tremendous gain in home buying and building in Los Angeles County is contained in a report just released by Colonel J. B. Chaffey, vice-president in charge of the real estate loan department of California Bank, revealing an increase of 400 percent in the dollar volume of new real estate loans made by the bank during this year to date over the same period last year.

According to Chaffey, applications received by the bank for loans to finance new construction show that real estate, labor and construction material costs have been on a steady upward trend, with well-located, unimproved building lots leading in the general appreciation of values. Contributing to the increase in residential building costs are the many refinements now considered necessary in the modern home, such as additional plumbing and bathroom fixtures, greatly increased use of interior tile, built-in kitchen equipment, indirect lighting, and many other built-in features looked upon as luxuries just a few years ago.

"With rents and real estate values rising, mortgage money cheap and plentiful, a housing shortage existing in some districts and in the offing in others, a large volume of private building is in prospect for the near-future despite the increase in material, labor and general construction costs," says Chaffey.

FANTASY

(MINNA McGARVEY.)

Beneath the frosty starlight, where snow is drifting deep,
Jack Frost is trimming Christmas trees while all the world's asleep;
He sprinkles them with star-dust 'til every one's alight,
Outlined in flashing symmetry against the mystic night.

A clever little craftsman, he carries out his plan—
The fronds are frosted feathers in a diamond-crusted fan;
The cones are bells of crystal that ring when winds blow chill,
Or murmur low and muted when the air is crisply still.

To make his misty laces, his silver cobwebs fine,
He plies the slender needles that are cushioned in the pine;
He links the falling snowflakes into a glittering chain
Festooning them to tapering trees until they gleam again.

And so, in pure enchantment, they sparkle in the snow,
Each tree bedecked with diamonds, each quaint design aglow;
He works when night is longest, no fairy dream is lost,
But held in dazzling beauty by the jeweler, Jack Frost.

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

NEW YEAR 1887 IN CALIFORNIA WAS a beautiful day. As usual, "open house" prevailed, and callers were numerous. The Pilot House masquerade ball at Santa Cruz was declared the most brilliant social affair ever held there. In Sacramento, the Club Plaisir gave a New Year party. The womenfolks were richly attired, and the menfolks wore white ties and "steel pen" coats.

There was quite a little rain during January, and some extremely cold weather also.

The Twenty-seventh State Legislature convened at Sacramento January 3. W. H. Jordan of Alameda was elected speaker of the Assembly, and Frank D. Ryan of Sacramento was again chosen as chief clerk. Lieutenant-Governor Robert W. Waterman presided over the Senate. [The oversigned remembers the numerous "tilts" in the Senate between Henry Vrooman of Alameda and Stephen M. White of Los Angeles.]

The Senate had twenty-six Democrats and 14 Republicans, a total of forty members, and the Assembly had forty-one Republicans and thirty-nine Democrats, a total of eighty members. Senator Archibald Yell of Mendocino County was voted the handsomest member of the Legislature.

J. Marion Brooks of Ventura opposed the naming of a chaplain for the Assembly, claiming the members paid no attention to his prayers. "Assemblymen go to church on Sundays," said Brooks, "and require no preaching on weekdays."

The stage was all set for the inauguration of Governor-elect Washington Bartlett, Thursday, January 6, but two counties had failed to file their returns with the secretary of state and Speaker Jordan of the Assembly refused to let the ceremonies proceed. The belated returns arrived Saturday, January 8, however, and the inauguration took place. The committee in charge of the ceremonies was headed by Frank L. Coombs of Napa, representing the Assembly, and A. F. Jones of Oroville, representing the Senate.

The inaugural ball complimentary to Governor Bartlett, held in the State Capitol January 17, was a brilliant affair. The grand march was led by Floor Director C. S. Houghton and wife, Mayor John Q. Brown of Sacramento and Mrs. Whipple, W. R. Ormsby and Miss Gertrude Moore, ex-Governor George Stoneman and Mrs. J. B. Wright, Governor Bartlett and Mrs. John Q. Brown, ex-Lieutenant-Governor John Daggett and Mrs. George Cosby, Lieutenant-Governor Robert Waterman and Miss Waterman, and Speaker W. H. Jordan and wife.

George Hearst was elected United States Senator from California by the State Legislature January 19.

Sheriff Hughes of Del Norte County was robbed of $1,100 in gold coin January 1 by two bandits who threw cayenne pepper into his eyes.

Rose McDowell, whose husband was hanged two years previously on her testimony, was on trial in San Luis Obispo for keeping a disorderly house, and a sensation was promised.

Miss Kate Handorff was brutally murdered in the Transcontinental Hotel at Colton, San Bernardino County, by a man who registered there with her as A. Pierce.

David Miller, a Scotchman, was killed January 5 by an explosion of dynamite caps in his Alamitos Canyon cabin near Almaden, Santa Clara County.

MAY OF LAST YEAR A COMMUNICATION was directed to Superintendent of Public Instruction Vierling Kersey at Sacramento requesting information as to which of the public schools of California are, under State law, compelled to have the students salute the Flag of the United States of America and to give the oath of allegiance. Information was also sought as to whether the regulation, if any, applies to students of the higher institutions of learning, or to the lower grades only. In reply, the following was received from Alfred E. Lentz, administrative advisor Department of Education, under date of May 12:

"Editor Grizzly Bear: There is no California statute or rule of the State Board of Education requiring pupils in the public schools to salute the American flag and pledge allegiance to it. However, under School Code section 2.984, the governing board of each school district has the power to prescribe and enforce rules not inconsistent with law or the rules and regulations of the State Board of Education for their own government and for the government of the schools under their jurisdiction. Apparently, the governing board of a school district has under this provision of law the authority to adopt a rule requiring pupils enrolled in the schools of the district to salute the American flag and pledge allegiance thereto. There is dicta to this effect in the case of Hardwick v. Board of School Trustees, 54 Cal. App. 696. There is no other decision of the higher courts of this state, nor is there any opinion of the Attorney General which to my knowledge bears upon this question.

"It does not appear that there exists any authority under which pupils enrolled in private schools of any description can be required to salute the flag and give the oath of allegiance under existing law. I recall having read recently in the newspapers that the district attorney of Los Angeles County reached this conclusion in connection with the refusal of pupils enrolled in a private school in that county to give a salute and take the oath of allegiance.

"As to the University of California, the board of regents of that institution, as the governing authority thereof, could undoubtedly make such a requirement of the students enrolled in the university if it thought it desirable.

"As to the state colleges under the jurisdiction of this department, every student enrolling therein is required to take an oath of allegiance. The requirement and form of oath is in the following language:

"'I pledge myself, without reservation, to obey, support and respect the Constitution and laws of the United States. I pledge myself to refrain from negatively or positively advocating the use of methods not sanctioned by the Constitution and the laws of the United States to effect the modification or replacement of the form of government of the United States'."

It appears, therefore, that while there is no State statute requiring public school pupils to pledge allegiance to The Flag, the governing board of each school district has the right to prescribe and to enforce such a regulation. But judging from complaints arising in various school districts, it is apparent that the governing boards are lax in prescribing that students shall pledge allegiance.

The State Legislature is about to convene, and one of its first acts should be the passage of legislation requiring each and every instructor and student in all public and private universities, colleges and schools in California to salute and to pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America. And the law should provide that any institution which does not enforce the regulation shall be denied the right to operate in California. Such a law, with sharp teeth and rigidly enforced, would weed out of education the muchly-complained-of alien propganda and propagandists antagonistic to the American form of government.

California is a loyal State of the Union, and it should harbor in the field of education—and every other field of endeavor—only those whose loyalty is unquestioned, and who are interested exclusively in the teaching, protection and expansion of unadulterated Americanism.

WORDS HAVE POWER

(MARY FRANCINE WATSON.)

Do not say a little while,
For it closes the gates
To the avenues of Forever.
Say forever,
For it is the power of Love
That closes the gates of eternity's
Little while.
Yesterdays are gone forever, dead, dead things,
Tomorrow's joy is a small part of today,
So today, let the heart sing.

Reports are current that at the approaching session of the Federal Congress a constitutional amendment will be proposed providing for the election of a president by direct vote of the people.

A change from the present system is, for many reasons, desirable. And citizens of the United States should not, as now, be compelled to designate through middlemen, electors, their choice for the greatest honor within their gift.

Federal funds having been appropriated for the construction of debris restraining dams, hydraulic mining, practically suspended since 1884, will soon be resumed in Sierra, Nevada and Placer Counties on a large scale. So, many famed ghost towns of the Sierra Nevada Mountains will be revived, and California's gold output will be materially increased.

For the past fifteen years, says the State Controller, the cost of operating the California State Government has increased approximately $20,000,000 annually. The cost in 1919 was $28,000,000, and in 1936 it had advanced to $215,500,000.

If the legislators at Sacramento will forget politics and consider the welfare of California and its homeowners, they will knock the State Government operating cost down to a reasonable and sensible figure by eliminating numerous boards, commissions, fixed charges, etc., loaded onto the taxpayers of this State by the politicians in order to perpetuate themselves in power.

Director Ray Ingels of the State Motor Vehicle Department suggests the organization of vigilante committees of private citizens to curb drunken auto drivers. Good idea! A few necktie parties, too, with "prominents" at the noose-end of the tie, would tend to make the highways and streets of California safe.

In an address at Sacramento, Rabbi William Sterner of Oakland made a fervid plea for the abolishment of the Japanese Exclusion Act, and advocated stamping out the compulsory reserve officers training corps. Said he: "The Japanese Exclusion Act is a menace to the peace of this country. Citizens of that nation should be put on a quota basis."

The Exclusion Act was adopted for good and sufficient reasons, and as those reasons still exist it should not be repealed, or amended to provide for quota. The Exclusion Act is not a menace to, but a guarantee of, the peace of this country. Apparently the Rabbi has been "fed up" on Jap propaganda.

At a conference of peace officers in San Francisco, called to discuss the stamping out of gambling, rampant in California, the State Attorney-General said: "If all the metal in gambling machines was recast, it would make a ladder reaching to hell." That statement is meaningless, for a distant hell is mythical.

Gambling has existed everywhere since the beginning of time, and will continue to exist, always. If people have the wherewith of their own, the time and the desire to gamble, they should have the lawful right to engage in that pastime, just as they are permitted to play golf, baseball, etc. Therefore, gambling should be licensed and strictly regulated. The evils attributed to gambling result from its forced secret operation, undercover and unregulated.

In the course of an address at the Inter-American Peace Conference at Buenos Aires, December 1, President Franklin D. Roosevelt said: "I am profoundly convinced that the plain people everywhere in the civilized world today wish to live in peace one with another. And still leaders and governments resort to war. Truly, if the genius of mankind that has invented the weapons of death cannot discover the means of preserving peace, civilization as we know it lives in an evil day. But we cannot now, especially in view of our common purpose, accept any defeatist attitude. We have learned by hard experience that peace is not to be had for the mere asking; that peace, like other great privileges, can be obtained only by hard and painstaking effort. . . .

"Lack of social or political justice within the borders of any nation is always cause for concern. Through democratic processes we can strive to achieve for the Americas the highest possible standard of living conditions for all our people. Men and women blessed with political freedom, willing to work and able to find work, rich enough to maintain their families and to educate their children, contented with their lot in life and on terms of friendship with their neighbors, will defend themselves to the utmost but will never consent to take up arms for a war of conquest. . . .

"Peace comes from the spirit, and must be grounded in faith. In seeking peace, perhaps we can best begin by proudly affirming the faith of the Americas; the faith in freedom and its fulfillment which has proved a mighty fortress beyond reach of successful attack in half of the world.

"That faith arises from a common hope and a common design given us by our fathers in differing form, but with a single aim—freedom and security of the individual, which has become the foundation of our peace. . . . Democracy is still the hope of the world. If we in our generation can continue its successful applications in the Americas, it will spread and supersede other methods by which men are governed and which seem to most of us to run counter to our ideals of human liberty and human progress. . . .

"But this faith of the western world will not be complete if we fail to affirm our faith in God. In the whole history of mankind, far back into the dim past before man knew how to record thoughts or events, the human race has been distinguished from other forms of life by the existence—the fact—of religion. Periodic attempts to deny God have always come and will always come to naught.

"In the constitutions and in the practice of our nations is the right of freedom of religion. But this ideal, these words presuppose a belief and a trust in God. The faith of the Americas, therefore, lies in the spirit. The system, the sisterhood of the Americas, is impregnable so long as her nations maintain that spirit. In that faith and spirit we will have peace over the western world. In that faith and spirit we will all watch and guard our hemisphere. In that faith and spirit may we also, with God's help, offer hope to our brethren overseas."

FACE THE SUN

Don't hunt after trouble, but look for success:
You'll find what you look for; don't look for distress.
If you see but your shadow, remember, I pray,
That the sun is still shining, but you're in the way.

Don't grumble, don't bluster, don't dream, and don't shirk;
Don't think of your worries, but think of your work.
The worries will vanish, the work will be done;
No man sees the shadow who faces the sun.

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

FURS ARE NO LONGER CONSIDERED as luxuries in women's garb. Beauty swathes itself in fur, for in it lies flattery. Have furs not always been treasured possessions? For many years they fell in the luxury class, but today they are available to all women. No longer are they considered luxuries, to be worn only by people of rank and distinction. Young women of modest position have in their wardrobes fur coats, and they are considered in the category of "necessities." For instance, a fine russian lamb swagger coat is considered an absolute "must" for general or dressy wear, and is within the reach of almost every woman.

The fine skins have the distinctive markings of broadtail, and expert workmanship has achieved a model of ultra-smart lines: standing johnny collar with its tucked back which forms a youthful frame for the face, full sleeves to the elbows, slit pockets which are cleverly concealed, and a luxurious satin lining.

The furred town coats come in new silhouettes, rich fabrics and lovely furs—caracul, persian, grey squirrel. These are designed to flatter, with an understanding of the particular needs of women. They may be had in black, brown and navy.

Tailed or swagger types of coats are always good. The practical swagger is used for double duty, the tailored for town and travel. Swaggers come in interesting fabrics of brown, green, navy or black. The tailored types are in brown, oxford grey and black men's-wear fabric or black broadcloth.

Just picture yourself in one of the luxurious fox-trimmed sports coats from a wide collection which includes colorful tweeds, fleeces, camel's hair and lustra-tones in wraps, polos, fitted and flared princess styles and reefers. Or perhaps your choice would be a tailored suit of men's-wear fabric, or tweed in tunic, or short jacket length.

Afternoon dresses have gone elegant, with bead trims, lacy inserts, and beautiful flowing lines with swing and grace in every movement.

Vogue says "black is irreplaceable, and the reasons are many: it is flattering to the figure, it 'goes-with,' it acts as a foil for vivid touches and bright accessories, and it is dramatic, yet simple, sophisticated and smart."

Fortunately for the beauty and glamour of the new evening dress, there is no one type or silhouette that is prevailing. The wide-skirted silhouette has ceased to be an ingenue fashion, with a brief bodice, velvet trimmings and the narrowest of double shoulder straps and full, full skirt. This is no picture frock. It is modern and sophisticated. For the full-skirted frock, how about a combination of black taffeta with black velvet, or red taffeta with red velvet, keeping trimmings and jewelry confined to rings and bracelet?

Velvet has proved to be the smartest material of the year. It is shown in numerous varieties —velveteen, panne, shaved to a flat surface or printed into a striped or plaid design. Black is always the favorite, although various shades of green, red and brown are almost as popular. Velvet is used for severely tailored suits to be worn under fur capes, as well as the silver fox. For the cocktail hour, it is worn with a rich lame blouse.

Velveteen is used for street dresses worn under fur-trimmed cloth coats, as well as jacket suits worn with plaid woolen blouses. Formal gowns often are trimmed with fur, with sequins, or with gold or silver embroidery. There is a new velvet that is heavy in texture, but so pliable that it can be gathered, tucked or shirred into shape. Velvet is frequently combined with wool, not only for daytime, but for cocktail and dinner hour as well.

Fine woolens or soft broadcloths are used for tailored dresses trimmed with high velvet collars, deep cuffs and wide belts. More formal are the broadcloth suits with long, straight skirts. Velvet blouses and broadcloth coats made with velvet revers, cuffs and buttons are also very smart. Velvet, satin, metal and crepe are handled with equal regard for flowing line and fullness in the right places.

The grace of lace is designed for madame, patterned to her own poise, and the lace collection is just one of the mediums by which is created the illusion of youthful slenderness.

One must have that be-jeweled look. A blaze of multicolored jewels is unforgettably stunning for the evening hours. Utterly sophisticated in color are the new brooches, clips, pins and bracelets with rich-hued stones combined with the finest rhinestones. These create a lavishness in keeping with the mode for elegance—a new drama to change one's entire personality for formal events.

All that glitters is smart for night hours this season. If you have a dinner or evening gown which gleams, glistens or downright sparkles, you can be sure you're the sartorial tops of the evening. Radiant clothes not only fascinate the wearer, but definitely are more attractive to the eyes of the masculine half of humanity. When you are clothed in lame or glittering sequins, you really feel beautiful.

Tailored evening clothes are quite the latest word. Recently seen was a tailored sequin dress with a black skirt and a flesh-pink jacket. The gown had a tailored top of pink crepe embroidered in opalescent sequins which shone every color from flesh to deep orchid, and large, round, glass buttons caught the pink lights and reflected the radiance.

Remember that the figure under the dress is what makes the dress important. Wear a superb boneless foundation fitted to your individual figure by an expert. Whether in sports clothes or formals, you will be bound by comfort and visible beauty. More than ever before, the brassiere is the figure's fortune. It gives the youthful lift to any figure.

TODAY

(EDITH HAZEN.)

Why tread the road to Yesterday
And dwell in memories?
Why anxiously await a day
That mortal never sees?
Why crowd our lives so full of care
We cannot see Today,
With its blessings rich and fair
To cheer us on our way?
Why dwell in discord, bitterness,
Because of Yesterday?
Why keep the kindness or caress
Until another day?
God gives us guidance for each day,
That we, His children here,
May gladly go our humble way,
Just knowing He is near.

THE LETTER BOX

Comments on subjects of general interest and importance received from readers of The Grizzly Bear.

CO-OPERATION APPRECIATED.

Editor Grizzly Bear—Please allow me to express to you in behalf of our national officers our very sincere appreciation for the generous contribution of space which you gave to the American Red Cross in The Grizzly Bear Magazine. It is only through the splendid co-operation which you and others give to us each November that we are enabled to extend a universal invitation to all Americans everywhere to participate in Red Cross work through individual memberships. Cordially yours, DOUGLAS GRIESEMER, Director of Roll Call, The American Red Cross. Washington, D. C., December 1, 1936.

CALIFORNIA PLACE NAMES DICTIONARY

Editor Grizzly Bear—In the last issue of The Grizzly Bear I noticed an article telling of a dictionary of California place names that is now being compiled. Can you tell me when this book will be ready for distribution, and where I can obtain a copy? Respectfully, WM. F. DAVIS. Talmage, December 8, 1936.

(The dictionary referred to is, as the item in The Grizzly Bear stated, being compiled by the Federal Writers Project of WPA. Information concerning it should be addressed to the Project, San Francisco.—Editor.)

OLD AGE ALLOWANCE.

Editor Grizzly Bear—Saw in your issue of November 1936 reference to a law providing an allowance of $100 per month from State funds for every indigent over 60 years of age. I am 79, have been paralyzed for two years and unable to work. My wife is past 70. It is rather hard sledding without an income. If there is such a law please tell me how to get in touch with the officials, and oblige yours truly. GEORGE COURTRIGHT. Los Angeles, December 20, 1936.

(The item referred to appeared in the "Fifty Years Ago" section of The Grizzly Bear for November 1936. It pertained to a State law in effect in 1886. The California law of today provides for old-age pensions, and anyone interested should communicate with the State Social Service Commission at Sacramento.—Editor.

CELEBRATION AT SACRAMENTO OF WORLD-FAMED GOLD DISCOVERY

Sacramento—A meeting of representatives from all the Sacramento County Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters was held December 21 for the purpose of arranging for the celebration of the world-famed discovery of gold at Coloma, El Dorado County, in 1846, by James W. Marshall.

A grand ball is to be given Thursday evening January 21, in the Native Sons Auditorium, at which the grand officers of both Orders are expected to be in attendance. The affair will start with a grand march at 9 p.m.

Grand Historian John J. Monteverde is general chairman of the committee, and Percy G. West is the secretary. Roy C. Cothrin will look after the refreshments, J. F. Didion the publicity, Henry Wittpen the music, and Gussie Dietz the decorations.

La Purisima Concepcion Mission, founded December 8, 1787, destroyed by earthquake in 1812 and now being restored by Federal CCC workers, is to be beautified by the creation of a fifteen-acre garden similar to the one that existed there 125 years ago.

TO AN OLD HEARSE

A cob-webbed hearse with dusty plumes of pride
Stands heavy now with Time—and in this hour
Is racked with ghosts, who linger by its side,
For once it triumphed with a dreadful power.
Now memories of tears and sad farewells,
Of distant music—and the quiet ground
Come back unfolding grief and dumbly tells
Of silent graves where only weeds are found.
And in the stable where it stood supreme,
Like some dread king of pomp—it yields to this Cold mockery of time, nor dares to dream
Of other conquests—and the farewell kiss.
Slow mournful hearse, strange monument of gloom
Man hurries now to find his silent tomb.

Ground squirrels sometimes become so numerous in areas of human concentration that they constitute a nuisance. It is, therefore, of interest to learn that a bob cat was recently observed in Sequoia National Park, California, stalking and capturing a ground squirrel. Bob cats have been given scant protection outside the national parks and monuments which are sanctuaries for all forms of wildlife. The incident affords a striking illustration of the method by which nature, left undisturbed, works out a balance between predator and prey.

GRAND PRESIDENT HARTLEY RUSsell, in a December 4 communication to the officers and members of all Subordinate Parlors, admonishes that each member is a custodian of the Order's affairs, and also a designer of the pattern that fashions the Order's destiny. "Our charge is a sacred one," he cautions. "Let us all be worthy of it.

"Our nation has completely emerged from the recent dreadful economic chaos, and nearly every human is the beneficiary of a better day. To materially swell our ranks is not a herculean task. The only thing we need to accomplish this is the 'WILL TO DO.' My appeal to each of you is, to exercise that 'will to do' and bring at least one new member into the Order."

Oratorical Contest Winners.

Sacramento—Sacramento No. 3 had its annual oratorical contest on California history topics for students of the Sacramento high school December 10. Eight students participated. First prize, the Irving D. Gibson trophy, went to Milton Schwartz, whose subject was "Colorful Landseekers of California." Robert Golding, who won the second prize, spoke on "Norton I," and the third prize went to Richard Lemmon, who subject was "Father Junipero Serra."

Grand Historian John J. Monteverde announces a grand ball in observance of Gold Discovery Day, to be held in the auditorium of Native Sons Building January 22.

Former Grand Trustee Passes.

Stockton—Stockton No. 7 received an official visit from Grand Trustee Charles D. Blaine December 7. Officers were elected, L. T. Dial being selected for president. December 21 the Parlor had its annual Christmas jinx. The affair started with a delicious supper, which was followed by entertainment under the direction of Al Carey.

With funds received from the estate of the late Ray Friedberger, officers and past presidents of the Parlor have been equipped with new regalias which will be used for the first time at the installation of officers in January.

Stockton lost another valuable member when George Francis McNoble, a former Grand Trustee, died December 13, survived by two children and a brother, Past Grand Hubert R. McNoble. He was born at Rich Gulch, Calaveras County, July 29, 1866, and was originally a member of Alta No. 46 (Mokelumne Hill), which was dissolved in 1890. In April 1922 he affiliated with Stockton.

George McNoble was one of the State's noted attorneys, and in 1925 served as president of the California Bar Association. He was recognized as one of the most brilliant alumni of the University of California and, being independent in thought and action, he served San Joaquin County fearlessly as district attorney in his early career. At his largely attended funeral obsequies, the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West was represented by Grand President Hartley Russell, Junior Past Grand Harmon D. Skillin, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustee Walter P. Rothenbush, Past Grands Justice Emmet Seawell and Charles L. Dodge, and Justice William H. Langdon (Modesto No. 11).

Fifty-third Anniversary Celebrated.

San Jose—San Jose No. 22 celebrated November 30 its fifty-third institution anniversary at a sumptuous turkey dinner. Arrangements for the largely attended and greatly enjoyed affair were made by a committee which included Vincent F. Wagner (chairman), Johnnie Batton, Neal Mangin, Dr. M. S. Kneass, Joe Sabatte and Claude Kimball. The entertainment program was supervised by O. E. Hart.

Frank Hogan, clerk of Santa Clara County, was the master of ceremonies, and John M. Burnett described life in California under Spanish and American rule. Other speakers were Steve Worden, Bob White, Art Bacigalupi, Charles Alva, Fred Byers, Joe Lawrence, Martin Haley, C. T. O'Connell and G. D. O'Connell, oldtime members of the Parlor, Grand Treasurer John A. Corotto and President Fred M. Breeze. Visiting grand officers were Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustees Adrien Hynes and Lloyd J. Cosgrove.

At election of officers December 14, Walter Larango was selected for president of San Jose. Services in memory of the late Daniel Haley, a pioneer member, were held. December 21 the good of the order committee, headed by Lester Van Hagen, sponsored a party for members of the Parlor and their ladies.

There are thousands of fine eligibles just waiting to be extended an invitation to affiliate with the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West. Be a recruiter—extend the invitation today, not tomorrow!

Landmark To Be Restored.

San Diego—Under the sponsorship of San Diego No. 108, many outstanding historic landmarks in San Diego County have been restored or plaqued. Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer, who is most active in this work, now announces that, through a grant of Federal funds, the oldest parish chapel in California, in Old Town, will be restored.

This old chapel occupies a storied place in the history of early California. Work on the original structure began in 1850, and it was dedicated November 21, 1858. It was in constant use for more than a half-century. Built in the shape of a cross, the chapel contains the tomb of Don Jose Antonio Aguirre, who financed the building of the original chapel.

The Parlor wound up its 1936 activities with a turkey dinner, followed by entertainment, December 23. The committee in charge included District Deputy Joseph Kelley, James Murphy, Fred Kaland and Calvin Burns.

Worthwhile Standards—Home, Church, Schools.

Ione—In joint session here December 9, the Amador County Parlors—Amador No. 17 (Sutter Creek), Excelsior No. 31 (Jackson), Ione No. 33 and Plymouth No. 48—were officially visited by Grand Trustee Henry S. Lyon. Among the many in attendance were representatives of other Parlors, and Sacramento No. 3 sent its drum corps, which paraded Main street.

Grand Trustee Lyon, after outlining the Order's projects and emphasizing the value of the homeless children work, dwelt on the necessity of the Order standing firmly for home, church and schools. "These," he said, "have seemingly been less stressed of late," and he declared that one of his aims would be to revive interest in these worthwhile standards. District Deputy George Tonzi pointed out the need of keeping new life in the Order by continually adding new members. Harry Stewart, a charter member of Ione, was also a speaker. At the meeting's conclusion a turkey banquet was served.

Kiddies Christmas Party.

Modesto—Modesto No. 11 and Morada No. 199 N.D.G.W. had their annual kiddies Christmas party December 16 for the offspring of their members and less-fortunate children also. A short program preceded the appearance of Santa Claus with gifts. The committee in charge of the party included Grand Trustee Charles D. Blaine, William E. Phoenix, Clarence Hanson, George Leisz, Lucy Outland, Ann Sargent, Pearl Gordon and Mary Blaine. December 17 the Parlors had their monthly card party and dance.

January 6 Modesto will initiate a class of candidates, and following the ceremonies President Claude Shirley will be host at a chicken supper. January 20 the newly-elected officers of Modesto, with William E. Phoenix as president, will be jointly installed with those of Morada.

Education Necessary in Sports.

Petaluma—The dance sponsored by Petaluma No. 27 for the benefit of the homeless children November 25 was a huge success. The drill team of Petaluma No. 222 N.D.G.W. assisted in entertaining. The committee in charge of the affair included O. D. Baldwin, A. Wengen, W. Christensen, Carl Plow, A. Montessoro, Boy Roerden, H. Ronsheimer, A. Battaglia, G. Geil and W. Guder.

The Parlor recently featured a sports night which attracted a very large crowd. LeRoy Lounibos was master of ceremonies, and Walter Mails was the main speaker. He urged clean sports, and advised young men who plan to follow sports as a profession to first acquire a high school education which, he said, is necessary not only in baseball and other sports but also in the business world. Other speakers were Sam Agnew, Denny Carroll, Milton Axt and Walter Nagle, clerk of Sonoma County.

In Recognition of Good Service.

Sacramento—Valentine S. McClatchy of Pacific No. 10 (San Francisco) and wife will be honored at a dinner and reception January 15 sponsored by local public service and fraternal groups. Superior Judge Dal M. Lemmon is the general chairman of arrangements, Grand Historian John J. Monteverde heads the reception committee, and Alden Anderson will preside as toastmaster.

The purpose is to publicly honor McClatchy for his services as a member of the State Reclamation Board, his untiring efforts, as secretary of the Oriental Exclusion League, to keep California a White man's paradise, and his gift to Sacrameneo of James McClatchy Park.

Horseshoe Tournament.

Eureka—Humboldt No. 14, in a series of bowling games played recently in the Eureka Bowl that created considerable interest, defeated Ferndale No. 93 by a score of 7 to 5. The following schedule has been adopted for a horseshoe tournament between Humboldt, Arcata No. 20 and Ferndale:

January—Arcata at Ferndale, 4th; Ferndale at Eureka, 11th; Eureka at Arcata, 14th; Eureka at Ferndale, 18th; Arcata at Eureka, 25th; Ferndale at Arcata, 28th.

February—Eureka at Ferndale, 1st; Arcata at Eureka, 8th; Ferndale at Arcata, 11th; Arcata at Ferndale, 15th; Ferndale at Eureka 22nd; Eureka at Arcata, 25th.

Ferndale is in possession of the horseshoe trophy by virtue of its winning the Humboldt County championship for a number of years.

URGENT NEEDS BANCROFT LIBRARY CALLED TO PUBLIC'S ATTENTION.

The N.S.G.W. Grand Parlor History Committee held its fifth regular meeting December 11 in the Bancroft Library on the University of California campus at Berkeley. Past Grand President Edward J. Lynch presided, and Judge Charles R. Boden, Peter T. Conroy, Frank C. Merritt, Emmett Joy and Joseph E. Tinney were in attendance.

Under the guidance of Dr. Herbert E. Bolton, Chairman of the Department of History, and his associate, Dr. Herbert I. Priestly, the Committee made a survey of the Library facilities and an inspection of the priceless historical documents at Bancroft Hall. The Native Sons history fellows for the current academic year, John Adam Hussey and George W. Ames, were introduced and announced plans for their theses.

The Committee was elated by the vast research accomplished and the enterprise manifested by the entire staff. However, it was unanimously recommended that the treasures of Bancroft Library should be more accessible to the accredited student and lover of California history; that in place of the present limited space and small staff of attendants, a separate building be provided for Bancroft, and the rooms be so constructed that valuable manuscripts may be inspected with convenience and security; and that additional attendants be provided in order to make the Library available to those who, because of business or profession, are occupied during the working hours.

The Committee agreed that as a special order of business, plans will be formulated immediately to acquaint the public with the urgent needs of the Bancroft Library.—J.E.T.

NEWSY N.S.G.W. PARAGRAPHS.

Marysville—Marysville No. 6 added five new names to its roster-roll December 11, the initiates being rounded up by Harold J. Regan (South San Francisco No 157), who was here doing field work for the Grand Parlor. As a result of his efforts, too, the Parlor will initiate a large class of candidates in January. Colusa No. 69 exemplified the ritual. Among the many visitors were Past Grand Seth Millington, Grand Historian John J. Monteverde and Frank Tarleton (Compton No. 273). A "dutch" feed was enjoyed.

Placerville—Placerville No. 9 elected officers December 8, Ellsworth Willard being chosen president. George Hofmeister, the sole surviving charter member of the Parlor, was in attendance.

Sutter Creek—Franklin J. Payne, for many years the faithful recording secretary of Amador No. 17, died suddenly November 25, survived by five children. A valued citizen of the community, he served as city treasurer for many years and was prominently identified with all public affairs. He was a native of Sutter Creek, aged 62.

Santa Rosa—John C. (Hoke) Smith, long affiliated with Santa Rosa No. 28 and for several years assessor of Sonoma County, died at Lodi, San Joaquin County, November 24, survived by a daughter. He was born at Guerneville, Sonoma County, September 24, 1866.

Bakersfield—Bakersfield No. 42's corps of officers for the January-July term will be headed by R. C. Gleason, newly elected president. Initiation of seven candidates December 9 was followed by a smoker. District Deputy Mart Leonard and William Rea presented surprise entertainment features.

Alameda—At Alameda No. 47's election of officers December 2 George H. Hagy was re-elected president. Initiation of a class of candidates December 9 was followed by a turkey banquet, arrangements for which were made by Donald Ansel and Ed Jensen.

Grass Valley—At election of officers in Quartz No. 58 December 7, Eben K. Smart was made president. Installation will be held in January, and Grand Trustee Henry Lyon will be a guest of honor.

Napa—The Christmas jinks of Napa No. 62 was arranged by a committee composed of George Bruno, Ed. Aldersley and Walter West. Dorien Levy was selected for president at election of officers December 7.

Watsonville—Watsonville No. 65 entertained the womenfolks December 1 at a dinner which was followed by entertainment and games. J. B. Holohan, W. A. East and Jarvis McGowan were named a committee to co-operate in having the Redwood named the official state tree of California.

Redwood City—The annual Christmas party of Redwood No. 66 December 10, was attended by a record crowd of 900 children and adults.

DEL NORTE OVERLOOKED IN CALIFORNIA FIFTY YEARS AGO.

The Crescent City American published in full in its December 11 issue "California Fifty Years Ago" from The Grizzly Bear for December 1936. With the statement, "The historian overlooked Del Norte County in his account," the editor of the American added the following items gleaned from the Del Norte Record of 1886:

The Board of Education adopted Geo. K. Camp's book of poems, "Shadows," as a library book for Del Norte schools. Camp was a resident of Happy Camp.

Rumors of a $10,000 defamation of character suit were rife in Crescent City.

Judge J. E. Murphy was sent to Washington, D. C., to importune Congress for aid in improving the harbor at Crescent City, and to urge that the Klamath Indian reservation be thrown open to settlement.

The Record, summarizing the list of business places in Crescent City, noted the following: 5 general merchandise stores, 5 dry goods stores, 2 boots and shoes stores, 11 saloons, 3 jewelers, 1 variety store, 3 hotels, 3 restaurants, 2 livery stables, 1 blacksmith shop, 2 tonsorial artists, 3 bakeries, 1 undertaker, 1 photographer, 1 printing office, 1 saddlery, 1 theatre and hall, 1 dentist, 1 drug store, 2 meat markets, 1 express office, 2 tin shops, 1 brewery, 1 soda works, 2 merchant tailors, 3 physicians, 5 attorneys, 5 fraternal societies, 2 churches.

SAN FRANCISCO

ADDRESSING THE LEGISLATION AND Elections Section of the Commonwealth Club of California, San Francisco, the other day, State Senator Walter McGovern said: "I wish that the people of America would raise our politics to the level of the football field.

"On the gridiron they resent unfair play and unjust decisions. In politics they view with tolerance and complacency the most glaring misrepresentations and decisions.

"We are still going along in our civil life stumbling in the same old way. We should expect our politicians to do as we expect our football players to do—play the game fair and decent."

N.S. LUNCHEON CLUB CHRISTMAS PARTY.

The Native Sons Friday Luncheon Club of San Francisco had its annual Christmas luncheon December 19 at the Union League Club. All of the grand officers of the Order residing in San Francisco were in attendance, and among the out-of-town visitors were Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer of Santa Monica, Eugene W. Biscailuz, sheriff of Los Angeles County, and Past Grand President Charles L. Dodge, treasurer of Contra Costa County.

This was the fifteenth annual Christmas luncheon held by the club, and many of the original members were on hand to join in the festivities, which started at 12:30 noon and continued until 4 p.m.

Alta Parlor No. 3 N.D.G.W. received an official visit from Grand President Florence D. Boyle, November 24, and was greeted by Mary W. Jordan with a welcome song. Four candidates were initiated, and the Native Daughters Glee Club, directed by Ruby Bried, rendered selections. Co-hostesses with Rena Taube for the affair were Sisters McQueen, Hannon, Feely, Phelan, Clifton, Taube, Papes, Ryan, Barron, Joorisen, Streefkirk, Scheflin and Toohig. Organist Lillian Troy and Eleanor Peguillan arranged the musical program. Kathleen Lagrave has been elected president of Genevieve for the new term.

Grand Trustee Alice Lane, a member of Castro, was chairman of the evening's festivities.

The Parlor's child welfare and veterans welfare committees entertained and presented gifts at Christmas time to tubercular children at the San Francisco Hospital and mental patients at Letterman Hospital. Sadie Ingham was in charge of the Christmas dinner and party for Castro's members.

FIRST BIRTHDAY PARTY.

San Francisco Parlor No. 261 N.D.G.W. had its first birthday party, and over a hundred Native Daughters and Native Sons helped to make the evening a happy one. The refreshments tables were beautifully decorated. Past Grand Anne C. Thuesen, who is called the "mother" of this Parlor, was the toastmistress and cut the very large birthday cake. Frank Morini of San Francisco Parlor No. 49 N.S.G.W. presented to No. 261 a check for a substantial sum as a birthday remembrance, and it was accepted with thanks by President Julia DeMartini. Grand Vice-president Ethel Begley, Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry and Grand Trustee Alice Lane were among the guests.

SAN BERNARDINO

CITY AND COUNTY — THE GATE WAY TO GOLDEN CALIFORNIA

SAN BERNARDINO AT ELECTION OF officers December 9, Arrowhead Parlor No 110 N S G W selected Roy B. Finkle for president. Previous to the meeting members of the Parlor were guests of the Native Daughters at a potluck dinner, and following the meeting a program of entertainment was presented. December 30 the Parlor concluded its 1936 membership drive with initiation of another class of candidates. As an innovation Recording Secretary "Bob" Brazelton now reads at each meeting the minutes of almost a half century ago. No. 110 was instituted July 20, 1887.

Arrowhead's outstanding annual social affair, the New Year Eve dance, the fourteenth one, at the Municipal Auditorium, was largely attended and a complete success. The committee in charge was headed by Lawrence Kelley.

IMPROVING DESERT ROADS.

Touring in various desert areas of San Bernardino County will be made even more enjoyable through an extensive road improvement project just begun.

Betterment of forty-three miles of desert roads and removing hazards such as sharp turns and dips from 1,700 more miles is the object of the $130,021 WPA and San Bernardino County project. Workers have been assigned to locations at Barstow, Needles, Victorville, Twenty-nine Palms and Lucerne Valley, and between Apple Valley and Dead Man's Point.

Work planned will extend over about a dozen stretches of roadway badly in need of improvement. Travel on these desert sections has increased, largely through transportation of produce from ranches to markets. In addition, dips, sharp turns, brush overgrowth and erosion hazards will be eliminated over about 1,700 miles of less-traveled county thoroughfares.

PIONEERS ENTERTAINED.

San Bernardino—Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.S.G.W. had as a special guest November 25 Grand Trustee Hazel Hansen, who spoke on the homeless children work. The sewing club had its last 1936 meeting at the home of Lucy Peacham December 2. An all-day bazar, with a luncheon for the benefit of the homeless children, was held December 3 and every article was sold. Mildred Meyers had charge of the bazar, and Rhoda Smith was chairman of the luncheon committee.

The present officers of the Parlor, with Thelma Nett as president, were reelected December 9. They will be publicly installed January 13. A benefit dance December 15 was in charge of Hazel Poole, who was assisted by the membership committee. December 19 Lugonia's members presented a program for the entertainment of the San Bernardino County Pioneer Society.

BEAUTY AND RECREATION IN DEATH VALLEY NATIONAL MONUMENT.

Only a few decades ago Death Valley, California, was popularly believed to be a sinister region, devoid of vegetation; its white and glaring sands never darkened by the shadow of bird or wild beast. Even the air above it was supposed to be so pestilential as to overcome migratory birds flying overhead.

Today Death Valley National Monument is the mecca of health hunters and pleasure seekers alike, who find beauty and recreation in the unique wilderness of billowing sands and weird desert growths. Science has listed no less than 500 different varieties of plants and more than 135 species of birds. Hundreds of waterfowl are observed, during the migratory period, resting in the ponds of open water, before continuing their journey.

BOOK REVIEWS

"SUTTER'S OWN STORY."

"Sutter's Own Story: The Life of General John Augustus Sutter and the History of New Helvetia in the Sacramento Valley," by Erwin G. Gudde, Professor of German at the University of California, is exceptionally entertaining and decidedly valuable. Wholly unlike any other book on Sutter, one of the most picturesque and remarkable figures in California history, it is woven about his diary and, to a large extent, his own words are employed to tell his fascinating story. Author Gudde has supplied connecting passages wherever advisable and, "to complete and clarify the picture," he says, "I have continued the story from my own notes, the results of many happy hours of research among the treasures of the Bancroft Library of the University of California."

Among the most interesting subdivisions of "Sutter's Own Story" are those entitled "The Beginnings of New Helvetia," "The Building of the Fort and the Purchase of the Russian Colonies," "Alliance with Micheltorena," "The 'Battle of Cahuenga' and Its Sad Results," "The American Conquest" and "The Discovery of Gold." The book is liberally illustrated, and has two maps, "The Journey from St. Louis to Yerba Buena" and "California in Sutter's Time."

Sutter's Own Story: The Life of General John Augustus Sutter and the History of New Helvetia in the Sacramento Valley. By Erwin G. Gudde, Professor of German at the University of California. G. P. Putnam's Sons, publishers, New York. Price, $2.00.

"WHY QUIT OUR OWN?"

"Why Quit Our Own" was, according to Author George N. Peek, "conceived and written solely in an effort to take the question of national prosperity and wellbeing out of the realm of mere words and theory and to discuss them on the sure basis of facts."

Presenting a national program for American farm and factory, the book concludes with the queries: "Shall we take advantage of our position of geographical and economic security and contribute to world peace and prosperity by developing our own country and by attending to our own affairs? Or shall we toss our nation into a common pool in the management of which ours will be but one voice and not the controlling one? Shall we dilute our strength with the world's weakness?"

Why Quit Our Own? By George N. Peek with Samuel Crowther. D. Van Nostrand Company, Inc., publishers, New York. Price, 50c.

"November Discovery" — The more one studies the vote cast at the last election the more one becomes impressed with the idea that there were many people in this country who had just discovered they have the right to vote." Muskegon Chronicle.

California's first newspaper, the Californian, made its appearance at Monterey August 14, 1846. Less than a year later it was moved to Yerba Buena (San Francisco) and merged with the Alta Californian.

California's peach pack for the season just recently ended totaled 13,632,755 cases.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

"PERMANENT REGISTRATION OF PIONeers of California who trekked to the Golden State by covered wagon or came by sailing ships from all parts of the world has been undertaken by the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West, and the Roster of California Pioneers is now ready for the entry of names. These will be placed in an attractive compressed, leather-bound volume together with interesting data, including date of arrival and mode of transportation.

"Although the plan has been in existence for many years, it has only been during the last two years that actual work has been started. To date, more than 5,000 names and full data on the persons have been secured. These records will be of immeasurable help to persons seeking data on their grandparents or other relatives of the early California era. Many requests for such information find their way to the state headquarters.

"Great credit is due Ida Mesquite, Thelma Schornick and Annie Franzen of the Grand Parlor Printing and Supplies Committee on the type of Roster secured. Much credit is also due B. M. Carlisle of San Francisco for the beautiful heading on each page of the Roster. Being a descendant of a pioneer family of San Francisco, he is most interested in and appreciative of this phase of pioneer veneration.

"All members of the Order are urged to register the names of Pioneers, and may procure blanks by contacting the following committee: Mrs. Esther A. Osborn, route 3, box 292, Stockton; Louise Zerga of San Francisco Parlor, Hattie Jackson of Annie K. Bidwell Parlor, Rosa Crum of Gold of Ophir Parlor, Clara Herdle of La Junta Parlor, Gertrude Collings of Minerva Parlor, Nellie Clark of Laurel Parlor, Agnes Hall of Berendos Parlor, Alice Ellingham of Mariposa Parlor, Augusta Singleton of San Jose Parlor, Pauline Segale of Princess Parlor, Marie Linser of Reichling Parlor, Mary Martin of El Dorado Parlor, Jessie Boyd of Fresno Parlor, Lillian Kern of Fairfax Parlor, Emma Woehl of Eldora Parlor, Maude Van Fleet of Ontario Parlor and Celia Carboni of Anona Parlor."—FLORENCE D. BOYLE, Grand President N.D.G.W. Oroville, December 8, 1936.

GRIZZLY BEAR OBEYS THE LAW.

Considerable criticism is leveled at The Grizzly Bear because reference to bank nights, raffles, drawings, etc., frequently featured in news material sent in for publication, is eliminated. The reason for declining to publish such news is, that it is unlawful to send through the United States mails news or advertising matter referring to lotteries or games of chance of any nature. Using the mails exclusively for distribution, The Grizzly Bear will not, knowingly, violate any law or postal regulation.—Editor.

Baskets of groceries were sent needy families by Anna Simmons, in charge of the Parlor's welfare work. December 16 the past presidents club was entertained at a most enjoyable Christmas party by Sophia Sharp.

Palo Alto—Palo Alto No. 229 and Palo Alto No. 216 N.S.G.W. had a most successful card party, the proceeds of which will be used for their activities. Neighboring Parlors co-operated, and the attendance was the largest ever seen at a similar affair in this city. December 21 members of No. 229 enjoyed a Christmas dinner. About February 1 the two Parlors will raise their homeless children quotas by another joint card party.

Santa Ana—Santa Ana No. 235 observed its eleventh institution anniversary at a turkey dinner at a local cafe December 14, and although a welcome rain was pouring there was a large attendance. At the meetinghall a lovely Christmas tree was loaded with exchange gifts for children and adults. A program was presented, and Gladys Edwards provided games. Mmes. Mattie Edwards, Mize, West, Hiskey and Ellis then led the way to the diningroom, where awaited a huge decorated birthday cake. The Lunable club met December 3 and 17 at the home of Mrs. Mattie Edwards and worked on quilts.

Pleasanton—At a largely attended meeting December 1, Pleasanton No. 237 entertained in honor of Hazel Mendoza and Louis Andrade, bride to be. Refreshments were served at tables beautifully decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums. The Parlor's "Christmas Cheer" box of homemade delicacies was sent to the veterans of the Livermore Hospital. The third annual turkey dinner of Pleasanton took place December 15, with thirty-three members in attendance. The dinnerroom was beautifully decorated with baskets of English holly and garlands of pine, and near the fireplace stood a lighted Christmas tree with gifts for all.

Placentia—The annual Christmas party of Grace No. 242 for members and their families December 17 was attended by one hundred. Lena Wagner and Alice Davis were in charge of a dinner served at tables centered with red berries and tall red tapers set in red apples. A program arranged by Nellie Cline and Kate Hill preceded the distribution of gifts from a decorated tree. Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg and Deputy Olinda Kerby were in attendance. January 7, Grace's members will accompany Deputy Matilda Enfield to Long Beach No. 154 to install the officers-elect of that Parlor. January 14, No. 242 will celebrate December and January birthdays.

Stockton—Past Presidents Association No. 8 was officially visited by Chief President Mayme F. Davis December 10. At a dinner preceding the meeting the decorations carried out the Christmas motif. Imelda Bawden, in charge of arrangements, was assisted by Past Grand Mamie Peyton and President Charlotte Clark.

Los Angeles, December 10, 1936.

Planting roadsides, to preserve and enhance scenic values, has become a definite part of roadwork programs in the United States. Some 5,000 miles of highway have been or are being so improved at a cost of more than $7,000,000.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

LOS ANGELES COUNTY WILL HAVE A population of 2,667,500 by January 1, 1937, according to an estimate of the population of California counties made by the California Taxpayers Association.

Population of the county January 1, 1936, was 2,555,040, the Association estimated. According to the Federal census, Los Angeles County's population was 2,208,492 April 1, 1930, so the Association estimate predicts an increase of about 459,000 by January 1, 1937.

The total population of California, the Association estimates, will be 6,790,000 by January 1, 1937, an increase of approximately 1,113,000 over the census population of 5,677,251 as of April 1, 1930. Changes in population come from two general sources: the excess or shortage of births over deaths, and the increase or decrease caused by migration. The present estimates are supported by actual school enrollment figures for 1936 and current school enrollments reported by California school administrators. They also reflect the increasing immigration into the state which has been in evidence since the 1930 census.

WORTHWHILE SERVICE.

Approximately 150 underprivileged children of the Los Angeles County Probation and Charities Departments were guests of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. at the Riverside Breakfast Club December 23. The kiddies were entertained with a vaudeville show, all kinds of goodies were served and, to top off their pleasure, they received fine gifts, presented to them from a huge Christmas tree by merry old Kris Kringle. Major John J. Flynn, U. S. Marine Corps Reserves, was master of ceremonies. Anita A. Aguirre, social service chairman of the Parlor in charge of all arrangements, was assisted by Marie McCormack, Anna Hall and Helen Lee. Harriette Matson, press chairman of the Parlor, had charge of contacts, and President Edna Trombatore worked unceasingly to provide a wide selection of good toys.

Carrying out the democratic principles upon which the State and the Nation are founded, Los Angeles Parlor did not exclude children of any race or creed from this affair. The little guests were either orphans, half-orphans or wards of the Juvenile Court who otherwise would, in all probability, have been overlooked. In bringing Christmas to them, the members of the Parlor rendered worthwhile service.

Los Angeles Parlor's January calendar includes: 6th, illustrated talk on "God's Cathedrals of Northern California." 13th, card party Women's University Club, 943 South Hoover; Jennie Raymond chairman. 16th, sewing club luncheon at the home of Louise McNary. 20th, members of Desert Gold, Miocene, El Tejon, Compton, Rudecinda and Santa Monica Parlors will be honor-guests; program and refreshments. 23rd, bridge luncheon for benefit homeless children, 992 South Gramercy place, 1 p.m.; Flora Holy chairman.

PROGRESS ASSURED.

Compton—Appreciating the good work that President Hector Hecox and his corps of officers have accomplished, Compton Parlor No. 273 N.S.G.W. voted unanimously December 1 to retain them in office for another term. Enthusiasm prevailed at the meeting, and all members present pledged their wholehearted support.

Grand Trustee Hazel Hansen of the Native Daughters was a visitor, and after outlining the homeless children work made a plea for increased funds. Among the other speakers were Past President Roy Tarleton, Dr. J. S. Reynolds and Treasurer Albert Tarleton. At the meeting's conclusion, delicious enchiladas, prepared by Mrs. Don Castillo, were served.

"The next six months will place Compton in the limelight among the southland Parlors," says Recording Secretary Don Castillo. "The percentage attendance at our meetings, in excess of that at other Parlors, assures progress."

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT PREVAILED.

Long Beach—December was a busy month for Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. At election of officers the 3rd, Mrs. Eugenia Miner Smith was chosen president. A card party was held the 4th at the home of Mrs. Margaret Burch, Wilmington; a cake made by the hostess was sold, and brought a neat sum for the homeless children fund. The thimble club entertained the 10th with a card party at the home of Mrs. Johanna Reed. This was the last 1936 meeting of the club and everyone had a good time. Mrs. Daisy Hansen was chairman and Miss Johanna Reed made the Christmas decorations.

At the well-attended December 17 meeting three candidates were initiated. Supervising Deputy Flora Holy and Deputy Matilda Enfield were guests and gave interesting talks. A donation was made to the homeless children work. President Leola Temby thanked the members for their loyal support during the past year. Following the meeting the Christmas spirit prevailed. Santa's winter quarters at the North Pole and his trip in a sleigh drawn by silver reindeers were depicted in scenes on the tables, and there was also a lovely Christmas tree in silver. Dainty refreshments were served, and there was an exchange of gifts from a chimney. In appreciation for her untiring service, President Temby was presented with a lovely evening bag and accessories, the presentation address being made by Daisy Hansen. The committee in charge of the festivities was composed of past presidents, with Mrs. Alice Waldow as chairman.

Long Beach Parlor personals—Mrs. Kate McFadyen is spending the holidays with her daughter, Mrs. Marie Monroe, and grandchildren in Wenatchee, Washington State. Mrs. Beryl Vallikett is spending two months in Manchester, England, as the guest of her daughter, Miss June Knight, who is starring in "Going Places." President Leola Temby and family are spending the Christmas holidays with her mother and sister in Sacramento.—V.T.H.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR FAITHFUL.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. had a birthday party December 17 for one of its most faithful members, Albert Metz, who was 79 years young that day and has been a member of the Parlor thirty-five years. On behalf of No. 45, Past Grand John T. Newell presented him with a bathrobe, and a decorated cake, inscribed "Happy Birthday, Al," graced the supper table. During the evening two candidates were initiated by a select ritual team with Ray LeMoine as president.

PRACTICE RECIPROCITY BY ALWAYS PATRONIZING GRIZZLY BEAR ADVERTISERS

Los Angeles had its annual Christmas party December 21, and entertained several children of its members and of friends of the Parlor, as well as quite a few adults. Entertainment was provided by Roger Johnson, Joan Smith, and Beverly and Jonie Chilson. Santa Claus was introduced, and distributed hundreds of toys to the kiddies, and refreshments were served. Owen S. Adams was in charge of arrangements for the party, which was greatly enjoyed by both the children and the grownups.

PROUD OF GIRL SCOUT TROOP.

Members of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. look forward with joyful anticipation to the new year, 1937. With Lena T. Burrows again the president and the same staff of efficient officers, a term of prosperity and good works is in store. The big activity for December was the annual bazar for the homeless children the 8th, when a goodly sum was netted. At the delightful luncheon, the December birthday honorees were present.

The Americanism committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Martha Decker, is very proud of the Californiana Girl Scout troop, with Mary Clarke as the able lieutenant. The new work sponsored by the Parlor is going forward successfully, the first outing being a week-end trip to the mountain cabin of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Osborn.

SANTA MONICA

"WHERE THE MOUNTAINS MEET THE SEA"

SANTA MONICA—SANTA MONICA BAY Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. served its annual lobster feast and was host for the group initiation of the southland Parlors December 2. It was a great occasion, participated in by some 300 members of the Order from all nearby Parlors and large delegations from Santa Barbara No. 116 and Arrowhead No. 110 (San Bernardino). Following the feast, President Charles DuVall welcomed the guests and introduced the following, who exemplified the ritual for the benefit of thirty-two candidates—sixteen from Santa Monica Bay, five from Arrowhead, three each from Hollywood No. 196 and Stephen M. White No. 263, two each from University No. 272 and Compton No. 273, and one from Santa Ana No. 265:

Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz—a Jesse James at getting the "dough"—took charge after the initiation ceremonies, and for the charity box extracted goodly sums from various pockets, including those of all grand officers. Also among the crowd at the most enjoyable affair were Past Grand Herman C. Lichtenberger, Deputies Walter Hiskey, Walter Odemar, Maynard Garrison, John Paralieu, Phil Molen, Harry Honn, A. C. Dinsmore, Fred Staebler and Clarence M. Hunt.

AMERICANISM PROGRAM.

Ocean Park—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W. featured an Americanism program November 30. Ernestine Aylward, chairman Grand Parlor Americanism Committee, was the speaker, and musical selections were rendered by Nesta Williams, Olive Smith and Betty Rose Chittondon.

December 18 the Parlor had its annual Christmas party and bazar. There was a beautifully decorated Christmas tree, and gifts were exchanged. All officers have been re-elected for another term.

The girls officiated at a charming tea December 17, when Mrs. Ora Evans entertained at her home, President Burrows and new members of the Parlor being honor-guests. Mrs. Evans is training the girls in home work, and is proud of their progress.

At the Christmas party December 22, Mrs. Blackstone Smith, one of Californiana's talented artists, arranged a delightful pageant of the fifteenth century, a group of members taking the roles. It was followed by a holiday tea, with Mrs. Marcella Wolfskill-Palethorpe as hostess. The first benefit party for the new year will be January 11, at the Gateway Players theater, when Francis Hickson will present a very amusing and entertaining comedy. Delicious refreshments will be served. Mrs. Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith will resume her monthly lectures at the January 12 meeting of the Parlor.—O.L.

DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR.

The card party and dance given by Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. at the spacious home of George W. Haight December 5 was a delightful affair, attended by some 150. Good music was provided, and delicious refreshments were served. In seeing that all enjoyed themselves to the utmost, Mr. and Mrs. Haight had the assistance of several of the Hollywood boys.

Officers of the Parlor will be installed January 11, and at that time the new president, George W. Haight, will announce a program of social and other activities for his term.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED.

Glendale—Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. marked its tenth institution anniversary by honoring Past Presidents Ida Gilman, Grand Trustee Hazel Hansen, Beulah VanLuven, Betty Sanders, Vera Carlson, Margaret Donlan, Ione Gillett and Ada Steele. The birthday cake was cut by the charter past president, Mrs. Gilman. Arrangements were in charge of Evalyn Wilson and all officers. Initiation was conducted, and four candidates were received.

At the Parlor's Christmas party December 22, Santa Claus made his annual visit to the members and their children. The committee of arrangements included Evalyn Wilson, Harriett Weeks and Margaret Donlan.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASE URGED.

It seemed like old times in Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. December 11, for there was a very large attendance, including many visitors, and everyone was in a jovial mood. Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer paid his official visit, and in the course of an excellent address urged the Ramonaites to build up the Parlor's membership. Other speakers were R. S. Redington, E. A. Gibbs, Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth and Past Grand Herman C. Lichtenberger. George Amos went home with the "homeless child."

January 15, Ramona's new officers, with Spencer R. Thorpe as president, will be installed, and the ritual will be exemplified. January 22 will be an open meeting, and the womenfolks are invited to be present. Chairman Frank Ziegler of the good of the order committee promises entertainment out of the ordinary for this occasion, and refreshments will be served.

COME TO THE LUNCHEON CLUB.

The Christmas highjinks of the Native Sons Luncheon Club drew a very large crowd December 18. John Haas presided, and opened the festivities by proposing toasts to the President of the United States and California. Entertainment was provided, and the "gifts," presented from a tree, created much merriment.

The Luncheon Club will resume operations Friday, January 8, at the regular hangout, eleventh floor Rosslyn Hotel, 12:15 noon. All Native Sons are invited to associate with this gang of boosters for the Order.

Glendale—The twelfth institution anniversary of Glendale No. 264 N.S.G.W. was celebrated by members and their families with a dinner-dance December 14. President George LaRue was master of ceremonies. Combined with the birthday party was the annual Christmas party.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Albert V. Mayrhofer (San Diego N.S.) of the San Diego Water Commission, attended a water conference here last month.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. C. Thompson celebrated their golden wedding anniversary November 22, and hundreds of friends called at their home to extend congratulations and present gifts. "Bob" Thompson, as he was known to the oldtimers, was married to Katherine Korber in a cottage at Second and Spring streets. Mms. Sophia

SAN PEDRO—STEPHEN M. WHITE Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W. had a Christmas party December 19 which was a huge success. From a large tree, decorated by Bill Kresin, Santa Claus presented candy and toys to more than seventy-five children. An orchestra provided dance music for the grownups, and refreshments were served all in attendance. During the evening a diamond past president pin was presented Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards. Arrangements for the delightful affair were made by a committee which included Harry Fairall (chairman), President Ben Lassere, Bob Moreno, Dewey Richards and George Fontes.

Officers of the Parlor were elected December 11, Phillip Doran being selected for president. A tamale supper was served at the meeting's close. December 19 the Parlor voted to present United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags to the service clubs of the harbor district. Details were delegated to a committee composed of Dewey Richards (chairman), Tom Allender, John Swinford, Harry Fairall, William Reuter and Hamp Neergard. Stephen M. White plans a lobster "feed" the latter part of January.

Stephen M. White Parlor personals—William Murphy and family have returned to their San Pedro home from a visit with relatives in Hollister and San Francisco. John Mele Sr., father of Pete, Ralph and John Jr., has been ill at his Wilmington home. Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards has been confined to his Wilmington home with illness. George Gligo, now stationed in San Francisco, spent the holidays at his San Pedro home. I. H. Reuter of Merced, former Grand Trustee, spent several days at the Wilmington home of his brother, William A. Reuter.

REWARD FOR PERFECT ATTENDANCE.

San Pedro — Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W. initiated two candidates December 10, and at the conclusion of the ceremonies refreshments were served by First Vice-president Catherine Hackett and committee.

At election of officers December 17, Catherine Hackett was chosen president. Deputy Frances Reynolds, who was a visitor, was showered with handkerchiefs and Christmas cards by the members. Refreshments concluded the enjoyable evening.

The Florencita Thimble Club, an auxiliary of the Parlor, is having wonderful and profitable meetings. The last one for 1936 was held at the home of Virginia Bruckner. As a reward for perfect attendance during the past year, fourteen members of the club will have a dinner in Los Angeles January 12.

PIONEER MOTHER PASSES.

Wilmington—Mrs. Noranna Dickerson, former resident of Shasta and Trinity Counties, died here November 27, survived by three daughters, Mms. John W. Clay, H. J. Graves and W. R. Hoskins. She was born in Shasta Town, Shasta County, May 8, 1859.

Mrs. Dickerson was the daughter of John Stephen and Delia (Carrigan) Boyce. Her mother crossed the plains to California in 1849, and her father came in a sailing vessel around Cape Horn in 1850. The latter was an earlyday teamster, and hauled supplies from Sacramento to Redding and Shasta, and also the mines of Trinity County, by mule and horse teams. Mrs. Dickerson, a woman of sterling character and a true Pioneer Mother, was beloved by hosts of friends.

upheaval and disaster."—Colonel James Churchward in "The Lost Continent of Mu."

The State Superintendent of Public Instruction objects to labeling the California sales tax as primarily a school tax. While sales tax collections have increased steadily, the apportionments to the schools have remained practically the same. In the fiscal year 1933-34 the collected tax totaled $46,180,588, and the schools received $38,515,176. In 1935-36 the tax amounted to $73,035,983, and the schools got $38,544,617.

"The inaccuracy of the popular conception that the sales tax is used wholly as a replacement tax for the former county taxes for the support of elementary and high schools," says the Superintendent, "is readily shown by a study of these figures."

Addressing the Commonwealth Club of California, San Francisco, Captain D. Dem. Dimancesco, Roumanian Consul to San Francisco, warned:

"It will be impossible for you to keep out of the next European or Far Eastern war unless you will do your share toward humanity and make it impossible for those wars to break out. . . If you shrink from the leadership which we ask you to take, that leadership will cross the Pacific, in a not too far future, and the American civilization era will come to an end. The world will have to get ready for a new Asiatic era."

Mrs. Delia Gilman, mother of Walter D. Gilman (Los Angeles NS), died December 19. She was a native of Ireland, aged 77.

Lake Tahoe, one of California's many scenic wonders, exists in name only, according to Federal Government research workers. They contend it was named Lake Bigler, in honor of the State's third governor, John Bigler, and that that name was legalized by an act of the State Legislature which has never been repealed.

The name Oroville, Butte County, is a combination of the Spanish word oro (gold) and the French word ville (town).

EMPLOYES CALIFORNIA BANK VOTED LIBERAL HOLIDAY BONUS.

Retirement of $1,000,000 in preferred stock and a dividend of $1,000,000 payable in common stock has been authorized by the board of directors of California Bank, Los Angeles, according to an announcement made by A. M. Chaffey, president of the bank, following the December meeting of the board.

The directors also voted additional compensation of one-quarter of a month's salary to be distributed during the holiday season to employes who have been in the bank's employ one year or more, with a maximum payment of $50. Those who have been employed less than a year will share in the distribution proportionately.

Capital structure of California Bank as of December 31, according to Chaffey, will be $4,000,000 of common stock, $2,000,000 of preferred stock, $1,500,000 surplus, and approximately $1,000,000 of undivided profits. In addition, large reserves are maintained which are not fully disclosed by the published statement of the bank. This is accounted for by the fact that it is banking practice, for statement purposes, to deduct some of the reserves from the value of the assets for which they are provided.

HOME VEGETABLE GARDEN BULLETIN FREE FOR ASKING.

In many districts of California it is possible, by proper selection of crops, to have fresh vegetables from the home garden most of the year. Few people realize the large number of different crops that can be grown successfully in this state.

This statement is made by Dr. H. A. Jones, formerly head of the division of truck crops at the Branch of the College of Agriculture, on the Davis campus of the University of California. Dr. Jones wrote "The Home Vegetable Garden," which appears as Agricultural Extension Service Circular 26, just before his resignation, and it is off the press. Copies may be obtained free from the College of Agriculture at Berkeley.

The circular takes up all phases of gardening, such as location, planning, preparing the soil, fertilization, irrigation, seeding and transplanting, cultivation, control of insect and animal pests, and planting calendar. Forty-one crops are given special attention in the circular.

SUNSET LAND

(DELMAR H. WILLIAMS.)

Come when the day is wearing late
Ride with me to the Golden Gate.
See how the mighty Star of Day
Blushes red as he slips away—
Sinks down behind the tranquil seas
To linger o'er the Nipponese.
The sea birds hush their strident call,
The peace of God is over all.

The moon looks down with visage kind,
The troubled city lies behind,
The gracious winds that shoreward blow
Repeat a message sweet and low,
The waves that wash the burnished sand
Beat time to praise the Sunset Land,
The cliffs return the measures slow—
El-Do-Ra-Do! El-Do-Ra-Do!

LOS PADRES NEW NAME OF SANTA BARBARA NATIONAL FOREST.

Change of the name of the Santa Barbara National Forest to Los Padres became official when President Franklin D. Roosevelt recently signed the executive order. This will settle an argument among the six counties concerned—Los Angeles, Kern, Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo and Monterey—carried on since President Theodore Roosevelt in 1903 renamed the Santa Ynez and Pine Mountain and Zaca Lake Forest Reserves the Santa Barbara National Forest.

Agreement was finally reached among various chambers of commerce and county boards of supervisors to a name commemorating the work of the mission fathers, many of whose churches are found in Los Padres National Forest from Santa Barbara to Monterey. Both San Luis Obispo and Monterey Counties formerly had separate national forest units named after them. The San Luis Forest became part of the Santa Barbara in 1910, and the Monterey was made a ranger district of that forest in 1919. Since then it has been felt that the name Santa Barbara did not truly represent the 2,000,000 acres of land embraced in this national forest.

Los Padres National Forest will be a historic reminder of eight missions within or near its boundaries: San Buenaventura, Santa Barbara, Santa Ynez, Purisima, San Luis Obispo, San Miguel, San Antonio de Padua, and the famous San Carlos at Carmel.

A California condor is reported to have been seen flying over Lower Funston Meadow in Kern Canyon by an oldtime resident who is thought to be reliable. This is the second report of a California condor in Sequoia National Park, California, in recent years.

NANCY KELSEY--"THE FIRST PIONEER WOMAN TO CROSS PLAINS"

Minnie Beatrice Heath

HIGH UP IN THE CUYAMA MOUNtains, in a region wild, beautiful and lonely, is a group of three graves, in one of which is buried Nancy Kelsey, the first White woman who crossed the plains and mountains to California.

I became acquainted with Mrs. Kelsey when, as a young girl, I went to the Cuyama Mountains to teach a small school of settlers' children. She was then suffering with a cancer of the face, and due to the efforts of Mrs. Ida Blockman and Addison Powell, prominent residents of Santa Maria, she was taken to Santa Barbara and to Santa Maria for treatment. Medical science could not help her, and she became aware of this and faced the verdict of a painful, lingering death with the courage that had sustained her in the hard, uncertain life of the people who had made "the great trek." She returned to her cabin, almost as remote from civilization in those days as if it were on a lonely island in the sea, and busied herself with her little farm and the chickens, from which she derived most of her livelihood.

Always ready to help others in time of need, she had never a selfish thought in her fine old head. Up to within a few weeks of her death, she would mount her pinto pony and ride across the mountains to help bring a baby into the world, bind splints on a broken leg or minister to a fever-ridden child. Her knowledge of herbs was so extensive that rarely did she fail to help in her care of the sick. Wisely and courageously did she answer the call of people in desperate need, but too isolated in their mountains to secure the help of a physician.

She told me that once in the early days when she was riding in a stagecoach over a very rough road she was thrown against the side of the stage. Her straw hat was mashed down on her face. Her cheek was bruised, and this bruise developed into the cancer that afterwards caused her death.

I used to go two or three times a week after school, the last months of her life, and read the Bible to her, also the newspaper and stories. She loved to hear the news, but always the Bible would be first and last. When the end of life came for this intrepid woman, I helped prepare her for burial. Her death certificate was signed by H. C. Mallory, who was the township justice of the peace, a friend and neighbor. She was buried at the head of Cottonwood Canyon, in the mountains she so dearly loved. Later Baby Clayton, a grandchild who died at birth, and Baby Plummer, a neighbor's child who lived a week, were laid to rest on either side of her.

From my own meager notes and the memory that has retained the vivid tales told to me, from the notes of Addison Powell who loved and respected Nancy Kelsey, and from an article written by him for the Examiner of what date I do not know, I have attempted to give you a true picture of this pioneer woman.

Nancy Kelsey was born in Carren County, Kentucky, in 1823, and moved with her parents to Jackson County, Missouri, in 1826. She married Benjamin Kelsey when she was barely sixteen. In May 1841 this young couple, with a baby to care for, began the long overland journey to California long before the mad rush for gold set in.

The pilot of their party was a man named Fitzgerald. They were accompanied by a young priest who was bound for the northwest coast to teach the Flathead Indians. A boy by the name of John Bidwell was in the party. He later became a well-known figure in the politics of the country. There were others along who had great influence on the early history of California—Captain Webber, who founded Stockton and who grew rich; Colonel Richmond, Colonel Barleson, Captain Joe Childs, Josiah Belden and Charles Hoffer. There were thirty-three in the party, and Nancy Kelsey was the only woman. She had to endure all the hardships of the trail; she had to work, to fight, and she had a baby to care for.

The story that follows was told to us many times, some of the incidents in more detail than is given here. It is copied from an article by Mr. Powell for the Examiner and found in his old scrapbook:

"Our first mishap was on the Platte river, where a young man named Dawson was captured by the Indians and stripped of his clothing. They let him go, and then they followed him so that without his knowledge he acted as their guide to our camp. The redskins surrounded our camp and remained all night, but when daylight showed them our strength they went away.

"We left our wagons this side of Salt Lake and finished our journey on horseback and drove our cattle. I carried my baby in front of me on the horse. At one place the Indians surrounded us, armed with bows and arrows, but my husband leveled his gun at the chief and made him order his Indians out of arrow range.

"We crossed the Sierra Nevadas at the head waters of the San Joaquin river. On the first of August, 1841, we camped on the summit. It was my eighteenth birthday. We had a difficult time to find a way down the mountain. At one time I was left alone for nearly a day, and as I was afraid of Indians, I sat all the while with my baby in lap on the back of my horse, which was a fine racing animal. It seemed to me while I was there alone the moaning of the wind through the pines was the loneliest sound I ever heard.

"One old man gave out, and we had to threaten to shoot him before he would attempt to descend the mountains. At one place four pack animals fell over a bluff, and they went so far that we never attempted to recover the packs. We were then out of provisions, having killed and eaten all our cattle. I walked barefooted until my feet were blistered. We lived on roasted acorns for two days.

"My husband came very near dying with cramps, and it was suggested to leave him, but I said I never would do that. We ate a horse and remained over till the next day, then he was able to travel. We found plenty of game on the San Joaquin plains, which we killed for meat.

"My husband's brother and a man named Jones had strayed from the company while in the mountains, and we supposed they were dead, but my husband, when hunting, discovered their tracks and reported that they were surely alive. At one place I was so weak I could hardly stand, and I lay on the ground while Mr. Kelsey went out and killed a deer. We were then near Dr. Marsh's ranch, which was close to what is now Martinez. Mr. Jones, one of the supposed dead men, and one of Dr. Marsh's Indians rode into camp and brought with them some farina for me. We arrived at Dr. Marsh's on the 4th of October, 1841, more than fifty years ago. [Bidwell's date is November 4, 1841.]

"In December we went up with Sutter in a leaky row boat to his fort. We were fifteen days making the trip. The boat was manned by Indians, and Sutter instructed them to swim to the shore with me and the child if the boat should capsize. We arrived at the fort on Christmas Day, where I met Joel Walker, who had just arrived with his wife and children—I had then been in California five months.

"In 1843 we started to Oregon. We went up the east side of the Sacramento for about forty miles where we crossed over by swimming our horses and cattle, of which the crowd had quite a number. It was there I witnessed the killing of an Indian. The men were all out trying to drive the stock into the river, and I was left alone in the camp when several nude Indians came in, and as I thought they intended to steal, I stepped to a tree where the guns were. As they approached me, I warned them away.

"My husband saw from where he was that Indians were in camp and sent one of the men, whom we called Bear Dawson, to protect me. He was a reckless young man, and as he rode up he ordered the Indians to go, but they drew their bows on him and he reversed the order. Then he drew his pistol and killed one of them and the rest fled. The Indian fell within six feet of me. After that my husband got one of the Indians to swim across the river and tow the canoe in which the child and I were sitting. The Indian took me across all right, because he knew they had their guns bearing on him.

"One night, when near the Shasta Butte, we had twenty five horses stolen from us by the Indians, and a nice mare was shot and killed with an arrow within forty feet of where I was sleeping. The next morning we had a fight with the Indians, and I counted twelve of them as they went down before our guns.

"In going down one of the Siskiyou mountains the Indians killed several of our horses and cattle. We went as far as Oregon City. In 1844 we returned to Napa Valley, California. On our return, when we had but five men, our stock was stampeded by the Indians near Shasta. By this time I had two children.

"While the arrows were flying into our camp, I took one babe and rolled it in a blanket and hid it in the brush and returned and took my other child and hid it also. The moon was shining brightly and it seemed to me that every time I heard a gun fired I could hear an Indian fall into the river. We had an Indian boy we had brought from Oregon and while the men and the Indians were fighting, he succeeded in recapturing all our saddle horses and tying them in camp.

"We were in Napa when the war—or what we called the [Bear Flag] revolution—broke out. We went to Sonoma and occupied the fort after it was captured by Captain Merritt. There was some immigration to this country then and my husband and General Vallejo built a sawmill on Sonoma Creek.

"In the spring of 1848 my husband went to the mines to see if there was any truth in the report of gold discovery. He was gone ten days and brought back $1,000. The next time he went to the mines he took a flock of sheep up for mutton and brought back $16,000. In the meantime he had bought Salvador Vallejo's stock and applied for a grant of nine leagues bordering Clear Lake, but the grant was not completed when the Mexican war broke out and he eventually lost it. Andy Kelsey, my brother-in-law, and Charley Stone were killed on the ranch at the lakes by the Indians in 1849.

"In the same year I was riding into Sonoma from a place we had bought about a mile from town, when an ugly looking Indian tried to lasso me. He wanted me to run my horse so that he could drag me off, but I refused and kept him from it only by threatening to shoot him if he raised his rope. I had left my pistol at home and was unarmed, but he concluded to let me go and not risk it. He cursed me, and I went into the fort and told about it. The Indian was captured and sentenced to 100 lashes. I returned home with medicine for my sick husband, but instead of taking the medicine he rode to town and shot the Indian dead.

"In 1850 we went to Humboldt overland and shipped our things by water. We went through what is now called Mendocino County. The mountains were very rough, and we did not see a White person on the trip. Some Indians opened fire on us, but my husband killed the chief, and the rest retreated. We sold our stock on our lake ranch, from which the town of Kelseyville took its name, and received only $13,000 down, and never got the rest, consequently our Humboldt trip did not turn out as profitably as we had expected, but we helped start the towns of Eureka and Arcata.

"In 1851 I returned to our place in Sonoma. I came down by water, and my husband went through to Shasta and down to Sacramento with Colonel McKee, an Indian Agent. I came down on a little boat called the Sea Gull and we came within two lengths of the boat striking on a rock.

"Up to 1859 I had enough incidents happen to me to make a book. I once rode for fifteen hours on horseback and carried a one-year-old child in front of me. I was going to see a sick woman, and I fainted when they helped me off the horse.

"We were compelled to travel for my husband's health, and in 1859 we started for Mexico. In 1861 we drifted into Texas, where we were attacked by Comanche Indians. The men were out hunting turkeys, and a neighbor woman and her children and I and mine were

(KATIE H. WILBUR.)

(Written May 28, 1870.)

O! the worth of tender friendship,
Greatest treasure of the earth,
Binding all true hearts together
From the moment of its birth.
As we sail upon life's journey,
Be our passions wild or tame,
'Tis a joy to know that ever
Friendship true remains the same.
It forgives our every error;
Seeks to guide us in the right.
In the darkest shades of sorrow,
Friendship makes our sad hearts light.
And its accents ever tender,
Fill our hearts with grateful joy;
Were we all bound by its pinions,
Life would have much less alloy.
Firmly by the chain of friendship,
Let our hearts be bound while here,
And its voice of gentle sweetness,
All our lives our pathways cheer.

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

PRINTS ARE EVERYWHERE, FOR EVENING and for sports. Silks for resort and spring wear have the gayest patterns and the most vivid colors in years. Bold, splashy designs combining many colors often replace the neat, monotone prints of last year. While the print designs for daytime are smaller than those intended for evening, many of them are much larger than last year's.

Huge floral patterns, both for daytime and evening, in a maze of vivid colors, are the new note in silk prints this season. The unusual variety of silk grounds gives special interest to the new collections. They include silk twills and silk voiles, as well as sheer silks, stiff silks and the classic silk crepes.

It is here that color and size run riot. Huge single flowers, measuring three or four inches across flower clusters of equal size, are seen in silks in which a pattern is repeated only two or three times in a yard. As many as seven or eight colors are sometimes combined in a design. The flower print in which each petal is a different color strikes another new print note for evening.

Large diagonal plaid patterns offer a change from flowers. The newest looking evening silks in vivid blues, greens, reds and yellows, combined in a white silk ground, are fresh and exciting. Printed silk satin is widely shown, strong colors and designs set off in squares or mosaic effects being the predominating theme.

A new idea in warp-printed duchess satin and warp-printed silk taffeta is also being shown in exciting new colors and pattern choices, with the current interest in the coat and dress ensemble. Dress prints are styled to go with the silk coat, which is often one of ribbed silk such as bengaline, silk surah, twill or silk gabardine.

Fashion flashes tell us that barnyard and jungle animals will pattern the new prints, as will tiny motifs which repeat themselves to form fancy stripes. They find their inspiration in the habits and customs of various nations.

The new evening gowns glitter and accent the elegance of a coronation year. Stiff slipper satins in jewel tones, glittering sequins and rich metallic brocades and lames are the stars of the formal lineup.

You may be as tailored as you like by day, but you must go glamorous after dark if you follow the dictates of the season. Elegance is the keynote of the formal fashions, complete with low-cut decolletages, swishing skirts, jewels and headdresses.

A dinner gown with a peplum bodice of sequins and a trailing velvet skirt illustrates the new richness of the mode, with most of the fulness at the back and off-the-shoulder lines.

Velvet also occupies the spotlight of the season's formal fashions. Velvet dinner gowns are shown with daringly low-cut necklines, puffed sleeves dropped off the shoulder, and flowing lines. One of the most striking seen is of wine velvet, cut on princess lines and trimmed with little bows of white ermine down the front.

Colors run riot! Don't envy the tropical birds their color schemes; copy them, and be in style, too. New combinations include violet, jade green and a dash of fuschia; black, yellow and a zing of raw purple; pimento red, palm green and lemon yellow; that's the sort of frenzy.

It is anticipated that the spring will be another big suit season. Soft, feminine types of suits will be shown, as well as severely tailored ones. Sheer silks,—such as crisp crepes, laces, chiffons, flat triple sheers,—bemberg sheers and thin crepedechines are being sampled for the soft lingerie style of blouse which will be worn with the softer type of suit. Waistcoat blouses are made of novelty materials; in fact, nearly every type of novelty fabric from printed crepe stripes to heavy necktie weaves is regarded as good for the waistcoat blouse.

Printed silks which may be cut out and appliqued to dark afternoon dresses are popular. Favorite styles at present are cut-outs of bright flowers appliqued as an edge to the bolero of a black frock.

That darks will continue in high style is definitely confirmed by the fact that black is claiming strong attention, although navy and brown precede it in importance. The brown desired, however, is a cinnamon shade rather than chocolate. Following these three are listed the rust to wine shades that promise to grow in popularity as the season progresses.

As winter advances into spring, the print frock worn with a lightweight coat will be the backbone of many a busy woman's wardrobe. It's smart and very practical to assemble your own. Keep in mind a coat to lend itself to various costumes or, if you are on your toes and shop now while collections are dewey fresh, you will find lovely ensembles to stand by you for months to come.

One is a mossy green, gray and black combination of pure-dye silk with stone-gray velveteen coat, in youthful box style, just finger-tip length. The print of the frock is used to line the jacket, and folds gracefully into a long tuxedo collar. Novelty pockets and the squared-shoulder treatment are distinguishing features.

The newest creations for spring can best be described as having a delicate simplicity, contributed by the extensive use of new sheer fabrics. Prints, inspired by garden and landscape, come in colors that are clear but soft. In the same mood will be the use of two pastel shades with a stronger accent of a third color. This is especially effective in evening or dinner clothes, where the bright accent is easily accepted as a long sash or drapery, or in the use of flowers.

An example of this is a dress made with a voluminous skirt of grey chiffon that ties around a sheath of pale slate-blue. The bodice is trimmed with insets of gray lace, and a double bunch of deep yellow pansies are tucked in at the waist.

Lingerie touches in white and pale colors fo street frocks will be used extensively, but w will seek to give them a prim and demure ap pearance by a sparing use of such touches rathe than the usual "splashes."

Mannish designs will come forward in sprin furs this year, according to a leading designer This influence will be noticeable throughout th general silhouette, he says, but will be prom inent in squared shoulders. This will be tru both for capes and for coats. Mannish tailorin will be apparent in numerous pockets on sever lines. Capes will continue strong for spring an next fall. Cape lengths will range anywher from waist to little scarf-like ones that jus cover the shoulder. Mannishly tailored coat will be chiefly of the box type. Lengths wil vary from about 44 inches for swagger or box coats to about 47 inches for more fitted designs.

Footwear takes a tip from many othe branches of fashion and introduces embroideries In an all-over embroidered vamp theme fo afternoon and even for sports wear, this is pretty and feminine shoe idea which makes ever classic sandals look new. It is the type of sho many women like to wear with printed frocks It is a type to be represented in the drawin up of summer plans.

I thrust my hands into the yesterdays
And on my knees I cry—"O pardon me"—
Almost in tears, my trembling touch betrays
The love I have for treasures that I see.
My heart beats with the frailty of things
An ancient cap—a braided silken gown
Whose polonaise boasts grandeur that still clings
To a vision of ambition and renown.
I hold an ivory-tipped old parasol
And gently raise its silk above my head—
As if in prayer, my parted lips extol
These poor moth-eaten treasures of the dead.
I touch the interrupted yesterdays
And dare to smile at life—that now decays.

ALTURAS—ALTURAS NO. 159 HAD A dinner January 5 in honor of its twenty-ninth year of existence. Charter Members Annie Estes and Hazzie Scott were honor-guests, and other guests included Dr. and Mrs. Paul McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Drag, Mr. and Mrs. Marks Smith, James R. Laird, Leon M. Estes and Orville Boyd. Owing to the thermometer reading 27 degrees below zero, many members did not venture out, but those who did attend found the splendid turkey dinner and the excellent program compensated in warmth of spirit for the lack of atmospheric warmth.

The program was in accordance with suggestions of the State Committee on Education. The first part consisted of a clipping party, the clippings being taken from the January number of The Grizzly Bear and giving definite information on many timely and controversial subjects. The second part dealt with the female citizen in her relation to local, national and international developments. Dr. Paul McKinney ably discussed the subject of pre-natal care of mother and child, stressing the lack of co-operation the medical world is receiving along these lines and urging that the Native Daughters assist by being able to give out the correct information to those with whom they came in contact. Francis Drag, Modoc County rural supervisor, explained the new trends in education, so that a sympathetic relation might exist between the mother and the teacher. Marks Smith of the history and civics department of the Modoc County high school gave a scholarly talk on current events and their effect on the women of other nations, in comparison with the privileges and freedom enjoyed by the Native Daughters of California.

Retiring President Banqueted.

Oakland—At impressive ceremonies January 19, the officers of Argonaut No. 166 and Claremont No. 240 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed. Deputies Dorothy Davis and William Dombrink officiated, and Marie Fontes and George Ramos became the respective presidents. Louise Fratus was presented a past president jewel. Refreshments and dancing followed the ceremonies. Louise Kehoe and Raymond Burke were co-chairmen of the affair.

January 18, Argonaut sponsored a banquet honoring Josephine Lauricella, former president, whose term was most successful. She was complimented on the Parlor's large membership gain during her regime. Deputy Dorothy Davis was also a guest. The testimonial was arranged by Margie Welsh (chairman), Gen Sheehan and Mamie Ramos.

Members of the Argonaut-Albany drill team had a jolly party January 11 at the home of President Jo Lauricella in honor of the birthday of Major Andrew Chessie, drill instructor. During the Christmas holidays two members of the team—Grayce Higgins of Albany and Louise Fratus of Argonaut—announced their engagements.

"Winter Wonderland."

San Rafael—The wintertime decorations of Marinita No. 198 for the January 11 public installation of officers were most appropriate, as the night previous snow blanketed many parts of Marin County. At the president's station was a garden, and artificial snow descended. In front of the first vice-president's station was a large snowman.

Deputy Julia Arbini conducted the installation ceremonies, and was assisted by Past Grand Emma G. Foley, Grand Vice-president Ethel Begley, Anna G. Loser and Supervising Deputy Vida Vollers. As Oramay Perry was installed as president, she was escorted to her station by members of the drill team. They carried white and silver muffs, lettered to read "Success to Oramay."

Dancing was enjoyed after the ceremonies, and then the assemblage proceeded to the banquetroom, also attractive in winter decorations, with miniature snow-tipped trees placed at intervals. The committee in charge of the evening's festivities included Violet Schumaker (chairman), Irene Griffin, Ann Andrade, Georgianna Gabb, Ruth Rodgers, Emma Leveroni, Evelyn Griffin, May Zappetini, Marie Buffanno, Vida Vollers and Eugenie Watson.

here alone. I discovered the Indians approaching our camp, which was situated in a brushy place. I loaded the gun we had and suggested that all hide themselves. The two oldest girls ran and hid, and a sixteen-year-old boy went alone to a hiding place. The women and smaller children secreted ourselves in a small cave in the bank of the ravine. I could hear the Indians above, but they did not discover us. I had forgotten to hide our money that we had along and with which we intended to buy cattle in California. After they had pillaged the camp and taken the money (about $10,000) they started off and discovered the two oldest girls. They succeeded in catching my girl because her dress got tangled in the brush. She was twelve years old. The other girl reported that she could hear the blows and her sister's screams as they struck her down.

"We all returned to camp and heard the girl's story, but did not find my girl as she had recovered sufficiently to wander around in search of help. We found her the next day, but oh, the anxiety I felt during that long night. Yes we found her, and my anguish was horrible when I discovered that she had been scalped and was partially deranged. My husband and seventeen men followed the Indians 200 miles, but never caught up with them.

"We then came through to California without one fight, which we had with the Apaches at Cook's Springs in New Mexico. My husband died in Los Angeles in February, 1888. My daughter who was scalped died in Fresno when she was eighteen years old from the injuries she received six years before.

"We lived in Owens River Valley at the time of the earthquake there. I have enjoyed riches and suffered the pangs of poverty. I have seen U. S. Grant when he was little known. I have baked bread for Fremont, and talked with Kit Carson. I have run from bear and killed most of her smaller game. There, I've touched slightly on prominent incidents of my past life, and you will have to be satisfied with that for the present."

["A Journey to California" by John Bidwell gives among the members of his party Isaih Kelsey, Samuel Kelsey and family, Andrew Kelley, Benj. Kelsey and family. They started May 3, 1841, two miles west of Kansas River, arrived at Dr. Marsh's November 4, 1841. The party consisted of sixty-nine, including men, women and children. "Later thirty-two of our party concluded to go with the missionary party to Fort Hall and thence find their way down Snake and Columbia Rivers into Oregon. The rest of us—also thirty-two in number, including Benjamin Kelsey, his wife and little daughter,—remained firm, refusing to divert from our original purpose of going direct to California."—Bartleson, Bidwell Party.]

GORDON'S FERRY SITE TO BE DEDICATED

BAKERSFIELD (KERN COUNTY)—SUNday, January 31, Bakersfield Parlor No. 42 N.S.G.W. and El Tejon Parlor No. 239 N.D.G.W., together with the Kern County Chamber of Commerce, will dedicate a marker near the site of Gordon's Ferry over Kern River. Under a state law, the director of the Department of Natural Resources is authorized to register and number historical landmarks, provided those suggested for registration are of sufficient importance to be recognized by the State. Under a companion measure passed at the same time, the State Highway Commission is directed to erect signs of a uniform nature directing travel to the registered landmarks.

The signs furnished by the State Department of Natural Resources are not of sufficient durability to make a permanent marker, therefore the Kern County Chamber of Commerce had made a bronze plaque which, it is believed, will last for many years. The office of Edwin J. Symmes prepared the plans for the plaque, and it will be placed upon a monument to be erected by Supervisor J. A. Hinman.

Through the efforts of Principal Herman A. Spindt of the Kern County Union high school, there are now nine historical sites registered for Kern County: Gordon's Ferry, Kernville, Fort Tejon, Willow Springs, Sebastian Indian Reservation, Walkers Pass, Keysville, Havilah and Oak Creek Pass.

Of these, Gordon's Ferry was chosen to be marked first on account of its accessibility, as it lies at the foot of China Grade, just a few yards to the west of where the present highway crosses Kern River. In the '50s and early '60s Gordon's Ferry was the point on lower Kern River where all the trails and roads from both north and south converged.

From the south: The Willow Springs-Oak Creek road from the Mojave Desert approached the San Joaquin Valley by way of Tehachapi Creek, and entered the San Joaquin Valley either by Caliente Creek or White Wolf Grade. The Los Angeles San Francisquito Canyon-Antelope Valley-Tejon Pass Road approached the San Joaquin Valley by way of Tejon Creek and Rancho El Tejon. The Los Angeles San Francisquito Canyon-Antelope Valley-Canada de las Uvas road approached the San Joaquin Valley by way of Canada de las Uvas (Grape Vine Canyon). The Los Angeles San Francisquito Canyon-Cuddy Valley-San Emidio Canyon road approached the San Joaquin Valley by way of San Emidio Canyon.

From the north: The so-called Stockton road followed the Butterfield Overland Mail stage route, and later stage lines which followed a line almost due north from present-day Oil Center to Poso Creek, Mountain Springs (now old Willow Springs), White River, thence northwest to Tule River (Porterville) and Visalia. An emigrant road ran northwest from Gordon's Ferry, but east of the present line of the Southern Pacific railroad, and lastly a road ran to Juan's Rancheria, an Indian village of the '50s, on the southern shore of Tulare Lake, near the present village of Pond.

Gordon's Ferry was an overhead cable type of ferry, operated from the early '50s, probably 1853, to 1860 by Major Gordon. An adobe station house was located on the south bank of Kern River. Gordon's Ferry was also a station on the Butterfield Overland Mail stage route from 1858 to 1860. The other historical landmarks mentioned above are to be marked and dedicated at a later date. The plaques are now in the process of making.

Hal Bannister, committeeman of the Kern County Chamber of Commerce in charge of historical signs and also chairman of the Native Sons history and landmarks committee, and Ona Moffett, chairman of the Native Daughters history and landmarks committee, have arranged the program for the marker's dedication.

No doubt remains that Nancy Kelsey was a remarkable woman of whom her descendants, if any are living, can be justly proud. It was a great privilege to have been her friend.

(At the N.D.G.W. Grand Parlor in Stockton during June, this essay was awarded the $5 prize offered by Past Grand President Esther R. Sullivan, chairman Grand Parlor California History and Landmarks Committee, for the best Pioneer Mother essay. Mrs. Minnie B. Heath of Miocene Parlor No. 228 (Taft) wrote the essay, which was given to The Grizzly Bear for publication by Miss Sullivan.—Editor.)

NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW

(STANLEY A. HEDBERG.)

ATTRACTING MORE THAN A QUARTER of a million visitors who come from all parts of the world annually to thrill at a sight that can be seen nowhere else on the face of the globe, the National Orange Show, California's greatest mid-winter event, will be held in San Bernardino, February 18 to 28. The Orange Show, an international institution, is celebrating its twenty-seventh anniversary this year. According to show officials, this year's citrus exposition will surpass in splendor and lavishness any previous show in its history.

"Gay Hollywood" is the theme for the 1937 Orange Show, and the enormous exposition buildings are being transformed into a brilliant Hollywood stage setting, with all the color and glamour displayed by the movie world. The setting for the National Orange Show in San Bernardino is an unusual one. Before one crosses the portals to see King Orange and 999,999 or more of his orange subjects blended in gorgeously beautiful designs, an awe-inspiring scene is forever etched in one's mind. An Orange Show slogan of the past of "From a million oranges to snow sports in less than an hour," describes the setting. Words, however, cannot describe the towering peaks, rugged and defiant, rising nearby some 10,000 feet into the blue sky. The warm rays of the sun—a summer sun in February—glisten on the high peaks, brilliant white with snow. Below in the valley—in fact all about you—are thousands and thousands of acres of bright green orange groves heavily laden with golden fruit. It is a striking picture, so colorful and rare that it staggers even the most fertile imagination.

Arthur H. Brouse, serving his second term as president of the Orange Show and the Board of Directors, many of whom have been serving the show faithfully since its inception, are leaving no stone unturned, for they are determined to make this year's affair outstanding. The huge National Orange Show exposition buildings, more than 900 feet long, 135 feet wide and 60 feet high, without a pillar or post in the great structures, have been entirely renovated and completely decorated. Outside, a landscaping program costing thousands of dollars will have spacious green lawns, shrubs, trees, and seasonal flowers blooming in profusion, when the doors open for the eleven-day run February 18.

"The twenty-seventh annual National Orange Show this year," President Brouse says, "will be a completely new show in every detail. It will be more elaborate, lavish, colorful and entertaining than ever before. Many innovations and surprises have been planned by the management which, together with the regular features that have made the 'Friendly City's' Orange Show internationally famous, will result in the greatest show in its twenty-seven years of existence." And he is right. More prize money, costlier decorations, added attractions of nation-wide appeal, all will tend to thrill the Orange Show visitor as never before.

A complete model orange packing plant, with the latest and most modern equipment, will be operated daily, so that visitors from far and near may see how California's famous citrus products are packed and shipped to all parts of the world. Arrangements have been made which will also enable visitors to ship boxes of oranges to relatives and friends direct from the show building.

Approximately fourteen cities, counties, communities, chambers of commerce and service organizations will be represented in the feature exhibit division of the Orange Show, F. E. Peachey, chairman of the feature committee, says. All space for this department has been allotted, and competition between the exhibitors this year is keener than ever before, all being determined to capture top honors for the best displays in this section of the show. Some of the feature displays will have motion, others will be stationary, but all will be colorful and interesting.

One of the first to be installed was that of the United States Forestry service, under the direction of William V. Jones, superintendent of the San Bernardino District of the National Forestry Department. According to Ernest Wynkoop, the display will depict, by means of miniature mobile equipment, the efforts of the Forestry Service to check and eradicate the damage done annually to the orange industry by forest fires and mountain floods. Blazing forest fires, ruthless floods, and all the drama connected with the struggle to control them, will be vividly portrayed, he says.

The by-products department, a new Orange Show feature this year, is expected to create tremendous interest, for the ever-increasing list of orange, lemon and grapefruit by-products will be displayed to advantage, George W. Wolf, chairman of the committee handling this section of the show, says. Commercial displays are expected to reach an all-time high in elaborateness and unique presentation of the products exhibited, O. L. Cowen, chairman of the industrial division, promises.

Joseph E. Rich, chairman of the decoration committee, discloses that the "Gay Hollywood" theme this year will be the most costly and elaborate in the history of the Orange Show. Visitors, he says, will gasp in amazement at the splendor and lavishness of the interior decorations. The "Gay Hollywood" theme is being carried out by the use of 70,000 square yards of expensive materials which cover the entire ceiling and walls of the exposition buildings. Thousands of yards of costly velours, satins and broadcloth in pastel shades, some costing $1.50 to $2.50 a yard, have transformed the interior into the most dazzling Hollywood stage setting ever seen. Twenty enormous glistening stars, twenty feet in diameter, emblematic of the leading screen personalities, are suspended from the ceilings. Additional thousands of candlepower will be used to bring out the effect of the rich-toned velours and satins serving as an effective background and stage setting for King Orange and his hundreds of thousands of orange subjects.

The chairman of the awards and fruit exhibits, John Andreson, has worked out an extensive program of prizes and awards which, due to an increased budget this year, will be considerably higher than in past shows.

The entertainment features, Chairman R. E. Roberts predicts, will be in keeping with the "Gay Hollywood" theme and will consist of only the highest class performers. Hundreds of gorgeous girls, topnotch singers and entertainers, together with a world-renowned orchestra, is but a part of the most elaborate and extensive entertainment program of any previous Orange Show. The "fun zone," the famous midway section, of the Orange Show has been entirely rebuilt. J. H. Wilson, chairman of this committee, advises that the features there will be "unsurpassed."

Orange Show, Louis Wolff reports, is far in advance of those of last year, with the final total expected to exceed the previous year's figures by more than fifty percent.

The show this year has been placed on the capable shoulders of William Starke who, although serving his first term as general manager, is a veteran, having been engaged in Orange Show affairs for many years as a member of the Board of Directors. He served as president in 1930, and is thoroughly familiar with the details of the organization. Under his guidance, and with the hearty and unstinted support given him by the Board of Directors, the 1937 Orange Show will be the "greatest in history."

Officers and directors of the show are as follows: President, Arthur H Brouse; vice-president, Everett H Swing; treasurer, J H Wilson, general manager, William Starke. The Board of Directors and committee chairmen consist of the following: J. Dale Gentry, admissions; Louis Wolff, advance tickets; B L Holmes, auto parking; John Andreson, awards and fruit exhibits; H. C. GRAND PRESIDENT INVITED.

San Bernardino Officers of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W., with Ray B. Finkle as president, were installed January 13 by District Deputy Walter E. Hiskey, who was accompanied from Santa Ana by several members of Santa Ana Parlor. Entertainment and refreshments followed the ceremonies. January 20 Mart Higgins presented several good reasons for sponsoring San Bernardino's proposed historical museum, and initiation was held January 27.

Arrowhead has extended an invitation to Grand President Hartley Russell, Lieutenant-governor George Hatfield and others to attend the official opening of the National Orange Show February 18. William Starke, a member of the Parlor, is the show's manager.

January 18, several members of Arrowhead accompanied District Deputy Leslie D. Case on a visit to Santa Ana No. 265, where he installed the officers of that Parlor, with H. C. Fulton as president.

BENEFIT FOR HOMELESS CHILDREN.

San Bernardino—The re-elected officers of Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W., with Thelma Nett as president, were installed by Deputy Genevieve Hiskey January 16. A potluck dinner, with Mildred Meyers and Lillian Flack in charge, preceded the meeting. Large clusters of holly were used as decorations for the evening. January 25 the officers met at the home of President Nett and made plans for coming events.

January 27 was past presidents night at Lugonia, and they filled the several stations and put on an entertainment. Eva Bemis was in charge of the evening. January 28 a luncheon was served for the benefit of the homeless children. Rhoda Smith was the general chairman.

HISTORIC COLUMBIA DEDICATES ELEMENTARY SCHOOL BUILDING.

Columbia (Tuolumne County)—The new Columbia elementary school building, costing $30,000, was dedicated January 3. The program was in charge of the school's board of trustees, with Clerk Ruth Cynthia Kress presiding. Dr. Walter F. Dexter delivered the dedicatory address, and musical selections were furnished by the orchestra and the glee club of the Sonora Union high school.

Speaking for Columbia Parlor No. 258 N.S.G.W., Rowan Hardin said the new building is "a monument to the advancement and progress of the people of Columbia." A plaque, unveiled by Dr. Charles W. Burseh, is embellished with a facsimile of the former red-brick schoolhouse which was used from 1862 for seventy-two consecutive years.

THE COLORFUL LANDSEEKERS OF CALIFORNIA

Milton I. Schwartz

THE STORY OF THE SQUATTER IN California is a romantic story of the pioneer, and is filled with all the glamour of the adventurer. But it is also a very grim story of the early frontiersman who organized the State of California through one of the most brutal movements ever to be undertaken in this state. As has often been said, it took a great drought in the summer of 1845 to point out to the people of California that their land was valuable, that they must cultivate and use it for agriculture, as well as merely for their original livelihood of raising cattle.

But who was instrumental in actually bringing about this change? Not the great landholders of California who found their land ruined by this drought, for they knew nothing whatsoever of agriculture. Not the United States Government, which was busy with seemingly more important matters, for it was too far away to be impressive anyway. Rather, it took the rough-and-ready actions of the squatters to start the ball rolling in California, even though they were primarily working for their own interests.

It has been a great surprise to me to discover the various conceptions that different people have as to just what a squatter was, and exactly what his purposes were during that very active period of about fifteen years beginning with 1846. First of all, please let it be clearly understood that the squatter was never filled with heroic ideals. Whatever benefits this territory received from him are purely accidental. The squatter's only definite purpose was to earn, through various means, a decent living for himself. However, we should not be too critical of his methods, his get-rich-quick schemes, or his short-cuts to success, for remember that the squatter himself is gone, but his work and his results still occupy a stirring chapter in the history of California. So, for the present, let us be chiefly concerned with these.

Soon after California had been ceded to the United States, settlers, adventurers, pioneers, backwoodsmen of the hardest type migrated here from every conceivable direction and literally squatted on land in California, claiming it free for the taking. After all, this movement was only typical of American adventurers, for the land was here, it needed to be cultivated, and someone had to do it. Where, then, was the great problem which sprung up as soon as squatting came into active practice?

The real difficulty lay in the contents of the treaty with Mexico. We must remember that, prior to 1846, land in California could scarcely be said to have had any value whatsoever. Mexico, which owned it then, gave huge estates to faithful citizens and friends of the Mexican government, merely to keep its strength centralized in California. These vast estates should be very familiar to all of us, for they represent the well-known famous Mexican land grants.

The American squatter, of course, was ignorant. He knew nothing of Mexican land grants, and cared less. The squatter knew only that in 1848 that extreme western territory known as California had been ceded to the United States of America, and that it offered room for a great spreading out of the population, an opportunity which he by no means overlooked. But he did neglect to notice that in the treaty with Mexico which made California a part of the United States, these same Mexican land grants were pledged to be recognized. Mexico, in other words, was not yet ready to relinquish all her claim in California. Thus there arose great differences of opinion, to put it mildly, between the squatters on the one hand and the previous residents of California on the other. In addition, these differences terminated in the squatters literally settling bag, baggage and family upon any desirable land, occupied or unoccupied.

We may point to a very clear picture of this early sentiment aroused between the two, very close to our own homes, only some thirty miles south of here, to be exact. Having calmly settled his family on the eastern strip of a Mexican grant, one especially rugged squatter defied the owner to drive him off. As a consequence, the landholders assembled and secured a small cannon with which they humorously opened fire on the surly trespasser. The squatter, however, had prepared himself with a very effective barricade, and it seemed that at a range where the

DO IT TODAY!

(BERNARD G. HISS.)

THE MEMBERS OF SANTA MONICA Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. have initiated preparations to make the celebration of Admission Day 1937 one of the greatest in the history of the state. Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz has accepted the chairmanship of the general committee. At a meeting January 26 at the Women's Atheltic Club, he was pledged full support and co-operation by all the Los Angeles County Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters.

Chairman Biscailuz announced that Assemblyman Thomas J. Cunningham, a member of Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W., has introduced, and other Native Sons in the Assembly have sponsored, a bill in the State Legislature to secure State recognition of Admission Day for this and future years.

Admission Day is the only holiday throughout the year that is particularly Californian. In the past, apart from a proclamation by the governor, the anniversary of California's admittance into the Union has not been recognized by the State Government. This, to some extent at least, is responsible for the general lack of interest on the part of business and the public.

The Admission Day Committee desires to secure the assistance of all members of the Grand Parlors and the Subordinate Parlors of the Native Sons and the Native Daughters to bring about the passage of this bill. The committee points out that great assistance can be given by the Parlors, both Native Sons and Native Daughters, passing resolutions endorsing and requesting the passage of the measure, known as Assembly Concurrent Resolution No. 15, and forwarding them, signed by the officers, to both the speaker of the Assembly and the lieutenant-governor, who presides over the Senate. Individual Native Sons and Native Daughters also should write to their assemblymen and senators, urging the passage of this measure.

A letter written TODAY will NOT be forgotten, and will guarantee greater recognition of California's birthday this year and in the years to come.

WAS SHE SURPRISED!

Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. adopted another baby, January 6, and named her "Edna," in honor of President Edna Trombatore. This is the second baby for the term, the first being named "George," in honor of Miss Trombatore's fiance. To increase the membership of the Parlor two teams, that will be engaged in a friendly campaign, have been named. Evelyn Trautwein (captain), Juanita Porter, Anna Marie Dunlay, Juliette De Nubila and Elsie Ruiz constitute one team, and Olinda Kerby (captain), Gertrude Allen, Clara Lindsey, Sophie Rosshirt and Jennie Raymond the other. The team bringing in the most members prior to July 1 will be rewarded.

President Trombatore was honored January 16 with a surprise kitchen and bathroom shower at the home of Louise McNary. This was the sewing club's afternoon, and following a delicious luncheon, served by the hostess, Leonie Clos, Gladys Byram, Edna Holcomb, Olinda Kerby and Lucille Cline, Miss Trombatore was escorted into the livingroom, where sixty friends and package upon package of lovely and useful gifts awaited her. Was she surprised, and excited!

February 5, 8:30 p.m., Los Angeles will have an "at home" at the Women's University Club, for prospective members. Louise McNary, the chairman, will be assisted by Juanita Porter, Leonie Clos, Ann Schiebusch, Elsie Amidon, Edna Holcomb and the hospitality committee. February 17 the Parlor will be hostess to Lugonia, Ontario, Reina del Mar, Santa Ana and Verdugo Parlors. A program will be presented, and refreshments will be served. The sewing club will meet February 20 at the home of Lillian Spinner. The hostess will be assisted by Clara Bird, Ethel Kennedy, Ellen Wilson, Nellie Nisbet and Helen Lips.

NATIVE SONS LUNCHEON CLUB.

At the January 15 gathering of the Native Sons Friday Luncheon Club in the Rosslyn Hotel, Charles A. Son presented chanters from the Elks Lodge who delighted with their selections.

January 22, Raymond Haight, who had just returned from a European trip, told of conditions in the ten countries he visited. It was a most interesting talk, and all expressed a desire to hear more from him. He was introduced by Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer.

February 19, Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt will deliver a Washington-Lincoln address. The subject and the speaker should attract a large crowd. Walter Odemar will preside.

Become a "fan" of the luncheon club, which is in session every Friday, 12:15 noon, on the eleventh floor of the Rosslyn Hotel. You'll get a lot of pleasure, also reliable information on current events, by associating with the "gang."

INSPIRING REPORTS OF GOOD WORK.

Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. opened the new year most auspiciously, with the same staff of efficient officers, headed by Lena Teague Burrows as president. January 12 officers and committee chairmen presented inspiring reports of good work done by the homeless children, welfare, and history and landmarks departments, and the Gertrude sewing circle. It was announced that Grand President Florence Boyle will make her official visit the first meeting in March, and arrangements for her reception are going forward.

Birthday honorees were present at the luncheon, when Mrs. David Ray gave an interesting talk on "Phases of Motion Pictures," telling of the good work being done for better and more uplifting plays. The latest development is the abstract musical film in color and in black and white. Lillian Burkhardt Goldsmith, commentator, home from a recent trip to New York by airplane, told amusing tales of her journey. She concluded with a pleasing rendition of "The cannon really became interested. The squatter's the way even more deadly. Tame, the readily tolerated, and the land-hungry squatter surprisingly fast, leaving the squatter unmolested.

Even from such a simple illustration as this, it is not difficult for us to see that the squatter was crude in his methods, and that he cared little for the lives and property of others. But his results in splitting up much of the territory proved a real aid in the solution of land problems subsequent to that time.

Let us be certain, though, not to confuse this rush and scramble for land with the thrilling discovery of gold in California in 1849, but remember that much of this took place long before gold had ever even been thought of out here. Consequently, the squatter's only salvation was to cultivate the soil, and it is mainly for this that we remember him. When we say, then, that in those early days the state depended for its force and strength almost entirely upon the squatter interest, we understand that this refers to the land and to the soil, and not to the claims staked during the gold rush.

Even General John Sutter, who is almost entirely remembered for the brilliant part that he played in the gold rush, was mixed up in one of the most violent land riots of all those in California, which took place right here on the grounds of historic Sutter's Fort. Obviously, the squatters argued that no one man rightfully deserved or merited as much territory as Sutter possessed, for he was the owner of one of the largest grants in this part of the country. Therefore, one cold wintry night, they camped in tents on the grounds surrounding the fort, threatening to forcibly confiscate this land.

Here was Sutter in a real predicament. He by no means wished to open fire on them, for he knew practically all of the squatters personally; yet he was pitifully outnumbered, and he absolutely refused to give up any of his rightfully acquired territory. Thus, there finally ensued a hideous riot, the total deaths being estimated at over 100. And the solution was reached only when a squatter himself drew up a proposal of peace, the terms of which are now unimportant. The significant fact is, that while Sutter was finally saved, the squatter riots increased, with as much bloodshed as ever before, until the state was definitely settled.

We, as citizens, may justly condemn the squatter for his utter disregard of the laws of our country; we have every right to abuse him for his inexcusable treatment of the peaceful landholders of California, yet we must praise him to the skies for the results that he brought about. The splitting up of the countless huge cattle-grazing estates is a change essential to the well-being of any progressive nation; the transformation of this land into well-run, highly productive, economical farms is without doubt the greatest service ever rendered this state through accidental selfishness. How we have advanced agriculturally is a source of pride to all of us, and we may honestly say, in regards to the squatter, that through his interests what at first appeared a calamity to a few, later proved a real blessing to the entire nation.

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

THERE WAS A GENEROUS FALL OF rain throughout California during February 1887. Six inches of snow fell in San Francisco February 5, there was a cloudburst at Susanville, Lassen County, February 6, and a new iron bridge in Butte County was washed away February 13. C. J. Fay, a San Francisco mailcarrier, had one of his toes frozen February 5, and that was the first case of its kind ever reported there.

Los Angeles and surroundings were visited by a terrific storm February 13 and 14. Rail traffic was delayed, bridge approaches were washed out, and rain came down in torrents in San Pedro, Lancaster and the entire Antelope Valley.

The State Legislature was in session at Sacramento. Senator A. Caminetti of Amador County introduced a bill appropriating $5,000 to aid in the erection of a monument at Coloma, El Dorado County, honoring James W. Marshall, who made there the world-famous gold find that attracted hordes to California.

Long John Wilkins, the Negro lobbyist, had an argument with Sergeant-at-Arms John W. Wilcox of the Senate and his clerk, and had them arrested for battery. In return, they had him arrested for threats against life.

Major J. R. Pico of Los Angeles was in attendance at the Legislature in the interest of his claim for $3,400 for raising two companies of militia for the Civil War.

The Los Angeles City Council adopted a new charter February 15, and appointed a committee to visit Sacramento and urge its passage by the Legislature.

Major Hendershott, "The Drummer Boy of the Rappahannock," was a visitor in Sacramento February 7.

In the San Francisco Grand Opera House February 9 an unsuccessful attempt on the life of Adelini Patti was made by a crank who exploded a bomb.

At Stockton February 9 bids were opened for the erection of a new court house. The bids ranged from $290,000 for granite to $190,000 for artificial stone.

W. H. Mills, Southern Pacific land agent, after returning to San Francisco from a southland visit, prophesied a great future for Los Angeles and surrounding country.

Four hundred and seventy-three flasks of quicksilver were shipped from the Napa mines during the month.

The levee at Grimes, Colusa County, broke February 13 and threatened to inundate surrounding country.

A postoffice was established at Clear Lake, Modoc County, with I. J. Straw as postmaster.

The Los Angeles City Council granted a franchise February 1 to M. L. Wicks and associates for a double-track cable railway.

There was great indignation in Fresno over the proposal to create a new county, to be known as Lanchner, out of portions of Fresno and Tulare Counties.

February 4 the Mariposa stage was upset in a stream near Hornitos and both horses drowned.

Wm. Shepard Dewey, a well known San Francisco journalist, died there February 19.

There was an epidemic of smallpox at Los Angeles, and the authorities were worried.

George and Josiah Poteet were frozen to death in the mountains near Sonora, Tuolumne County, while out hunting February 20.

M. Harrington of Benicia, Solano County, tried to crawl through a fence and drag his gun after him. He died February 20.

(ADVERTISEMENT.)

[illegible] Parlor No. 178 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect and tribute to the memory of our late beloved Sister and Charter Member Ethel Browning, [illegible] the following:

Whereas, The Heavenly Father in His wisdom has sent His Messenger Death into our midst and summoned home our beloved Sister Ethel, the severe loss of fraternity and friendship is one that is [illegible] for, in every phase of life she followed the precepts of the Golden Rule and the Order of the Native Daughters of the Golden West. Her clear, sweet voice, which to most people to many, has been stilled forever, but to those who were privileged to call her sister and friend, beautiful memories and lasting affection still be theirs to cherish

"Dance happy, then, if some one can say I live because she passed my way." In Love, gracious and loving, in Death, smiling and serene, she passed to the Great Portal beyond.

"There is no Death. The stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore,
And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown
They shine forever more."

Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the members of Castro Parlor No. 178 N.D.G.W., extend deepest and heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved husband and family of the deceased sister, and be it further resolved that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor, that an engrossed copy be sent the family, and that a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear for publication.

SANTA BARBARA

CALIFORNIA'S QUEEN CITY

"If You Like California You'll Love Santa Barbara"

SUN KISSED SANTA BARBARA

SANTA BARBARA'S HISTORY IS ONE OF interest and fascination, for it figures in the earliest records of California. In 1542 Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, discoverer of Alta California, sailed into the Channel. In 1602 Sebastian Vizcaino anchored in Santa Barbara waters and gave the place its name. In 1770 Father Junipero Serra paused in Santa Barbara on his journey to Monterey. In 1782 he founded the presidio and selected the site of the present mission, which grounds were consecrated in 1786 by his successor, Father Fermin de Lasuen.

The atmosphere of Santa Barbara's Spanish era has been successfully perpetuated. The city has developed a charmingly informal and harmonious style of architecture in the business district. Attractive, rambling buildings with red roofs, balconies gay with blossoming plants, and cool flower-filled patios house business establishments. One of the community's notable public buildings is the famous Santa Barbara County Court House, said to be the most beautiful structure of its kind on the North American continent. Centered in extensive, landscaped grounds, this building, Spanish-Moorish in design, with original and colorful interior decorations, has attracted world-wide notice.

In Santa Barbara one finds a high type of citizenry—people drawn to the community by an appreciation of natural beauty, beneficent climate, abundant activity, cultural advantages and excellent educational facilities. It is the home of noted painters, sculptors, writers and musicians.

"Old Spanish Days" observed at the full of the moon each August, is one of the nation's most picturesque celebrations, and represents the hight of community pageantry. Its magnificent plays, pageants, parades and other entertainments are based on episodes of the town's early days. During the fiesta the community is a blaze of color, and most of the population wear quaint early California costumes. In no other place in the world, perhaps, can one see such an aggregation of magnificent, richly caparisoned horses as in the fiesta parade.

Santa Barbara City is located one hundred miles north of Los Angeles and three hundred and fifty miles south of San Francisco. Its population, including suburbs, is forty thousand. It is essentially a home and resort community, with a limited, though rich, agricultural background. Semi-tropical in climate and foliage, it is one of the few communities in the country where outdoor life and recreations may be enjoyed twelve months of the year.

Santa Barbara is frequently called "more typically Californian than California itself." Rigid adherence to true California architecture, careful preservation of early-day relics like the historic Santa Barbara Mission, and a natural heritage of the carefree spirit of manana and old western hospitality probably are the reasons for this. There is always plenty to do in Santa Barbara, but nobody is ever in a hurry.

Santa Barbara is blessed with an abundance and variety of splendid hotels, apartments, bungalows, motor lodges, cottages, and estates to fit every taste and purse. One may live on the ocean shore, or high in the green hills back of the city; in the heart of the business district, or out in a lovely residential section. You can choose perfect quiet and seclusion or brilliant gaiety, or a combination of both.

Beautiful homes look out to the sea and islands and command inspiring views. Hope Ranch, ten minutes' drive from center historic Santa Barbara.

"AMERICANISM" THEME OF NATIVES' JOINT INSTALLATION CEREMONIES.

"Americanism" was the theme for the joint public installation of officers of Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W. and Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 N.D.G.W., January 7, and it was a particularly fitting one, this being the sesquicentennial year of the Constitution of the United States of America. Using the theme as his subject, Superior Judge Atwell Westwick delivered a stirring, patriotism-building address.

Deputies A. C. Dinsmore and Mrs. Marion Arroqui-Roser officiated at the installation ceremonies, which were followed by entertainment, with Supervising Deputy Amelia Acres as the program chairman. The social side of the occasion was successfully handled by the past presidents associations, with Mrs. Martin J. Coan Jr. and F. V. Vestal as chairmen. Reception chairmen were Mrs. L. C. Miles and Paul Sweetser, county historian. The officers installed included:

Native Sons—F. V. Vestal, junior past president; Leland Holiday, president; A. C. Janssens, first vice-president; Frank Huffman, second vice-president; Ray Lathim, third vice-president; Harry C. Sweetser, recording secretary; W. R. Vick, financial secretary; C. W. McCormick, treasurer; Dan Taylor, marshal; Walter Commings, inside sentinel; Wenford Rutherford, outside sentinel; Frank Greenough, organist; James Sloan, John L. Stewart, George Black, trustees.

Native Daughters—Mrs. John D. Ross, past president; Mrs. Wesley McCormick, president; Mrs. Dorothy Yule, first vice-president; Mrs. Patrick Henry, second vice-president; Mrs. Frank Holzbauer, third vice-president; Miss Ruth Fleckser, recording secretary; Mrs. Paul Miller, financial secretary; Dr. Anna E. McCaughey, treasurer; Mrs. Justine Meloling, marshal; Miss Audrey Cooley, inside sentinel; Mrs. Sylvia Griffith, outside sentinel; Miss Mildred O'Neill, organist; Mrs. R. Schuld, Mrs. A. J. Janssens, Mrs. William L. Wegener, trustees.

BURIAL PLACE DISCOVERER CABRILLO MARKED WITH MARBLE CROSS.

A marble monument, in the form of a cross, honoring the memory of Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, discoverer of California, was dedicated January 3 on San Miguel Island, the burial place of the noted explorer. The occasion was sponsored by the Cabrillo Civic Clubs, headed by Captain I. A. Bonilla, a descendant of one of the early Portuguese explorers.

The Coast Guard boat "Hermes," Lieutenant-Commander C. W. Thomas, chief officer, conveyed many notables of San Francisco and Santa Barbara to the island, where they were met by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lester and their two children, San Miguel's only inhabitants.

The impressive dedicatory ceremonies were conducted by Grand President Manuel Sylva of the Cabrillo Civic Clubs, Father Bertram Hobrecht and Father Hugh Noonan of Santa Barbara Mission. Dr. Joaquin Leite, professor of Portuguese at the University of California, unveiled the monument, which bears the inscription: "Joao Rodrigues Cabrilho, discoverer of California 1542. Isle of burial 1543. Cabrillo Civic Clubs January 3, 1937." The monument has been placed upon a ridge half-way between Cuyler's Harbor and the island ranch house. It is atop a five-foot rock base, the center of which is filled with relics picked up on the island. Outlined against the sky, the marble cross may be seen far out in the channel.

Dr. Leite said that the burial place of Cabrillo has often been argued, but that after tracing the discoverer's route he could prove definitely that San Miguel was the spot. "I have covered the discoverer's route in Mexico and California," he commented, "and it ended at San Miguel Island."

trol in the troop. A special feature will be given by the first aid team which won honors in a recent first aid demonstration.

President Leland Holiday announces that on February 18 Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer will pay his official visit to Santa Barbara Parlor. The membership committee, headed by District Deputy A. C. Dinsmore, promises to have a large class of candidates for initiation. The meeting will be preceded by a dinner, arranged by the good of the order committee, headed by Frank Huffman and Ray Lathim. First Vice-president A. J. Janssens is planning music and entertainment for the dinner hour.

Tentative plans by Chairman Harry Sweetser are being made for the dedication of the new Post Office building in Santa Barbara. This Federal project, nearing completion, is situated near El Paseo in Santa Barbara.

Santa Barbara's Old Spanish Days Fiesta will be held August 19, 20 and 21—evenings in the full of the moon, when the Queen City, nestling between the sea and the mountains, is attired in all its splendor. The Native Sons and the Native Daughters will, as always, have a prominent part in the doings. District Deputy A. C. Dinsmore has again been appointed the general chairman of the sheriff's posse participation,—the outstanding feature of the Fiesta—and will be assisted by Harry Sweetser, Captain W. H. Rutherford and others.

SANTA BARBARA NATIVE DAUGHTERS SPONSOR MILK FUND FOR THE NEEDY.

Santa Barbara—Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 N.D.G.W. swings into long-continued community activity with a 1937 program of wide range and great promise. Behind lays 1936, a year of distinct achievement under President Lydia Ross, one which undoubtedly strengthened the position of the organization in the Channel City and throughout the wide-flung county in which it is the only Parlor.

Having succeeded, in co-operation with the Native Sons and other patriotic organizations, in having the Island Ironwood, which grows wild on Santa Barbara Channel islands, adopted as the official Santa Barbara County tree, Reina del Mar now is aiding in having designated as the official State of California tree the Redwood (Sequoia sempervirens). The Parlor has heartily endorsed this move, inaugurated by Santa Barbara Parlor N.S.G.W.

A most interesting meeting January 19 began with a potluck supper, with Mrs. Frank Holzbauer at the head of the social committee. Mrs. Wesley McCormick launched her new presidential administration by issuing a questionnaire designed to localize interest in carrying out the objectives of the several Grand Parlor standing committees, such as history, landmarks, roster, veterans welfare, education, extension of the order, homeless children, ritual, press and scholarship. Each member was asked to indicate the committee objective she would like most to serve. Other questions were should the Parlor have study clubs under the second vice-president, and what subjects should be studied; suggestions on how individual members may learn more about the marked and unmarked historical spots of the Santa Barbara region, and should tours conducted by competent speakers be arranged that these historic spots may be visited; should the Parlor have a salvage sale committee to operate as does the sewing circle, and should the "penny march" be revived to care for sundry expenses.

Reina del Mar again has mobilized for the Santa Barbara Community Chest campaign. Its interest is particular, as it sponsors a milk fund, a beneficiary agency, directly administered by Neighborhood House on a budget of $4,500. Last year 48,815 quarts of milk and 292 pounds of cottage cheese were distributed to 541 undernourished children and 59 grown invalids. The average milk distribution was 133 quarts per day. The Parlor considers this milk fund administration and sponsorship one of its happiest privileges. Mrs. Sylvia Griffith heads the community chest division, which is operating under Vice-president Dorothy Yule.

(EVANGELINE WILSON.)

In the midst of a panorama of God's artistry
Stands Mount Rubidoux—silent, serene,
Its rocky peak raised to the sky
Where birds on wing careen.

At its feet flows the Santa Ana
Winding across the fertile plain;
At its summit, a great black cross
Defying the sun and the rain.

When sunset glows on the painted rocks
And tints the distant peaks of snow,
I gaze on a transformed world
From the hights of Mount Rubidoux.

Or when the silvery moonlight floods the land,
And an enchanted silence reigns,
I stand in the dark shadow of the cross
And my soul is lifted to higher plains.

A rock of ages, a monument to God,
Aloof from the city below,
Its spirit unsoiled by a tainted world,
Keeping eternal faith—Mount Rubidoux.

BOOK REVIEWS

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

"THE MAN WHO BUILT SAN FRANCISCO."

This excellent book by Julian Dana, author of "Sutter of California" and "Gods Who Die," deals with the career of one of San Francisco's earlier-day prominent citizens, William Chapman Ralston, who first arrived in the City by the Golden Gate in September of 1851 as owner and master of the steamer "New Orleans." It is, in fact, a biography of Chapman with which the author has intermingled considerable of the early-day history of San Francisco, particularly that associated with shipping and finance.

Ralston was a power! He had enemies who condemned him as a reckless, dishonest speculator; and he had friends galore who lauded him as a daring, honest builder, whose sole aim was to achieve greatness for the city and the state he sincerely loved, San Francisco and California.

After Ralston's tragic death, George H. Morrison commented: "There is great wealth and cunning pitted against the memory of this man. I believe that the greatest care should be taken in getting to the bottom of the matter and that the story of this man which, for a score of years is the story of California, should be written without fear, favor, or prejudice, regardless of whom it may offend or whom it may please."

Author Dana, in the volume, appears to have carried out that suggestion, for he presents, without fear, favor or prejudice, the story of Ralston—a story with which those interested in the history of California should familiarize themselves. The book has several illustrations by Wm. Ernest Rideout, and an appendix of personal evaluations of Ralston by influential men of his day.

BANK, KNOWN TO ALL CALIFORNIANS, KEEPS PACE WITH GROWING WEST.

The Anglo California National Bank of San Francisco, in its statement of condition as of December 31, 1936, shows total resources of $234,440,542 in comparison with resources of $214,322,020 as of December 31, 1935, an increase of $20,118,522 for the year.

"The Anglo Bank," a name familiar to Californians for three generations, has run in an unbroken thread through the fabric of Western life ever since 1873. In London, a group of bankers with faith in the destiny of California, organized The Anglo Californian Bank, Limited, April 5, 1873, to take over the San Francisco banking business of J. & W. Seligman & Company, established in San Francisco since the sixties.

Today, with capital funds exceeding $20,500,000 and with assets totaling more than $234,000,000, it serves 125,000 depositors through nineteen complete banks, stretching from Redding, Shasta County, in the north, to Bakersfield, Kern County, in the south. It also maintains departmental offices in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Sacramento. Its complete service includes every commercial banking function, domestic and foreign, and all facilities for savings depositors. The rich empire that is California is still in its youth. The Anglo Bank, growing and building with the West since 1873, looks forward with anticipation to the constructive part it will play in the greater and even more splendid development that is to come.

Motor vehicle factory sales in the United States and Canada last year totaled 4,565,000 units, an increase of 11 percent over 1935.

Federal funds to the amount of $7,704,520 have been apportioned to California for highway construction.

PRESIDENT FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT began January 20 his second term as President of the United States. The occasion was history making, in that it was the first time a president was inducted into office January 20, instead of March 4, and it was the first time the Federal Congress elected with him was in session to witness the ceremony. The Twentieth Amendment to the Federal Constitution brought about this change.

In the course of his inaugural address, President Roosevelt said: "Out of the collapse of a prosperity whose builders boasted their practicality has come the conviction that in the long run economic morality pays. We are beginning to wipe out the line that divides the practical from the ideal; and in so doing we are fashioning an instrument of unimagined power for the establishment of a morally better world. . . .

"The test of our progress is not whether we add more to the abundance of those who have much; it is whether we provide enough for those who have too little."

Former President Herbert Hoover says President Franklin Roosevelt is right in urging ratification of the child labor constitutional amendment. Of course he's right, and it should be ratified by every state of the Union. The ratification of that amendment would not only put an end to the exploitation of children, but would provide more employment for adults.

Commenting on Japan's expressed readiness to co-operate with the United States in establishing peace machinery in the Pacific, the Sacramento Bee says:

A Los Angeles County assemblyman has introduced in the State Legislature a bill designed to reduce to three months the time that must elapse between the granting of an interlocutory and a final decree of divorce. Legionnaires of Los Angeles staged a "parade of death" in which were "ghosts" of the 1,050 persons killed there by autos last year. The purpose was to stress the gravity of reckless driving, and to decrease the number of auto-murders. The "ghost parade" is a good idea, but the auto-murderers should be compelled to do the marching. A public exhibition of the actual killers, and not the "ghosts" of the killed, might prove effective. Why not give it a trial?

George Washington, in 1790, wrote to Moses Seixas a letter which concluded with: "May the Father of all mercies scatter light, and not darkness, upon our paths and make us all in our several vocations useful here, and in His own due time and way, everlastingly happy."

Jack Frost invaded California with augmented force last month and wrought destruction, from one end of the state to the other, running into millions of dollars. The Golden State will, however, recover in due time from this onslaught of the elements.

Congressman John M. Costello of California has before the Federal Congress a bill making it illegal to import flags of the United States of America manufactured in foreign countries. The bill will undoubtedly arouse the ire and the opposition of the pro-Japs. An immense quantity of American flags are imported from Japan. In fact, most of the small flags used by organizations and public schools of California at ceremonies are Jap-made!

Regardless of the pro-Jap opposition, however, this bill should become a law, and the law should be strictly enforced. It would be well, too, to add a provision prohibiting the sale of imported American flags, as there are numberless merchants whose loyalty is measured by the dollar, white and yellow.

AN INSPIRATION

(EDGAR A. GUEST.)

There are thousands to tell you it cannot be done,
There are thousands to prophesy failure;
There are thousands to point out to you, one by one,
The dangers that wait to assail you.
But just buckle in with a bit of a grin,
Just take off your coat and go to it,
And start in to sing as you tackle the thing
That "cannot be done"—and you'll do it

TEXTBOOKS THAT MISLEAD

"FOR TWO YEARS PAST THE CALIFORnia Joint Immigration Committee has sought to prevent the use in California public schools of textbooks in which there is concealment or misrepresentation of facts in connection with the part played by Japan in immigration matters and in world affairs with which the United States has concern. Misleading statements of the character referred to, whether made with intent or because of lack of knowledge on the part of the author, have tended to induce in student and instructor an impression that Japan should be conceded her demand for admission of her emigrants under quota, in violation of the established policy of the United States. The Institute of Pacific Relations in February 1936 announced that it had arranged for the introduction into 152 public high schools of California of courses on Pacific Relations and Japanese Culture. Investigation by the California Joint Immigration Committee showed that certain books intended for use in such courses, though they may not have been prepared by or under authority of the Institute of Pacific Relations, were open to criticism and it took action accordingly.

"The State Board of Education announces as to one of such books against which complaint had been filed and hearing held—'Pacific Relations,' by Walter G. Hoffman—that examination thereof and conference with author and publishers has led to withdrawal of the present edition. In its place there is now in press a new edition in which correction is made of matters criticized, and the California Joint Immigration Committee in consequence has withdrawn opposition to use of the book.

"In September last Scribner's Sons, on suggestion of Vierling Kersey, then State Superintendent of Public Instruction, submitted for criticism proof of the textbook, 'America and the Western Frontier.' Finding from evidence offered by the Joint Immigration Committee that certain portions thereof did not accord with the facts, the publishers delayed publication until the necessary corrections could be made.

"The errors noted in these two textbooks were presumably due to lack of information on the part of the authors thereof. That, however, cannot be said of a textbook on Japan in use in the public schools of Hawaii during 1935 and urged for use in the schools of continental United States. That book was prepared and used under joint sponsorship of the Institute of Pacific Relations, the Department of Education of Hawaii, and the Society for Cultural Relations of Japan. Evidence published and not disputed showed that it had been issued under a plan of Japan—claimed to have been adopted after conference with and approval of religious and educational authorities in the United States—to secure the friendship of American students through propaganda introduced into the public schools. Protest against its use had been made in Hawaii before the Department of Education and the Territorial Legislature, and in California by statement and exhibits filed by the California Joint Immigration Committee with the Superintendent of Public Instruction in June 1935. The book contained misstatements of fact as to the immigration question and concealment of other facts in connection with Japan's activities in Asia during the present century. As a result of the publicity given the matter, the Secretary of the American Council, I.P.R., on June 30, 193 by letter to the California Joint Immigratio Committee, conceded the justice of the criticis made, announced withdrawal of the book fro further use, and stated that errors which a peared therein would be corrected if anoth edition were issued.

"In view of the situation thus indicated, t California Joint Immigration Committee h urged that the state law be so amended as permit criticism by informed authorities of tex books before they are listed for public scho use. The Joint Committee announces that has available for use a mass of reliable da dealing with the subject of Asiatic immigratio and connected matters, accumulated durin twenty years of activity, and not to be had els where without much research. Access to th information is offered without cost to autho and publishers who have in preparation scho textbooks in which such subjects are discussed

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

SUITS AND MORE SUITS ARE THE ULTRA of the mode this season. Smartness and necessity both demand them. If your budget calls for caution, check the spring coat off your list, but a new suit you must have. This year is a bigger suit season than ever. As a matter of fact, the entire designing world seems to have gone completely mad over suits.

Nothing will date you more unmistakably as of this season's vintage than the "contrast suit." The idea has caught on like wildfire, and the result is a flock of matched suits. One color for the jacket, and a second color for the skirt; or, plaids, checks, herringbones for the jacket and solid color for the skirt. If you prefer, you can reverse this order, using the patterned cloth for the skirt. It's tops any way you scramble it.

Also, you may as well be prepared for a big blouse season. With suits holding sway, a blouse wardrobe is a foregone conclusion, and no woman needs to be told how many costume changes she can ring in with even one suit and a flock of blouses. We can only hope to touch upon a very few of the many blouse fashions launched for spring, because femininity rules the mode. Chiffons, sheers, and exquisite lingerie types are highly favored. Jabots and frills are seen on every hand, and lace edgings, insertions and embroidering are used. There is a generous sprinkling of lovely crepes in the approved pastels, beiges, egg-shells and colorful prints.

There is a decided trend toward fitted waistlines, and brief peplums animate the dressier types. Necklines in most cases are high. A few collarless styles are seen, but collars, with or without bows, are the rule. Dressmaker details are much in vogue. Shirrings, tuckings, pleatings, fagoting, drawn-work, embroidery, bows, lace and buttons are all style factors to be reckoned with. Practically all sleeves are short, and the major portion is puffed.

Many of the smartest Easter paraders this year will be outfitted in black, made festive as spring itself with flashes of color in the accessories. A tailored suit with soft details is more flattering to most women than the strict tailored suit of other years.

A smart-looking example is a black suit with which goes a blouse of the palest pink, softened with little gathered tucks that burst like rays from a flat yoke. It also has short, puffed sleeves, and the kind of neckline that many of the new blouses have, which can be worn high or low. A smart grosgrain turban of black gabardine, patent trimmed four-eyelet oxford, a soft pouch bag in black calf, a triple-strand of pastel pearls, a huge pink carnation and coral gloves complete this stunning outfit.

Beige is in for a long and successful fashion run. It is indicated for the smartest of smart costumes as well as for matching accessories. In its varying gradations of tone, it is a grand contrast color and makes a perfect background color for lighter and darker nuances. We also have the natural and gold colors.

A princess suit supplies two necessary "firsts" for spring: coat and suit. Choose a tweed if you want to look casual, a smooth woolen if you plan to be formal, and remember brown and beige are due for a revival.

Capes breeze into the stylescope for spring, with all the swing and rhythm of their type. One of the smartest cape suits seen this season is of a fine, soft, cashmere-like woolen in natural color. The skirt is attractive with its full kick-pleat, slot seams and interesting detail of stitchings, and is set on to a bodice top. The fitted and buttoned-to-neck jacket has a simple little military collar. The narrow, brown leather belt is studded with brass nailheads. There are arm slits in the knee-length matching cape, one of the new three-quarters length toppers so practical for a variety of purposes.

The casual-type coat for sports travel and resort wear is light in weight, yet warm enough for comfort. It has wide lapels, an interesting shoulderline and deep back vents. Choose it in desert gold, honey beige or lupin blue.

Fox is the final word in trimming this season. In its natural colorings, or dyed to blend with the new and approved spring coat and suit colors, it is young and flattering and conveys luxury to a marked degree. A surprising number of the new formal suits, whether in wool or synthetics, are fox-trimmed, not to mention the coat models, both belted and swagger, that use fox.

With the first hint of spring, most women's minds are so full of thoughts of tailleurs and ensembles that they often neglect the incidental daytime and afternoon frock. Peek into your wardrobe and see if it contains this all-important item. It is the sort of frock that is suitable for general daytime and office wear, yet adequate for informal afternoons.

Already much has been said about vivid prints for spring. Printed cottons and linens are now on display in the stores. You will find printed cottons and linens prevalent in the smartest collection. Culottes and matching shirt and even shoes are not unusual in printed piqué. Choose your play clothes with this in mind.

Women who like to include these gay prints in their wardrobes are beginning to wonder just what washing method can be used that will preserve the life and beauty of these new printed washables. The problem has been solved, and the answer is on the market. The new method does not make colors dull, nor does it fade them. In fact, it has a tendency to set and brighten the colors.

Wear knits for smart comfort. They are trim, shapely and beautifully styled. They need no pressing nor particular attention from the time you pack until you are home again. These knits are developed in synthetic yarn that has all the appearance and texture of linen. They feature the narrowed hip and the flared skirt of the season's smartest silhouette, and have cleverly designed blouses accented by a bit of contrasting color at the throat and pockets. They are smart in desert tones of dusty rose, natural, gray, navy or white.

A charming resort frock, reflecting the peasant influence in its designing, is fashioned of Irish linen trimmed in a double row of "baby" rickrack braid, and a square polkadot handkerchief knots smartly at the throat. This finely woven crush-resisting linen makes the wearing a double joy. Choose either navy or country-side green.

Net gowns banded in taffeta and posed over taffeta foundations are completed by taffeta jackets and panels. Long, sweeping ones that descend from the shoulders can be manipulated to suggest a cape scarf.

Mention must be made of color with the chartreuse, rose, coral and gray, besides the black and navy spoken of before. Dinner dresses often have high necklines with youthful turnover collars.

Assemble your own wardrobe and choose for yourself from the variety of fashions which this season offers.

GRANDMA WITH MEMORIES

She warms to life the love of long ago
Then clasps contentment and with half-closed eyes
She feels his kisses on her lips—the glow
Of love melts frost within her veins—Surprise
Creates a flame that tints her wrinkled cheeks
For love awakens life, with power to sway
The tender memories she gladly seeks.
She drinks the wine of youth and finds today
Frail happiness as dear as holy truth,
And thus we find her in love's soft disguise
The twilight of the present touching youth,
Whose vital spark is seen in dimming eyes.
To precious dreams, dear grandma fondly clings
But hears the deathless melody love sings.

Native Sons of the Golden West

THE SIXTIETH ANNUAL GRAND PARLOR of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West will convene at historic Sonoma, Monday, May 17, for a four-day session. Grand President Hartley Russell will preside. Subordinate Parlors are, by the laws of the Order, required to nominate their delegates the last meeting nights of March, and to elect the first meeting nights of April.

Sonoma No. 111, instituted in 1887, is in charge of arrangements for the coming Grand Parlor, and details are being worked out by a committee officered by: Ray Tynan, general chairman; C. E. Bacigalupi, vice-chairman; J. P. Serres, secretary; R. A. Pauli, treasurer. Chairmen of subcommittees include: John Steiner (finance), Howard Knight (reception), Louis Martin and W. Hamburg (housing), Fred Stuermer (registration), Kennon Gilbert (transportation), Emil Andrieux (barbecue), J. F. Prestwood (program), Victor Erlebach (entertainment), Jep Valente (grand ball).

Among the entertainment features being planned are reception, parade, barbecue, grand ball, banquet, and a trip to some of Sonoma County's numerous historic sites. Grand President Hartley Russell and Grand Secretary John T. Regan met with the committee February 1, and expressed satisfaction with the available accommodations for Grand Parlor members and the program being arranged for their entertainment.

CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE.

Unless custom is reversed, there will be no opposition to advancement of the following at the Sonoma Grand Parlor: Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer (Santa Monica Bay No. 267) to Grand President, Grand Second Vice-president Joseph J. McShane (Twin Peaks No. 214) to Grand First Vice-president, and Grand Third Vice-president Jesse H. Miller (California No. 1) to Grand Second Vice-president. Grand President Hartley Russell (Stanford No. 76) will automatically become the Junior Past Grand President.

The Grizzly Bear has communicated with all rumored and "suspicioned" candidates for the other Grand Parlor offices, and from responses received to February 20 presents this information:

Grand Third Vice-president—Grand Trustee Henry S. Lyon (Placerville No. 9), Grand Trustee Adrien Hynes (Piedmont No. 120).

Grand Secretary—John T. Regan (South San Francisco No. 157), incumbent.

Grand Trustees (seven to be chosen)—Lloyd J. Cosgrove (Precita No. 187), incumbent, Raymond D. Williamson (Castro No. 232).

San Jose No. 22 will ask that San Jose be designated as the meetingplace of the 1938 Grand Parlor, and Vallejo No. 77 will endeavor to secure the 1938 Admission Day celebration for Vallejo. This year's Admission Day, September 9, celebration was, by the last (Santa Cruz) Grand Parlor, awarded Santa Monica.

MEMBERSHIP CONTEST WINNERS.

Winners in the Grand Parlor 1936 membership contest, conducted under the auspices of Grand President Hartley Russell, are announced by Grand Secretary John T. Regan as follows:

Largest number members initiated—Arrowhead No. 110 (San Bernardino), first prize $100; initiated 52 candidates. Stockton No. 7 (Stockton), second prize $50; initiated 43 candidates.

Largest percentage membership increase—Berkeley No. 210 (Berkeley), first prize $100; 90 members beginning year, initiated 31, percentage gain 34.45. Washington No. 169 (Centerville), second prize $50; 67 members beginning year, 23 initiated, percentage gain 34.33.

In both instances, Santa Barbara No. 116 (Santa Barbara) was a close third, having initiated 39 candidates, and its percentage gain being 21.91.

Commendable Work.

Bakersfield—In connection with the marking of the site of historic Gordon's Ferry, [an account of which appeared in The Grizzly Bear for February] other historic Kern County sites to be designated by plaques during the spring and summer have been listed by Bakersfield No. 42 and the Kern County Chamber of Commerce, as follows:

Fort Tejon, Sebastian Indian Reservation, Oak Creek Pass, Willow Springs, Havilah, Keysville, Kernville, Walker's Pass, Discovery Oil Well on Western Front, Discovery Oil Well in Taft, and Rose Station, the horse-change station on the old Butterfield stage route.

This commendable work is in the hands of the Parlor's landmarks committee: H. A. Bannister (chairman), District Deputy Mart Leonard and Roy Louden. The inscription on the Gordon's Ferry plaque, unveiled January 31, reads: "California Historical Landmark. GORDON'S FERRY. Gordon's Ferry was an overhead cable type of ferry operated during the 1850s by Major Gordon."

Birthday Celebrated.

Sacramento—Sunset No. 26 celebrated its fifty-third institution anniversary with a banquet, February 1, followed by a meeting at which the following past presidents filled the stations: Dr. June B. Harris, John T. Skelton, Albert Elkus, John Straub, Frank A. Lafferty, Superior Judge Malcolm C. Glenn, Ed. Cox, Albert Shaden and F. A. Hintz. Percy G. West related the Parlor's history. L. B. Corcoran, A. J. Nicoletti and Theodore Jacka had charge of arrangements.

Sunset was instituted January 26, 1884, by Grand Vice-president John A. Steinbach, who was assisted by District Deputy Robert T. Devlin, Grand Treasurer Charles W. Decker, Past Grand John H. Grady and Charles L. Weller.

February 15, Sunset initiated a class of fifteen candidates. Grand Historian John J. Monverde was the honor-guest. President Louis Vienna, Burl D. Lack, John Heinrich and Jas. Rossi were in charge of the doings of the evening.

More Action Urged.

Santa Ana—Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer paid an official visit February 15 to Santa Ana No. 265, and was greeted by a large turnout of members. Introduced by President Harry C. Fulton, he gave an excellent talk, with "Sonoma" as the theme, and urged more action that the Order may achieve its rightful "place in the sun."

Speaking for Santa Ana, Recording Secretary Ivan H. Harper commended Grand First Vice-president Meyer for his untiring efforts in the Order's behalf. Secretary John Smith of Santa Monica Bay No. 267 and Clarence M. Hunt spoke briefly. At the meeting's conclusion an elaborate full-course turkey supper was enjoyed immensely.

District Deputy Walter Hiskey heads a committee of Santa Ana that is planning for the Parlor's participation in the Admission Day celebration at Santa Monica. Funds for that purpose are being accumulated, a recent dance netting $40.

Program for Order's Advancement.

Oakland—Officers of the Alameda County extension of the Order Committee, with L. J. Zimmerman as chairman, were inducted into office February 24. A complete program for the advancement of the Order—publicity work, athletic contests, history essays, exemplification of the ritual and class initiations—is planned.

The Committee's ritual team is composed of John Powers (Fruitvale), president; T. Pow

Thomas and Mary Taylor as the respective presidents. Entertainment was provided by Naomi's members, and the very pleasant evening concluded with a sumptuous supper provided by No. 92.

The feature of the occasion was the presentation of a fifty-year badge to August Costa, one of Downieville's three remaining charter members, who has served the Parlor continuously for thirty-seven years as treasurer and has, in that time, been absent from but three meetings. His nephew, Ralph Costa, made the presentation address.

At the recent installation of officers of Mount Tamalpais by District Deputy Walter Mazza, Henry Hewelcke became president. In appreciation for his untiring efforts for the Order and the Parlor, Grand Marshal Label received a wrist watch, Harold J. Haley making the presentation on behalf of No. 64. Charles Redding was toastmaster at the banquet which concluded the occasion. Frank Kelly was chairman of the arrangements committee.

"If You Like California You'll Love Santa Barbara"

THERE IS EVERY INDICATION THAT the campaign instituted by Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 Native Sons of the Golden West several months ago to have the California Redwood (Sequoia sempervirens) designated as the Golden State's official tree will draw to successful conclusion soon after the Legislature reconvenes at Sacramento.

Sunlight and shadows in the sacred gardens of Santa Barbara's famous old Franciscan Mission. Tall palms and other semi-tropical trees, varieties of rare cacti, flowering shrubs and plants make this retreat a place of inspiring beauty. In line with tradition, women are excluded from the Mission gardens. There have been two exceptions, however. One was Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, wife of the President of the United States, who visited Santa Barbara many years ago, and the other was Queen Elizabeth of Belgium. —Photo by Obert for Santa Barbara Associates.

State Senator J. James Hollister says the bill he introduced to enact the Redwood into stellar official rank in its native California has met with no opposition. To the contrary, it has drawn numerous resolutions and letters favoring the move from Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters throughout the state, from other interested organizations, and from individuals who believe the State should officially honor the Redwood. Officially, the Hollister State-tree measure is "Senate Bill No. 112," and one of the briefest of record, with its single section reading: "The people of the State of California do enact as follows: The California Redwood (Sequoia sempervirons) is hereby designated and adopted as the official tree of the State of California."

In fathering the bill, Senator Hollister acted at the behest of a State Tree committee formed some time ago by Santa Barbara Parlor, under the chairmanship of Maunsell Van Rensselaer, director of Blaksley Botanic Garden in Santa Barbara's Mission Canyon. The committee also includes President Leland Holiday, Francis Vestal, Thomas M. Storke, Edgar Stowe, Francis Price, Dr. Walter Scott Franklin, J. W. Heaney, Reginald G. Fernald, Judge Atwell Westwick, Percy Heckendorf, Thomas Dinsmore, Samuel Stanwood, Frank Greenough, George Black, Harry Sweetser, A. J. Janssens, O. S. Huffman, W. R. Vick, J. E. Sloan, J. L. Stewart, Wesley McCormick, D. T. Taylor and Ray Latham.

"Among our native trees," said Director Van Rensselaer in discussing the State Tree bill, "no species is more deserving of such recognition than the Redwood. It is the tallest known living thing on earth; its natural distribution is limited almost wholly to California; it has been a most important asset in the building of our state, it is being grown successfully in parks and gardens throughout most of California, and it is the most distinctive, the most stately and the most beloved of all our native trees."

That the Santa Barbara Native Sons should take the lead in having a state tree officially designated follows, as a natural sequence, their having had a county tree established for Santa Barbara County. In co-operation with Reina del Mar Parlor of Native Daughters of the Golden West, they recently had the county supervisors designate the Island Ironwood (Lyonothamus floribundus var. asplenifolius) established as the county's official tree. This ironwood is found growing naturally only on the four islands off the coast of southern California, Catalina, San Clemente, Santa Cruz and Santa Rosa, and most abundantly on Santa Cruz Island, which is an integral part of Santa Barbara County.

The Redwood, which seems surely in line for Golden State honor, is found in natural groves in the California counties of Monterey, Santa Cruz, San Francisco, Marin, Mendocino, Napa, Humboldt and Del Norte, and in Josephine County, Oregon. Mrs. Frederic S. Gould of San Leandro Lane, Montecito, recently purchased one of the largest known groves in Humboldt County and presented it to the State in memory of her late husband.

"AMERICANISM" THEME FOR OFFICIAL VISIT N.D. GRAND PRESIDENT.

Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 Native Daughters of the Golden West is steaming up for the forthcoming visit of Grand President Florence Boyle, which is set for Monday, March 15. This Parlor makes a practice of dignifying the official visit by bringing into the reception picture community leaders who are active in whatever may be the theme of the year. When Grand President Boyle comes to the Channel City, the theme will be "Americanism," in honor of the sesquicentennial of the Constitution of the United States.

As one ceremony connected with the official visit, and in line with the program of the American Tree Association, the Parlor will plant three Island Ironwoods—Santa Barbara County's official tree—at Santa Barbara Mission. Grand President Boyle will plant one, in memory of Fr. Englehardt, beloved historian of the Franciscan Missions, who died in Santa Barbara some months ago. The second will honor the Golden Jubilee of Native Daughterdom and will be planted by Past Grand President Cora B. Sifford of Ventura. The third will be dedicated to the Founder of the Order, Mrs. Lily O. Reichling Dyer, formerly of Jackson, Amador County, where the Order originated, but now a resident of Los Angeles. This tree will be planted by Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer, who will come from Los Angeles for the ceremony. Members of three chapters of Daughters of the American Revolution and the local chapter of the Daughters of American Colonists will be guests of honor, because of the theme, "Americanism."

Monday evening Reina del Mar Parlor will be hostess at a banquet. Special honor-guests will be Miss Pearl Chase, state chairman of Conservation Week; M. Van Rensselaer, director of Blaksley Botanic Gardens, and State Senator J. James Hollister. President Leland Holiday, District Deputy Grand President A. C. Dinsmore, Past President F. V. Vestal, and Paul Sweetser, chairman of history, will particularly represent the Native Sons.

March 8, as an Arbor Day observance, the Parlor will plant two olive trees on the grounds of Santa Barbara's new Federal Building in the center of the city. One will be dedicated to the American Constitution and the other to the Franciscan Fathers. The trees will be planted by Mrs. Wesley McCormick, president of Reina del Mar, and Mrs. Alfonse Roeser (Marion Arroqui), deputy grand president.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

WHEATLAND (YUBA COUNTY)—Camp Far West No. 218 had charge of the dedication of the $30,000 Wheatland elementary school. A bronze plaque, presented by the Parlor, is inscribed: "Dedicated to Progress, Wisdom, Camp Far West Parlor Native Daughters of the Golden West, January 23, 1937." Deputy Ethel Brock was chairman of the evening.

Addresses were delivered by Grand President Florence D. Boyle, who also unveiled the plaque; District Deputy Larry Marvin, representing the Native Sons; Mrs. A. W. Meade, superintendent Yuba County schools, and Mrs. C. Sousa, president of the Parlor. Rev. C. Bever delivered the invocation.

Past Grand Esther R. Sullivan, on the Parlor's behalf, presented to the school a California State (Bear) Flag, and it was accepted by Mrs. Clyde Waltz. The pledge to the flag was led by Grace Jopson, and Frank Freeman, accompanied by Miss Cerini, led in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the assemblage. Vocal numbers were rendered by Mrs. P. H. Swetzer, accompanied by Mrs. L. Swetzer, and the Wheatland grammar school chorus.

Benefit for Flood Sufferers.

Stockton—For the Red Cross fund for relief of those residing in the region recently devastated by flood, the four local Parlors—Joaquin No. 5, Caliz de Oro No. 206, Stockton No. 256 N.D.G.W. and Stockton No. 7 N.S.G.W.—are sponsoring a dance at the Civic Memorial Auditorium March 5. Everything will be donated, including a professional orchestra and entertainers who will put on a floor show.

The joint arrangements committee includes: Grand Trustee Walter P. Rothenbush (general chairman), Elbert Bidwell (secretary), Lawrence Buol (treasurer), Mrs. Charlotte Clark, Grand Trustee Clarice Cook, A. Salfield, Miss Faye Silver, Mrs. Frances Germain, Ralph Mitchell, George Witherow, Jack Dial, Alden Carey, William Joyce, Ben Waller, Frank Piccardo, Bert Dunning and Louis Javete.

President Initiates Daughter.

Oakland—In spite of cold and stormy weather, many members of the Order assembled at the meeting of Fruitvale No. 177, February 5, the occasion being the official visit of Grand President Florence D. Boyle. Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Supervising Deputy Alice H. Dougherty and Deputy Irma Caton were among the number. The most interesting and enjoyable meeting was presided over by President Marie Silva, who called on chairmen of committees of different projects of the Order to give short summaries of the progress made under their supervision, and Mrs. Boyle expressed pleasure at the thorough manner in which the Parlor is carrying on. The ritual work of the officers was letter-perfect, and ten candidates were initiated, the largest class the Grand President has greeted at any official visit. President Silva had the honor of initiating her daughter, Ann Silva.

Grand President Boyle gave a very interesting talk, and was presented with a gift of silver from the Parlor. She was also greeted by representatives of Fruitvale No. 252 N.S.G.W., who presented her with a huge boquet of roses. Following the meeting refreshments were served, the waiters being Fruitvale Native Sons. The banquet tables were decorated with miniature orange groves, in honor of the Grand President's home town, Oroville, which has the distinction of growing California's earliest oranges. The favors were miniature orange trees.

Sixty-five crippled children of Hawthorne school were visited Valentine Day by Chairman Chrissie Harrison of No. 177, who gave them lacy valentines and large candy hearts inscribed with each child's name. The Parlor remembers these children on every occasion, and the visits are looked forward to with a great deal of happiness. Margaret Stambaugh, veterans welfare chairman, visited the Parlor's six "adopted" buddies at Livermore Hospital and presented them with valentines and packages of cigarettes.

Stones From Historic Landmarks.

San Diego—The landmarks committee of San Diego No. 208 reports the gathering of stones from San Diego Mission, the birthplace of Western civilization; Ramona's marriage place, former home of Don Jose Antonia de Estudillo and wife, Spanish aristocrats who were married in 1825, and the old "Spanish" lighthouse on the crest of Point Loma, to be sent to Bacone College, Oklahoma. The stones will be used for a fireplace in the boy's dormitory of the college, which is composed of North American Indians, and the fireplace is being built by them from stones gathered from all parts of the world.

February 11, Fern Cummins sent flowers, on the Parlor's behalf, to Mr. and Mrs. Riecken, San Diego Pioneers who had just celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They are the parents of Past President Doris Hoffner.

"Spirit of the Pioneers" Emphasized.

Chico—The official visit of Grand President Florence Danforth Boyle to Annie K. Bidwell No. 168, February 18, will long be remembered as a gala pioneer occasion. Starting with a banquet attended by seventy-nine members of the Order, the "spirit of the Pioneers" was emphasized in music and song until early morning hours.

Chairman Olive Pearl of the program committee arranged words for many of the early California songs. With the help of a choir and an orchestra under her direction, with Mrs. Evadne Gray at the piano, these songs were used in greeting the Grand President and to supplement the ritual charges. Five candidates were initiated, President Eleanor Carlson presiding.

Grand President Boyle, in her address, stressed the registration of the Pioneers and commented on the correspondence received from many states relative to this project of the Order. Mrs. Mattie Kesselring, a pioneer member of the Parlor, looking charming in a white formal gown, enhanced by her silver hair, presented a gift, inclosed in a small covered wagon, to the Grand President, who was also the recipient of gifts from her home-Parlor, Gold of Ophir No. 190 (Oroville) and Oroville Lodge of Elks.

Decorations in the banquetroom carried out the pioneer theme. A miniature mission, typical scenes and figures, interspersed with covered wagons and old-fashioned white candles, made the picture complete. Souvenir songbooks, with covered wagon silhouette covers, were used for community singing. For the outstanding occasion, Mms. Edna Boyd and Pearl Skelly had charge, respectively, of the decorations and the banquet. A pleasing feature of the occasion was the greeting extended to Annie K. Bidwell by Secretary L. B. Osborne of the Chico Chamber of Commerce.—L.B.H.

Ten Candidates Initiated.

Petaluma—Grand President Florence D. Boyle paid her official visit to Petaluma No. 222 January 19. An escort team, carrying silver colored wishbones sang "The Old Wishing Well," dedicated to her. President Dee Battaglia and her corps of officers initiated ten candidates. A number of other grand officers were in attendance, and all had messages for the Parlor. At the meeting's close a banquet was served at beautifully decorated tables, the placecards carrying out the "wishing" theme.

February 2 Petaluma's new officers, with Dorothy Nesbitt as president, were installed by Deputy Clytie Lewis, assisted by Supervising Deputy Ann Beach. The hall was attractively decorated in red, white and yellow, and refreshments were served.

To Contact Pioneers.

Oakland—In compliance with Grand President Florence D. Boyle's wish, Argonaut No. 161 plans to contact every Pioneer of the Golden Gate district in which it meets, and to obtain their histories. In the near-future they will be honored in some special manner. Historian Harry Burns of Claremont No. 240 N.S.G.W. recently presented the Parlor with two volumes containing the entire history of the community and they were donated to the Golden Gate junior high school library by the Parlor.

The Klinkner family, for whom the Golden Gate district was once named Klinknerville and who built one of the first buildings of the district, Klinkner Hall, in which Argonaut still meets, are closely associated with the Native Daughters. There is also "Granny" Doyle, who came around the Horn in 1849 when a child. She is past ninety years of age, and her daughter, Margaret Doyle, and granddaughters, Ora, Irma and Marjorie, have been active members of the Parlor for many years, Mrs. Doyle being a charter member.

Argonaut's scrapbook committee, Irma Caton, Margie Welsh, Marjorie Vinther and Claire De Lucchi, is hard at work again, compiling what is hoped will be another prize-winning scrapbook.

President Honored at Party.

Stockton—The officers of Joaquin No. 5, with Miss Clelia Giannini as president, were installed by Deputy Nellie Griffith January 26. A valentine motif was used in the decorations. On the Parlor's behalf, Miss Faye Silver presented a past president emblem to Miss Marian Grondona, and other presentations were made to Supervising Deputy Norma Hodson, Deputy Griffith and President Giannini. A social hour with refreshments concluded the ceremonies.

February 9, President Giannini was honored at a pretty party, arranged by Miss Silver, with featured decorations which included imported Oriental scarfs loaned by Past Grand Carrie L. Durham. Mrs. Dionisia Buthenuth, accompanied by Mrs. Lulu Schneider, favored with vocal selections, and presented Miss Giannini with a lovely vase. February 23 the Parlor had school days program, and the members appeared in appropriate costumes; Miss Silver was harge. To raise funds for the celebration April 13 of the organization's fiftieth anniversary, a studio couch is to be disposed of; Mrs. Mary Ricker heads the committee in charge.

NEWSY N.D.G.W. PARAGRAPHS.

"A prize of $5 will be given the Parlor adding the greatest number of new members to its roster from January to June, 1937," advised Ann S. Dippel, chairman of the Grand Parlor Extension of the Order Committee, in a letter to Subordinate Parlors.

"In accordance with the custom of the past several years," said Bertha A. Briggs, chairman of the Grand Parlor Publicity Committee, in a letter to the Subordinate Parlors, "three cash awards of $5 each will be made at the Grand Parlor for OUTSTANDING scrapbooks on display. . . . It is the sincere wish of the Publicity Committee that every Parlor be represented in the interesting and worthwhile display."

Santa Cruz—Amidst beautiful decorations of heather and huckleberry, the officers of Santa Cruz No. 26 were installed by Deputy Rose Evelyn Rhyner, Elsa O'Donnell becoming president. A past president emblem was presented Hazel Strass. Delicious refreshments were served in the banquetroom, which was transformed into a typical Waikiki beach scene. Among the many visitors from Salinas was Grand Trustee Rose Rhyner.

Mariposa—Mariposa No. 63 plans to place California State (Bear) Flags in every schoolroom in Mariposa County.

Ferndale—Oneonta No. 71 was visited February 12 by Supervising Deputies Ruth Sesnan and Adelaide Bittencourt, and President Pearl Hock of Reichling (Fortuna). An interesting program, arranged by Hattie E. Roberts, honored Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays. Whist was played, and a potluck supper concluded the pleasant evening.

Plymouth—Officers of Forrest No. 80 and Plymouth No. 48 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed by Deputies Elsie Hartwick and George Tonzi, Edna Herman and Thomas Stayton becoming the respective presidents. Among the many in attendance were Past Grand Gladys E. Noce and supervising Deputy Emma B. Wright. A sumptuous turkey dinner followed the ceremonies. In charge of arrangements for the evening were Mary Denend, Alda Ninnis and Elmerie Tonzi.

Hollister—Copa de Oro No. 105 had an especially enjoyable observance of Valentine Day and the birthday of Abraham Lincoln February 1. American flags and a large picture of Lincoln adorned the meetinghall. At the business session's close a happy hour was passed at valentine contests. A shadowgraph, "Popping Corn," was staged by Hilda Thompson and Rose Hillhamet. Elma Chandler, impersonating the Great Emancipator, gave interesting stories of his early life, and Catherine Hooton gave "The Perfect Tribute," with Miss Chandler posing as the well-known statue of the Martyred President. Buffet refreshments were served. Pauline Saufhauer and Eileen Hansen presiding at the table. Planners for the evening were Clara L. Black, Rachael Maroney, Emma Churchill and Catherine Hooton.

Oakland—Marshal Alice Klemmick was surprised by Bahia Vista No. 167 with a bridal shower January 21. A delicious repast was served at appropriately decorated tables, and the bride-to-be was the recipient of many lovely gifts. The affair was arranged by Lenore Sunkler, Mae Mills, Lucia Prytz and Emelda Smith. The Parlor's monthly social was held February 9, with Francis Knobleck, Ann Wilson and Ann Etting as the hostesses. Plans for the future were discussed and tasty refreshments were served.

Santa Ana—Santa Ana No. 235 met February 4 at the home of Past President Mae West, and received four applications for membership. Three of the applicants are daughters of Past President Genevieve Hiskey. Past President Marion Crum of Modesto, a member of the Parlor, was honor-guest at a dinner served at the meeting's close. She was showered with cards, handkerchiefs and pottery, and the hostess presented a birthday cake. At meetings of the Nimble club at the homes of Mms. Louise Schroeder, Rose Ford, Mattie Edwards and Olive Pitt good work was accomplished. The drive for new members is on, and Santa Ana hopes to have several candidates for initiation when Grand President Florence Boyle officially visits, March 22.

Pleasanton—At impressive ceremonies, January 28, officers of Pleasanton No. 237 and Pleasanton No. 244 N.S.G.W. were jointly installed. Deputies Evelyn Garcia and Louis Zimmerman officiated, and Renee Avilla and Peter Madsen became the respective presidents. Numerous presentations were made, including a past president pin to Evelyn Bell. Helena Busch and Ernest Schween were co-chairmen of the affair. At a largely attended meeting February 2 Pleasanton No. 237 entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Marie Neves, a recent bride. The banquetroom was beautifully decorated in red and silver hearts, and the refreshment tables were attractive with red and white sweetpeas and lighted red tapers.

Placentia—Grace No. 242 observed January birthdays the 21st, and President Hill was showered with handkerchiefs. Deputy Olinda Kerby was a visitor. Members of the Parlor went to Long Beach February 18 to help celebrate that Parlor's thirtieth anniversary. A cooked-food sale, specializing home-made pies and cakes, was sponsored by the ways and means committee February 20. The history and landmarks committee is perfecting plans for an interesting day March 18. Supervising Deputy Nellie Cline, who has been ill since December, is reported improv-

Homeless Children

A WORTHWHILE NON-SECTARIAN ENDEAVOR SPONSORED AND SUPPORTED BY THE ORDERS OF NATIVE SONS AND NATIVE DAUGHTERS OF THE GOLDEN WEST

THE FISCAL YEAR OF THE CENTRAL Homeless Children Committee will end March 31. From April 1, 1936, to February 18, 1937, the date of this report, Native Sons Parlors have contributed $943.73. Native Daughters Parlors have contributed $1,786.60, and milk fund $604.12. The joint state Parlors, $521.09. Alameda County joint committee, $294.25. San Francisco joint committee, $149.79. San Jose joint committee, $400. Los Angeles joint committee, $500. Individual Native Sons have given $30, and individual Native Daughters $85.50, making a total of $5,573.40 from the Native Sons and Native Daughters.

Contributions from friends of the work amount to $401. Refund on board from state and counties $1,092.34, and refund on board from natural parents $2,078.55. Dividends and interest, $391.80. Sale of "Elizabeth California," $165. Refund expense $16.13, which brings the total receipts to $9,465.72.

Past Grand President Emma Lillie Humphrey of the Native Daughters, the first secretary of the Central Homeless Children Committee and largely responsible for the successful launching of this work, has contributed an additional $500. To quote her message: "To the Homeless Children of California, a Happy New Year! To insure some service they may need and cannot have because of lack of funds, I am sending this check in memory of my husband, Frank Ellis Humphrey, whose interest in the homeless children work he retained through many years. May the organizations supporting it prosper and grow in strength and importance because of their splendid interest in dependent children." This contribution will be designated as the Frank Ellis Humphrey Memorial Fund, and brings the receipts to $9,965.72.

The yearly budget prepared by the finance committee of the Central Homeless Children Committee calls for $18,511.54. The disbursements from April 1, 1936, to February 1, 1937, amount to $14,820.54.

May we appeal to and remind the fifty-eight Native Sons Parlors and the sixty-four Native Daughters Parlors not as yet contributing that exactly forty-one days remain in which to get their contributions to the Central Office if they are to be entered in the twenty-sixth annual printed report.

April 10, 1937, the books will close, for the certified accountant to begin work. Do not make the mistake in thinking that you have until the two Grand Parlor sessions.

One hundred and thirty-four children have been placed, four replacements, with 149 homes found. In addition, 107 different cases have required all the way from one visit to seven visits on each case and not considered placements for many reasons: parents changing their minds, inability to clear legal status, or difference in religion of children placed through other channels, or not acceptable because of background or poor physical condition. 117 children have been legally adopted. 455 applications have been received in less than ten months.

STEPHEN MALLORY WHITE

Peter T. Conmy

(Historian Presidio Parlor N.S.G.W., Member History Committee N.S.G.W. Grand Parlor.)

AT THE FIFTY-NINTH SESSION OF the Grand Parlor of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, held in May 1936 at Santa Cruz, a petition was presented by Sepulveda Parlor No. 263 of San Pedro for permission to change its name to Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263. This petition was approved by the delegates without dissenting vote. In the opinion of the writer, the change was wisely made, for the name of no Californian is more deserving of such an honor than that of Stephen M. White, the first native Californian to become a national figure.

Stephen Mallory White was born in San Francisco January 19, 1853. His father was William F. White, a native of Ireland, who came to America at an early age. His mother was Fannie Russell-White. She, too, was born in Ireland. . . . William and Fannie White received the news of the discovery of gold in California shortly after their marriage and, seeking the opportunity which the West afforded, they joined the long band of men and women whose mecca was the El Dorado. Arrived in San Francisco in 1849, William White became a merchant and, with his faithful wife, made his home in a cottage on Taylor street, between Golden Gate avenue and Turk. It was in this humble dwelling of pioneer construction that Stephen Mallory White first saw the light of day. . . . In 1879 William White was a candidate for governor of California on the Workingman's ticket. He received 44,482 votes, as against 67,965 for George C. Perkins, Republican, who was elected, and 47,646 for Hugh J. Glenn, Democratic candidate.

In 1854 the White family moved from San Francisco to Watsonville. The young Stephen attended district school there and later a private preparatory school in Oakland. He next entered the College of St. Ignatius in San Francisco but after eighteen months transferred to old Santa Clara College, from which he received his arts degree in 1871, at the age of eighteen. At that time Santa Clara College was essentially a liberal arts institution and professional studies were not offered. For this reason White returned to Watsonville to learn the legal profession. For ten months he worked in A. W. Blair's office in that city. For a year he was with Albert Hayes at Santa Cruz and eight months with C. B. Younger, also at Santa Cruz. April 14, 1874, he was admitted to practice by the Supreme Court.

Los Angeles was recognized by White as a coming center of trade and industry and he determined to practice his profession in this new field rather than in the Pajaro Valley. In Los Angeles he went through the starvation period characteristic of young lawyers. He entered into partnership first with John D. Bicknell and, in 1886, with Erskine Ross, who later was elevated to the federal bench. June 5, 1883, White was united in marriage with Hortense Sacriste and they eventually became the parents of four children, two boys and two girls. . . .

White's ability as a lawyer attracted the attention of the people of Los Angeles and resulted in his election as district attorney in 1883. Mosher, writing in 1903, said: "His administration of this office was brilliant and able to a degree. He became a terror to evil-doers in all their various varieties. His prosecution of a case spelled conviction for the guilty."

White's ambitions outstretched the confines of Los Angeles County and, in 1886, he was elected a state senator. At the ensuing session he was chosen president protem; and after the death of Governor Bartlett and Lieutenant-governor

SAN PEDRO - WILMINGTON, GREAT SOUTHWEST HARBOR DISTRICT

Waterman's accession to the governorship White became acting lieutenant-governor, from and after September 13, 1887. Ethel Dobie cites a letter to White from his friend, English, which suggests that he visit the 1888 N.S.G.W. Grand Parlor session to meet the delegates from the remote sections of the state preparatory to campaigning for governor. Such, however, seems not to have been his purpose. The position to which he aspired was United States senator, a position at that time filled by the Legislature. The death of Senator George Hearst, a Democrat, February 28, 1891, with two years of his term unserved, might have made White's election possible, but Governor Markham was a Republican and gave his support to Charles N. Felton, who was elected March 19. The term of Leland Stanford expired March 4, 1891, and it was to this position that White aspired. In the fall of 1890 he stumped the state, urging the voters to elect a Democratic Legislature which, in turn, would name him United States senator. The Republicans, however, received a substantial majority of the seats, and Stanford was re-elected January 13, 1891. White's opportunity, however, came in 1892, when Cleveland was elected President. The Democratic bent of the nation reflected itself in California. The Legislature which convened in 1892 consisted of fifty-nine Democratic, fifty-one Republicans, eight Populists and one Independent. When the question of electing a United States senator came up, one of the Populists, the Independent, and all of the Democrats voted for White and elected him for the term March 1893 to March 1899. His election gave a national office to one who had already become a national figure in the councils of his party. . . .

At this point it seems well to discuss the ideals for which White stood during his term as United States Senator. . . . His chief project was the building of a harbor at San Pedro, opposed by the Southern Pacific Railroad which had a terminus at Santa Monica and wanted that center developed. White carried his point with his customary invective and San Pedro was made a harbor and Wilmington grew up—all White's work. He was opposed to the annexation of Hawaii, for the same reason that he opposed the acquisition of the Philippines—the policy of anti-imperialism for which the Democratic party stood. He unsuccessfully opposed the bill for funding the Pacific Railroad debt. . . .

Senator White's term expired March 3, 1899. The Legislature which convened in January of that year was overwhelmingly Republican,—the exact figures being ninety-four Republicans and twenty-six Democrats—and yet there were citizens who demanded the re-election of Stephen M. White; this resulted in a disagreement, and no successor was chosen until February 1900 when, at a special session, Thomas R. Bard, Republican, was elected. It is interesting to note that in March 1899 Governor Gage, a Republican, recognized the retiring Democratic senator by appointment as a regent of the University of California. White died February 21, 1901, in his forty-eighth year. In his passing the southland of California lost its greatest figure. Many tributes were paid to this great man, but none more beautiful than that of the N.S.G.W. Grand Parlor, which saw fit to honor his memory as a member of the Order, Ramona Parlor No. 109 of Los Angeles. . . .

White was a product of the frontier, the Pioneer West. He went to Washington not as a rude and woolly rancher, but as one who had all the culture and polish of the older sections of the country. He had assimilated well his classical training, and for this reason he helped to interpret California to the East. September 9, 1893, it was his lot to speak at California Day in Chicago. He said, in part:

"State pride is but another name for appreciation of national glory. The sons and daughters of each of our commonwealths delight to sing the praises and repeat the incidents of their respective birthplaces. Yet, in the assembled splendor of all, the American citizen finds his chief source of gratitude; and hence, if we, and especially those of us who are natives of California, shall seem extravagant in our laudation or extravagant in our views, we shall not thereby forfeit the esteem of our fellows. . . . I cannot attempt to describe my state. I will not seek to do so. The subject is too elaborate for more than passing mention. And the men who knew California when the Bear Flag was raised and who are familiar with her appearance and development at this moment seem an enchanted land. What has been accomplished and that which may yet be done. In more recent years many an old pioneer has stood dazed at the evolution, has seen achievements of which he never dreamed, and which, had they been suggested, would have seemed beyond the reach of ambition."

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED.

San Pedro Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W. celebrated February 19 its fourteenth institution anniversary at a turkey banquet provided by Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards, and served by the sisters of Jack, Pete and Ralph Mele, assisted by Mrs. Jack Mele.

It was a big night, and the largest crowd in a long time enjoyed the festive occasion. Past president emblems were presented George Gligo and Joe Brannen, the presentation addresses being made by District Deputy Harry Honn and Grand Inside Sentinel Richards. Henry T. Carter was among the speakers.

Past presidents of the Parlor in attendance included "Bill" Reuter, Ed. Baldwin, Vince Hopkins, Joe Brannen, John Paralieu, John Gower, Larry Powers, Francis Fetzer, Frank Bronson, George Gligo, Joe Pia, John Martin, Walter Richards, Pat Doran and Ben Lassere.

HAIL! THE CONSTITUTION

(CAL. J. McCARTHY.)

Hail! The Constitution, great
Protector of each sovereign State.
The first law of our native land.
With equal rights on every hand.
Rising high above the Nation,
Protecting all in every station.
Protector of our liberty,
Assuring peace, tranquility.
The Articles of Confederation,
Then unsuited for the Nation,
Yielded to the Constitution.
America's greatest institution.
For union, one and all stood by,
A union! was the people's cry.
Thirteen Colonies, large and small,
Convened to plan for the good of all,
Assembled in convention
Away from alien intervention
Foresighted men stout of heart
Analyzed each and every part.
These men of vigor, vim, and tact
Labored for a national pact.
One for all, and all for one,
So our democracy was begun,
Assuring all the right to live
And shielding those who cared to give Words of wisdom to a nation
United in a federation.
Conceived by patriots pledged to do
A work for all, both strong and true.
Ideals fostered by honest men,
A work designed by wit and ken.
Molded by the delegates,
Arranged and sanctioned by the States,
Drawn when darkest days were here
By patriots, statesmen, who knew no fear.
After months of careful thought
The new covenant was wrought.
To be binding on the States
It was signed by delegates.
May its phrases crystal pure
Our liberty and rights insure.
Protector of each sovereign State.
Hail! The Constiution great!

CALIFORNIA HOLDS LEAD IN GOLD OUTPUT

THE FEDERAL BUREAU OF MINES February 2 announced California's gold output for 1936 at 1,944,600. The output was highest in twenty years and in point of actual value, $68,136,600, worth more than the gold produced in the state in any year since 1862. Silver, copper, lead and zinc combined to swell the total value of principal metal production for the year to $89,316,499, a gain of 22 percent over 1935.

"California," said the Bureau, "continued to hold its position as the leading gold-producing state of the United States. Its output in 1936 was greater than that for any year since 1916. In value, the state's output exceeded that for any year since 1862. The remarkable recovery of the California gold industry since the onset of the depression has resulted from the expansion of output at working mines, old producing mines reopened, and prospects and new discoveries brought into production.

"The Grass Valley-Nevada City district continued to be the center of the gold-producing industry in California. . . . Along the Mother Lode most of the old established mines maintained or increased their rate of production and several new operations reached the productive stage. The reopening of old mines and the development of prospects went on at an increasing rate. The lode mines of the Mojave district continued to expand their operations and a number of properties in this area reported favorable results of development. Throughout the state gold mining enjoyed expansion."

ESTIMATED VALUE MINERAL PRODUCTION.

The total value of the mineral production of California for the year 1936 is conservatively estimated by the statistical section of the Division of Mines, Department of Natural Resources, under the direction of State Mineralogist Walter W. Bradley, to have been $300,557,000. This estimated total is an increase of approximately $37,716,000 over the 1935 production total value, and is the largest since 1929.

The principal increases in value of output over those of the previous year were shown by petroleum, cement, gold, miscellaneous stone, brick and hollow building tile, silver, lead, copper and miscellaneous industrial materials. The only important mineral substances to show decreased values were natural gas and zinc.

AGE HINDERS FAMED POET.

"By reason of old age, loss of memory and understanding," a New York court has decreed that the affairs of Edwin Markham, famed poet, shall hereafter be handled by a committee.

Markham, author of "The Man With the Hoe," was born at Oregon City, Oregon, April 23, 1852. For many years he resided in California, and at one time was superintendent of El Dorado County schools.

SAN BERNARDINO

A LAND THAT CHARMS

WITH ITS 20,275 SQUARE MILES, San Bernardino County ranks as the largest in the United States. Within this vast area lie warm deserts, towering mountain ranges, and a broad fertile valley. From the sunny laziness of the desert to the crisp invigorating air of the mountains is but a drive of fifty minutes over smooth, modern roads. When winter blankets the mountains, one may revel in winter sports of all kinds and yet, half an hour later, may pick oranges in the bright, grove-dotted valley below.

To the east and north of the valley proper, lie peaceful stretches of desert with Indian and Pioneer legends and romance, fossil beds, wild flowers and rainbow-hued mountains. Here, among Joshua-tree forests and giant cacti, their age unknown, one may watch the rosy-tinge of sunrise or the fiery, brilliant sunset. Deserted mining towns, once scenes of the revels of rough-and-ready gold-diggers, but now mute witnesses to a past that is long-since gone, are scattered all over this sagebrush area. Here is a land that charms; a land that draws one closer and closer to its beauty, its romance and its vastness; a land where one may bask and relax beneath beneficial ultra-violet rays that stream down from a cheery sun and bathe this canyoned, mountain desert the year around.

The great San Bernardino range, a mountain playground visited by more tourists every year than any other like section of the United States, rises majestically out of the desert. Nestled amongst evergreen pines are small towns and villages. Stately trees and fleecy clouds are mirrored in sapphire blue lakes. Old Norman villages, magnificent mansions, hunting lodges and small vacation homes dot the landscape. Mammoth hotels and small rustic inns greet the tourist. All about, there is the ever-changing panorama of a wonderland.

During the winter one may ski and toboggan, snow-shoe and ice-skate, or watch expert sports carnivals. For the other seasons, limitless sports avail themselves. A plunge into the cool, inviting depths of a calm lake; angling in swift-running streams; tramping about scented woods, waiting for the sight of a deer; playing tennis and golf on modern courts and links, or just lazing in the cool breezes of the piney air are some of the recreations offered the visitor.

From the rim of these stately mountains one can see the broad expanse of one of the greatest and most fertile valleys of California, the great San Bernardino Valley, dotted by picturesque towns, bustling cities and hamlets. Here one sees thousands of acres of orange, lemon or avocado groves. Here, too, is the largest vineyard in the world.

Through this valley one may trace the route of Franciscan fathers, and by the adobe missions and resting-stops which still stand as reminders of those who have blazed the trail, he may visualize the glorious past. The trail of early Pioneers who journeyed by ox-cart, by horse and by foot to this quiet valley so long ago, still can be seen.

Numerous outdoor and indoor swimming pools, expansive golf courses, polo fields, big league baseball parks, outdoor bowls for plays, operas and concerts, and splendid hotels offer every kind of convenience, entertainment and sport which a tourist may desire. Here one finds thriving industrial cities, extensive railroad shops, the largest citrus packing plants in the world and cement plants of tremendous size. If one seeks peace and quietude, then the smaller towns, where friendliness is the rule rather than the exception, give invitation. Comfortable hotels, where hospitality surrounds the guest, are notable features of all the cities in the San Bernardino Valley.

When one drives about in this paradise or spends lazy days following trails and surveying old ruins, the beauty, quaintness and allurement that is ever present here will captivate and win the visitor completely. A tour through miles and miles of green groves of orange trees, abloom the year around, or a short walk through any of the public parks will charm even the most widely traveled tourist. Here, also, health resorts and sanitariums hug the foothills, wherein those seeking strength may rest and recuperate in dry healing air, the panorama of the valley spread out below.

Whether it be for pleasure or for health, come to San Bernardino County. A lovely sanctuary . . . happy humans in the sun . . . beauty and laughter and health. A welcome awaits you!

PLAN MUSEUM TO STRESS SAN BERNARDINO'S HISTORY IMPORTANCE.

San Bernardino—Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. is taking active steps to found a museum for San Bernardino to commemorate it as the first White settlement in southern California, and to also provide a place of safekeeping for the multitude of items of historical value and importance that are widely scattered throughout the valley. A committee of three members, Dr. L. W. Ayers, Fred L. Harris and Hiram H. More, has been appointed to meet with committees from the Native Daughters and the Pioneer Society of San Bernardino.

This movement on the part of Arrowhead is of vital interest to all Native Sons and Daughters, and is worthy of their one hundred percent co-operation. It has been called to the Parlor's attention that a museum being planned in one of the middle west states is to be comprised almost entirely of material collected in San Bernardino Valley and vicinity, and this has very vividly impressed on the Parlor members the importance of immediate action concerning this matter.

Another of those Crestline mountain parties that only Arrowhead can plan and stage is being arranged by No. 110. March 27 is the date, the Parlor's Crestline clubhouse is the place, the menu will please and satisfy, and vaudeville acts will supply entertainment. James A. Olivas is in charge of the whole affair.—L.G.

PLANS MADE FOR OFFICIAL'S VISIT.

San Bernardino Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. had a Valentine party February 10, with Ruth Roberds in charge. Five hundred was played, comic valentines were distributed and refreshments were served.

A large delegation from Lugonia visited Los Angeles Parlor February 17. Arrangements for the jaunt were made by Eva Bemis, President Thelma Nett and Ruth Roberds. February 24 plans for the official visit of Grand President Florence D. Boyle to the Parlor March 24 were perfected. They include a dinner, a reception and the initiation of several candidates.

N.S. PAST PRESIDENTS TO MEET.

San Bernardino—Arrowhead Past Presidents Assembly No. 14 will meet at "Mother" Massetti's, 1396 West Fifth street, March 26, at 7 p.m. Governor Walter E. Hiskey will preside, and important business will be transacted.

FRANCISCAN PADRES, NOT RUSSIANS, BROUGHT WHEAT TO CALIFORNIA.

San Luis Obispo—Franciscan padres, and not Russian traders, brought wheat to California, according to Dr. Ira B. Bartle, who is making a study of adobe bricks from walls of Mission San Luis Obispo, founded in 1772.

Bricks from an inner wall of the historic structure known definitely from mission records to have been built in 1774 were found to contain grains and straw of wheat of a soft Spanish variety, indicating the grain was grown here as early as 1773.

The first Russian traders appeared on the California coast in 1803, and a colony was not founded until 1812. Since no bearded Russian wheat has been found in the bricks, Dr. Bartle concludes the Franciscan fathers obtained wheat from Spain through the port of Monterey and planted the grain long before Russians did likewise.

Records at the mission also disclose that Russian traders were buying wheat from the San Luis Obispo padres in 1806, before any Russian settlement had been made on this coast.

U. OF C. GROWS WITH STATE.

"Since its first humble beginnings in Berkeley in 1868," comments The Daily Californian, "the University of California [officially founded in 1853 under the name of the College of California] has expanded to the largest university in the world and has developed to a position in the first rank of American universities.

"The University is unique among state universities in the fact that its functions are carried on on seven campuses within the state that supports it." Students enrolled number 22,122.

Lowest Is Higher—The lowest spot in Death Valley, and in the United States, is 279.8 feet below sea level, and not 310 feet as previously believed. Following designation of the valley as a national monument, National Park Service engineers made surveys and found the lowest point, at Bad Water, actually to be higher than the previously accepted estimates of mining surveyors.

CONTRA COSTA HAS OFFICIAL SEAL.

Martinez—For the first time in its history, Contra Costa County has an official seal. A contest in the high schools of the county was held, and Joe Ruzich submitted the winning design, which was approved by the Board of Supervisors.

Lettered "The Seal of Contra Costa County California," the seal shows Mount Diablo looming in the background, with industry, agriculture, rail and water commerce combined in the foreground.

ignated them the "Eldred L. Meyer Class," inasmuch as Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer was paying his official visit to the Parlor. Paul G. Sweetser headed the initiatory team. Previous to the ceremonies a sumptuous chicken dinner was served by Gilbert Chard and the good of the order committee, Frank Huffman and Ray Latham co-chairmen. First Vice-president A. J. Janssens provided entertainment from the Isabelle Stephen Mack Dance Studio. Among the 125 in attendance were many oldtimers, but Harry Sweetser, the veteran recording secretary, was absent, being in Sacramento at a state meeting of county tax collectors.

William Ellis of the Auto Club of Southern California told why it was necessary to postpone the dedication of the Fremont-Foxen plaque in Gaviota Pass. According to Chairman George MacCullough of the Parlor's landmarks committee, a definite date for the dedication and barbecue will soon be fixed.

In addressing the Parlor, Grand First Vice-president Meyer referred to the historic sites in and about Sonoma, where the Grand Parlor will meet in May, and extended Santa Barbara an invitation to participate in the Admission Day celebration at Santa Monica. In response, C. W. McCormick was appointed chairman of a committee to formulate plans. Other speakers were District Deputy A. C. Dinsmore, who has labored unceasingly to build up the membership; Chairman Walter Cummings of the attendance committee; George Black, and President Holiday, who extended the Parlor's greetings and well wishes to Grand First Vice-president Meyer.

Boy Scout Troop No. 3, sponsored by Santa Barbara Parlor, received class "A" rank for the year 1936 in the Mission Council rating at a recent Court of Honor, and the banner was on display February 4.

Some four years ago, President Clarence Phelps of Santa Barbara State College suggested that Santa Barbara Parlor award a scholarship to some worthy student. Paul G. Sweetser proposed that action be taken and that Miss Wilma Kiesner, a member of Reina del Mar N.D.G.W., be the recipient. This was done during the term of Philip H. Bradley, and each succeeding president, James E. Sloan, Andrew C. Ryce and F. V. Vestal, proposed the award to Miss Kiesner be continued, because of her high scholastic standing. The Parlor is, indeed, proud of her. This year President Holiday will name a committee to select the student for the 1937-38 award, and perhaps the award will go to a male student who is deserving, studious and an athlete.

The design of a bronze plaque to advise the public, from the walls of Santa Barbara's new postoffice, that this federal building stands on the site of Santa Barbara's first Spanish presidio, has been presented to Santa Barbara Parlor. The plaque design, now with federal authorities for approval, features a representation of the old presidio in relief and the simple statement: "On this site was founded the Presidio, April 21, 1782."

PRACTICE RECIPROCITY BY ALWAYS PATRONIZING GRIZZLY BEAR ADVERTISERS

SAN FRANCISCO

THE COMPLETION OF THE GREAT Golden Gate Bridge, longest suspension span ever constructed, will be the signal for a spectacular celebration in San Francisco which promises to echo around the world. Sweeping majestically across San Francisco's famed Golden Gate, through which the Argonauts first glimpsed the end of their golden hopes years ago, this gigantic bridge is among the most impressively beautiful structures built by man.

The Golden Gate Bridge Fiesta, as the opening celebration will be known, is to be held from May 27 to June 1, and is aimed to eclipse anything of its kind ever seen in the West. Plans already advanced call for brilliant and colorful land, water and aerial pageantry and other activities for four wondrous days and nights.

It will be a fiesta of free-souled gayety, laughing, dancing and making merry, together with San Francisco and the picturesque Redwood Empire counties to the north holding "open house" and inviting the world to enter and visit. The carnival spirit, so symbolic of early California, will reign supreme during the happy, care-free fiesta, but at the same time the main purpose and reason for the bridge will not be overlooked —that of bringing San Francisco closer to the golden outdoor land of opportunity.

The celebration is to be international in scope, for the $35,000,000 bridge will break the last major water barrier to the north of San Francisco and offer a continuous highway between Canada and Mexico via San Francisco and the Redwood Empire along the northern coast of California.

Another Fiesta idea is to have each maritime nation of the world participate in a mighty naval parade through the Golden Gate and under the bridge into San Francisco's harbor as a spectacular feature of the span opening. Plans likewise have been approved for the mobilization of two international cavalcades—one from Mexico and the other from Canada. The cavalcade would be so timed as to converge at the Golden Gate Bridge and there participate in the opening events. The suggestion for the cavalcades was advanced by the Redwood Empire Association of California.

The Army and the Navy have pledged the fullest co-operation for the celebration, and every available warship of the fleet in Pacific waters will be assigned to San Francisco Harbor for the duration of the festivities. On bridge opening night, the warships will focus their powerful spotlights on the span, which will also be brilliantly illuminated with floodlights suspended from the high towers. Colored bombs bursting in air, together with a mile-wide display of fireworks, will signalize the first formal illumination of the great bridge. Crissy Field at the Presidio military reservation will be the scene of much of the Fiesta pageantry, which will portray California's history and a "glimpse" into the future.

Marin County, which is directly linked to San Francisco by the bridge, will dedicate the Waldo approach to the span during the opening of the fiesta with a program in which every county in California and all the Pacific Coast states will be represented. The Waldo approach is the main gateway to the bridge on the Marin County side. There will also be celebrations in every other county of the Redwood Empire, which extends directly northward from the Golden Gate to the Oregon border—an immense forested land where the California redwood attains its highest and most royal bearing.

BOOK REVIEWS

"CROSS, SWORD AND GOLD PAN."

This volume, copyrighted by the Automobile Club of Southern California, is a gem. It is made up of twelve history essays by Dr. Herbert C. Bolton, Sather Professor of History at the University of California, and beautiful full-page illustrations in color by Carl Oscar Borg and Millard Sheets. The essays and the illustrations originally appeared in 1931 in the Club's official publication, "Touring Topics," now "Westways."

The essays run the gamut of Southwestern history, beginning with the battle of Hawikuh, July 7, 1540, special emphasis being laid on events effecting California's growth. Especially interesting are those dealing with the founding of San Diego Mission in 1769, the appearance of Jedediah Smith in 1826 at San Gabriel, Fremont's crossing of the Sierra in 1844, the capitulation of Andres Pico to Fremont at Cahuenga January 13, 1847, and the finding of gold at Sutter's Mill, El Dorado County, in 1848. Included in the book, too, is a ballad, "The Founding of Los Angeles 1781," by John Russell McCarthy.

"Cross, Sword and Gold Pan," issued by the Automobile Club of Southern California. The Primavera Press, Los Angeles. Price, $2.00.

"THE CALL OF GOLD."

This excellent book, by Newell D. Chamberlain of Midpines, is the story of Mariposa, one of California's original twenty-seven counties, referred to as the "Mother of Counties." Madera, Tulare, Kings, Fresno, Kern and Merced Counties, and portions of Mono and Inyo Counties were taken from its original area. The first justice-seat was Agua Fria.

"The Call of Gold" is a true story of real people. In its relation, the author quotes extensively from stories told by oldtimers themselves, among them Angevine Reynolds, one of the first settlers, who arrived on Mariposa Creek September 13, 1849.

A chapter is devoted to "California's First Authorized Mint," Moffat's Mint, built in 1859 near the base of Mount Ophir, Mariposa County, by John L. Moffat, appointed by President Zachary Taylor U.S. Assayer for California. From this mint came the first coins—fifty-dollar gold slugs—issued in California under Federal Government authority.

Among the thirty-nine interesting chapters of the book are "Discovery of Something Better Than Gold, Yosemite," "Fremont's Political and Mining Activities," "Battle of the Pine Tree," "Mariposa Around 1859" and "The First White Woman in Bear Valley." There are numerous illustrations, and "The Miners' Ten Commandments" is reproduced as an appendix.

What better recommendation could any book have than this, from Judge Joseph J. Trabucco of the Mariposa County Superior Court:

"In his book, . . . Newell D. Chamberlain has gathered together a wealth of historical data of one of California's vast gold regions, a great deal of which is no doubt known to but few people. From my own knowledge of the region, his narration appears to be a correct historical portrayal of the events therein contained and should prove interesting reading not only to Californians, who are so proud of their State, but to visitors to California and all who are interested in the history, development and expansion of our Nation's vast natural resources and its wealth of natural beauty and grandeur."

"The Call of Gold—True Tales on the Gold Road to Yosemite," by Newell D. Chamberlain. Gazette Press, publishers, Mariposa. Price, $3.00.

San Francisco will have an Interstate Livestock Show March 21-25.

HAPPY OCCASION.

The oldtimers night at Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W., February 18, drew a large crowd, among the number being several who had not attended a meeting in many "moons." The stations were filled by the following former presidents, with Past Grand President John T. Newell directing the proceedings: Frank Cotter, Herbert Holtz, Earl LeMoine, Ray LeMoine, Victor Kremer, Owen Adams, Roger Johnson, "Billy" Newell and "Mike" Botello.

Incidents of the past were related by many speakers, the younger members and present officers of the Parlor outlined their plans for the present, and then all gathered around the festive board to renew and cement friendships.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED.

Long Beach—A surprise party was given Deputy Matilda Enfield by Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. when she officially visited the Parlor February 18. She gave an interesting talk, and was presented with a gift by President Eugenia Smith on behalf of the Parlor. Deputy Helen Anderson and President Kate Hill of Grace Parlor gave short talks.

The thirtieth anniversary of Long Beach was celebrated following the meeting. Of the charter members, four are still enrolled. Three of them—Mrs. Kate McFadyen, first president, Mrs. Elnora Martin and Miss E. Mabel Emery—were guests of honor. A letter of greeting was received from the other, Mrs. Ella Borden Ware of Imperial Valley. Mrs. McFadyen named all the past presidents.

A large anniversary cake in the Parlor's colors, made by Claude Riddle, was one of the attractions. An English fruit cake, ornamented with celluloid roses and "Good Luck to All," the gift of June Knight, was brought from England by Mrs. Beryl Vallikett, Miss Knight's mother, and presented the Parlor. Those having birthdays in February were honored, and President Smith was surprised with a handkerchief shower. The committee of arrangements consisted of Mrs. Johanna Reed (chairman), Miss Josephine Pierson, and Mrs. Mary Stultz.

The thimble club met with Chairman Daisy T. Hansen February 4, and with Mrs. Leola Temby February 25. A card party was held at the home of Mrs. Johanna Reed February 19. Plans are complete for the official visit of Grand President Florence Boyle March 19; a banquet at 6 will precede the meeting. A bronze plaque will be placed on the General Phineas Banning home at Banning Park, Wilmington, that day at 1:30 p.m.—V.T.H.

WOMEN MUST LEAD WAY TO PEACE.

Members of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. are looking forward with pleasurable anticipation to the official visit of Grand President Florence Boyle March 23.

February 9, patriotic decorations of flags and spring blossoms were used at the Parlor meeting, and the birthday honorees had valentine individual cakes. Mrs. Ruth Mathebat of Alameda, department commander of the American Legion Auxiliary who is in Los Angeles on a visit, explained the Universal Service Act, and paid tribute to Martha Decker, Ethel Hearst and Ernestine Aylward, members of Californiana, former department commanders. She said "It is up to the women to lead the way to peace," one suggested method being to take the profit out of war. Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith pleased with interesting comments on current events, books and plays, concluding with the reading of a Russian play.

Marcella Palethorpe was hostess for the George Washington tea held February 23. The Gertrude sewing circle will meet March 15 at the home of Mrs. John Welch and Miss Arabelle Hurlbut, who will be assisted by Mrs. Harold Palethorpe. President Lena Burrows announces that the next waffle breakfast will be in April.

UNIVERSITY PARLOR NEWS.

March 10, University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. will play the role of host to the southland Parlors at the first group initiation of 1937. The Parlor's initiatory team will exemplify the ritual, and a large class is expected to be initiated. Ben Hiss will be chairman of the evening, and President Les Drown, Solly Smith, Roy Parsons and Neil Hines will provide the entertainment and ample refreshments.

University extends a hearty invitation to all members of the Order to be present on this occasion, and promises a good time. Parlors having candidates for initiation are asked to have them on hand by 8:30 p.m., in order that the initiation may not be delayed. An important feature of the evening will be Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer's official visit to University, and the class will be named in his honor.

University's handicap party February 24 was a grand success, with Art Honig in charge of preparations and Solly Smith in the capacity of master of ceremonies. Walter Wells announces that another native has been added to the population of California. President Les Drown has spent considerable time in preparing an attractive calendar for the current term, and members of the Order wishing to visit the Parlor any Wednesday night will enjoy an interesting meeting and a diversified good of the order.—J.P.H.

GRIZZLY GROWLS

CLARENCE M. HUNT.

AT A CONFERENCE ON EDUCATION held in San Francisco, a paper prepared by Superintendent Frank L. Cummings of Chico, Butte County, schools was read. Quoting therefrom:

"Democracy cannot thrive unless there is more nearly a unification of interests than at present.

"Unless we build ideas of honesty, love and respect for truth, and unless there is a sense of responsibility and respect for law, no system of justice can effectually operate. Furthermore, it is only in a democracy that the concept of special privilege to none can exist."

Not far from the United States Navy base at San Pedro, Los Angeles County, a couple of Japs were discovered last month operating two powerful short-wave radio stations not licensed by this government. Japan marches on, in California!

"Delay in the administration of justice," wrote Attorney-General Cummings to President Franklin Roosevelt, "is the outstanding defect of our federal judicial system. It has exasperated the bench, the bar, the business community and the public. . . .

"It is a mockery of justice to say to a person when he files suit that he may receive a decision years later. Under a properly ordered system rights should be determined promptly. The course of litigation should be measured in months and not in years."

The death at Stockton, February 15, of Sarah Althea Hill Terry recalled the famous duel near San Francisco, September 13, 1859, in which her husband, Justice David S. Terry, killed Senator David C. Broderick.

There is growing indignation in California because the numerous employees of government are exempt from the Federal income tax. That is an evil which should be speedily corrected! No one whose income is taxable should be exempt from the payment of the tax.

"There is nothing more surely needed in this country," says Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, "than a universal constitutional baptism. If our institutions are not fitted to serve the tranquility and welfare of our people under present conditions, we surely should know it.

"But, any plan which undertakes to accomplish any redistribution of power between the state and national government, without the full authority of the people, should be regarded as a mistake, a mistake that there is no reason for making."

California led all the states of the Union in 1936 traffic deaths, according to the Federal Census Bureau. With a total death list of 3,050, it surpassed New York, with 2,600. Isn't that a fine record?

There is good in everything. Experts say that the recent cold spell assure bumper deciduous fruit crops for California.

There has been introduced in the Federal House of Representatives a bill to prohibit the manufacture and the shipment in interstate commerce of autos capable of doing in excess of fifty miles an hour. The undertakers' lobby will, in all likelihood, oppose its adoption.

MEETINGPLACE 1937 NATIVE DAUGHTERS GRAND PARLOR CHANGED TO SAN JOSE.

Just as this issue of The Grizzly Bear was to go to press, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler advised by wire that the N.D.G.W. Grand Parlor, which assembles in June, will meet in San Jose, Santa Clara County, instead of Placerville, El Dorado County, as originally planned. San Jose No. 81 and Vendome No. 100 of San Jose will be the hostess-Parlors.

The change in meetingplace was made by the grand officers who, after careful investigation, concluded that Placerville could not, in June, when that little city is crowded with vacationists, properly house the delegates.

SANTA BARBARA

CALIFORNIA'S QUEEN CITY

"If You Like California You'll Love Santa Barbara"

"QUEEN OF THE SEA" ENTERTAINS

James French Dorrance

THE MARCH 15-16 DAYS OF 1937 HAVE written themselves into Santa Barbara history as the most eventful of the year in the crowded annals of Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 Native Daughters of the Golden West. Honoring the Founder of the Order, Mrs. Lily O. Reichling-Dyer, up from Los Angeles on her first visit to Santa Barbara, accenting the first official visit of Grand President Florence D. Boyle, down from Oroville, and attended by several grand officers, the officers and members of the "Queen of the Sea" Parlor made the most of their opportunity.

An unusual amount of community interest was aroused, the Santa Barbara daily newspapers devoting headlines, considerable space and photographic reproductions to the event.

Evening found a brilliant assembly of Sons, Daughters, influential citizens, city and county officials at La Hacienda in midtown, where was served the annual banquet of Reina del Mar, a social event on the Santa Barbara calendar, despite the fact that the latter half of the evening is given over to ritual and the reception of new members, the class this year numbering sixteen. "Americanism," the Daughters' year-theme, was reflected in the lovely colonial costumes of the members, particularly those of the dancing and singing groups. This motif was also carried out in the decorations of the banquetroom and the tables.

Mrs. Edna McCormick, president, spoke the welcome for Reina del Mar, after Rev. Louis Schoen, O.F.M., a Native Son, invoked a blessing on the assembly. Mrs. Daisy Prideaux, originally of Ursula Parlor No. 1, Jackson, led the Reina del Mar singing group. Introductions followed, to include a Native Son group headed by President Leland Holiday and District Deputy Grand President A. C. Dinsmore, and including the chairmen of some of that Parlor's activities: Paul Sweetser, George MacCulloch, James Sloan, F. V. Vestal and Wesley McCormick.

Honoring the visit to Santa Barbara of Founder Lily O. Reichling-Dyer and Grand President Florence D. Boyle, Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 N.D.G.W., represented by Dr. Anna E. McCaughey, chairman of history, gave a breakfast March 16 at El Encanto on the Santa Barbara Riviera. Here are the breakfasters (left to right): Mrs. Edith Schallmo, Los Angeles Parlor; Miss Addie Roderick, Gold of Ophir Parlor; Dr. Anna E. McCaughey, Grand President Boyle, Founder Dyer; Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer, co-ordinator of southern California Parlors, and Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg.

Unquestionably the visit of the Founder and the Grand President accented the position of the Parlor as a community force, and built for it greater influence in a community where Native Daughterdom long has been an authoritative factor in matters of charity, landmark preservation and historical endeavor.

The heavens wept on Monday, March 15, but did not dampen the reception given the visiting officials. The rain did, however, send the tree-planting ceremony under cover—from the grounds of the Queen of Missions into the library of the structure that recently celebrated its sesquicentennial. Trees were dedicated according to program, their planting deferred until mission garden conditions were more favorable.

The Island ironwood, recently declared the official tree of Santa Barbara County at ceremonies in which the Daughters collaborated with Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 Native Sons of the Golden West, was the species used. Fr. Englehardt, beloved historian of the Franciscans in California, the Golden Jubilee of Native Daughterdom, and Founder Dyer were the honorees. Graceful speeches of dedication were made by Grand President Boyle, Past Grand President Cora B. Sifford of Ventura and Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer of Los Angeles. Patriotic orders of Santa Barbara were represented at the ceremony by officials and delegations of members. Rev. Ferdinand Ortez, O.F.M., officially received the trees in behalf of Santa Barbara Mission, of which he is guardian. Fr. Owen Sylvia brought his St. Anthony's College choristers.

Founder Dyer spoke with feeling over the growth of the Order, saying it had come to surpass her fondest expectations of fifty years ago. She congratulated Reina del Mar on past achievement, and exhorted the members to hold in the future to the cardinal principles of Native Daughterdom, as they had in the past.

Grand President Boyle was received with enthusiasm as she developed the "Americanism" theme of the evening. She pointed out that Native Daughters were of every clime, race and creed, and in position to exert helpful influence in every walk of life. The address of the evening came from Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer, her subject being "Women's Responsibility in Civic Endeavor."

Director Maunsell Van Rensselaer, a Native Son who is at the head of the famous Blaksley

Homeless Children

A WORTHWHILE NON-SECTARIAN ENDEAVOR SPONSORED AND SUPPORTED BY THE ORDERS OF NATIVE SONS AND NATIVE DAUGHTERS OF THE GOLDEN WEST

DO NOT FORGET THAT APRIL 10 WILL be the last day that contributions for the Homeless Children can be entered in the report of this fiscal year. Many of the Parlors have responded during the past two weeks, and there are many Parlors, usually contributing, not yet heard from.

It has been a gratification to those engaged in this humanitarian work to learn of the great army of interested citizens of every walk in life arrayed against any tinkering with the present California laws of adoption which safeguard the child, and are as one with the Native Sons and Native Daughters and the Children's Home Finding Society of California in their efforts to defeat the adoption bills proposed in the State Legislature.

The Grand Presidents of both Orders, the members of the Central Committee and the Native Daughters throughout the state have been determined that the protective laws which they have worked together for the past twenty-six years shall not be abolished.

Mrs. John W. Stirling, chairman of the Central Committee, Martin J. Dinkelspiel, vice-chairman, and E. J. Wren, chairman finance committee, have been quoted as saying that the proposed laws would result in the placing of children in unsuitable homes and might also result in the actual sale of babies to prospective parents.

The delay in adoptions is in itself a virtue, in that the child's mental and physical development may be assured. Time is an essential factor, that the child may be studied, the future foster home carefully investigated, and the legal status of the child made secure.

"No regulation can be too strict, none too searching, where adoption laws are concerned," to quote Dr. Mariana Bertola, Past Grand President N.D.G.W. and former president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Bayless C. Clark, president of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, stated, "Our adoption laws have won high praise from other states and from the Federal Government."

Each individual expressing an opinion in a series of published articles has agreed that there must be no haste, no superficial investigation of the child's background and the prospective parents, as only tragedy would follow the breaking down of present safeguards.

It was welcome news to those who oppose the proposed new laws to learn that the authors of the bills had withdrawn them in committee, and they are said to have been unconscious, at the time of introducing the bills, of what havoc would be wrought were the bills to become laws.

That the work of the homeless children is dear to the hearts of the Native Sons and the Native Daughters is at no time more clearly demonstrated than through the strength and sincerity of their opposition when anything arises to jeopardize the protection they seek for every helpless child and every child-loving man and woman.

Botanic Gardens in Mission Canyon, gave an illustrated talk on "California Trees" that was greatly appreciated. As the meeting was, in a way, the closing observance of California Conservation Week, the state and county chairmen thereof, Miss Pearl Chase and Mrs. Martin J. Haider, were presented. Mrs. Amelia Acres of Reina del Mar conducted the program with unusual grace, but endeavored to pass credit for the evening to Mrs. Elizabeth Coen and Mrs. Lydia Ross of the Past Presidents Association.

The Founder, at an after-meeting with members of the Parlor, spoke frankly on opportunities that awaited the Daughters in the fields of education and legislation. As a result, Reina del Mar remodeled its legislative committee, with Mrs. Ruth Hendy, second vice-president, and Mrs. Amelia Acres, supervising district deputy, as co-chairmen.

Tuesday morning, at beautiful El Encanto on the Riviera, Dr. Anna E. McCaughey, history chairman, presided for the Parlor at breakfast to visiting officers and members. The guests were taken in automobiles to Blaksley Gardens, Santa Barbara Mission and the Santa Barbara County Court House. Luncheon at the famous El Paseo rounded out the official visit.

April 20 will be the birthday of Reina del Mar Parlor, and by way of observance members will motor across the mountains to La Purissima Mission, near Lompoc, which is now being restored as a Federal project. Mrs. John D. Ross, in charge of the visit, announces that effort will be made to have returned to the mission, for museum preservation, relics of the mission which are now in possession of private families.

The Parlor extended its sympathy to Past President Katherine Leslie in the loss of her husband, Grant Leslie, a member of Santa Barbara Parlor N.S.G.W. President Leland Holiday and Fr. Louis Schoen conducted the ritualistic services of the Native Sons at his funeral, March 19.

OLDTIMERS ARE HONORED.

Santa Barbara—March 18. Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W. had an oldtimers night to honor all the old members. Henry Meyer, being the only charter member present and the oldest past president of the Parlor, was received with great applause. A very large number of the oldtimers were induced to come out, and Leslie Moore, a member of the Parlor residing in Bakersfield, made the trip over especially to attend the affair. Six new names were added to No. 116's roster-roll during the evening.

Harry Sweetser was in charge of arrangements for the occasion and read portions of the minutes of the first meeting of the Parlor, which will be fifty years old this November. Supervising Architect Hale gave a talk on the proposed dedication of Santa Barbara's new Postoffice Building by the Native Sons grand officers.

Willie Blume was in charge of the entertainment, and Ray Lathim and Frank Huffman handled the supper. District Deputy A. C. Dinsmore of the membership committee advised that thirty applications for membership are on file, and that many more eligibles are about to sign up.

Arcata, Humboldt County, will feature a Community Carnival April 15-17.

Public School Week will be observed beginning Monday, April 26.

Grand Vice-president Ethel I. Begley (Marinita No. 198) will, unless custom is upset, be advanced to Grand President without opposition. Pioneer Spirit Prevailed.

Taft—The official visit of Grand President Florence D. Boyle to Miocene No. 228, March 4, will long be remembered. Deputy Evalyn G. Towne was chairman of arrangements for the occasion, which started with a banquet, attended by fifty members of the Order, at which the spirit of the Pioneer prevailed. Mrs. Boyle pleased with songs of '49, and there were vocal selections by Genevieve Riordan, Betty Jane Newman, Alice Newman and Olive White. The banquetroom decorations were carried out in yellow and red, a miniature covered wagon and tall yellow tapers making the picture complete.

At the meeting, seven candidates were initiated, the ritual being exemplified in a most creditable manner. Grand President Boyle, in the course of her address, stressed the Order's aims and accomplishments, and complimented the Parlor and the initiates. Visitors included Deputies Georgia Saunders and Addie Roderick, Evelyn Howell, Gertrude Allen, Dahlia Vucovich and Ella Steinbeck of Los Angeles Parlor, and a large delegation from El Tejon Parlor (Bakersfield).

Sponsoring Girl Scout Troop.

Alturas—Alturas No. 159 is taking the lead in a public health movement, the purpose of which is to make pre-natal care of expectant mothers an open and popular subject. A troop of Girl Scouts is being organized in Alturas, with the Parlor as the sponsor. Miss Irons of the elementary school will act as the leader, and Mrs. Lundy, wife of the Baptist minister, will be the advisor. The registration of Pioneers is being taken up with great enthusiasm. After a recent explanation in a local paper, requests for blanks have been coming in from near and far.

Alturas' social committee for March served delicious refreshments on the 4th at tables attractively decorated in the spring motif. Past Grand Irma Laird represented the Parlor at the public relations dinner given by the Business and Professional Women's Club. Supervising Deputy Clara Gibson will visit the Parlor at the April meeting. Past Grand Catherine Gloster has recovered from her recent illness and is able to resume her work at school.

aid her goal of 1,000 new members for the Order is rapidly being approached. She is greatly interested, also, in having compiled a complete roster of California Pioneers, and she wants co-operation in the homeless children work.

A banquet in Mrs. Boyle's honor preceding the meeting was largely attended, among the other guests being Addie Roderick of Oroville and Rose Bewley of Modesto. Ralpha Sanders presided. Large boquets of fruit blossoms, containing lighted candles from which were strung anes of spring blooms, and floral nutcups and placecards, made up the decorative feature.

With Eleanor Rehdorf presiding, one candidate was initiated at the Parlor meeting. Many endorsements of a resolution, originating in El Tejon, to make Fort Tejon a state park were announced. Assisting in making arrangements or the official visit were Kate Phillips, Mrs. Ralph Hinderliter, Margaret Carlisle, Winifred Bowen, Gladys Cooper, Hallie Bowman, Wilma Leeds and Frances Leeds.

Good Time at Saint Patrick's Party.

Oakland—The thirty-eighth anniversary of Aloha No. 106 was celebrated at a well-attended dinner. Gladys I. Farley was chairman for the monthly card party held February 26 at the home of Lois E. Jackson. A bride's night was held March 9 for Marjorie Ellis Diederichs. A mock ceremony was performed by the social committee, and a parody on "O Promise Me" was sung by Thelma Dobyne. After the wedding the bride was presented with a piece of crystal by Chairman Martha Watson, and then the assemblage adjourned to the banquetroom, decorated in pink blossoms, where refreshments were served.

Never have the members of Aloha had such a good time as at the Saint Patrick's Day party March 16. All came bedecked in their best bibs and tuckers, dug out of attics, closets, old trunks, etc. Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler impersonated an Irish countryman, with clay pipe and shamrock. Irma Murray, as a ballet dancer, introduced new gestures. The father of one member, believed to be Leona Jones, was minus a pair of "unmentionables." A baby hospital reported the release that day of a baby girl, Alberta Day, and she also was there, blonde curls and all. And there were other costumes, too numerous to mention. A.L.

Scenes of Spanish Era Feature Decorations.

San Diego—Grand President Florence D. Boyle paid her official visit to San Diego No. 208 March 18. Preceding the meeting a banquet was held in her honor, the table decorations featuring typical scenes of the early days of California during the Spanish period.

Four candidates were initiated by President Edythe Barngrover and her corps of officers, and Grand President Boyle gave an inspiring talk on the projects of the Order. Other visitors were Grand Trustee Hazel Hansen and delegations from Sacramento, Los Angeles and Santa Ana.

The following day President Barngrover conducted Grand President Boyle and other visitors on a tour which included San Diego Mission, the "Old Spanish Lighthouse" at Point Loma, and Tia Juana in Old Mexico.

"Commical College" Party.

Stockton—Joaquin No. 5 had a jovial evening when a "commical college" party was staged February 23. The hall was decorated in United States of America and California State (Bear) flags. In one corner was a stable in which the "pupils" tied their calico horses, and in another corner was an old hand pump with bucket and dipper. Seated at desks, the members, in school-girl dresses of varying periods, heard and participated in a program of impromptu stunts. Each "pupil" brought her lunch, and the "faculty"—Faye Silver, Josephine Liesy, Katherine Guiliani, Laura May Roesch, Georgia Storm, Alma Pike, Ella Meyer and Mrs. Joseph Nunes—provided coffee.

March 23 a program carrying out an Indian theme, and presenting authentic information on California's native inhabitants, was under the supervision of Past Grands Carrie Roesch Durum and Mamie G. Peyton of the Parlor's history and landmarks committee. They were assisted by the March social committee appointed by President Clelia Giannini: Catherine Tully (chairman), Mae Miner, Anna Laughead, Lois Valentine, Cora Bolliger, LaVerne Hunter, Sarah Tully, Gertrude Murphy, Rose Finney, Clara Thompson and Marie Thompson.

Historic Orange County Home Plaqued.

Placentia—The historic home of Don Marcos Forster at San Juan Capistrano, Orange County, was marked by Grace No. 242 the afternoon of March 18 with a bronze plaque reading: "In memory of Marcos A. Forster and his descendants who have contributed greatly to the history and development of California. Dedicated by Grace Parent Native Daughters of the Golden West, March 18th, 1937."

Mrs. A. L. Anderson made the presentation address to which Mrs. Luciana Forster McFadden, daughter of Don Marcos, responded. Historian Terry E. Stephenson, the guest speaker, outlined the history of the Forster family which dates back to 1844, when Captain John Forster arrived in San Juan Capistrano from England. Grand President Florence D. Boyle gave a splendid talk on the Order's objects. A program of Spanish songs and dances was presented, and a barbecue dinner concluded the occasion.

Grand President Boyle officially visited the Parlor in the evening. A profusion of daffodils, ferns and palms beautified the clubrooms. The officers, with Kate Hill as president, exemplified the ritual in a perfect manner. For the Parlor, Alice Key Davis presented a gift to Mrs. Boyle, who responded in her usual charming way, and in appreciation for her many acts of kindness, a basket of roses was presented Mrs. McFadden. At the meeting's conclusion dainty refreshments were served. Among other visitors were Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Trustees Alice Lane, Hazel Hansen and Ethel Enos, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg, Past Grands Grace S. Stoermer and Anne C. Thuesen, Deputy Olinda Kerby, and Edna Briggs, Genevieve Didion and Mrs. F. H. Schmittgen of La Bandera No. 110 (Sacramento).

RIGHT NOW IS A GOOD TIME TO BECOME A SUBSCRIBER TO THE GRIZZLY BEAR The ALL California Monthly

Convention Card Party.

San Jose—President Ella Graham is putting over Vendome No. 100's affairs in a gratifying way, and when the Grand President pays her official visit a large class of candidates will be initiated. Afternoon card parties are held every two weeks with remarkable success. Co-chairmen for March were Mms. W. C. Kady and Thomas Brett, Miss Martha Waddington and Mrs. Gertrure Mathers. Mrs. Clara Gairaud was chairman of "Irish night," March 10. Beautiful decorations were featured. A program was presented by Miss Tillie Brohaska, Mrs. Elda Beth Hill and Deputy Doris H. Barker, and a jiggs dinner, with all the "thrimins," was enjoyed. "Supreme Chef" Julia Waddington was assisted by Mms. Gladys Nelson, Elizabeth Hayes, May Calice and Louise Lillick.

First Vice-president Dorothy Lorentz has been elected secretary of the combined homeless children committee of the N.D.G.W. and N.S.G.W. Parlors in San Jose. April 14 is the date for a convention card party to which the public is invited. Co-chairmen Ruth Semich and Clara Gairaud will be assisted by a large committee. The past president club met at the home of Mrs. W. C. Kady. Mrs. Hazel Haub, the hostess, gave a talk on their recent visit to Mexico City, and souvenirs were exhibited.

Three-in-One Birthday Observance.

Hollister—Copa de Oro No. 105 held a jolly three-in-one birthday observance February 25, marking the 205th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, the 38th anniversary of the founding of the Parlor, and the natal days of members born in January, February and March. The birthday members were greeted by Father Time, in appropriate robes, carrying an hourglass and personated by Ruby Nyland, who admonished them to guard each moment as a precious heritage. Copa de Oro, in the person of Pauline Saufnauer, entered with a poppy-covered basket from which gifts were distributed to the honored members. George and Martha Washington, personated by Mildred Marcheski and Sarah Eastman in colonial costumes, came to extend congratulations. Alta Trowbridge then gave an interesting talk on Washington, singing his favorite song.

General and Mrs. Washington led the march to the refreshment tables, appropriately decorated with cherry trees, patriotic table runners, tall lighted red tapers and spring blossoms. The centerpiece consisted of miniature figures of George and Martha Washington. The committee served delicious refreshments. With lights extinguished, Alta Trowbridge entered, bearing a huge lighted birthday cake topped with a tiny cherry tree, and singing "Happy Birthday." Community singing of patriotic songs closed a

THE ACTUAL DEDICATORY CEREmonies attendant upon the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge, largest span in the world, will be performed by the Grand Parlor of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West May 27, according to Mayor Angelo J. Rossi, chairman of the committee arranging San Francisco's ten-day Golden Gate Bridge Fiesta.

The dedicatory ceremonies will take place at high noon of that day on the "Toll Plaza," situated on the San Francisco end of the great suspension bridge. Hartley Russell, present Grand President of the Order, will make the dedicatory address. The ceremony of placing a bronze plaque on the bridge will be performed by Eldred L. Meyer, Hartley Russell, Joseph J. McShane, Jesse H. Miller and John T. Regan, grand officers.

The Native Sons of the Golden West were selected to perform the dedication ceremonies because it is one of the very few, if not the only, patriotic organization having formal ceremonies for dedicating public edifices.—W.F.W.

Eric Cullenward, general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge Fiesta, reports that practically every county in California will be represented in a featured parade of the celebration with colorful emblematic floats. Cavalcades from Canada, Mexico and the Western states are also being mobilized.

BREAKFAST AT N.D. HOME.

Minerva No. 2, Yosemite No. 83 and Genevieve No. 132 Parlors N.D.G.W. were hostesses at the Sunday morning breakfast at the Native Daughter Home March 14. President Kathleen Lagrave of Genevieve, the chairman, extended a welcome, the invocation was given by President Martha Fratessa of Yosemite, and President Regina Scanlon of Minerva led in the pledge to the United States of America Flag.

Mrs. Alfred McLaughlin was the speaker of the day, her subject being "Institute of Pacific Relations." A gift from the hostess-Parlors was accepted by Past Grand President Dr. Mariana Bertola, chairman Grand Parlor Home Committee, who took occasion to thank the Parlors for the decorations and the efforts put forth for an outstanding breakfast. Mary Tornich spoke on Minerva's golden jubilee. Musical selections were rendered by the N.D. Glee Club, Anne Godfrey and Grand Organist Mae O'Keefe.

Among the ninety-six members of the Order present were forty from Genevieve Parlor, also Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Outside Sentinel Emily Ryan, Past Grands Margaret G. Hill and Evelyn I. Carlson, Susie K. Christ (Yosemite No. 83), Deputies Nora G. Scheflin, Marilyn Metcalf and Rose Magoria. The Native Sons were represented by Grand Secretary John T. Regan.

ST. PATRICK'S PARTY DRAWS BIG CROWD.

Carrying out a custom inaugurated some twenty years ago, South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 N.S.G.W. celebrated March 17 the anniversary of Saint Patrick's Day. The affair was an outstanding one, attended by approximately 300 members of the Order.

This was also the date set for the official visit of Grand Second Vice-president Joseph J. McShane to the Parlor, but as he was detained in Sacramento on business Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth visited for him, and made a wonderful address on the Order's activities, particularly stressing the immigration question.

At the meeting's conclusion a banquet was served in the diningroom, which was crowded beyond capacity. Sheriff Daniel C. Murphy (Mission No. 38) was the guest speaker, and his subject was "The Life of St. Patrick." Other speakers were Grand President Hartley Russell, Junior Past Grand Harmon D. Skillin, Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig, District Deputy Theodore Schmidt and Eugene H. O'Donnell. Musical numbers under the direction of Gerald Gallagher, chairman of the Parlor's entertainment committee, included: community singing, vocal solos by Bill Best and Lloyd Dornell of the San Francisco Fire Department and Daniel Tinney (Rincon No. 72), and accordion and drum selection by courtesy of Al Devoto of the State Equalization Board.

Chairman Joseph Fogarty (Stanford No. 76) of the athletic committee of the San Francisco Extension of the Order Committee presented a gold emblem to each of South San Francisco's championship softball team, and a championship plaque to the Parlor. Daniel J. Collins, chairman of No. 157's athletic committee and manager of the softball team, acknowledged the gifts and complimented the members of the championship winning team.

PLEA MADE FOR PRESERVATION NAPA COUNTY'S HISTORIC OLD ADOBE.

Editor George Francis of the Napa Register received from Dorrion B. Levy the following:

"In 1841 the Juarez family settled near what is now called Metcalf Creek. They built two adobe huts. There being no stone masons in those days, the huts were molded of mud and clay.

"Don Cayetano Juarez was granted land extending from Metcalf Creek on the south, to Arroyo Secco on the north, and Napa River on the west. Out of this he donated Tuloway cemetery, where he and his family lie at rest.

"His son, Dolores, was a native of California and was, until the time of his death in 1918, a member of Napa Parlor No. 62 Native Sons of the Golden West.

"The old Juarez home still stands, just south of Napa City. But in what physical shape is it? Mr. Francis, it is in bad shape. It was the first building in our locality. Why should we, as sons of California, stand by and see a real old California and Napa landmark, dating back to the march of the padres, go to waste as a dispenser of liquors, when it should be a spot for tourists to stop and visit as a historical emblem of our great state?

"I take this opportunity, through our press, to appeal to the civic, fraternal and social organizations of Napa to co-operate in restoring the 'Old Adobe' as a monument to our first settlers."

"War arises from stupidity quite as much as from wickedness."— Florence E. Allen.

In Memoriam

ANNIE R. SCHAEFFLE.

To the Officers and Members of Ruby Parlor No. 46 N.D.G.W. We, your committee appointed to draft a memorial of love and respect to the memory of our late Sister Annie R. Schaeffle, submit the following:

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has again seen fit to sever the golden cord that binds us together in bonds of love and fraternity, and has called to her Heavenly Home our beloved sister, Annie R. Schaeffle, we bow in humble submission to His divine will.

Resolved, That our sincere and deep sympathy be extended to her bereaved family; that a page of our records be dedicated to her memory; that a copy of this memorial be sent to her family, and also to The Grizzly Bear Magazine.

"May the California winds blow lightly,
May the California sun shine brightly,
May the California rain fall softly,
Where sleeps our sister dear."

Sincerely and Fraternally in P.D.E.A.,
NELLIE LOMBARDI,
MARY WELSH,
ANNIE SEGALE,
Committee.

Murphys, February 20, 1937.

LENA STEINMETZ.

To the Officers and Members of El Pescadero Parlor No. 82 N.D.G.W. We, your committee on resolutions, submit the following:

Whereas, A Charter Member and Past President Sister Lena Steinmetz has answered the call of our Heavenly Father and gone to her Eternal Home; her passing has left a vacancy that can never be replaced, and her loving memory will live forever in our minds. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That the heartfelt sympathy of this Parlor be extended to her family in their bereavement; that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Parlor; that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased Sister, and one to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

"She has taken her long journey on that beautiful ship called Rest
Away from this world of sorrows to a home of eternal rest.
We have only your Memory, dear Sister, to treasure the whole life through,
But its sweetness will last forever, as we cherish our memory of you."

Respectfully submitted in P.D.E.A., happy evening, largely attended. March 11, the Parlor enjoyed an evening at monopoly, after which tasty refreshments were served at tables decorated with a Saint Patrick motif.

NEWSY N.D.G.W. PARAGRAPHS.

Napa—Eshol No. 16 was visited March 8 by Supervising Deputy Juliet Bliss and several members of Vallejo No. 195. Gifts were presented, and Bertha Vidy and committee served refreshments. The charter was draped in memory of Maggie Stoddard, for several years a trustee of the Parlor. A potluck supper preceded the March 22 meeting, and a benefit card party was held March 29.

San Luis Obispo—An outstanding event was the official visit of Grand President Florence D. Boyle to San Luisita No. 108 March 1. She gave an interesting talk on "Americanism," and referred to the Order's aims. Mrs. Boyle was presented with a picture of the old mission, and Recording Secretary Agnes M. Lee received lovely gifts. The following day several members of San Luisita accompanied the Grand President on her official visit to El Pinal No. 163 (Cambria).

Lincoln—Placer No. 138 entertained March 10 its charter members, Florence Berry, Agnes Perron, May Herold, Emma Lawson, Bertha Lynch, Etta Leland, Sophie Nelson, Grace Farr, Lu Kate Temple and Mollie Wyatt. Past Grand Anna M. Armstrong was the main speaker of the occasion. The concensus of opinion was to conduct Hazel Kade, Laura Cox, Mattie Sneider and Thelma Kade.

Richmond—Mt. Harriet Parlor, of Richmond No. 147 was given cards of the Betterment degree, and the Parlor had a surprise shower party for her. The honored guest was presented with gifts, and a large birthday cake that decorated the refreshments table was cut by her. Grace and Georgia Curry made the arrangements, and Maude Muller presided. Deputy Greta Marden was a visitor. The Parlor's annual whist for the benefit of the homeless children was a complete success. The committee in charge included Claire Schmidt, Clare Barry and Gertrude Parish.

Oakland—With President Marie Silva presiding, Fruitvale No. 177 initiated two candidates February 19, and then enjoyed refreshments served at tables decorated in red, white and blue. The sewing club met at the home of Chairman Barthold. Grace Biggins keeps busy providing new fancy work designs.

Colma—El Carmelo No. 181 observed its twenty-seventh institution anniversary at a dinner given under the leadership of Hattie Kelly. In attendance were five charter members, Deputy Louise Eliasen and Organizer Pauline Quirolo. March 17 a Saint Patrick's party was held for members having March birthdays. Entertainment was provided and refreshments were served under the supervision, respectively, of Margaretha Schade and Lucille Young. The affair was voted a huge success. The April party will be held the 21st.

Vallejo—The annual homeless children benefit card party sponsored by Vallejo No. 195 and Vallejo No. 77 N.S.G.W., March 9, was a great social and financial success. The joint arrangements committee included Genevieve Moroney and John Combs (chairmen), Guilda Keller, Celia Barskey and Fermin Segoria.

Fort Bragg—Fort Bragg No. 210 celebrated its institution anniversary March 3. Five charter members related the Parlor's history, and delicious refreshments were served. Hostesses of the evening were the Misses Wahlstrom. March 19 the sewing club met at the home of Mrs. Robert Cummings.

Petaluma—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Thompkins donated a Norwegian spruce to Petaluma No. 222, and Arbor Day, March 7, it was presented by the Parlor to the city with appropriate ceremonies in the Plaza. Mrs. Thompkins made the presentation address, and Mayor Woodson accepted the tree. The Parlor's drill team appeared in uniform and each member placed a spadefull of earth about the tree. Addresses were made by Past Grand Emma Foley and Supervising Deputy Vida Vollers, and music was supplied by the Eagles drum corps and Percy Stebbings. The Parlor initiated four candidates, and sponsored a successful food sale during March.

Pleasanton—Pleasanton No. 237 had an especially enjoyable observance of Saint Patrick's Day, March 2. Refreshments were served at tables beautifully decorated with baskets of daffodils, and the favors were miniature shamrocks. April 6 will be "homeless children night," and each member will bring an article for the Parlor's baby chest. Several candidates will be initiated when Grand President Florence Boyle pays her official visit April 22.

San Jose—Past Presidents Association No. 3 had an interesting meeting March 9 and elected delegates to the Chief Assembly. Chairman Claire Borchers gave a splendid report on welfare. Mrs. Adaline Boysen was chairman for the social hour, and the refreshments tables featured a Saint Patrick motif. Chief President Mamie Davis of Sacramento was a visitor during the month to San Jose. SAN BERNARDINO

"THE FRIENDLY CITY"

S. J. Arnold
SAN BERNARDINO CHAMBER COMMERCE.)

WE ARE FIRMLY CONVINCED that "The Friendly City" of San Bernardino is destined to make remarkable progress in the immediate future!

Southern California's most important inland city is the county seat of the nation's largest county, which exceeds twenty thousand square miles, or nearly thirteen million acres, in size. Within this area are thirty thriving communities, with natural resources almost beyond belief. Some fifty thousand acres are planted to citrus fruits, and together with other agricultural products they develop an annual crop value which totals approximately thirty million dollars. Livestock adds another four millions to our wealth, and our all-important mineral production is responsible for eleven millions more. The present assessed valuation of property in San Bernardino County is one hundred and thirty-five millions of dollars.

As the business hub of this inland empire, strategically located at a point where two transcontinental highways and four major railways meet, we have our own City of San Bernardino, populated with forty-seven thousand good citizens. Citizens who are proud of fine schools and an outstanding junior college. Citizens who worship in some forty churches, and keep alive and active a unit of every important service club. Here we find great railroad shops, which represent an investment of nearly fourteen million dollars. Our department stores and exclusive shops offer the best of merchandise in wide variety, at reasonable prices. Our daily newspapers compare favorably with those published in the great metropolitan centers of the United States. Our business buildings are modern, our homes comfortable. Our convenient hotels owe no apology to the traveler.

No fair commentator would fail to remark on the tremendous importance to San Bernardino of our splendid mountain playgrounds. Good roads, clear lakes, pine forests, and accommodations to suit a king or a camper keep many cars rolling through our city and many dollars rolling through our trade channels. In the foothills our famous Arrowhead, over seven and one-half acres in area, points proudly to the Arrowhead Springs, where hot and cold natural spring water of great commercial value flows generously.

SAN BERNARDINO'S MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM.

San Bernardino, with its fine theatres, its modern outdoor plunge, professionally approved baseball field and beautiful bowl, is distinctly an amusement center.

San Bernardino is a convention city. Recently host to two very large and important conventions, we will welcome three more within the next six months. Our National Orange Show brings a quarter of a million visitors annually.

We believe in San Bernardino and, what is more, we believe in her citizens. For without a people of courage and vision, our Inland Empire would still be a magnificent but lonely desert. The real reason for our growth and progress is the high type of citizen within our boundaries. In 1934 our city bank clearings were fifteen and a quarter millions. In 1935 they mounted to twenty-six and one-half millions, and for 1936 they were approximately thirty-seven millions of dollars.

Yes, we are optimistic! We have confidence in our people, and we believe that the Indians who first discovered the San Bernardino Valley and named it "Guachama," or "Land of Plenty," were true prophets.

SEVEN INITIATED.

San Bernardino—Continuing its membership march upward, Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. March 3 initiated another class of seven candidates. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, which were conducted by President Roy B. Finkle, a supper was served by John Andresen Jr. and assistants.

Comte E. O'Connell, a member of Arrowhead, has been elected president of the California State Employees' Association.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

THE LOS ANGELES COUNTY 1937 Admission Day Committee has completed plans to hold a California Day at the Will Rogers Memorial Polo Field in Santa Monica, Sunday, April 25. A polo match between a team composed of prominent motion picture people and one which probably will be made up of players from Santa Barbara will be featured. The sheriff's posse will perform, also, showing some marvelous horsemanship. Several picture stars have promised to take part, and Leo Carillo is to act as master of ceremonies.

The purpose of California Day is to raise funds for the Admission Day celebration to be held in Santa Monica in September. The full co-operation of all Native Sons and Native Daughters will be appreciated by the general chairman of the committee, Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W., as well as by the chairman of the ways and means committee, Ernest Orfila of Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W.

A BREATH OF SPRING.

Irish green carried out the Saint Patrick's motif at the elaborate banquet served at the Women's Athletic Club by Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W., March 18, in honor of Grand President Florence D. Boyle, who was paying her official visit. In the beautiful table decorations, arranged by Edna Holcomb, quantities of seasonal flowers were used, and the centerpiece was a replica of Ireland's famed wishing-well. Shamrocks and smaller wells adorned the place cards.

At the Friday Morning Clubhouse, where the Parlor meeting followed, the same decorative scheme was enhanced by vases of calla lilies, which brought thoughts of Easter. The officers were gowned in green and carried arm boquets of white stock and fern tied with white satin ribbon, and their entrance march was truly a breath of spring.

President Edna Trombatore and her corps of officers exemplified the ritual for the benefit of seventeen candidates. The Parlor adopted its third baby, naming it "Patrick." During the evening Frank Ziegler, representing Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., presented a boquet of roses to Grand President Boyle, and Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. sent its greetings with a sheaf of roses. Among the large number of members of the Order who enjoyed the happy occasion were Founder Lily O. Reichling-Dyer, Past Grands Grace S. Stoermer and Anne C. Thuesen, Grand Trustees Alice Lane, Hazel Hansen and Ethel Enos, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg, Supervising Deputy Flora Holy and Deputy Ruth Parris.

Los Angeles' April calendar: 11th, pilgrimage to San Bernardino Asistencia, branch of San Gabriel Mission, under the auspices of Chairman Marie T. Walsh of the history and landmarks committee. 14th, card party Women's University Club, 943 South Hoover, Sophia Stewart chairman. 21st, Parlor birthday party, Leonie Clos chairman; refreshments by Elsie Ruiz. 24th, sewing club meeting at the ranch home of Lucille Duncan; luncheon 1 p.m.—G.A.

PAST GRAND TO BE HONOR-GUEST.

Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. will have initiation April 15, the ritual being exemplified by the officers of Ramona Parlor, headed by President Spencer Thorpe. Refreshments will follow the ceremonies.

April 22, at 6:30 p.m., the Parlor will feature a dinner in recognition of Past Grand President John T. Newell's birthday anniversary. The good of the order committee—Dan W. Gage Jr., Walter E. Smith, Michael Botello and Robert Z. Jack—extends an invitation to all Native Sons to come out and do honor to "Faithful John."

PIONEER DAYS RECALLED.

Long Beach—Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. featured pioneer days decorations for the official visit of Grand President Florence D. Boyle, March 19. At a banquet which preceded the meeting the theme was depicted in the centerpiece, a log cabin surrounded by hollyhocks and pussywillows, and was carried out in the favors, hand-painted faces peering from under sunbonnets. The officers of the Parlor wore vari-hued gowns of basque and full skirt, with bonnets.

At the meeting, two candidates were initiated, and the Grand President gave an interesting talk. On the Parlor's behalf, a piece of silver was presented Mrs. Boyle. Among the many others in attendance were Past Grands Grace S. Stoermer and Anne C. Thuesen, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Trustees Hazel Hansen, Alice Lane and Ethel Enos, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg, Supervising Deputy Flora Holy, Deputies Matilda Enfield, Addie Roderick, Helen Anderson, Elinor Lewis and Bertha Hitt, Edna B. Briggs (La Bandera No. 110), Florence Dodson Schoneman (Rudecinda No. 230), and Kate McFadyen, Mabel Emery and Elnora Martin, charter members of Long Beach. The committee of arrangements for the evening included Alice Waldow (chairman), Daisy T. Hansen and Margaret Burch.

During the evening President Philip Doran of Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W. (San Pedro), accompanied by B. Benjamin and Wm. Reuter, presented a floral tribute to Grand President Boyle. During the past month Long Beach's thimble club met with Leola Temby and Alice Waldow. The March 5 card party at the home of Irma Sanders was a financial success. —V.T.H.

WILMINGTON — HONORING THE memory of General Phineas Banning, the founder of Wilmington, Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. placed a bronze plaque on the old Banning home at Banning Park, the afternoon of March 19. President Eugenia Smith welcomed the assemblage, and Grand First Vice-president Eldred Meyer of the Native Sons unveiled the plaque. Grand President Florence D. Boyle made the presentation, which was accepted by President Mabel V. Socha of the Los Angeles City Park Commission.

Principal Walter Holstein of the evening class of Phineas Banning high school gave a talk on General Banning and Wilmington, and Mrs. Florence Dodson-Schoneman, state history and landmarks chairman, told of early days at the Banning home, now a museum. Other Native Daughters present were Past Grand President Anne C. Thuesen, Grand Marshal Orinda G. Giannini, Grand Trustees Alice M. Lane and Edna Briggs.—V.T.H.

DECORATIONS FEATURED '49 DAYS.

San Pedro—The days of '49 were featured in the decorations for the official visit of Grand President Florence D. Boyle to Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W., March 11. The date was also the institution anniversary of the Parlor. A banquet early in the evening was attended by members of Stephen M. White No. 263 and Compton No. 273 Parlors N.S.G.W.

At the meeting which followed, President Catherine Hackett presided, and six officers with picks and shovels formed an archway through which the officials proceeded to their stations. Gold nuggets were deposited in a gold pan, and these were presented to the Grand President as a gift from the Parlor. Mrs. Carrie Kuhlman presented Treasurer Flora Holy of the homeless children committee a pink and blue crepe paper crib containing a goodsized donation. Among others in attendance were Grand Trustee Hazel Hansen, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg, Deputy Frances Reynolds and Rudecinda's own Florence Schoneman.

The Florencita thimble club has lively meetings, the last one being at the home of Catherine Hackett. Members of the Parlor were shocked and grieved to learn of the death of Bette Powers-Roberts, the daughter of Mercy Jane Powers of Rudecinda.

GALA OCCASION—FIFTEEN INITIATED.

Santa Ana—The official visit of Grand President Florence D. Boyle to Santa Ana No. 235, March 22, was a gala occasion. At a banquet preceding the meeting, sixty-eight members of the Order were seated at tables beautifully decorated by Mrs. Arthur and Miss Gladys Edwards. Corsages were presented by Mrs. Carl Schroeder. The centerpiece of the Grand President's table was a replica of a lovely garden. The stage, done in palms and Easter lilies and fronted by primroses set in maidenhair fern, made a never-to-be-forgotten picture of beauty.

As the meeting was about to open, President H. C. Fulton and a delegation of Santa Ana No. 265 N.S.G.W. members arrived and presented Mrs. Boyle with a suitably inscribed silver dish. The hostess-Parlor presented to her a crystal set, and it also adopted another baby, naming it "Betty," in honor of her daughter. With fitting songs, she acknowledged these expressions of kindness.

The grand officers were conducted to their stations by an escort team, drilled by Mrs. F. C. Pope, holding large pastel-colored fans. A most impressive sight was the entrance of fifteen candidates for initiation. Mms. Walter Hiskey and D. W. Ellis escorted the group, which included three daughters of the former and two of the latter. Grand President Boyle delivered a very interesting address, full of food for thought. The fine accomplishments of Santa Ana were revealed in the reports of the several committee chairmen. Among the other visitors were Grand Trustees Hazel Hansen and Clarice Cook, Grand

S ANGELES' FIRST CHURCH PLAQUED.

California Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. had an announced, but most welcome visitor, Grand President Florence D. Boyle, at its luncheon program March 9. The tables were gay with spring blooms, and a large number were present. Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith spoke on current events, and Mrs. Boyle, who officially visited the Parlor later in the month, gave an interesting little talk. Hattie Furman Stamps, Californiana's oldest member, was honored at her home on her seventy-eighth birthday, and presented with cards and gifts. March 15 the Gertrude sewing circle was entertained at the home of Mrs. John Welch, who was assisted by Arabella Hurlbut and Marcella Palethorpe.

Following out plans made last year by the history and landmarks committee, Californiana placed a hand-wrought plaque on Los Angeles' first church, Nuestra Senora la Reina de Los Angeles, March 20. The bronze plate bears the name of the church, its foundation date, December 8, 1822, and the donor's name. President Lena Burrows introduced the committee chairman, Dolores Barrow, who made an inspiring talk on the historic landmark. Grand President Boyle unveiled the plaque, which was accepted by the church's pastor, Rev. Father Amaldia. Other speakers were Arthur Kennedy and Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz.

Following these ceremonies the many Native Daughters and Native Sons in attendance, including Past Grand Anne Thuesen, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg and Grand Trustee Alice Lane, partook of luncheon, after which they were shown the old Avila Adobe in Olvera street by Florence Schoneman and Christine Sterling. Later in the day, Mrs. Schoneman entertained at Casa Adobe.

The first April event scheduled by Californiana is the waffle breakfast at the home of President Lena Burrows. Isabel Fages and Olive Lopez will entertain the sewing circle, April 3, at luncheon at the former's West Hollywood home.

HARTLEY RUSSELL OF SAN FRANCISCO,
GRAND PRESIDENT OF THE ORDER OF NATIVE SONS OF THE GOLDEN WEST.

It is estimated that 1,500,000 persons will visit San Francisco during the festival—that is, from May 27 to June 2—drawn by a desire to see the mammoth structure at the harbor's gate, to be among the first to cross it and to participate in the elaborate program of entertainment. The immense crowds that visited San Francisco last November to witness the dedication of the San Francisco-Oakland bridge are an indication of the intense interest taken by the public in these two stupendous spans. Sensing the importance of the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge by the evidence of early widespread curiosity, civic-minded San Francisco began six months before the completion of the bridge to prepare to act as host to the world. Contact was made with the counties of the Redwood Empire to the north which, with San Francisco, financed the construction of the $35,000,000 Span.

There is magic in the very name "Golden Gate." Portal to the most magnificent harbor in the world, its fame is celebrated in song and story. It is a source of national pride and wealth. It is a meeting place of nations From the day that the conception of bridging this milewide portal was first announced, through each stage of its construction, the capitals of the world have followed its progress with ever-increasing enthusiasm. Official Washington, too, eyed it with mounting interest, although the bridge was not financed by the Federal treasury. So when Supervisor Arthur M. Brown Jr. of San Francisco, as general chairman of the Fiesta Committee, went to Washington to enlist the participation of Uncle Sam in the Fiesta, he found the Navy willing, but facing the difficulty that at the period of the festival the fleet would be engaged in maneuvers in the Pacific. "Postpone the Fiesta one week," Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations, advised in effect, "and we shall send 150 warships to San Francisco to assist in dedicating the bridge with you and enjoy the friendly hospitality of the city by the Golden Gate."

Supervisor Brown immediately sought from the Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District permission to postpone the Fiesta one week to make possible the participation of between sixty and seventy thousand officers and men in the week's festivity,—and, of course, this was granted. Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn, commander-in-chief of the United States Fleet, radioed from aboard his flagship, the U.S.S. "Pennsylvania," at sea, to the Fiesta Committee: "Please be assured that I am very happy in finding a mutually agreeable solution to the problem of having the fleet present during the bridge opening Fiesta. The fleet will look forward to the occasion with great pleasure." And so the fleet is coming home for the Fiesta. Always for the officers and men of the fleet, no matter where they are based, San Francisco will be home. The coming of the fleet emphasizes the national importance of the opening of the bridge and serves as an invitation to international recognition.

The bridge itself is the most powerful argument to enlist participation in its dedication. It breaks the last major water barrier to a continuous coast highway between Canada and Mexico via San Francisco and the Redwood Empire, and to cement this tie with our neighbors north and south, the Fiesta Committee has hit upon the happy thought of organizing a series of Cavalcades, with the principal stream originating in Canada and moving southward to meet at the bay shore with another stream of equal magnitude arising in Mexico. Both to be joined at the bridge-head by a mighty host from the region of the Rockies and swelling in numbers as it marches westward. Already the Fiesta Committee has dispatched its commissioners to Canada and British Columbia, to Meixco City, to San Salvador and Guatamala, to Salt Lake and to all points along the routes of the Cavalcades to enlist the co-operation of all these peoples.

Imagine the tremendous possibilities of this Cavalcade assemblage. Picture the color, the life, the thrill of seeing actually in processional array the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, the Mounties—in full regalia, His Majesty's Seaforth Highlanders of Canada, Sourdoughs and dog teams from Alaska, Eskimos and Indians, Cowboys, Siwashes, the celebrated horsemen from Pendleton, Oregon, the Cavemen and Cave-

HISTORIC SONOMA IN THE VALLEY OF THE MOON

Celeste G. Murphy

SONOMA, FORTY-FIVE MILES NORTH OF San Francisco in the county of that name is one of the most historic shrines in California. It was founded in 1823 as a mission settlement, the last on El Camino Real and the most northerly of all the chain. After the missions had been secularized, the pueblo of Sonoma was laid out by General Mariano Guadalupe Vallejo upon order from Governor Figueroa in 1835.

Both the mission settlement and the colonization of Sonoma by Vallejo ten years after were measures decided upon because of the Russian Colony that had been founded on the Sonoma County coast in 1812. There were widespread reports that Russia had permanent designs upon the fertile lands of California, and wanted to buy the mission lands of Sonoma and San Rafael to have access to the great harbor, San Francisco Bay.

As early as 1823 the Russians came down from Fort Ross to attend the dedication of the Mission San Francisco de Sonoma and presented Padre Altimira with gifts and brasses for his altar. Many Indian babes were baptized at the mission and the older Indians were taught trades and farming, cattle raising and weaving. Sonoma Mission became very prosperous, but when Mexico wrested power from Spain there was conflict and waning interest in the establishment. Mexico ordered the taking over of the missions in California, and the partition of property between the Indians and the civil authorities.

When young Mariano Vallejo came from his native Monterey in California to take over the Sonoma Mission and colonize the country north of San Francisco Bay, he encountered many savage Indians who had lured Christian Indians away and were making depredations on livestock, selling Indian children into slavery and otherwise committing atrocities. Vallejo and his brother Salvadore, with their Mexican soldiers and faithful Indians such as Chief Solano, made war on these savage tribes and subdued them. He fortified Sonoma, laid out the pueblo around an eight-acre plaza and built military barracks and other large adobe buildings on the square.

Sonoma was called the "New San Francisco" and threatened to rival the then straggling village Yerba Buena. Vallejo restored the name "Sonoma," meaning Many Moons, and so called by the Indians when Padre Altimira first crossed the brown hills into the valley in 1823. The Mexican rulers, particularly Governor Alvarado, who was Commandante Vallejo's nephew, gave him large land grants and the title, Military Governor of California. In the zenith of his power, Vallejo felt that Mexico's interests in California were purely mercenary and that eventually the rich territory must fall into the hands of one of the great nations. England and France had designs on California, but Sonoma's founder openly declared for annexation to the United States. With this sentiment widely known, it was a shock and a surprise when American settlers from the Sacramento Valley appeared at General Vallejo's house in June 1846 and declared him under arrest. With his brother Salvadore, his brother-in-law, Jacob (American citizen), and Victor Prudon, his secretary, the General was taken to Sutter's Fort and imprisoned for sixty days by the Bear Flag Party.

The Bear Flag Party, comprised of thirty or more Americans, took its name from the flag which William Ide and his followers made in the Sonoma Barracks, where they established their headquarters. From this building for twenty-six days, the Capitol of the California Republic, Ide issued his famous proclamation guaranteeing security to all who kept the peace. The proclamation in both Spanish and English was posted here and also at Monterey. Ide was later deposed when Captain John C. Fremont rode into Sonoma July 3, 1846, took over the reigns of government and celebrated July 4th on Sonoma Plaza, where he read the Declaration of Independence. On July 9, Lieutenant Joseph Revere, United States Navy, arrived in Sonoma with the news of the Mexican War and the American occupancy of California's Capitol, Monterey. The stars and stripes replaced the Bear Flag on Sonoma's Plaza. The town was then garrisoned by the California Battalion and later by Stevenson's Regiment, Company C, New York Volunteers. Captain Brackett was in command. General Persserfer Smith, United States Army, established his headquarters in Sonoma. William Tecumseh Sherman was his aide-de-camp.

When gold was discovered, Sonoma's soldier were mustered out and the town was governe by Alcalde Boggs and later by Mayor John Cam eron. General Vallejo was elected a member the first constitutional assembly and helpe draft California's Constitution upon its admi sion into the Union.

Sonoma was the County Seat of Sonoma Cou ty until 1854, but was finally compelled to giv up its official title to Santa Rosa. Fighting J Hooker, afterwards famous in the Civil Wa then a Sonoma rancher, ran for the assembly a platform favoring Sonoma as the County Sea but was defeated. An election preceded by great barbecue staged at Santa Rosa, won majority of votes for that city. The followi day a team of mules and some "up and comin citizens descended upon Sonoma, loaded t county records on their wagon and drove awa Thus the County Seat was captured by a neig boring city.

For years Sonoma was an incorporated cit but finally land title troubles and financial di culties led to disincorporation. In 1882 it w reincorporated and with the improvement transportation, success of the wines and vin yards, quarries and other industries, forg ahead. Because of its delightful climate a

SIXTIETH N.S.G.W. GRAND PARLOR

(CLARENCE M. HUNT.)

THE SIXTIETH GRAND PARLOR OF the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West will convene at Sonoma City, Monday, May 17. Sessions of the Grand Parlor will be held in Sebastiani Hall, Monday, Tuesday and Thursday. Grand President Hartley Russell (Stanford Parlor No. 76) will preside throughout the deliberations and, at their conclusion, will automatically become the Junior Past Grand President.

The reports of Grand Parlor officers and committees to the Sixtieth session will deal with the Order's activities during 1936. The Grizzly Bear has, during the year, given full publicity to important events and accomplishments. Grand Secretary John T. Regan's report will detail the condition of the Subordinate Parlors as of December 31, 1936. Those with 450 or more members, with their assets-figures, are:

Parlor.	Members.	Assets.
South San Francisco No. 157	800	$54,546.85

Excelsior No. 31	121	20,432.37

From these figures it will be noted that San Jose No. 22 is the wealthiest Parlor, financially, in the Order, and that Santa Lucia No. 97 of Salinas has the greatest percapita wealth.

At the close of 1936, the Subordinate Parlors had assets totaling $1,207,090.52, including $320,835.32 cash on hand. Their receipts for 1936 totaled $267,025.42, and their disbursements totaled $276,440.12.

During 1936, Subordinate Parlors paid benefits totaling $92,057.60 to 1,378 members.

Vallejo No. 77 will send a big "booster" delegation to Sonoma to campaign for Vallejo for the 1938 Admission Day celebration. Homeless Children

A WORTHWHILE NON-SECTARIAN ENDEAVOR SPONSORED AND SUPPORTED BY THE ORDERS OF
NATIVE SONS AND NATIVE DAUGHTERS OF THE GOLDEN WEST

The children here pictured are only eleven out of the four thousand seven hundred and seventy-four children who have been placed through the earnest efforts and support of the Native Sons and the Native Daughters. These are a few of the many happy, normal, well-nourished children whose foster parents have taken them into their hearts as Life's dearest possessions.

Hundreds of the children who have been legally adopted since 1910 are now men and women, married, with beautiful children of their own, holding responsible positions in business, in professions and in trades. Some have completed their High School work, some are attending college, others have been graduated from college. The greater number have been carefully reared by parents of high ideals, alive to the fact that parenthood is a real business demanding the greatest care and most conscientious effort. In turn these parents have received almost without exception, the genuine and spontaneous affection of their children.

It is a remarkable, worth-while charity, and to foster it as an asset to their State is the aim of every loyal California-born man and woman.

"Don't need to wash this bowl, Mother."

"Please go 'way now and let me sleep."

Two "dears" and a baby one.

"No need of a knot-hole when I'm a baseball fan."

Ample play space for three adopted daughters.

"I prayed for a sister and I got a fine one."

"Don't need any help, thank you."

Both "chosen" and devoted to each other.

PREPARED ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR BY ANNA STOERMER

COATS ARE LONG AND SHORT, FITTED, straight and boxed! Suits are tailored and soft, and have short or three-quarters coats and shoulder capes! Probably not for a long time has there been such a range of choice, so much freedom in selection. Fabrics are, for the most part, soft and just a little rough, with the exception of some of the smoother pre-war fabrics such as twill and faille, that are being revived.

The mannishly-tailored suit insists upon men's fabrics, while the formally-tailored suit even resembles a man's tuxedo in its satin bindings. A seven-eighths length coat, collared in beautiful fox, will lead a varied life, so adaptable is its style to many occasions. For street wear and travel, it is ideal. One of the most popular coats of the season is the boxed type of reefer coat. This escapes the bottom of the dress by several inches, and is extremely young and flattering.

Spring coats with the urge to depart from prescribed paths forsake the things to which you have been accustomed in the past. New fashions will stimulate your desire for something new and different. If you are satisfied with what you already have, if you have no desire to change, you will soon be out of step with modern living. But if you like color, if you revel in pattern and design, if you enjoy exercising freedom and individuality in the choice of your clothes, you are going to have a grand time this spring.

There is everything to say in favor of combining two, and sometimes three, colors. If you choose a print, these combinations have already been worked out for you. If you are doing your own assembling, be wary of overdoing. It is far better to use small amounts of color if you are not sure.

Colors for spring are termed trumpet green, clarinet blue, drum red and brass yellow. The softer tones are termed cello yellow, sonata blue, melody pink, and harmony beige and gray. Colors described as "red earth" and carnelian are expected to make history in the new dyes for spring. They seem to be a combination of wine purple, brown and red, with the latter tone predominating. Other new colors are vanilla, a neutral shade, citron, a clear yellow, and "scorched," one of the new toast shades.

Remember that your top-coat may be in a lovely color, not just navy or black. There are all the exquisite jewel colors to select from. Beige is very smart for the top-coat, as well as pinks, light blues, mustard yellow and greens.

Do not be concerned about silhouette. There are many silhouettes from which to choose. The bolero that appears in a number of costumes again gives a square silhouette, as opposed to the jacket that hugs the waistline. The redingote, with printed coat and plain dress, or vice-versa, sponsors the fitted line. The cape, worn over a suit or dress, again gives opposition to the curved waistline of the suit in its straight swing from the shoulder. The soft dressmaker suit will have patch pockets. Some of the suits have matching capes or top-coats and, except the mannishly-tailored suit, the fabric is apt to be soft and a little spongy. Look for interesting buttons, unusual trimmings, a bit of embroidery, or other details to give your costume the "spring 1937" look. Spring vegetables and fruits appear in boutonnieres for your tailored sports suit.

The variety offered in the choice of suits is matched by the blouses that you choose to go with them. You can make of a suit what you will by the type of blouse you wear with it, and as for color accent, there is no better way to achieve it than a blouse and a pair of gloves, a blouse and a bag, or a blouse and a hat which match. Sheer fabric is favored in evening blouses. Particularly smart are models in sheer gauze with metal flukes, dull rayon lace, delicate chiffon, or silk organdie.

Some safe rules to follow in designing your new spring costume are: the skirt should be thirteen inches from the floor; shoulders should be broadened and hightened a bit, just enough to make the hips look slimmer; sleeves should be mainly short, to be worn with long gloves or under a long-sleeved jacket. There also is a new three-quarters length sleeve, tight just below the elbow. Scarfs will fairly rocket in the breeze in a melee of colors. Silk and wool scarfs perform manifold duties. They become turbans, halters, everything but a bona-fide scarf. Silver-toned gray, "red earth" and ginger will be effective to contrast with a costume.

The advent of shorter skirts puts shoes in the spotlight. You will see sandals for street, as well as for sports or evening wear, while shoes in kidskin, suede and fabrics are very important. With color rampant in shoes and clothes, there arises a problem of good taste in the harmonies. The danger of overdoing color in accessories is stressed. Shoes should match one other item in the costume, such as the bag or gloves, but not both. It is smart to wear shoes that blend, rather than repeat, the color of the costume. Rather than being dressed in one color,—for instance, all blue or all gray from top to toe—red shoes with blue, beige or gray, and white shoes with a print of dark fabric and white gloves, are much smarter. It's an "open" season in detail styling; open toes, open shank, open heels, open strap effects, and perforations often the size of a dime.

In fabrics, gabardine, and particularly with leather trim, is more important than ever. Kid shoes return to popularity because of their comfort and glove-like fit. Patent leather also gets a new play. It is done in solid colors and abundantly used in trimming details in black shoes. Of course, there is still the classic black patent leather pump, which conservatively smart women love to wear for street. The pumps look especially good with the new bright prints and patent leather bags. Much embroidery is being used in shoes now for sports, afternoon and evening. In line with this comes petit point for evening sandals. Bright colored evening shoes, piped in gold or silver, also designate a shoe as being born in the spring of 1937.

Costume belts range from scarf and cord girdles to the accepted leather sorts. In the latter instance the buckle provides the styling medium by way of bows or streamline themes. One new type is a leather belt with big Roman numerals in bright metal. In every instance where a belt is worn it has a definite relation to some other accessory.

Bracelets are important for daytime; heavy gold, sometimes set with gems; flexible gold or platinum, with jeweled clasps fashioned from two clips that can be worn separately for evening. The formula is to wear as many as you like. Broaches are appropriate, and chic bracelets and wrist watches will sparkle over the new longer-length gloves, which appear along with the short sleeves. Another new idea in necklaces and bracelets of clinking gold bangles, reminding one of a gypsy.

Point Lobos, Monterey County, is apparently one of the most important wild life refuges in the United States. Professor Joseph Grinnell, head of the University of California museum of vertebrate zoölogy, and his assistant, Jean M. Linsdale, found 147 different bird individuals alone in the state park on the Point, among them some golden eagles.

San Fernando Valley's annual flower show is billed for North Hollywood May 14-16.

"If You Like California You'll Love Santa Barbara"

NATIVE SONS TO DEDICATE SANTA BARBARA FEDERAL BUILDING

James French Dorrance

SIGNAL RECOGNITION AS COMMUNITY bridge-building organizations comes to Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 Native Sons of the Golden West and Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 Native Daughters of the Golden West on Saturday, May 8, when the Channel City declares a civic holiday to celebrate the dedication of a new Post Office and Federal Building which Uncle Sam has erected in the heart of the "happy city" at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars.

When Postmaster Richard T. Ambrose realized that he had on his hands a dedicatory ceremony that would be of interest to all California he found every civic organization from the Chamber of Commerce to the Parent-Teacher Association ready and willing to help. The fact that the new Federal Building has risen on the site of the original Spanish presidio pointed the way to asking the Native Sons for a ceremony of an historical nature. Response of the Parlor was willing, and a plaque will be placed at the principal entrance of the artistic Spanish-style building setting forth the historical significance of the site.

Official invitations were sent to the grand officers of the Native Sons, and response from all has been that they will be in the Channel City for "Post Office Day" if humanly possible. Among those expected are Grand President Hartley Russell of San Francisco, Grand First Vice-president Eldred L. Meyer of Santa Monica, Grand Second Vice-president Joseph J. McShane of San Francisco, Grand Third Vice-president Jesse H. Miller of San Francisco, Grand Secretary John T. Regan of San Francisco, Grand Treasurer John A. Corotto of San Jose, Grand Marshal Monroe Label of San Rafael, Grand Inside Sentinel Walter C. Richards of Wilmington, Grand Historian John J. Monteverde of Sacramento, Editor Clarence M. Hunt of Los Angeles and several of the grand trustees.

The Santa Barbara Parlor of Native Sons also has been entrusted with the laying of the cornerstone of the new building, into which will go documents destined to become historical as time moves on. President Leland O. Holiday and Secretary Harry C. Sweetser of No. 116 are arranging this participation.

To Reina del Mar Parlor of Native Daughters has been entrusted the planting of a memorial tree to the Franciscan padres who played such a prominent part in the founding of Santa Barbara. Mrs. Frank J. Holtzbauer of the Parlor is serving as chairman of the tree planting committee. As soon as landscaping has been completed about the new building other trees will be planted by the Daughters in historical remembrance.

To Mrs. Dorothy A. Yule, an officer of Reina del Mar, has fallen the chairmanship of the reception committee, which is composed of heads of various civic organizations of women, including the Santa Barbara Woman's Club, City Club, Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion, Girl Scouts, Woman's Auxiliary of the Clerks and Carriers Association. Several members of Reina del Mar will aid in the reception within the Post Office, which will last from 4:15 to 9 p.m. and to which the general public is invited.

Flag ceremonies are in the hands of Santa Barbara Troop No. 3, Boy Scouts of America, and music will be furnished by the Knights of Columbus band and a quartet of "Dons" led by L. B. Jackson.

Addresses of welcome will be delivered by Mayor Patrick J. Maher of Santa Barbara, and Captain Charles Gordon Davy, president of the Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce. The response will be by Postmaster Leon Dwight of San Pedro. Charles E. Pressley, impresario of Santa Barbara's "Old Spanish Days Fiesta," is chairman of the entertainment committee.

The contract for the Post Office and Federal Building was signed in February 1936 and Sarver & Zoss, Inc., of Los Angeles began construction April 26 last year. The building occupies a corner less than 500 feet from the "business center" of the city, has two stories and a basement. The Federal Government departed from all standard Post Office plans to give Santa Barbara a Spanish type of architecture in keeping with the trend of Channel City building from early days.

The technical description of the building runs: "Modern type of architecture expressed in Spanish lines, several levels of low pitched roofs and deep window reveals employed to emphasize solidity and strength. Building approached from Anacapa street by wide steps to a paved and landscaped level; further steps of granite at building. Entrances are on Canon Perdido street, also one of which is direct entrance to office portion at second floor. Building has concrete walls painted white, consistent with neighboring structures, roofs of clay shingles."

The first floor is assigned to postoffice purposes and is equipped with modern postal machinery. The second floor will be assigned to the United States Forestry and Internal Revenue Service. The basement will have offices for the Farm Bureau, Civil Service and Reemployment Agencies.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS OBSERVE THIRTY-SIXTH INSTITUTION ANNIVERSARY.

Rounding out thirty-six years of community endeavor, which included helping to rebuild earthquake ruined missions, placing homeless children and marking historic landmarks, Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126, Native Daughters of the Golden West cut a birthday cake April 20 at their quarters in Santa Barbara Recreation Center. Dr. Anna E. McCaughey handled an heirloom silver cakeknife to serve the first slices of the huge cake to Mrs. Harry Meyers, senior past president of the Parlor, and to Mrs. J. T. Woods, a charter member.

Mrs. Wesley McCormick, president of the Parlor, read telegrams from grand officers of the Order congratulating Reina del Mar on past achievements. Mrs. Paul J. Miller, chairman of the birthday program, was assisted by Mms. Clarence Longmire, Frank Holtzbauer, Leslie Alderson, Justine Meloling, William Wegener, R. J. Schuld and Albert M. Ames.

The feature of the birthday entertainment was a series of changing style tableaux which showed the variations in feminine apparel from 1900 to 1930 at ten-year periods. In authentic costume, in the order of their appearance, were Miss Audrey Zane, Mrs. M. Buccoli, Mrs. Albert M. Ames, Mrs. Harry Lamb, Mrs. George J. Davis, Mrs. Henry Griffiths, Miss Eileen Shorten and Mrs. C. L. Longmire.

The Native Daughter chorus accompanied the period tableaux with period songs. The singers:

Features were music by the Sciot string band; piano solo, Stanley Cox; solo, Mrs. S. J. McKinnon, accompanied by Mrs. John Stewart; tap dance, Miss Gale; baritone solos, Larry Butler.

Governor Merriam, other prominent state officials and Leo Carillo, motion picture actor, are expected to be guests of Santa Barbara Native Sons at the Fremont-Foxen plaque dedication ceremonies now set for May 16. The plaque rites will be conducted in conjunction with the barbecue of the Santa Barbara County Fish and Game Protective Association, and some 2,000 persons are expected to attend. Gaviota Pass is the place. The dedication is set for 10:30 a.m., with the barbecue to follow in Nojoqui Park at noon. Benton Fremont of San Francisco, grandson of General Fremont, will be present.

Tentative arrangements have been made, too, for the Parlor's annual barbecue, to be held at the Stow Ranch, May 23. Ray Lathim is chairman of the barbecue committee.

Dan Taylor, Santa Barbara's oldtime marshal, underwent an operation at Saint Francis Hospital. He is reported as doing very nicely.

THE GOLDEN GATE

women of Grant's Pass, Oregon, their numbers ever swelling as they pass through the Redwood Empire counties to the Marin shore on the north side of the Golden Gate.

Picture in your mind's eye the renowned Motorcycle Patrol of Mexico City moving on the Golden Gate from the south, in its train a galaxy of singers and dancers in costume, welcomed at San Diego by the sons and daughters of the Dons, their cohorts swelled in Los Angeles by Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz's picturesquely mounted deputies, with Victor McLaglen's Mounted Patrol and all the beauty of Hollywood.

Also picture the Overland Trail again peopled with Covered Wagons, Pony Express riders and all the motley throng of the Gold Rush, Utah Indians, Cowboys from the Dude ranches of Wyoming, miners from Goldfield and Tonopah and the Comstock, whose silver treasure built San Francisco.

What a magnificent setting these assembled Cavalcades with dignitaries of State will provide for the formal dedication of the bridge by the Native Sons of the Golden West, and also the Waldo approach dedication, main artery on the Marin side. At Waldo the Redwood Empire group will set across the highway a huge redwood log and the various counties will enter log-sawing teams in a contest to be first to break the barrier. The logs will then be claimed by the Redwood Empire to be used as pillars for their building at the Exposition of 1939. The dedication host will then proceed to the San Francisco side of the bridge, where its formal dedication will take place under the auspices of the Native Sons of the Golden West. Across the ninety-foot-wide span will have been erected two huge golden gates. At a signal a golden key will be inserted, the gates will swing ajar and fall into the sea. The key itself will be cast into the deep, signifying the thought that the bridge will forever remain open for the commerce of the world. At that solemn moment the guns will roar from Fort Baker in the Marin hills and be answered by the guns of San Francisco's Presidio. The United States fleet of 150 warships will swing in from the ocean and pass in majesty under the mighty $35,000,000 span. Foreign warships will swell the processional armada. At Crissy Field on the Presidio military reservation there will be flag raising ceremonies and the Cavalcades will pass in review. The air will be filled with aircraft and massed bands will salute Canada and Mexico and Guatamala and San Salvador and the Stars and Stripes.

San Francisco will have taken on an atmosphere of festival, the gay, merry mood suited to the Fiesta. The streets will be decorated in the gold and blue of the Fiesta, trolley poles will be transformed into evrgreen redwoods, the metal wrapped in bark and branches spreading from aloft. Merchants will vie with each other in giving a festal appearance to their places of business. Office buildings and homes, too, will be encouraged to illuminate. Hotels and clubs and cafes will emphasize in richness of display the joys of living. Impromptu parades will spring from every section of the city and the wandering minstrels will make every corner a vaudeville stage.

The Queen will have been enthroned on Tuesday night, two days before the formal dedication exercises, and the San Francisco Advertising Club will have held its luncheon at the Palace Hotel on Wednesday. On Thursday, we shall have one of the most novel features of the bridge ceremonies—before vehicular traffic will be allowed on the bridge, the public will have a day to walk across the mile-length span. So, on Thursday, May 27th, we shall have Pedestrian's Day when all the world will have a chance to walk over the waters more than two hundred feet below. Remember that the Native Sons of the Golden West will dedicate the bridge at three o'clock p.m. on this day.

Pedestrian Day properly marks the opening of the Fiesta. That night in a huge amphitheatre set up in Crissy Field to seat 25,000 persons, the initial performance of the pageant will be given with a cast of more than three thousand persons—approximately a thousand Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West will participate in this—and a symphony orchestra of one hundred. Wm. H. Smith Jr., widely known actor and producer and director of the Bohemian and Family club plays, will direct the pageant, and Kenneth Vaughan, Chairman of Bohemian Club productions, will be manager. The script will be written by Wilbur Hall and the score by Charles Hart. In fact, all the talent that has made the Grove plays of the Bohemian Club internationally famous will be drawn upon to make the Fiesta pageant a memorable production. The pageant will be presented on three successive nights and will portray the romantic history of California from the days of the Dons.

Adding further dramatic interest to the Fiesta will be the annual staging of the Mountain Play on Tamalpais, Sunday, May 30, timed this year to coincide with the opening of the Bridge. For the Fiesta the players have chosen George Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion."

America loves a parade—and what would a Fiesta be without them. And so, in addition to the procession of the dedication, there will be an illuminated night parade Saturday night along Van Ness Avenue and through the Marina to Crissy Field. On Decoration Day, Monday, the military will march in honor of the Nation's heroes, the memorial having its setting in Crissy Field.

Nor will those who lost their lives in building the bridge remain unsung. A beautiful ceremony, religious in tone and with the children of the city participating, will be observed Sunday afternoon as a tribute to their achievement and sacrifice. With garlands of flowers in their hands, the children will go to the center of the bridge and cast their blossoms into the waters of the Golden Gate below. A plaque memorializing the dead will be presented, which will bear the names of the workers who were killed on the job.

Having paid their respect to the dead, there will be another occasion for the children to assemble—this time in more joyous spirit. A Spring Festival will be held on Tuesday, June 1, in Crissy Field, with Maypole dances, games and all the wonder of a meadow transformed into elfland.

And for the ladies, what a treat is in store for them, both for those who are familiar with San Francisco's shops and for the thousands of visitors from afar. The merchants of the city are to have their own day and match within the spaciousness of their establishments the splendor of the pageantry of the amphitheatre. San Francisco's shopping district will become a huge Fashion Show with lovely mannequins exhibiting the latest creations of the best style-makers at home and abroad, in an atmosphere festive with music and flowers. There are no better dressed women in the world than those of California and San Francisco merchants will tell the world why.

Sports, of course, have a large place in the Fiesta program, all manner of sports—yachting, swimming, a boxing tournament, field and track sports, aerial exercises, with schools and colleges, athletic clubs and men from the Army and Navy participating.

Receptions and balls and parties without number, under the auspices of the Fiesta committee and in the homes of people. Visiting dignitaries will be accorded the honor due their presence. There will be a reception to the officers of the United States fleet and of the fleets of other nations given by the Army and Navy Club; a dinner for warrant officers and a Mardi Gras party in the Civic Auditorium for the enlisted personnel of the Army and the Navy. A formal ball at the Fairmont hotel will highlight the program of formal festivity.

Cosmopolitan as San Francisco is—a melting pot as Robert Louis Stevenson called it—with its mingling of many bloods and accents—no city offers fuller opportunity to present the nations of the earth each in its own festive mood, its folk ways and the costumes of its own home people. San Francisco, for instance, has the largest Chinese population of any city outside of China. Bret Harte sang: "Thou drawest all things small or great to thee, beside the Western Gate." The creation of many nations —such is the scope of the Fiesta, each in honor of the city it calls home, playing host in its own district to hundreds of thousands of visitors—to many of whom the customs of far away lands are fascinatingly strange.

Yes, the Golden Gate Bridge Fiesta will be worthy of the achievement it celebrates. The week of May 27 to June 2 in San Francisco will be a period of festivity the like of which the West has never known.

Whether you be young or old, member or non-member of these two great companion organizations, the Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West, by all means be with us on this occasion. You will be spellbound by the magnitude of this, the greatest celebration ever to have been held in the great City of San Francisco.

Native Sons of the Golden West

COLUSA—GRAND PRESIDENT HARTley Russell paid a visit to Colusa No. 69, April 6, and was greeted by a large outpouring of Sacramento Valley Native Sons. The evening's festivities opened with a parade, headed by the drum corps of Sacramento No. 3. This was followed by the initiation of five candidates.

At an elaborate banquet, President Charles A. de St. Maurice welcomed the visitors, and Phil J. Humburg was the toastmaster. District Deputy R. G. Power reviewed the projects sponsored by the Parlor, E. W. Clement told of the founding of Colusa County, Grand Trustee Henry S. Lyon urged the true ideas of democracy, Stuart Waite spoke briefly for the initiates, and Phil B. Arnold revealed some enlightening early-day facts.

Grand President Russell, the main speaker of the evening, related some of the characteristics of the late J. W. Browning, "a land baron, owning 6,000 acres, who kept all his business papers in a drygoods box in the middle of his room." Expressing satisfaction with the accomplishments of the Order, the Grand President declared "We are doing our best to make this state a better place to work in." Also in attendance were Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Governor General Albert W. Katzenstein in the Past Presidents Assembly, Peter J. Delay of the Grand Parlor Publicity Committee, and President Eben Smart of Quartz No. 58 (Grass Valley). Raymond Manville and Harry Weber and assistants of Colusa Parlor were showered with praise for arranging the outstanding affair.

Must Observe Memorial Day.

Subordinate Parlors have been advised by the Grand Parlor Printing and Supplies Committee —Frank P. Smith (chairman), Edward H. Weber and Thomas M. Dillon—that they must observe Memorial Day, May 30, by holding appropriate memorial exercises, or by decorating the graves of departed members with small United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags.

The committee has arranged to supply matched sets of silk flags for grave or columbarium decoration, and orders should be placed with the Grand Secretary not later than May 10.

Reorganization Anniversary Celebrated.

Bakersfield—Marking the third successful year since its reorganization, Bakersfield No. 42 initiated a class of fifteen candidates. For the ritual ceremonies, Dan Robert Gregg gave console music through the courtesy of Payne & Son, who loaned the console pipe organ. Entertainment was furnished by the Merle Roberts School of Dancing.

Through a last minute concerted effort on the part of the members, a successful drive on eligibles was launched, and enough candidates were initiated to give the Parlor three Grand Parlor delegates.

Frank C. Merritt of the Grand Parlor History Committee was a visitor on this eventful occasion and gave an inspiring talk. Following the meeting an enjoyable repast was served by Bill Rea and District Deputy Mart Leonard, special committeemen.

State Should Recognize Worthy Pioneer.

Stockton—Stockton No. 7 adopted a resolution, submitted by Grand Trustee Walter P. Rothenbush, Past Grand Hubert R. McNoble, George E. Catts, Frank Rose and Julius Gaedtke, petitioning the State Legislature "to direct that a fitting portrait of Captain Charles M. Weber be painted and hung upon the walls of the Capitol as an honor appropriate to the memory of this Pioneer of the Sacramento, Santa Clara and San Joaquin Valleys."

The resolution sets forth, among other things, that Captain Charles M. Weber was a Pioneer of 1841, a member of the Bartleson party, the first immigrants to open the northern trail into California; that he aided the American conquest of California, and led in the development of the placer mines of the Mother Lode; that he elaborately planned and founded the City of Stockton upon his Mexican land grant, "El Rancho del Campo de los Franceses," and dedicated to public use quantities of land.

Order's Founding Re-enacted.

Ferndale—Members of Ferndale No. 93 saw a re-enactment of the founding of the Order, when a two-act drama, covering the life of General Winn, was put on April 19. The characters included:

General A. M. Winn, "Founder," Jos. J. Bognuda; John A. Steinbach, the first president, Ira Goff; L. D. Patterson, the first secretary, C. H. Rassmussen; Henry R. Reed, U. S. pension agent, John Trigg; S. P. Harmon, a young man, Henry Codoni; Wm. D. Spear, marshal of the San Francisco parade of 1875, Frode Peterson; the children of 1875, Ferndale Parlor. Marches and piano solos by Ross Ring.

Grand Outside Sentinel Passes.

San Francisco—Grand Outside Sentinel Henry J. Angelo died March 29, survived by three children. He was born at San Francisco, July 13, 1859, and in August 1886 affiliated with Stanford No. 76.

Big Crowd at Class Initiation.

Marysville—Large numbers of Native Sons from Sierra, Nevada, Colusa, Placer, Sutter, Yuba and Sacramento Counties gathered here April 9 to witness the initiation of a class of candidates for Marysville No. 6. Previous to the ceremonies there was a street parade, headed by the drum corps of Sacramento No. 3.

The ritual was exemplified by a team from John A. Sutter Past Presidents Assembly of Sacramento, and during the evening the officers of Marysville, with Ivan Sperbeck as president, were also installed. Among the speakers of the occasion were Grand Trustee Henry S. Lyon, Grand Historian John J. Monteverde and Dan E. Bryant, former mayor of Marysville.

NEWSY N.S.G.W. PARAGRAPHS.

Oroville—George Foster Jones, affiliated with Argonaut No. 8, died March 26, survived by a wife and a daughter. He was born at Oroville, November 18, 1883, and was a son of the late Major A. F. Jones who, as Grand President, presided at the Marysville 1884 Grand Parlor.

Modesto—Modesto No. 11 and Morada No. 199 N.D.G.W. are sponsoring a drinking fountain in Legion Park, to be dedicated to the memory of the California Pioneers.

San Jose—The five Santa Clara County Parlors have organized a joint committee that will endeavor to have the Sonoma Grand Parlor select San Jose as the meetingplace for the 1938 Grand Parlor. W. P. Isham of Observatory No. 177 is the chairman, and James Foley of San Jose No. 22 is the secetary of the convention committee.

Fresno—Frank M. Lane, former grand trustee affiliated with Fresno No. 25, died April 13 survived by a wife. He was born at Mariposa Mariposa County, November 3, 1864. His funeral obsequies were attended by Grand President Hartley Russell and Grand Secretary John T. Regan.

Sacramento—Hiram Warren Johnson, affiliated with Sunset No. 26, celebrated April 2 the twentieth anniversary of his advent into the United States Senate.

Santa Rosa—Santa Rosa No. 28 and Santa Rosa No. 217 N.D.G.W. had a most successful dance for the benefit of the homeless children April 1.

Grass Valley—The Grass Valley high school was dedicated April 25 by Grand President Hartley Russell, Junior Past Grand Harmon D. Skillin, Grand Second Vice Joseph J. McShane, Grand Third Vice Jesse H. Miller and Grand Secretary John T. Regan. Quartz No. 58 had charge of the dedicatory program.

San Rafael—The ritual contest between Mount Tamalpais No. 64 teams of past presidents and regular officers, April 5, was won by the past presidents. B Brusatori and Henry Hewelke headed the teams, and James Stanley, ritual authority, was one of the judges.

San Francisco—The Board of Grand Officers selected Charles A. Roberts of Stanford No. 76 as Grand Outside Sentinel, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Henry J. Angelo.

Weaverville—Mount Bally No. 87 plans to mark with a suitable plaque the site of the first gold discovery in Trinity County. It is claimed that in the fall of 1847 Major P. B. Reading discovered gold at Marshall's Ranch on the Trinity River.

Livermore—At the annual oldtimers night of Las Positas No. 96, April 15, C. J. Turner, E. A. Wente and H. L. Wente, members for more than twenty years, were honored. Entertainment and refreshments were provided by a committee which included Wm. Medau, L. J. Valponi, T. V. Kelly, Elmer J. Anderson and Verner Anderson.

San Diego—San Diego No. 108 named the following committee April 8 to arrange for the Parlor's participation in the Admission Day celebration at Santa Monica: Chester D. Gunn, William M. Clark, Joseph S. Switzer, Joseph B. Kelley, Henry Emery and Albert V. Mayrhofer.

PLAQUE, LEFT BY DRAKE IN 1579, FOUND IN MARIN COUNTY.

A small brass plaque, inscribed in sixteenth century English and found by chance on the Marin County shore of San Francisco Bay, has been identified by Dr. Herbert E. Bolton, chairman of the history department at the University of California, as the one left by the famous sea-captain, Sir Francis Drake, in 1579 when he took possession of California for England.

The plaque was found by Beryle Shinn, a San Francisco resident, while on a picnic, and he showed it to Professor Bolton, who identified it as the one which Drake nailed to a "great oaken poste" 375 years ago. The plaque was purchased by the California Historical Society, and may be presented to the University of California. The plaque is inscribed:

"BE IT KNOWNE VNTO ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS IVNE 17 1579 BY THE GRACE OF GOD AND IN THE NAME OF HERR MAIESTY QVEEN ELIZABETH OF ENGLAND AND HER SVCESSORS FOREVER I TAKE POSSESSION OF THIS KINGDOME WHOSE KING AND PEOPLE FREELY RESIGNE THEIR RIGHT AND TITLE IN THE WHOLE LAND VNTO HERR MAIESTIES KEEPEING NOW NAMED BY ME AND TO BEE KNOWNE VNTO ALL MEN AS NOVA ALBION

"FRANCIS DRAKE"

HAIL THE MIGHTY REDWOOD! CALIFORNIA'S OFFICIAL STATE TREE.

The California Redwood (Sequoia sempervirens) is now the official state tree of California, the State Legislature having passed and the Governor having signed Senate Bill No. 112, "The people of the State of California do enact as follows: The California Redwood (Sequoia sempervirens) is hereby designated and adopted as the official tree of the State of California."

The campaign in the Redwood's behalf originated in Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W., and the measure designating it as the official state tree was sponsored in the Legislature by State Senator J. James Hollister of that Parlor.

YES, WONDROUS

(IRA MACK.)

'Tis a lot to be able to accept things as they are,
To not slip one's soul-ship cable, because storms sweep o'er the bar.
'Tis of wondrous charm to envision the sun-rays, just over there;
To hold to that finer division which sees God (good) here, there—everywhere.

Fiftieth Anniversary Celebrated.

Stockton—In observance of its fiftieth anniversary, Joaquin No. 5 entertained with an elaborate dinner April 13. Miss Hannah Gray, organizer, Miss Clara Stier and Past Grand Carrie R. Durham, charter members, shared honors with 116 members. Miss Gray gave an interesting account of the founding and the early days of the Parlor. Mrs. Durham, Grand President in 1890, spoke of her experiences while traveling to the Parlors in the early '90s. The three guests of honor were presented with beautiful gifts, and a musical program followed.

California's Oldest Practicing Physician.

Etna—Dr. E. W. Bathurst, the oldest practicing physician in California and the father of Frances Kappler of Eschscholtzia No. 112, celebrated his eighty-third birthday April 30. Coming to this state from Australia in 1876, he moved to Sawyers Bar, Siskiyou County, in 1877, and there practiced his profession. After five years of the most exacting work in this booming mining town, where a doctor had to be ready for emergencies of all sorts and was often called upon to ride long distances over hazardous mountain trails, Dr. Bathurst moved to Etna. Here, fifty-five years later, he is still practicing his profession, not only receiving patients at his office, but driving his car around the valley in response to calls.

In spite of his busy life, he has always read extensively—erudite medical journals, current newspapers, magazines and books, and, in moments of real relaxation, mystery stories. For many years trustee, successively, on grammar and high school boards, a member of the Masonic Order and of the American, State, and County Medical Associations, at one time county supervisor, in demand as an able and well-informed speaker, Dr. Bathurst is one of the most distinguished citizens of northern California. In his honor, a birthday dinner will be given by the County Medical Society May 2 in Etna.

Eschscholtzia Parlor is preparing a California Day program that will be presented under the direction of Margaret E. Weston. The members are also making plans for the annual Mother's Day party to which the mothers of members and the older mothers in Scott Valley will be invited. Everything possible will be done for the pleasure and entertainment of these guests of honor by the decorating, program and refreshments committees, aided by a general reception committee composed of all the other members of the Parlor. Lettie Lewis of Mountain Dawn will assist with readings.

NEWSY N.D.G.W. PARAGRAPHS.

Nevada City—Laurel No. 6 celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its founding April 21. Six of the charter members were present.

Santa Cruz—Two charter members and Past Grand Stella Finkeldey aided Santa Cruz No. 26 to celebrate its forty-ninth anniversary. The minutes of the Parlor's first meeting were read to fifty-four members.

Oakland—Piedmont No. 87 gave a benefit whist party April 15, and April 22 a spring so-

In Memoriam

LULU ANDERSEN.

To the Officers and Members of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158, N.D.G.W.:

Your committee appointed to draft resolutions to the memory of our beloved Sister and Past President, Lulu Andersen, submit the following:

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has called to her eternal rest one of our beloved Past Presidents, Sister Lulu Anderson, whose kind and gentle manner won for her the love and esteem of all the members of the Parlor and whereas, while her sudden departure from our midst has deprived us of a constant and loyal member, whose presence will be missed by all, we are mindful of the great loss to those nearest and dearest to her, therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend to her bereaved husband and family our sincere and heartfelt sympathy, and we commend them to Him for consolation; and be it further resolved, that this memorial be recorded in the minutes of the Parlor, a copy sent to the family of our departed Sister and a copy sent to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

Respectfully submitted in P.D.F.A.,
MARGARET RAMM,
ETHEL C. BODE,
Committee.

To the Officers and Members of Piedmont Parlor No. 87 N.D.G.W.:

Whereas, Our beloved member, Alice E. Miner, who has been suffering many weeks, has been called away from us by the messenger of death to a heavenly home where there is no more sorrow or pain, her passing leaves a void in our hearts. She was a generous and true Native Daughter. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That while mourning our dear member, we also express our sincere sympathy to her family; that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Parlor, a copy sent to the bereaved family, and a copy sent to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

CALIFORNIANA PARLOR NO. 247 N.D.G.W. was the last Los Angeles County Parlor to welcome Grand President Florence Danforth Boyle, and the final one to speed the parting guest with a delightful meeting and luncheon at the Hollywood Studio Club March 23. A large assemblage of grand officers, civic officials, members and guests gathered to pay tribute to the distinguished Native Daughter chief.

First Vice-president Marcella Wolfskill Palethorpe, hospitality chairman, and her committee utilized hosts of vari-colored spring blossoms in the dining room and salon, to harmonize with the lovely pastel gowns of officers and guests. Tiny pots filled with anemones marked the places of 130 guests. Past President Ora M. Evans, program chairman, selected for the luncheon theme, "Know Thy California," choosing for speakers noted Angelenos who spoke appreciatively of what Native Daughter projects mean to the civic and charitable welfare of the state. Florence Behm Irish was a delightful mistress of ceremonies, introducing the speakers in her own inimitable way. Dr. Hugh Walker asked the blessing.

Mrs. Rufus B. von KleinSchmid spoke on scholarships, expressing delight at the Order's educational plan. She said, "Whatever you do, good or bad, will live forever." Mrs. Pauline Ellison of the American Legion Auxiliary talked on the conservation of natural resources, especially of the preservation of the only sugar pine grove near Yosemite Valley. Dr. William Allison Bryan of the Los Angeles Museum spoke of the care due to pioneer relics, while Mrs. Louise Ward Watkins reiterated that one of the glories of Native Daughter work is conservation. She decried the uprooting of traditions as well as trees. Capt. William J. Bright, representing Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz, described the Grand President's visit to the county jail, where she partook of a meal and "enjoyed" being locked in a "dungeon cell." A number of other guests were honored by introductions, including Florence Dodson Schoneman, state chairman of history and landmarks, and Lily O. Reichling-Dyer, Founder of the Order. Grand President Boyle expressed appreciation of the Parlor's hospitality and voiced her joy at the friendly co-operation of civic groups.

Preceding the luncheon, a reception to the Grand President and visiting grand officers was held in the auditorium, during which Frances Ronan, violinist, and Burnice Bloom, pianist, rendered music. The remainder of the afternoon was taken up with business of the Parlor. Ora Evans, program chairman, planned a delightful surprise by having a flag escort composed of Californiana's Girl Scout Troup accompany the Grand President to her seat of honor. Other grand officers presented were the Founder, Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary B. Noerenberg, Grand Trustees Hazel Hansen and Clarice Cook, and Deputies Flora Holy and Helen Anderson.

Lena Teague Burrows, president of Californiana, presided with efficiency and, with her officers, received hearty approbation from the Grand President in her interesting address, taking note of Californiana's work throughout the year. After being presented with a gift by Past President Ernestine Aylward, Mrs. Boyle sang Carrie Jacobs Bond's "The End of a Perfect Day" which, with the service of tea, closed the visit of another Grand President.

The first April meeting of the Parlor followed the waffle breakfast at the home of the president, and the April birthday honorees were guests at luncheon. Miss Shellhorn, landscape architect, was presented by Program Chairman Ora Evans. After the April 27 meeting, a bridge tea was staged for the benefit of the Girl Scouts.

Californiana joined with Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. for a delightful evening of entertainment April 2, when a goodly sum was cleared for the treasury. Mrs. Olive Lopez and Mrs. Isabel Lopez Fages entertained April 5 with a Spanish luncheon at the latter's new home, the occasion being the regular meeting of the Gertrude sewing circle and a housewarming for Mrs. Fages, who was presented with a set of early American crystal. The house was a bower of blossoms, presented from the gardens of friends.

A benefit theater party at the Studio Village Guild was held April 29 and was a successful event. May 8 the Gertrude sewing circle and Parlor members will enjoy a benefit picnic at the Rancho Dolores home of Treasurer Beatrice Wahrmund, with Financial Secretary Hattie Duvall as co-hostess. Children of members will be welcomed. The social event of the season will be staged by the ways and means and the history and landmarks committees June 1 at the lovely home of Dolores Machado Barrow, 142 South Windsor boulevard. It will be a salad bridge. Caroline Ellsworth is in charge of tickets.—O.L.

Cooke, Hazel Sully, Johanna Reed and Josephine Pierson was appointed to take the study course on the Girl Scouts.

After the meeting a party was held for the members having birthdays in March and April. California poppies centered the table, and the favors cleverly concealed a surprise announcement of the approaching wedding of Josephine Pierson and Al. Richman. The committee in charge included Gertrude Riddle (chairman), Dr. Helen Sanders, Alice Waldow, Daisy Hansen and Margaret Burch. The thimble club of the Parlor met April 16 at the home of Kate McFadyen, and at the home of Alice Waldow April 22. A card party was held April 29 at the home of Gertrude Riddle.

In recognition of Mother's Day, a noontime dinner, with an interesting program, will be served by Long Beach Parlor May 8. Lola Temby is in charge of arrangements.

MOTHERS' NIGHT.

Glendale—Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. had an italian dinner at the La Crescenta home of Marguerite Piuma April 24, and it was a huge success.

May 10, Mothers' Night, the Parlor will entertain the mothers and the husbands of the members. Superior Judge Thomas P. White will be the speaker. Past presidents will be in charge of the evening, with Margaret Donlan as the chairman.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Hartley Russell (Grand President NS) and John T. Regan (Grand Secretary NS) of San Francisco paid a brief visit last month.

Miss Edna Trombatore (president Los Angeles ND), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Trombatore, became the bride April 18 of George Neikirk. Many affairs are planned for the popular couple following their return from a honeymoon tour which will include the Grand Canyon.

CALIFORNIA FIFTY YEARS AGO

Thomas W. McAuliffe

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

THE MONTH OF MAY 1887 PLAYED many tricks on the people of the State of California, climatically speaking. On May 12 two distinct earthquakes, accompanied by rumbling sounds, were felt at Eureka and at Petaluma, and on May 23 Lakeport experienced a severe shock. Swarms of blackbirds invaded the grain crops in San Luis Obispo May 22, resulting in considerable damage. During the same period thousands of vines at Sonoma were killed by frost, and the entire crops at Susanville were destroyed. At Kingsbury, May 9, the most severe sandstorm in years was experienced, while the entire state received generous spring showers during the month. Other odd and interesting facts of May fifty years ago follow:

The cornerstone of the Leland Stanford Jr. University was laid May 14 at Palo Alto. Senator and Mrs. Stanford were the honored guests. Among those of prominence present were Mrs. Lathrop, Mrs. Crocker, Mrs. W. E. Brown, Mrs. Hopkins and Mrs. H. W. Seale. Senator Stanford introduced Rev. Horatis Stebbins, who led the prayer, and Judge Lorenzo Sawyer delivered the dedicatory address.

Bishop P. W. Rirdan officiated at the laying of the cornerstone May 1 of the new Catholic Cathedral to be erected on Van Ness avenue in San Francisco. The contract for the new Hughes Hotel in Fresno was let to Carl Croly & Abernathy for the sum of $87,335.

J. L. Duval of Los Angeles was accidentally killed May 1 by the discharge of a gun which he carried in his wagon, and the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Ehrhardt of Los Angeles was burned to death as the result of a kerosene explosion May 2.

The N.S.G.W. instituted a new Parlor May 3 at Redwood City. Twenty-eight members were initiated.

At a special election held May 5 in San Jose, a $500,000 bond proposition was carried by an overwhelming majority. The appropriation to be used for the erection of a new City Hall and other improvements. The Chinese quarters in San Jose were destroyed by fire, with an estimated $70,000 loss, as were they in Fresno, when a lamp was upset, May 15.

Arrangements were completed this month for the erection of a Grand Opera House in Pasadena. The cost to be $100,000 and A. M. Gray the architect.

May 1 to 7 a real estate boom in Los Angeles County, with transactions amounting to $2,011,451, were recorded with the county recorder.

Pointsman, the largest horse in the world, died May 9 in Petaluma. He was valued at $5,000.

The contract for the new Exposition building in Stockton for the Agricultural Society was let to D. Burns of Stockton May 10. The amount was $40,939. And May 12 Santa Ana's Floral Fair opened to the public.

May 10 W. R. Sloan purchased from the government the 400 foot square, Point Lobas Reservation, for $10,700. The Fly Ranch of 900 acres near Napa was sold at auction May 14, and negotiations were in progress for a Quaker colony settlement upon 500 acres of land in Kern County, which was owned by W. L. Malcolmson of Los Angeles.

Ex Senator Charles Maclay of San Francisco offered the University of Southern California a choice between $150,000 in cash or land to endow the Maclay Theological College. They chose the land and were given 1,000 acres and the profits from the sale of another parcel of land. The University netted about $225,000.

Fresno was first lighted by electricity May 10.

May 7, while her parents were away, the daughter of A. A. Guernsey of Livermore shot

SAN FRANCISCO

CITIZENS OF SAN FRANCISCO PAID tribute to the late United States Senator James D. Phelan and the late Governor James Rolph, April 3, when busts of these distinguished native Californians now gracing the City Hall were unveiled.

Lewis F. Byington, Past Grand President N.S.G.W., delivered a simple address, saying, in part: "No man could have greater inspiration than the lives of these two sons of San Francisco—Phelan, the young crusader of 1896, who threw himself into the political arena during the city's worst years, and Rolph, who took up so valiantly the work Phelan commenced.

"It is to be hoped that as long as memory lives we will be inspired by their deeds. In the early days the immigrants prayed to God for good seed to plant in the wilderness—that seed best flowered in the hearts of Rolph and Phelan."

RECEPTION FOR N.S. GRAND PRESIDENT.

Saturday evening, April 24, in Native Sons Auditorium, the San Francisco N.S.G.W. Extension of the Order Committee honored Grand President Hartley Russell and wife at a splendid reception and ball. Florence Boyle, Grand President of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, and husband were also honored guests.

A group of San Francisco Native Daughters, beautifully gowned, escorted Grand President and Mrs. Russell into the hall, while a group of Stanford Parlor No. 76 N.S.G.W. members acted as an escort to Grand President and Mr. Boyle.
